HARFORD, JOHN-SCANDRETT, Esq. of Blaise Castle, co. Gloucester, b. 8 Oct. 1786, m. Louisa, eldest dau. of Richard-Hart Davis, Esq., many years representative of Bristol in parliament. Mr. Harford, who s. his father in Jan. 1815, acts as a magistrate for Gloucestershire, and served the office of sheriff for Cardiganshire in 1824. He is Doctor of Civil Laws in the University of Oxford, and Fellow of the Royal Society.

Lineage.

The Harfords are of great antiquity. The "cunabula gentis" was Bosbury, in Herefordshire, in the church of which there are several ancient and handsome monuments of the family, exhibiting their armorial bearings. The branch we are about to treat of migrated from Marshfield, in Gloucestershire, and settled at Bristol in the course of the seventeenth century.

JOHN HARFORD, Esq. of Bosbury, who m. Anne, dau. of Richard Scrope, Esq. of Castlecombe, twice high-sheriff of Wiltshire, d. 30 Aug. 1559, aged fifty-five, and was buried in the chancel at Bosbury, leaving five sons and four daus. The fifth son,

HENRY HARFORD, Esq. of Boreham, in the parish of Warminster, Wilts, whose will, dated 23 Feb. 1614, was proved 10 Nov. 1615, married twice: by his first wife he left a son, HENRY, of whom presently; and by the second, Alice Bradstone, he left another son, BRIDSTOCK, M.D., living in 1686, who m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. of Richard Hereford, Esq. of Sufton, in the county of Hereford, and was great-grandfather of the present RIGHT HON. This gentleman, a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for the county of Pembroke, and late major of its militia, served the office of high sheriff for that shire in 1806. He s. his father in 1808.

Lineage.

The Harrieses of Priskilly are an ancient family, and have resided from a very remote era in Pembrokeshire, where, as well as in Carmarthenshire, they have long possessed considerable estates. They are a junior branch of the Harrieses of Tregwint, who have been settled at their mansion there for several centuries, as appears from deeds now in possession of the family.

The immediate ancestor of the Priskilly branch was,

James Harries, Esq. (second son of John Harries, Esq. of Tregwint, whose descendants have intermarried with the most respectable families in the counties of Pembroke, Carmarthen, and Cardigan). This gentleman m. in 1640, Ellen, dau. and heiress of Eynon Griffith, Esq. of Tresissilt, by whom he acquired the Tresissilt, and other contiguous estates, which are still in the family, and were their principal residence until 1726, when they removed to Priskilly. Mr. Harries was s. at his decease by his son,

John Harries, Esq., who m. 12 Dec. 1670, Letitia, dau. of John Owen, Esq. of Priskilly, and had (with three daus., who all married into respectable families in the county of Pembroke) a son and successor,

George Harries, Esq., who, by the will, dated 6 Oct. 1726, of his maternal uncle, Thomas Owen, Esq., (the last male descendant of the Owens, lords of the ancient barony and lordship-marcher of Cemaes,) became possessed of the Priskilly Forest estate, held in capite under the Bishop of St. David's, and also valuable landed property in the parishes of St. David's, Fishguard, and Letterston. ## HARRIS OF ROSEWARNE.

MARY HARRIS, of Rosewarne, Rosteage, and Trelill, co. Cornwall, m. at the British Embassy, Paris, 30 Sept. 1819, Winchcombe-Henry Hartley, Esq., brother-in-law of the late Earl of Scarborough, and has an only son, WILLIAM-HENRY-HARRIS HARTLEY, b. 1 Jan. 1823.

Mrs. Hartley, who separated herself and her son from her husband, by a deed dated 1 Feb. 1824, inherited, in Dec. 1815, at the decease of her father, the late William Harris, Esq., the estate of Rosewarne; in 1826, upon the demise of her mother, the property of the Rowe family; and in 1830, that of her uncle, Henry Harris, Esq. of Rosteage.

Lineage.

An old family tradition relates that this branch of the ancient Devonshire House of Harris came originally from Gwithian, near Hayle, and further records that an estate called Upton, which had belonged to them time immemorial, was overwhelmed, with a village and church, by an inundation of the Hayle Sands. A descendant of this ancient stock,

THOMAS HARRIS, Esq. of Rosewarne, in Camborn, Cornwall, had several children; three d. unm. The eldest dau. m. a cousin of her own name, and had a dau., Amy, who d. in 1825. II. ARTHUR, whose line we treat of.

The second son,

ARTHUR HART, m. and had a son,

THE REV. WILLIAM HART, rector of Harford, Devon, of whom, Walker, in his "Sufferings of the Clergy," thus writes:—"He was a man of an excellent life, and by that means, so much recommended himself to some of the neighbouring gentlemen, that they preferred him, though with much difficulty, in his living. However, he was plundered by the soldiers, and summoned before the committee to take the covenant, when some of his friends getting him excused, the major, Pierce, was so enraged, that he bid the parishioners pay him no tithes; and further told them, that if they would knock him off his horse and kill him, his friends should have no law of him." He d. about 1663, leaving, with five daus., seven sons, viz., I. Arthur; II. ROBERT, of whom presently; III. Thomas, a Roman-catholic priest at Lisbon; IV. Andrew; V. Emanuel; VI. William; VII. ## HARTLEY OF BUCKLEBURY.

HARTLEY, WINCHCOMBE-HENRY-HOWARD, Esq. of Bucklebury House, co. Berks, b. 5 Oct. 1810; s. his father 9 Sept. 1832. He is a deputy-lieutenant of the county.

* Samuel Gilbert, Esq., the father of Judith, was son of Richard Gilbert, of Tackbear, Cornwall, Esq., by Jacquetta, his wife, dau. of Sir John Rolle, K.B., formerly of Marrais, in Week Saint Mary, in Cornwall, but afterwards of Stevenstone, in Devonshire. The marriage settlement of Richard Gilbert and Jacquetta Rolle is dated in 1632, and the lady's brothers, Henry and George Rolle, were her trustees. Richard Gilbert, about that time, rebuilt Tackbear House, and the arms of Gilbert and Rolle are on the walls of the mansion, baron and femme, parted per pale, viz., Sa., a fesse, gu., between three crescents, arg., for Gilbert; and, Or, on a fesse, dancettée, between three billets, az., each charged with a lion, rampant, of the field, six bezants, for Rolle. Samuel Gilbert, grandson of Richard, and brother of Judith, was an active magistrate for the counties of Devon and Cornwall, and was high-sheriff for the latter county in the year 1732.

Lineage.

The estate of Bucklebury, or, as it was anciently called, Buryhulbury, with the patronage of the vicarage, belonged to the abbey of Reading. At the dissolution of that community, in 1539, it was granted by HENRY VIII. to

JOHN WINCHCOMBE, Esq., son of the opulent clothier of that name, well known as the famous "Jack of Newbury." He was father of

HENRY WINCHCOMBE, Esq. of Bucklebury, Berks, who was created a baronet in 1661. He m. Frances, dau. and co-heir of Thomas Howard, Earl of Berkshire, (see BURKE'S Peerage,) and d. in 1667, leaving a son and successor,

Tower and Sword, a Major-General in the army, b. 21 Feb. 1785; m. Charlotte, dau. of Robert Harvey, Esq. of Watton, and has issue,

I. ROBERT-JOHN, b. 16 April, 1817.
II. John, b. 2 April, 1822.
III. Edward-Kerrison, b. 21 Dec. 1826.

I. Julia, m. 14 Nov. 1837, to Capt. Sutton, eldest son of the late Rear-Admiral Sutton.
II. Charlotte-Emma, m. 18 Sept. 1838, to the Rev. Henry Churchman Long, rector of Newton and Swainsthorpe, second son of the Rev. Robert Churchman Long, of Dunston Hall, co. Norfolk.
III. Maria-Frances.

Sir Robert Harvey entered, at an early period of life, into the military service of his country, and proceeded, in March, 1809, as Captain of the 53rd regiment, to Portugal, where he was shortly afterwards appointed Assistant Quarter-master general of the British forces. In 1810, he was nominated Major and Assistant Quarter-master-general of the Portuguese army, and attached to the head-quarters of the Commander-in-chief, Marshal Beresford. In the following year, he was attached to the head-quarters of the Duke of Wellington, as the organ of communication between his Grace and the Portuguese troops in the field, and remained in that situation with the army until the conclusion of the war in the Peninsula, having been present at the memorable battles of Oporto, Busaço, Salamanca, Vittoria, Nive, Nevelle, Orthes, and Toulouse, and at the sieges of Cuidad Rodrigo, Badajos, Burgos, and St. Sebastian. In order to evince the sense which the King of Portugal entertained for the zeal manifested on the above important occasions, his Most Faithful Majesty was pleased to nominate Major Harvey a Knight of the Portuguese military Order of the Tower and Sword, and to honour him with a medal of that order, also with a medal for six campaigns, and another, on which are inscribed the names of the chief conflicts in which Colonel Harvey was engaged. The Prince Regent of Great Britain was likewise pleased to present him with a gold medal for his conduct at the battle of Orthes, and to confer on him the honour of knighthood.

Lineage.

JOHN HARVEY, Esq. of Beacham Well, in Norfolk, inherited a considerable estate in that parish, and was buried there in 1569. This estate passed in direct descent from father to son, to his great-grandson,

HARVEY OF BARGY CASTLE.

HARVEY, JOHN, Esq. of Bargy Castle, co. Wexford, Lieut. R.A., b. 27 Oct. 1816; m. 11 Nov. 1837, Jane, dau. of Lieut. William Miller, R.A., son of Major-General James Miller, R.A., by Henrietta, his wife, dau. of Colonel Paulet Colebrooke, R.A., son of Robert Colebrooke, of Chilham Castle, Kent, Esq., and has issue, Elizabeth-Jane.

Lineage.

The Harveys, of whom we are about to treat, came originally, it is supposed, from Bosworth, in Leicestershire; at all events, some of them possessed property there: in 1590, they were seated in the co. Wexford, at Gregheela, near Bargy, the foundation of which residence is still to be seen; but in the seizure of the property at Bargy Castle, in the rebellion of 1798, for the Crown, most of the family deeds and papers were lost, and it is now difficult to trace with accuracy the genealogy beyond AMBROSE HARVEY, styled "the elder of Bridge of Bargy," the name of the townland on which the castle is built. He was father of

AMBROSE HARVEY, styled "the younger of Gregheela," who was buried at Pomhaggard, where, in a distinct and separate portion of the burying-ground, his grave, and that of his wife beside it, are still to be seen. He was father of

THE REV. WILLIAM HARVEY, Rector of Malrankan, and Prebendary of Edermine, who m. 1st, Susannah, fifth dau. of John Harvey, Esq. of Killiane Castle, M.P. for Wexford in 1695, and had issue,

I. The Rev. Ambrose Harvey, who was disinherited by his father's will. He m. Elizabeth Hughes, of Slad, and by her (who was buried at Wexford, 24 Oct. 1751) had issue, five sons and three daus. The eldest son,
  Pierce, (whose will, dated 4 May, 1813, was proved in the diocese of Ferns, 14 Nov. 1816,) m. Susannah Thornton, and by her (who d. 13 Aug. 1818) he had two sons,
    1. Ambrose, who m. in 1805, Charlotte Haughtenville, and left issue, Jaffray, now settled in Canada; Susannah; Charlotte; Elizabeth; and Grace.
    2. Henry, who d. unm.

II. John, of Tagunnan, co. Wexford, who was also disinherited by his father's will. He m. Jane Russel, and was buried at Maglas, 18 Aug. 1794, having had issue,
  1. JOHN, of Mount Pleasant, alias Tagunnan, who eventually succeeded to the Bargy estates, under the will of his first cousin, James of Bargy.
  2. Richard, an officer in the army, d. unm.
  3. William, of Killiane Lodge, co. Wexford, Treasurer of the county, m. 9 Dec. 1797, Dorothea, third dau. of John Harvey, Esq. of Killiane Castle, and d. 5 Sept. 1828, leaving issue seven sons and two daus., viz.,
    John, b. 16 Feb. 1803, now Treasurer of the co. of Wexford, m. Harriett, dau. of John Farran, Esq. of Sherrington, co. Dublin, and has issue.
    William, b. 31 Oct. 1807, settled at Buenos Ayres, South America.
    Joseph, b. 30 Aug. 1809.
    Richard, b. 7 June, 1815.
    Vigors, b. 15 Oct. 1817.
    Robert, b. 17 Nov. 1819.
    James, b. 7 Dec. 1821.
    Sarah, m. 4 July, 1829, to Robert Percival, Esq. of Great Hayestown, co. Wexford, and has issue, three daus.
    Anne.

III. FRANCIS, who s. to the estates of his father, of whom presently.

I. Elizabeth, m. to John Boxwell, of Lingstown Castle, co. Wexford.

II. Susannah, m. 1st, to — Thornton; 2ndly, to — Bennett.

III. Catharine, m. 17 Sept. 1737, to Thomas Hore, Esq. of Pole Hore, co, Wexford; she d. in 1777.

IV. Mary, m. 1st, to — Allen; 2ndly, to James Moore, Esq. of Milne Hall, co. Cavan, a branch of the Marquis of Drogheda's family, and had issue by her last husband,
  1. Dorothea Moore, who m. her cousin, the present Samuel Moore, Esq. of co. Cavan, and d. s. p.
  2. Mary Moore, who m. Stephen Lett, Esq. and had issue, two sons and three daus.

The Rev. William Harvey m. 2ndly, Dorothea, dau. and heiress of Christopher Champney, Esq. of Kyle, co. Wexford, and had issue,

I. CHRISTOPHER, of Kyle. (See HARVEY OF KYLE.)

II. Maurice, d. s. p.

III. James, m. Miss Nunn, and had issue,
  1. William, m. Miss Watson, and d. in the East Indies, without issue.
  1. Anne, m. to John Hudson, Esq.

I. Rachel, m. to the Rev. Archdeacon Hastings, of Ferns, but had no issue.

II. Dorothea, m. to John Archer, a Jamaica merchant, and had issue, one son and four daus.,
  1. William Archer, of Wexford, who m. Mary, dau. of Major Holt Waring, of Waringstown, co. Down, and has issue.
    1. Dorothea, m. to — Johnson, Esq.
    2. Margaret, m. to William Hughes, Esq. of Mulgannon, co. Wexford.
    3. Esther, m. to — Bell, Esq.
    4. Johanna, d. unm.

III. Esther, m. to Benjamin Fisher, Esq. of co. Carlow; no issue.

IV. Anne, m. to Capt. William Heatly, d. s. p.

The Rev. William Harvey was mayor of Wexford about 1753. His will was proved in Dublin, in 1765, and he was s. in his estates by his third son,

FRANCIS HARVEY, Esq. of Bargy Castle, who m. Martha, eldest dau. of the Rev. James Harvey, of Killiane Castle, and had issue,

I. BEAUCHAMP-BAGENAL, his heir.

II. JAMES, to whom the crown re-granted the Bargy estates, of whom presently.

I. Susannah.

II. Martha, m. to Gregory Byrne, Esq., but had no issue.

III. Julia.

Francis Harvey was one of the Six Clerks in Chancery, and one of the three delegates from the volunteers of the county of Wexford, in 1781. His will was proved in Dublin, in 1792, and he was s. by his eldest son,

BEAUCHAMP-BAGENAL HARVEY, Esq. of Bargy Castle, Barrister-at-law. This misguided gentleman suffered the extreme penalty of the law for the prominent part he took in the rebellion of 1798, and an act of attainder passed against his property, and received the Royal assent 6 Oct. 1798, (38 GEO. III.) He d. unm., and his brother,

JAMES HARVEY, Esq., received a re-grant of the old family estates twelve years after the attainder, the patent for which sets forth at the commencement, as one of the reasons for restoring the forfeited estates, "that the greater part of the estates of which he (James) was deprived in the year 1798, by the act of attainder, were enjoyed for near two centuries by his ancestors, upon any of whom the slightest imputation of disloyalty never was cast." This gentleman dying unm., he bequeathed by his will, which was proved in Dublin, the chief part of the old family estates which were re-granted to him by the crown, (with the exception of what he sold in the counties of Carlow and Wexford, and a small one which was left by testator to Colonel Robert Harvey, of Yorkshire, who having died previous to testator, it became a lapsed legacy, and went to the heir-at-law, Jaffray,) to his first cousin,

JOHN HARVEY, Esq. of Mount Pleasant, Barrister-at-law, who m. Mary, (who d. 20 March, 1837,) dau. of William Harrison, of Castle Harrison, co. Cork, and had issue,

I. John, in the Royal navy, d. unm.

II. William, Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery, who lost an arm at Waterloo, m. Elizabeth-Mary,* dau. of Colonel Paulet Colebrooke, Royal Artillery, and d. 18 Aug. 1826, leaving issue,
  1. JOHN, now of Bargy Castle.
  2. William. 3. James.
  1. Agnes.

III. George, in the Royal Navy, drowned at Cork by the upsetting of a boat, unm.

I. Sarah. II. Eliza.

III. Anne, m. 2 June, 1835, to Conolly M'Causland Lecky, Esq. of the city of Londonderry.

Mr. Harvey, who was a magistrate for the co. of Wexford, d. 4 June, 1834, was buried at Maglas, and was s. in his estates by his grandson, the present JOHN HARVEY, Esq. of Bargy Castle.

Arms—Or, on a chief, indented, sa., three crescents, arg.
Crest—A dexter arm, embowed in armour, grasping a sword, ppr., pommel and hilt, or.
Motto—Semper idem.
Seats—Bargy Castle, and Mount Pleasant.

* She m. 2ndly, in 1832, Lieut.-Col. Maclachlan, of the Royal Artillery, Knight of the Order of St. Maurice, and St. Lazar of Sicily.

HARVEY OF KYLE.

HARVEY, WILLIAM, Esq. of Kyle, co. Wexford, Barrister-at-Law, b. about 1767; m. 22 Aug. 1795, Dora, third dau. of the Hon. Maurice Crosbie, Dean of Limerick, third son of Sir Maurice Crosbie, who was created Lord Brandon, (see BURKE'S Peerage,) and has had issue,

I. CHRISTOPHER-GEORGE, b. at Kyle, 18 Sept. 1797, Mayor of Wexford in 1832.

II. James-William, b. at Kyle, 20 Aug. 1798, of Park House, near Wexford, formerly an officer in the Coldstream-guards, and latterly a Captain of dragoons, m. 10 March, 1824, Frances, dau. and subsequently only child of Joshua-John Pounden, of Fairfield, co. Wexford, who was sheriff of Dublin in 1798. She d. 8 May, 1835, leaving issue,

1. Crosbie-William, b. 3 Nov. 1831.
1. Sophia-Pyne. 2. Julia-Maria.
3. Dora-Adalaide. 4. Mary-Anne.

III. Maurice-Crosbie, b. at Kyle, 25 Aug. 1799, in the Royal Navy, a magistrate for the county of Wexford, d. unm. 23 Nov. 1830.

IV. Percy-Lorenzo, b. at Kyle, 8 Oct. 1800, Captain in the E. I. Co's. Service, m. his cousin, Anne, dau. of James Cuppage, Esq.

V. Henry-Robert, b. at Kyle, 22 June, 1802, a magistrate for the county of Wexford, m. Eugenie-Fannie-Felicité, dau. of Monsr. Simon-Jaques Rochard, of London, and has issue,

1. William-Crosbie, b. at Kyle, 12 March, 1835.
2. James-Henry, b. at Kyle, 24 Feb. 1836.
3. Cavendish-Gore, b. at Kyle, 21 Aug. 1838.
1. Dorothea-Eugenia.

Mr. Harvey s. to the paternal estates on the death of his father, in April, 1796, and to part of the Bargy estates by the will of his cousin, James Harvey.

Lineage.

THE REV. CHRISTOPHER HARVEY, D.D., of Kyle, eldest son of the Rev. William Harvey, of Bargy Castle, (by his second marriage with Dorothea, dau. and heiress of Christopher Champney, Esq. of Kyle,) was Incumbent of Rathdowney, diocese of Ossory, and of Ross, near Ross Carberry, co. Cork, and Prebendary of Edermine, diocese of Ferns. He m. Rachel, dau. of Lorenzo Nickson, Esq. of Munny, co. Wicklow, eldest sister of Christiana, first Baroness of Donoughmore, and niece and heiress of Richard Hutchinson, Esq. of Knocklofty, co. Tipperary, and had issue,

I. WILLIAM, his heir, now of Kyle.

1. Dorothea, m. in 1797, to Percy Evans-Freke, brother and heir presumptive to John, sixth and present Baron Carbery. (See BURKE'S Peerage.)

II. Rachel, m. to Capt. Charles Randall.

The Rev. Dr. Christopher Harvey inherited only the estates brought into the family by his mother. He was buried 20 April, 1796, his will being proved in Dublin the same year, and was s. by his only son, the present WILLIAM HARVEY, Esq. of Kyle.

Arms—Or, on a chief, indented, sa., three crescents, arg.
Crest—A dexter hand, couped at the wrist, and erect, ppr., above which a crescent, reversed, arg.
Motto—Semper idem.
Seat—Kyle, on the river Slaney.

HARVEY OF CASTLESEMPLE.

HARVEY, JAMES, Esq. of Castlesemple, co. Renfrew, Mousewald, co. Dumfries, and the Upper and Lower Conference Estates in the Island of Grenada, Lieut.-Col. (h. p.) of the 92nd regt., Knight of the Royal Guelphic Order of Hanover, deputy-lieutenant and magistrate of Renfrewshire; m. in 1816, Margaret, dau. and heiress of the Hon. John Harvey, of the island of Grenada, and Castlesemple, in Scotland, and on the death of Mr. Harvey, in 1820, assumed the name of HARVEY, in lieu of his patronymic, LEE, agreeably to the provisions of the settlements by which he and his wife s. to Mr. Harvey's extensive estates. They have issue,

I. JOHN-RAE LEE. II. James-Octavius Lee.
III. Henry Lee.
I. Catharine Lee. II. Margaret Lee.

Lineage.

Family of Lee.

WILLIAM LEE, Esq. of the city of Dublin, a descendant of the distinguished family of Lee of Ditchley, co. Oxford, which was raised to the rank of Baronet in 1611, and ennobled, in 1674, by the title of Earl of Lichfield, m. Elizabeth Widdrington, of the family of Widdrington of Lamballe and Warkworth, co. Northumberland, a branch of the family of Lord Widdrington, so often mentioned in the Border Histories. By this lady he had

THOMAS LEE, Esq., his son and heir, who m. 1st, Susannah, dau. of Michael Lewis, of Tullagorey, co. Kildare, Esq., and 2ndly, Catharine, dau. of Andrew Hamilton, of Ballymadonell, co. Donegal, Esq., of which last-mentioned marriage the eldest son is JAMES LEE, now HARVEY, who entered the army in 1799, and served with distinction in Egypt, Holland, and the Peninsula, along with his regiment, the 92nd Infantry, or Gordon Highlanders, of which he is now Lieut.-Col., h.p. The title of Lichfield, and minor honours, have been dormant since the death of Robert, 4th Earl, in 1776, (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage, p. 309,) but the representation of that family is said to be in Thomas Lee, Esq., the only surviving son of Thomas Lee, already mentioned, by his first marriage, and immediate elder brother of Colonel Harvey.

Arms of the family of LEE—Sa., a fesse, erminois, two crescents in chief, arg., and a crescent, in base, of the last.
Crest—A crescent, erminois.
Motto—Fides non timet.

Family of Harvey.

The surname of Hervey, or Harvey, is derived from Robert Fitz-Harvey, one of the Commanders in the invading army of WILLIAM the Conqueror, (see BURKE'S Peerage, p. 121.) A Scottish branch of this family has been long settled in the co. of Aberdeen, where they held considerable estates as early as the 15th century. Their arms, as given by Nisbet, are, Gules, a fesse, or, between three mullets, in chief, argent, and a mascle, in base, of the last.

Towards the beginning of the last century, JOHN HARVEY, Esq., a cadet of that family, the grand-uncle of Mrs. Harvey, acquired extensive estates in the island of Grenada, which he bequeathed to his brother, ROBERT HARVEY, Esq., who d. 29 July, 1791, having previously executed his will, by which he bequeathed the bulk of his fortune to his maternal nephew, JOHN RAE, Esq. of the island of Grenada, upon condition of his taking the name and bearing the arms of Harvey, which was accordingly done by licence, under the sign-manual and exemplification, dated 4th and 17th Jan. 1792. Mr. (Rae) Harvey, afterwards the Hon. John Harvey, in Grenada, was for many years President of the House of Assembly and of the Council in that island, and on several occasions administered the government of the colony during the absence of the Governor. He d. 23 Aug. 1820, and in obedience to the provisions of his settlements, a licence was granted under the sign-manual, dated 3 Feb. 1821, "to the said JAMES LEE, and MARGARET, his wife, that they may henceforth use and bear the name and title of HARVEY, of Castlesemple, only, and also bear the arms; and that the said surname, title, and arms, may also be borne by such of their issue as may succeed to the estates settled as aforesaid, such arms being first duly exemplified." A double patent, dated 27 Feb. 1821, was accordingly granted to Colonel Harvey, and Margaret, his wife, confirming the arms to them and their issue.

Arms of HARVEY—Gu., on a bend, erminois, three trefoils, slipped, vert, on a chief, arg., a buck's head, caboshed, az., between two mullets, of the first, and in the sinister chief point of the field, a cross-patée, of the fourth.
Crest—Out of a crescent, or, charged with a buck's head, as in the arms, a cubit arm ppr., the hand grasping a trefoil, slipped, erect, vert, the arm charged with an ermine spot, gold.
Motto—Omnia bene.
Seat—Castlesemple, Renfrewshire.

HARVEY OF ICKWELL BURY.

HARVEY, JOHN, Esq. of Ickwell Bury, co. Bedford, and of Finningley Park, co. York, b. 14 Nov. 1815, s. his father, 20 June, 1819; m. in 1842, Annie-Jane, dau. of Henry Tennant, Esq. of Cadoxton Lodge, near Neath, co. Glamorgan. Mr. Harvey has served as high-sheriff of Bedfordshire, and is a deputy-lieutenant.

Lineage.

This family is of great antiquity in England, being descended from Robert Fitz Harvey, (or de Hervé,) a valiant soldier, who came into England with WILLIAM the Conqueror, as appears by the chronicles of Normandy and England; of the same lineage was also Hervey, (or Harvey,) 1st Bishop of Ely, who founded the monastery of Thorney, in Cambridgeshire, as appears by the records thereof, and Hervey, of Lyons, who, in the reign of STEPHEN, came into England, and assisted that monarch in his wars with the Empress Maud. He held out the castle of Devizes for King STEPHEN against the Earl of Gloucester, till he was forced to deliver it to the empress, and retire beyond sea.

HARVEY DE LEON, or DE MONTMARSH, delivered his castles in France to HENRY II., and went over to the first conquest of Ireland, (as appears by Camden's Observations on Ireland.) HENRY, his son, was in the wars with RICHARD I., and held in much esteem by King JOHN, (as appears by the grant of the forestership of New Forest, and Achilles Garth, and other lands, given him by that king.) From him descended

JOHN HERVEY, (or HARVEY,) of Risley, in Bedfordshire, who lived in the latter part of the reign of EDWARD III., and m. Joan, dau. and heiress of John Hammond, (or Harmand,) of Thurleigh, in the said county, and became possessed of the lands of her inheritance.* From him the Harveys of Thurleigh directly descended. This John was elected knight of the shire for the co. Bedford in 1386. In the 4th year of the reign of HENRY IV., he was enabled, by a licence from that king, to found a collegiate church at Northill, instead of the parish one, the licence (a copy of which is now in the possesssion of John Harvey, Esq. of Ickwell Bury) was granted to Sir Gerard Braybrooke, Knt., and others, to celebrate divine service and pray for the souls of Sir John Traylly, Knt., and Reginald, his son, deceased. This church is the burial-place of the Harveys of Ickwell Bury, and contains several handsome monuments of that family. He had two sons, JOHN, his heir; and Peter, from whom descended the Northamptonshire Harveys, of which line was Sir Francis Harvey, Judge of the Common Pleas in the reign of JAMES I., the son of whose younger brother was Martin Harvey, captain of a troop of horse in the reign of CHARLES I., and slain in his service. From the elder son,

JOHN HARVEY, of Thurleigh, came the noble house of BRISTOL, and the family of which we are about to treat.

ROBERT HARVEY, Esq., m. about the year 1637, Sarah, sister of Hugh Audley, Esq. of the Inner Temple, and of Cole Park, in the parish of Malmsbury, co. Wilts, and had a son and heir, ROBERT HARVEY, Esq., D.C.L., who d. in 1712, leaving three sons, JOHN; Hugh,† (of the University of Cambridge); and Robert, whose son, Robert Harvey, Esq. of Stockton, Wilts, m. MARY THURSBY. The eldest son,

JOHN HARVEY, Esq., became possessed of the estates of Ickwell Bury,* co. Bedford, and Finningley Park, co. York. He m. Mary Vassalf, widow, and had issue,

JOHN, b. in 1667. Robert. William.
Edmond. Samuel.

The eldest son,

JOHN HARVEY,† Esq. of Ickwell Bury, b. in 1677, contested the county of Bedford, in 1710, against Lord Russel and Mr. Gostwick, and in 1715, was returned with Sir Pynsent Chernock, Bart. He m. Sarah Gore, widow, dau. and co-heir of Sir John Robinson, Bart. of Farming Woods, co. Northampton, and had issue,

John, who m. Beatrice, dau. of Cockayne, of Cockayne Hatley, but had no issue.
William, who m. 1st, Judith, dau. of Samuel Ongley, Esq. of Old Warden, in Bedfordshire, and 2ndly, Frances-Anne Talman, but d. s. p.
JAMES, of whom presently.
Ann, m. to Samuel Ongley, Esq. of Old Warden, in Bedfordshire.

The only son to leave issue,

JAMES HARVEY, Esq., m. Elizabeth Fairie, and had two sons,

JOHN, his heir.
Edmond, in holy orders, rector of Finningley, who m. Mary, dau. and co-heir of the Rev. George Rooke, of Willian, Herts, and had issue,
John, who s. his father as rector of Finningley. He is deceased.
Edmond, rector, first, of Willian, Herts, and afterwards of Stapleford, in the same co. He m. Christiana, dau. of Thomas, brother of John Græme, Esq. of Sewerby in Yorkshire, and left issue one son, Edmond-George, and three daus.
James, in holy orders, who m. Catherine, dau. of the Rev. Henry Venn, rector of Yelling, in Huntingdonshire, and had one son, Edmond, and four daus.
Elizabeth, m. to Gervas Woodhouse, Esq. of Owston House, in Lincolnshire, and had a son, the Rev. Gervas-Henry Woodhouse.

The elder son,

JOHN HARVEY, Esq., inherited the family estates from his uncle, became of Ickwell Bury, and served as high-sheriff of Bedfordshire in 1781. He m Sarah Silcock, and had (with a dau., Sarah, m. to William Astell, Esq. of Everton House, co. Beds) an only son and heir,

JOHN HARVEY, Esq. of Ickwell Bury and Finningley, m. Susannah, youngest dau. of John Gibbard, Esq. of Sharnbrook, in Bedfordshire, and had issue, JOHN, his heir; I. Susan, deceased; II. Sarah; III. Mary; IV. Elizabeth, m. to Thomas Kington Bayly, Esq. of Abbots Leigh, co. Somerset. Mr. Harvey was a deputy-lieut. for Bedfordshire, and served as its high-sheriff in 1795. At the period of the French Revolution he raised and supported,

* The moated site of an ancient castle still remains at Thurleigh, which tradition assigns as the ancient residence of this John Harvey. (See LYSON'S Britannia.)

† This Hugh inherited Cole Park, and had issue, John, buried in Malmsbury Abbey, the inscription on whose monument is as follows:—

"Sub hoc marmore reponuntur exuviæ mortales Johannis Harvey de Cole Park in Paroch. Malmesburiensi, Com. Wilts Armigeri. Nati Cantabrigiæ de familiâ ejusdem nominis in agro Bedfordiensi non minus antiquâ, quam honorabili. Denati cœdibus in Suis, in Magnum, et Suorum et proximorum omnium mœrorem 27 die Februarii A.D. 1712. Ætat. 44."

The male issue of this branch becoming extinct, Cole Park became the property of John, eldest son of the aforesaid John Harvey, of Ickwell Bury.

* The manor of Ickwell Bury was formerly the property of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, and was confiscated in the reign of HENRY VIII., as appears by the original grant now in possession of the present proprietor.

† A very handsome silver-mounted couteau de chasse was presented to this gentleman by the Prince of Hesse Cassel, in 1701, in consequence of his having saved the prince's life when exposed to imminent danger in a boar-hunt: it is still in the possession of the family.

A singular circumstance likewise occurred during his life, at Finningley Park, which is thus described in the parish register:—

"These are to certifie, that I William Rowley, of Burton, county Lincoln, was parish-clerk of Finningley, when the Rev. Mr. Barnardiston was rector of the same, and was an eye-witness of the following transaction, which happened (as I remember) on or about the month July, in the year of our Lord God, 1707, viz., Zechariah Bolton riding with his gun, on Mr. Barnardiston's bay horse, into Awkley Colt Field, found 5 staggs herded‡ about 200 yards west from bottom of the Long Hedge; he fired among them, and disabled one in the hinder parts, then quitting his horse, he caught the stagg by the hind leg, and called to Sarah Wood and myself (who were not far off) for help; but the stagg struggling and braying, the horse took him by the neck and beat him with his fore feet till he lay still, then we took him alive, laid him on the horse, and carried him to the parsonage house at Finningley, into the little court before the kitchen door, where he was killed and drest by order of John Harvey, Esq. of Ickwell Bury, who was there present, and had before given us an order to go about the said transaction. The truth of this I am ready to attest upon oath if so required. Witness my hand this 25 day June, 1739. WILLIAM ROWLEY."

‡ There is a deer-park at Finningley belonging to John Harvey, Esq.

chiefly at his own expense, a troop of volunteers, called the Dismounted Bedfordshire Horse Artillery. He d. 20 June, 1819, and was s. by his son, the present JOHN HARVEY, Esq. of Ickwell Bury and Finningley.

Arms—Or, on a chev., gu., between three leopards' heads, of the first, three trefoils, ppr.
Crest—A leopard, passant, bezantée, gorged with a ducal coronet, and chained, or, holding in his dexter paw a trefoil, slipped, ppr.

Doctor Harwood is an author of reputation in county antiquities.

Lineage.

The name of Harwood is of Saxon origin, and was anciently spelt Herward, Horwode, and Whorwood. According to Domesday, Hereward had lands in the cos. of Lincoln and Warwick previous to the CONQUEST. He was son of Leofric, Earl of Mercia, and Lord of Brune, in Lincolnshire, and the marshes adjoining, and was chosen by the prelates and nobility, who retired to the Isle of Fly, after the CONQUEROR'S invasion, to be the general of their forces. The branch of this family of which we shall have chiefly to treat, settled themselves at a very early period in the co. of Berks, bearing the Staffordshire coat, but distinguished by a different colour, the Berkshire branch having the bearings gules, instead of sable. They were of Hagbourne, in that shire, and were settled there four or five hundred years, from the time of King EDWARD III., if not from an earlier period. About 1314, John Hereward was a juror on an inquisition touching some land at Chesterton, (juxta Goring,) which was decided in favour of the Abbot of Oseney. In 1332, Robert Herward was Archdeacon of Taunton, and Prebendary of Lincoln; and, in 1330, Robert of Ely, and Thomas Harwoode, or Whorwode, were sheriffs of London.

WILLIAM HEREWARD was Abbot of Cirencester, anno 1346, and Robertus Hereward gave by grant, dated 19 EDWARD III., 1345, certain lands in East Hackbourne, co. Berks, to the abbey of Cirencester, to which abbey the church and rectorial tithes of Hagbourne belonged. From him descended

JOHANNES HORWODE, (whose name was returned, amongst the gentry of Berkshire, by the commissioners for the preservation of the peace, for the year 1433, 12 HENRY VI.,) ancestor of HARWOOD OF HAGBOURNE, father of

JOHN HARWOOD, the elder, of East Hagbourne, who was buried there, and whose widow afterwards married John Bunce, of Hagbourne. He m. at Cholsey, co. Berks, in 1560, Joane, dau. of Hadham, of Cholsey, and had issue. His second son,

RALPH HARWOOD, of East Hagbourne, d. in 1623, and was buried at East Hagbourne. He m. a sister of Robert Sayer, Esq., and left an eldest son,

JOHN HARWOOD, who lived at East Hagbourne and Goring, and d. at Hagbourne, intestate, in 1678. He m. Ann, dau. of Thomas Allen, Esq., and had issue,

I. JOHN, his heir.
II. Ralph, a merchant in London, who d. in 1684, leaving issue by his wife, Martha, with two other children, who d. s. p., a son,
Ralph, who d. issueless, at Tottenham, in 1749.
II. THOMAS, of Streatley, co. Berks, sheriff of Berks in 1695, of whom in the sequel.
I. Anne, m. at South Stoke, 10 Oct. 1664, to William Higges, afterwards of Hagbourne.

The eldest son,

JOHN HARWOOD, of Hagbourne, and of London, and afterwards of Crickheath, Salop, b. in 1623, d. in 1682, and buried at Hagbourne. He m. Martha, dau. of Edward Muckleston, Esq. of Pen-y-lan, Recorder of Oswestry, by Mary, dau. and sole heiress of Thomas Corbett, Esq. of Merrington, and had issue,

I. JOHN, LL.D., F.R.S., and F.S.A. of Doctors' Commons, Commissary of St. Paul's, and Official of St. Mary's, Salop, and of Hagbourne and Crickheath, co. Salop, entered at Christ Church, Oxford, 1679, m. Anne, dau. of Samuel Bulteel, Esq. of the co. of Devon, and had issue,
1. Samuel, who m. 19 Dec. 1741, Mary, second dau. of Walter Gough, Esq. of Oldfallings and Perry Hall, co. Stafford, and left issue,
Samuel, of Crickheath and Kenwick, who m. Harriet, dau. of Henry Mitton, Esq. of Shipton, by a dau. of Sir Henry Edwardes, Bart. The male line of this elder branch of the Harwoods became extinct.
2. James, vicar of Dartford, m. Rebecca, dau. of Richard Chase, Esq., (and sister of the Hon. Mrs. St. John, wife of the Dean of Worcester,) and had issue,
James, b. in 1769, of Christ Church, Oxford, d. unm. 24 Oct. 1783.

1. Anne, m. to Seth Jermy, Esq., and had issue.
II. Thomas, of Tern, near Shrewsbury, m. Margaret, dau. of Rowland Hill, Esq. of Hawkstone, and relict of Richard Atcherley, Esq. of Marton, co. Salop, and by her (who was sister also of the Right Hon. Richard Hill) had issue,
1. Thomas Harwood, Esq. of Tern, who took the name of HILL, and was father of the first Lord Berwick. (See Peerage.)
2. Rowland, rector of Thornton, co. Chester, and of Hodnet, co. Salop.
1. Martha, m. to her cousin, Walter Gough, Esq. of Oldfallings.
2. Anne, m. to John Kynaston, Esq. of Hordley, co. Salop, M.P. for Shropshire, and had issue.
III. Edward, of Chester, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Hayes, by a dau. of Wrottesley Prince, Esq., and had issue,
1. Edward, in holy orders, rector of Thornton, co. Chester, m. Theodosia, dau. of J. Trevisa, Esq. of Crocadon, co. Cornwall, who left issue two sons and a dau.
2. Samuel, m. and left issue.
3. Ralph, d. in 1767, s. p. 4. Simon.
1. Mary, m. to Bartholomew Greenwod, Esq.
2. Elizabeth, m. to Edward Burroughs, Esq., and d. s. p.
I. Mary, who d. unm.
II. Anne, m. to George Curtis, Esq., eldest son of Sir George Curtis, of Otterden Place, Kent, by Ann, dau. of Sir John Banks, Knt., Lord Chief Justice of England, and left issue.
III. Martha, m. to Simon Hanmer, Esq. of Kenwick, co. Stafford, and had issue a dau.
IV. Abigail, m. to John Congreve, Esq. of Congreve and Stretton, co. Stafford, first cousin of the poet Congreve, and had issue.

Having thus detailed the senior branch, we proceed to that of Streatley:—

THOMAS HARWOOD, of Streatley, sheriff of Berks in 1695, the third son of John Harwood, of Hagbourne, was brought up in the Navy, and attained great distinction in the sea-fights with the Dutch. Having retired from the service, Captain Harwood resided on his estate at Streatley, became justice of the peace for Berkshire, and in 1695 served the office of sheriff for that co. He m. Mary, dau. of Admiral Richard Swanley, Commander of the squadron in the Irish Seas, during the Commonwealth, and had issue. He d. 1711-12, having survived his wife, who d. in 1702, and was s. by his eldest son,

Mary-Laurie, m. 1 Sept. 1842, to Charles Rhodes, Esq.
Sophia-Sidney, m. 2 Feb. 1843, to the Rev. Lewis-Playters Hird, son of the Rev. Dr. Hird.

This gentleman, who retired, with a temporary pension, from the 14th Light Dragoons, when senior Captain, in consequence of a severe wound received in the Peninsula, was appointed by the Earl of Malmsbury, in 1815, Major, and by the Duke of Wellington, in 1821, Lieutenant-Colonel of the North Hants militia, at the special desire of his late Majesty, then Duke of Clarence. He s. his father 6 Feb. 1790, and is a deputy-lieutenant for Hants. Col. Hawker's celebrated work on Sporting has become one of the standard publications of England.

Lineage.

The representatives of this family have, without the omission of a single generation, served as officers in the army since the reign of ELIZABETH, but the early commissions, prior to the year 1694, which are stated to have borne date so far back as the year 1558, having been lost by the neglect of a person to whom they were confided, the regular pedigree can be traced no higher than the time of WILLIAM and MARY.

PETER HAWKER, Esq. Capt. of Queen MARY'S dragoons, in 1694, was father of

PETER HAWKER, Esq., who obtained his commission as Major in Queen ANNE'S dragoons in 1703, his Lieutenant-Colonelcy in 1707, was appointed General by brevet, and Colonel of a regiment of dragoons, in 1712. General Hawker was s. at his decease by his son,

PETER HAWKER, Esq. of Longparish, co. Hants, made Lieutenant-Colonel of dragoons in 1715, and Governor of Portsmouth in 1717. This gentleman, who was interred in the governor's chapel of that garrison, left by his wife, Elizabeth Hyde, an only son,

PETER HAWKER, Esq. of Longparish, Ensign of foot in 1726, Cornet of Horse-guards in 1727, Lieutenant in 1734, and Captain in 1740. Capt. Hawker m. Arethusa, only dau. and heiress of George Ryves, Esq. of Ranston, co. Dorset, (see family of RYVES,) and had issue,

HAY OF LEYS.

HAY-BALFOUR, DAVID, Esq. of Leys, co. Perth, and of Randerston, in Fifeshire, s. his father in 1790, and is now male representative of the noble family of HAY.

Lineage.

WILLIAM DE HAYA, who obtained a grant of the lands of Errol from WILLIAM the Lion, m. Juliana, dau. of Ranulph de Soulis, Lord of Liddesdale, and had two sons, WILLIAM, his heir, and Robert, witness to a charter confirming the liberties of Durham and Coldingham Abbeys, in 1204. From him descended the noble family of TWEEDDALE. William de Haya, who held the office of king's butler (Pincerna Domini regis) temp. MALCOLM IV. and WILLIAM the Lion, d. about the year 1170, and was s. by his elder son,

SIR WILLIAM DE HAYA, who obtained from WILLIAM the Lion, the manor of Herrol, now Errol, in Perthshire; erected into a barony, for the service of two soldiers, to which Hugh, Bishop of St. Andrew's, is a witness. He m. Eva de Petenalin, and thereby acquired the lands of Petenalin, which he and his wife, Eva, gave to the Priory of St. Andrew's. Sir William d. towards the close of the twelfth century, and was s. by his son,

DAVID DE HAYA, who m. Helen, dau. of Gilbert, Earl of Strathern, and had GILBERT, his heir, ancestor of the noble family of ERROL, which terminated in heiresses in 1717, the youngest of whom m. the Earl of Kilmarnock, and from that marriage descends the present Earls of Errol, with a younger son,

WILLIAM DE HAYA, who obtained from his brother Gilbert, in 1235, a grant of two carucates of land, in Errol, called LEYS; afterwards confirmed, in 1451, by William, Earl of Errol, to Edmund Hay, of Leys, the lineal descendant of this William. He was grandfather of

EDMUND DE HAYA, of Leys, an eminent patriot, who distinguished himself in favour of King ROBERT I. In 1312 he obtained, to himself and his son William, a lease, from the Abbot and Convent of Scone, of the lands of Balgarvie. From this Edmund de Haya, the estate of Leys passed from father to son, to his great-great-grandson,

EDMUND HAY, of Leys, to whom, William, Earl of Errol, granted a charter of confirmation in 1451. He had two sons, EDMUND, his heir; and Peter, from whom descend the families of KINNOUL, Melginch, Pitfour, Seggieden, &c. (See HAY OF PITFOUR, and HAY OF SEGGIEDEN.) The elder son,

Lineage.

The family of Heyman, or Hayman,* (for it has been spelled both ways,) is of Norman origin, and the Lords of Corboile, its original owners, are frequently alluded to, by the early annalists, in the interesting work of Duchesne.†

The Earl of Corboile, in 1044, was a leader in a revolt against the authority of the young Prince William, (afterwards the English Conqueror,) during his father's absence on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.* He was slain in battle, A.D. 1047, in the vain attempt to maintain his cause; but his two sons were received into favour, and subsequently accompanied the Duke of Normandy in his invasion of England, in 1066.

They rose rapidly in the favour of the Conqueror: the elder was made seneschal or steward to the king, and was hence called Haimo dapifer; the younger, who was of a more warlike spirit than his brother, was the leader of an expedition into Wales, in 1090, which resulted in the entire subjugation of the southern districts of that country, and the occupation of Glamorgan by the English. The pretext for interference was the solicitation of Jestin ap Gurgant, one of the Welsh chieftains, for aid against Gruffydh ap Rhys, King of Dinevor, (Caermarthen,) from whom he had revolted.

The Domesday Book gives us a detailed account of the lands and other possessions of Haimo dapifer, which were principally assigned to him in Kent; among them were the valuable manors of Bleane, Woolwich, Eltham, Mereworth, and Hockington. The first of these we find possessed, in 1263, by Sir Haimo del Blen, who thence derived his title; and in 1478, Haimon Bele, a descendant of Sir Haimo's, was Mayor of Canterbury, as we learn from the Burgess List.

The first record of the modern spelling of the name that we have been able to discover, is in the person of Ralph Heyman, Esq., who was seised of large estates in Kent, in the reign of Henry VII., (A.D. 1485-1509,) and who was ancestor of a portion of the family that received a baronetcy from Charles I., 12 Aug. 1641, which they continued to enjoy till their own extinction, in the year 1808.†

Another branch settled in Somersetshire, who, while using the same armorial bearings, spelled the name with a slight difference, perhaps altering a letter for sound's sake. From them was derived the Irish line, (at present represented by Matthew Hayman, Esq. of South Abbey, Youghal, co. Cork.)

In 1662, in the suite of the Duke of Ormond, who then came over Lord Lieutenant, two brothers of the family, named Robert and Samuel, left Somersetshire for Ireland; the former settled in the town of Clonmel, and there a branch, descended from him, flourished for upwards of a century and a half, becoming extinct in the year 1814. The latter fixed himself in the town of Youghal, where he purchased, in 1670, part of the estates of Sir Walter Raleigh; and the house erected by that unfortunate but chivalrous knight for his own use, (now called "Myrtle Grove,") is still the property of the representatives of his great-grandson, the late Walter-Atkin Hayman, Esq.

Samuel Hayman, Esq. of South Abbey, b. in 1635, m. in 1663, Elizabeth, dau. of John Atkin, Esq. of Polemore, co. Cork, and had issue,

Lineage.

The HEBERS take their name from a place in Craven called Haybergh, where the earliest of the family are supposed to have risen. The oldest tradition refers to ERNULPHUS DE HAYBURGH, of Saxon descent, living towards the end of the 12th century at Milnethorpe, in the parish of Sandale. His descendants seem to have continued there as gentlemen of very small fortune for six generations, intermarrying with respectable families in the north of England. In 1461,

THOMAS HEIBIRE, Gent., is mentioned by Dodsworth. He lived at Adwalton in Craven, in 1463. His brother, Oswald, had a commission in the Duke of York's army, and was slain at the battle of Wakefield. Thomas d. at Keytheley in 1499, and was s. by his son,

THOMAS HEIBER, b. in 1478, who was possessed of land at Keytheley and at Elslach, and was the purchaser of the estate of West Morton, in Craven, where he d. in 1548. His eldest son,

REGINALD HEBER, succeeded him. He m. in 1558, Anne, dau. of John de Malholme, of Elslach. His name appears in the return of the principal gentlemen of the West Riding at the Visitation in 1585, when he entered his pedigree. He was proprietor of the estates of West and East Marton, lord of the manor, and patron of the advowson. He purchased of his kinsman, Henry d'Arcy, Esq., in the 7th year of ELIZABETH, the estate and manor of Stainton, and was possessed of considerable landed property in Hartlington, Yargrave, Ayrton, Skipton, Wakefield, and Long Preston. He d. 14 Nov. 1600, and was buried at Marton. His son, Thomas Heber, dying in his lifetime, all his estates descended to his grandson,

THOMAS HEBER, b. at Marton, 8 June, 1566, who lived during his grandfather's lifetime at Stainton Hall, and removed to Marton in 1600. He was a Justice of the peace in the reign of JAMES I. He m. Elinore, dau. of Thomas Ferrand, Esq. of Carlton, and dying at Marton in 1633,* was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS HEBER, Justice of the peace in the reign of CHARLES I. who m. Anne, dau. of Sir William Lowther, of Ingleton, and was buried at East Marton, 26 Jan. 1659. He was s. by his son,

THOMAS HEBER, Esq., who m. Bridget, dau. of Sir John Pennington, of Muncaster, and d. in 1668, leaving a son and successor,

THOMAS HEBER, b. in 1643, who m. Rebecca, dau. of Sir Robert Markham, Bart., of Sedgebrooke, Lincolnshire, and was buried at Marton, 2 Dec. 1679. His son,

REGINALD HEBER, b. at York in 1675, m. in 1696, Hester, dau. of Sir William Cayley, Bart. of Brompton, and was buried at Marton in 1715, leaving a son and heir,

THOMAS HEBER, b. in 1697, who inherited the lands of his ancestors at Yargrave, Arncliffe, and Ayrton. He was a Deputy-lieutenant and a Justice of the peace for the West Riding, and lord of the manors of East and West Marton, Stainton, and Hartlington. He m. in 1722, Elizabeth, eldest dau. of John Atherton, of Atherton and Beausey, in Lancashire, and heiress (through her mother, Elizabeth Cholmondeley, and her mother, Elizabeth Vernon) to the manors and estates of her ancestor, SIR HENRY VERNON, Bart. of Hodnet. (See BURKE'S Extinct Baronetage.) Thomas Heber d. 21 Oct. 1752, and was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD HEBER, Esq., who d. without male issue in 1766, when the estates devolved upon his brother,

THE REV. REGINALD HEBER, Rector of Chelsea, and afterwards of Malpas, Cheshire, and Hodnet, Salop, b. in 1729, who m. 1st, in 1773, Mary, dau. and co-heir of Martin Baylie, D.D., of Wicklewood Ampnors, in Norfolk, and by her, who d. in 1774, had an only son,

RICHARD, his heir.

He m. 2ndly, in 1782, Mary, dau. of Cuthbert Allanson, D.D., of Middleton Hall, Yorkshire, and Adlington, in Lancashire, by whom he had three children,

REGINALD, b. in 1785, consecrated Bishop of Calcutta in 1823, and eminent alike for his virtues and talents. He d. in Southern India, April, 1826, leaving by Amelia, his wife, dau. of the Dean of St. Asaph, two infant daus.,
Emily.
Harriot-Sarah, m. 22 Nov. 1842, to John, eldest son of John Thornton, Esq. of Clapham, Surrey.

Thomas, in holy orders, Rector of Marton, d. unm. in 1816.

MARY, m. to the Rev. Charles Cholmondeley. This lady inherited the estates in Yorkshire and Shropshire, under the will of her eldest brother.

The Rev. Reginald Heber d. in 1804, was buried at Marton, and s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD HEBER, Esq., as lord of the manor of Wicklewood Ampnors, in Norfolk, of Hodnet, and others, in Shropshire, and of West and East Marton, Stainton, Hartlington, and Buckden, in Craven, Yorkshire. He was Lieutenant-Colonel of a regiment of Yeomanry raised in Craven in 1801, high-sheriff of Shropshire in 1821, and in the latter end of that year elected member of parliament for the university of Oxford. Mr. Heber, who was the last male representative of the ancient houses of Marton and Hodnet, acquired the reputation of an accomplished scholar in the literary world, and the character in private life of an amiable and a generous man. His library, considered one of the most extensive and rare collections in Europe, consisted of above two hundred thousand volumes. He d. unm. 4 Oct. 1833, and was buried at Hodnet, leaving by will all his hereditary property and personality to "his only sister, Mary, widow of Charles Cowper Cholmondeley, Rector of Hodnet, with remainder to his nieces, the daus. of his late brother Reginald."

HENEAGE OF HAINTON.

Heneage, George-Fieschi, Esq. of Hainton, co. Lincoln, b. 22 Nov. 1800; m. 16 Jan. 1833, Frances, dau. of Michael Tasburgh, Esq. of Burghwallis, in Yorkshire. Mr. Heneage, who s. his father 16 June, 1833, is a deputy-lieutenant for the county of Lincoln.

Lineage.

The period of the first settlement of the family of Heneage in Lincolnshire, may be nearly defined by the circumstance of Sir Robert de Heneage being witness, together with Sir Richard de Angemine, of the same co., and several others, to a grant of lands from Nicholas Basset to the monks of Brucria. The deed, a very short one, is addressed to Robert, Bishop of Lincoln, and all the sons of the church, setting forth the grant. This document is without date, but must have been either in the time of Robert Bloet, who was chancellor to William Rufus, or of Robert Chesney, consecrated 13th King Stephen; for, when Robert Grosshead was made Bishop of Lincoln, in 1235, the dating of deeds was in use.

John de Heneage (son of Sir William de Heneage, Knt., grandson of Walter de Heneage, and great-grandson of John de Heneage, living temp. Henry III.) appears, by deed, to have been possessed of the manor of Haynton, in Lincolnshire, 10 Edward III. That estate was, however, subsequently sold, and passed into the possession of Lord de la Ware, but was repurchased, 21 Richard II., of John, Lord de la Ware, by John de Heneage's son,

John Heneage, of Hainton, who m. Alice, dau. of Walter Goddard, of Swetesham, in Norfolk, and had, with other issue, a son and successor,

William Heneage, of Hainton, who m. Grace Stamford, and was father of William Heneage, of Hainton, who m. two wives: by the second, Joan, dau. of John Diggs, he had a dau., Ethelred; and by the first, Margaret, dau. of William Cawood, he had two sons, John, his heir, and Robert, auditor of the duchy of Lancaster, who d. in 1556, leaving, beside two daus., four sons, viz., I. Thomas, (Sir,) of Copt Hall, Essex, Knt., M.P. for Lincolnshire, and capt. of Queen Elizabeth's guards, who d. in 1594, leaving an only dau. and heir, Elizabeth, who m. Sir Moyle Finch, Bart. of Eastwell, and surviving her husband, was created Countess of Winchilsea, (see Burke's Peerage;) II. Michael, keeper of the records in the Tower; III. Robert; and IV. Edward. The eldest son of William,

John Heneage, Esq. of Hainton, m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of John Preston, of Sothereston, in Lincolnshire, and dying in 1477, was s. by his son,

John Heneage, Esq. of Hainton, who m. Katherine, dau. of Thomas Wymbush, of Nocton, and had four sons and a dau., viz., I. ## HEREFORD OF SUFTON COURT.

HEREFORD, RICHARD, Esq. of Sufton Court, co. Hereford, b. 6 July, 1803; m. 5 June, 1828, Harriot-Arabella, dau. of the late Capt. Sir Robert Mends, Knt., R.N., and has issue, RICHARD-JAMES, b. 1 April, 1833.

Harriot-Mary.

Mr. Hereford s. his father 2 Feb. 1823. He is in the commission of the peace.

Lineage.

The family of HEREFORD, one of very great antiquity, derived its surname, according to an old manuscript, from "the name of a city on the borders of the Principality of Wales, formerly very well fortified, and the ordinary residence of the ancient Earls of Hereford."

Contemporaneous with the potent feudal Earls of Hereford, there resided in the city of Hereford, in the time of HENRY II., A.D. 1170,

ROGER HEREFORD, "a famous philosopher, (says the same manuscript,) who published during the period that Henry of Hereford, and Mabel, his brother, enjoyed the co. of Hereford, the books quoted by John Pits. This Roger," the philosopher, "was born on the borders of Wales, and was probably a student of Cambridge, as most part of his works were, it is reported, preserved a long time there. He was very much esteemed by the great men of his time, as well for his excellent qualities, as for the extraordinariness of his progress in all sorts of learning. He was of a sharp wit; and was so great a lover of the sciences, that if one ask'd him, wch were the things, whereof the desire is never satisfy'd in never so great plenty, he would answer, not as a covetous man, that they were riches, but as a philosopher, that it was learning. He never lost a moment, but always spent in study all the time cou'd be spar'd from his employments, to wch he was obliged to attend. His works were—A Book of Judiciary Astrology, Quoniam Regulas artis Astronomiæ; of the Theory of Planets; Divers Astronomers, according to the different manuscripts of the Public Library at Oxford; a Book of Collections of the Years of Planets; a Book of the setting and rising of Constellations; a Book of the Horizon and the Circle; a Book of Metals."

This eminent man flourished about the year 1170, in the reign of the second HENRY, and sixteen years after the death of Roger, EARL OF HEREFORD, one of the brothers of the heiresses who divided the great estates of these earls; so that he seems to have been born at the close of HENRY the First's time. He left at his decease a son,

HENRY DE HEREFORD, of whom there is an entry in the Pipe Roll, in the 8th of JOHN, anno 1201, "that Master Henry of Hereford owes a palfrey, for a fief of the king, to William of Braieuse, for the land of Witton." This appears to have been the first estate in the family. Henry had two sons: the elder,

ROGER DE HEREFORD, held lands in Breinton, anno 1222, under the Dean and Chapter of Hereford: he left a son and heir,

HENRY DE HEREFORD, who being a minor, was placed under the care of Thomas Dansey, in the 7th of HEN. III. He was lord of the manors of Sufton and Mordiford, in which he was s. at his decease, in 1304, by his son,

JOHN DE HEREFORD, lord of the manors of Sufton and Mordiford, b. in 1272, who, by his wife, Matilda, had (with probably other) issue,

HENRY, (Sir,) his heir.
JOHN, successor to his elder brother.
NICHOLAS, heir to his nephew, Thomas, the son of John.

He d. in the 64th year of his age, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR HENRY DE HEREFORD, of Sufton and Mordiford, who, embracing the profession of arms, distinguished himself in the Scottish wars, and received the honour of knighthood from King EDWARD III., with a general pardon for all offences committed by him against the State. In 1352, he was present in the parliament held at Westminster, as one of the representatives of the county of Hereford; and the same year he was a second time summoned to the great parliament which was to be held at the same place. He d. unm. in 1361, and was s. by his brother,

JOHN DE HEREFORD, of Sufton and Mordiford, b. in 1321, m. Margaret, and had an only child, THOMAS, his successor at his decease, in 1387.

THOMAS DE HEREFORD, of Sufton and Mordiford, b. in 1365, who d. in 1390, without issue, when he was s. by his uncle,

NICHOLAS DE HEREFORD, of Sufton and Mordiford, b. in 1330, m. and had two sons, viz.,

ROGER, his heir.
John, of Bodenham, m., but his wife's name is unknown.

After the decease of his wife, this gentleman became a priest, and was a D.D. and Fellow of Queen's College. Nicholas was s. at his decease by his elder son,

ROGER DE HEREFORD, of Sufton and Mordiford, b. about the year 1364, who d. in 1426, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM DE HEREFORD, of Sufton and Mordiford, b. in 1409, who was s. by his son,

THOMAS DE HEREFORD, of Sufton, who d. 23 July, 1517, leaving, with a dau., Jane, m. to Foulke Walwyn, a son and successor,

WILLIAM HEREFORD, Esq. of Sufton, b. in 1477, d. in 1545, and s. by his son,

ROGER HEREFORD, Esq. of Sufton, who d. 13 July, 1561, leaving, (by Margaret Sturmey, his wife, an heiress,) one son and six daus., of whom the eldest, Isabella, m. Anthony Kirle, of the co. of Hereford. The elder son,

JOHN HEREFORD, of Sufton, b. 8 Sept. 1558, m. 1st, in 1578, Catherine, dau. of Richard Lee, of Langley, and had a son, RICHARD, his heir. He m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of Humphry Archer, Esq. of Tamworth, in Warwickshire, and by her, who d. in 1641, left,

I. Roger, of Priors Court, m. 20 Sept. 1620, Penelope, dau. of Robert Kyrle, of Walford, near Ross, and had a son, John, b. in 1625, who m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Henry Sampson, of Holm Lacy, and had a son, John, of Holm Lacy, in right of his mother.

HERRICK OF BEAUMANOR.

HERRICK, WILLIAM, Esq. of Beaumanor, co. Leicester, b. in 1794; s. his uncle, 18 Feb. 1832. Mr. Herrick is a Barrister-at-Law, and M.A. of University College, Oxford. He served the office of high-sheriff of the co. of Leicester in 1835, and is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant.

Lineage.

"There is a tradition," says Dean Swift,* "that the most ancient family of the ERICKS derive their lineage from ERICK, the Forester, a great commander, who raised an army to oppose the invasion of WILLIAM the Conqueror, by whom he was vanquished; but afterwards employed to command that Prince's forces, and in his old age retired to his house in Leicestershire, where his family hath continued ever since." Though the earliest ancestor of the family is only recorded by tradition, we learn from ancient writings of unquestionable authority, that the EYRICKS were seated, at a very remote period, at Great Stretton, in Leicestershire, in that respectable line of life, so justly the pride of an Englishman, free tenants of their own lands, two virgates of which they held under the Abbey of Leicester, on the payment of an annual quit rent to the king of a pound of pepper. These virgates had been given to the abbey by Ralph Friday, Lord of Wibtoft, and were successively held by Roger Torr, Sir Ralph Neville, Alan and Henry Eyryk, and Robert Eyryk, the son of Alan.

HENRY EYRYK (the above named) was grandfather of ROBERT EYRYK, of Stretton, who, by Joanna, his wife, had three sons, viz.,

WILLIAM, (Sir,) his heir.
Robert, known by the name of Robert de Stretton, who entering into holy orders, obtained the degree of LL.D., was appointed Chaplain to EDWARD the Black Prince, and eventually consecrated Bishop of Lichfield. His Lordship d. in 1385.
John, of Stretton.

From the eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM EYRIK, Knt. of Stretton, descended,

ROBERT EYRICK, of Houghton-on-the-Hill, living about 1450, who left, by Agnes, his wife, two sons, Robert, who d. s. p., and

THOMAS EYRICK, of Houghton, who settled at Leicester, and is the first of the name that appears in the corporation

* The Dean's father married Mrs. Abigail Erick, of Leicestershire, descended from this family.

books, where he is mentioned as a member of that body, in 1511. He died about six years after, leaving two sons and a dau., namely,

Nicholas, who was Mayor of Leicester in 1552. He m. and had issue.
John, of whom presently.
Elizabeth, mentioned in her father's will, which bears date in 1517.

The second son,

John Eyrick, or Heyrick, of Leicester, b. in 1513, was twice mayor of that corporation, in 1559 and 1572. He m. Mary, dau. of John Bond, Esq. of Wardend, in Warwickshire, and by her (who d. 8 Dec. 1611, aged ninety-seven) had, with seven daus., five sons, viz.,

I. Robert, who was thrice mayor of Leicester, and representative of the borough in parliament. He d. in 1618, leaving a numerous family. He is now represented by the Rev. Samuel Heybick, Rector of Brampton, in Northamptonshire.
II. Nicholas, of London, who m. in 1582, Julian, dau. of William Stone, Esq. of Segenhoe, in Bedfordshire, and dying in 1592, left issue, 1. William, b. in 1585, d. s. p.; 2. Thomas, b. in 1588, who m. and had issue. He is presumed to have been grandfather of Thomas Heyrick, Curate of Harborough, who published some sermons and poems; 3. Nicholas, of London, merchant, living in 1664, aged 75, m. Susanna, dau. of William Salter, and had issue; 4. Robert, b. in 1591, in holy orders, a poet of considerable merit; and, 5. William, b. in 1593.
III. Thomas, d. in 1623, s. p.
IV. John, alderman of Leicester, d. in 1613, leaving issue.
V. William, (Sir,) of whom we treat.

The fifth son,

Sir William Heyricke, who was born at Leicester about the year 1557, removing to London, in 1574, to reside with his brother Nicholas, then an eminent banker in Cheapside, attached himself to the court, and for a considerable time "resided constantly there." He was a man of great abilities and address; remarkably handsome, as appears by a small picture still preserved of him, in his younger days; was high in the confidence of Queen Elizabeth, as well as of King James, and by honourable service to both, acquired large property. In the reign of the former sovereign he was despatched on an embassy to the Ottoman Porte, and on his return rewarded with a lucrative appointment in the Exchequer. In 1594-5, he purchased from the agents of Robert, Earl of Essex, that nobleman's estate and interest at Beaumanor, and soon after selecting that delightful spot for his residence, bought in all the different outstanding leases, and, in 1598, obtained from Queen Elizabeth, by letters patent under the great seal, a grant of the manor of Beaumanor. In 1601 he was returned to parliament by the borough of Leicester, but retired upon the demise of Her Majesty. In 1605 he received the honour of knighthood, was appointed a Teller of the Exchequer, and chosen alderman of Farringdon Without; from the civic office he was excused, however, on agreeing to pay a fine of 300*l.* Shortly after, Sir William was a second time elected M.P. for Leicester, and for many years devoted his time and abilities to the promotion of the interests of his constituents. During the civil wars he suffered severely, and his fortune was much impaired in that calamitous season. He d. 2 March, 1652-3, and was buried on the 8th, in St. Martin's Church, at Leicester, where against the north wall of the choir his gravestone still remains. By his wife (whose christian name was Joan, and who was dau. of Richard May, Esq. of London, and sister of Sir Humphrey May, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster) Sir William Herrick had, with five daus., seven sons, 1. William, his heir; 2. Robert, d. s. p.; 3. Richard, who d. Warden of Manchester, in 1667; 4. Thomas; 5. Henry; 6. Roger, Fellow of All Souls'; and 7. John, b. in 1612. Sir William (who was aged ninety-six at his decease) was s. by his son,

William Herrick, Esq. of Beaumanor, b. in 1597, who was appointed, in 1633, by King Charles I., to repair the Castle of Leicester, and place it in a proper state of defence. He m. in 1623, Elizabeth, dau. of Humphrey Fox, Esq. of London, and dying in 1671, left an only son and successor,

William Herrick, Esq. of Beaumanor, b. in 1624, who m. 1st, in July, 1649, Anne, eldest dau. of William Bainbrigge, Esq. of Lockington, in the county of Leicester, by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Gervas Pigott, Esq. of Thrumpton, Notts, and had by her (who d. in 1655) three sons and one dau. He m. 2ndly, in 1657, Frances, dau. of William Milward, Esq. of Chilcote, in Derbyshire, (son and heir of Sir Thomas Milward, the Judge,) and had by her one son and three daus. Mr. Herrick d. in 1693, and was s. by his eldest son,

William Herrick, Esq. of Beaumanor, b. in 1650, who m. Dorothy, dau. of James Wootton, Esq. of Weston, in Derbyshire, and by her (who d. in 1749, aged one hundred) had two daus. and three sons, 1. William, his heir; 2. John, d. in 1760, leaving two sons and two daus., all deceased; 3. Thomas, of Leicester, father, by his second wife, Katherine Bakewell, of William, of Knighton, and Katherine, m. to Richard Dyott, Esq. of Freeford Hall, Staffordshire. Mr. Herrick d. in 1705, and was s. by his eldest son,

William Herrick, Esq. of Beaumanor, b. in 1689, who m. in 1740, Lucy, dau. of John Gage, Esq. of Bentley Park, Sussex, derived from James, second son of Sir John Gage, K.G. of Firle, and by her (who d. 25 March, 1778) had to survive infancy, three sons and one dau., viz.,

I. William, his heir.
II. John, b. 9 Nov. 1749, sometime of the Middle Temple, London, d. unm. 14 May, 1819.
III. Thomas-Bainbrigge, of Gray's Inn, b. 23 Nov. 1754, m. 15 Aug. 1793, Mary, only dau. of James Perry, Esq. of Erdesley Park, co. Hereford, and by her (who d. 29 Aug. 1836) he left, at his decease, 24 Sept. 1824,

William, successor to his uncle.
Mary-Anne. Lucy, d. unm., 11 Oct. 1832.

I. Lucy*m.* in March, 1768, to Richard Gildart, Esq. of Norton Hall, co. Stafford, and had issue, one son, Richard, who d. unm. 24 Nov. 1802.

Mr. Herrick, who was high-sheriff of Leicestershire in 1753, d. 27 Sept. 1773, and was s. by his eldest son,

William Herrick, Esq. of Beaumanor Park, b. 14 Dec. 1745, served as sheriff for Leicestershire in 1786. He m. in 1789, Miss Sarah Stokes, of Woodhouse, and dying without issue, 18 Feb. 1832, (his wife predeceased him, 29 Aug. 1823,) was s. by his nephew, the present William Herrick, Esq. of Beaumanor Park.

IV. James-Hugh, b. 13 Dec. 1830.

I. Mary-De-la-Cour. II. Anne-Harriet.
III. Louisa-Josephine-Pettitot.
IV. Georgiana-Henrietta.

Capt. Herrick s. his father in Oct. 1796, and has been in the commission of the peace since 1816.

Lineage.

From the exact coincidence of name, arms, and dates, there can exist but little doubt that this is a junior branch of the Herricks of Beaumanor, in Leicestershire.

John Herrick, Esq., born in 1612, accompanied the Duke of Ormonde to Ireland in 1641. He married twice, and d. 8 Aug. 1689, leaving, by the first wife, a son, Gershom, and by the second, two sons and a dau., viz., John, Francis, and Mary. To his second son, John, he bequeathed an estate in the barony of Ibane, which is still possessed by his descendants, who reside at Bellmont, in the county of Cork. To his eldest son,

Gershom Herrick, b. in 1665, he devised his estate of Shippool. This gentleman m. in 1693, Susanna, only child and heiress of Swithen Smart, Esq., by Frances, his wife, eldest dau. of Edward Riggs, Esq. of Riggsdale, in the county of Cork, and left, at his decease in 1730, a son and successor,

Edward Herrick, Esq. of Shippool, b. in 1694, who m. in 1728, Elizabeth, dau. of Caleb Falkiner, Esq. of the city of Cork, and had six sons and two daus. The second son, Edward, Lieut. R.N., was killed on board "the Dorsetshire," in Sir Edward Hawke's action, 20 Sept. 1759. The eldest son,

FALKINER HERRICK, Esq. of Shippool, b. in 1729, m. in June, 1753, Sarah, eldest dau. of Thomas Bousfield, Esq. of Cork, and had issue,

THOMAS-BOUSFIELD, his heir.
Jane, m. to the Rev. Ambrose Hickey.
Elizabeth, d. unm., aged 36.

Mr. Herrick was s. at his decease by his son,

THOMAS-BOUSFIELD HERRICK, Esq. of Shippool, b. in 1754, who m. in 1783, Anne, only dau. of Henry Moore, Esq. of Frankfort House, co. Cork, and by her (who m. 2ndly, in 1798, Daniel Cudmore, Esq. of the county of Limerick) had issue,

I. WILLIAM-HENRY, his heir.
II Henry-Moore, Captain in the 45th regiment, killed at the storming of Badajos, unm.
III. Edward, Lieutenant R.N., m. in 1836, Charlotte, only dau. of the late Capt. Thomas Alexander, R.N., C.B.
I. Ann, m. in Jan. 1818, to Richard-Plummer Davies, Esq., Captain R.N.

Mr. Herrick d. in 1796, and was s. by his eldest son, the present WILLIAM-HENRY HERRICK, Esq. of Shippool.

Arms, Crest, and Motto—See HERRICK OF BEAUMANOR.
Seat—Shippool, near Innishannon.

HERVEY OF KILLIANE.

HERVEY, CHARLES-JOHN-VIGORS, Esq. of Killiane Castle, co. Wexford, b. 29 Nov. 1817; s. to the estates on the death of his father, in 1828, and m. at Leghorn, 24 July, 1839, Martha, dau. of Thomas-Read Kemp, Esq. of Brighton, Sussex.

Lineage.

JOHN HARVEY, of Meldreth, whose will, dated 10 Feb., was proved 25 Feb. 1602, was father of

RICHARD HARVEY, merchant of Lyme Regis, Dorsetshire, and collector of Customs, admitted a freeman of that borough in 1610, and elected mayor in 1627. His will is dated 21 Aug. 1641. By Susan, his wife, he left, with four daus., three sons,

I. Richard, who bequeathed his property in Chard, Somersetshire, to a charity, because his family and heirs had taken the parliamentary side, and rebelled against CHARLES I.
II. John,* merchant in Lyme Regis, admitted a freeman in 1627. He had issue,
  1. Richard Harvey, of Exeter, Gent., whose will was proved in 1663.
  1. Susan. 2. Mary.
III. FRANCIS, of whose line we have to treat.

The third son,

FRANCIS HARVEY, having been taken in arms by Prince Rupert, was committed with other prisoners to the jail at Exeter, at the beginning of the rebellion; and on being liberated, he went to Lyme Regis and also became a merchant in that town, of which he was chosen mayor in 1644, and admitted a freeman. After the year 1649, he obtained a grant of lands in the county of Wexford from CROMWELL, which were confirmed to him by CHARLES II.; and in 1666 he passed patent for 1398 English (863 Irish) acres in the barony of Forth. ### Lineage.

The family of Higgins of Westport, or O'Higgins, as it was written till about 1690, derive from Higginus, third son of Milesius, Prince of Biscay. They formerly possessed extensive territories in Connaught, and so far back as the end of the 14th century, we find mention made of the O'Higgins of Murh O'Higgin, co. Sligo, in which co. the family was then seated, and to a large district of which they gave their family name, which it still bears. During the wars of the Commonwealth, PHELIM O'HIGGINS distinguished himself by his opposition to the republican power in Ireland, and was forced, on the discomfiture of the royal party, to take refuge on the Continent, his estates being confiscated, and a price put on his head. Phelim remained in the service of the French King till the Restoration, when part of his patrimony was restored to him by the Court of Claims in the beginning of CHARLES II.'s reign. Phelim, at his death in 1665, left issue,

I. HUGO, his heir.
II. Reginald, who entered the Neapolitan service, in which he rose to the rank of brigadier-general, and d. unm. at Syracuse, in 1730. In the cathedral of that town, there is a monument erected to him.
III. Charles, who served under his brother, Col. Higgins, at the siege of Athlone, after which he was forced to fly to the Continent, where he remained till he obtained a pardon, when he returned, and settled in England.

The eldest son,

COL. HUGO O'HIGGINS, who s. to his father's estates, warmly espoused the cause of JAMES II., in whose army he held high rank, and was killed at the siege of Athlone in1690. Owing to the adherence of Col. Higgins, and the other members of his family to the cause of the Stuarts, their estates were a second time forfeited; and on the death of Col. Higgins, his widow, Anne, together with their only child, CHARLES, moved to Moyna, co. Mayo, where the family have since been seated. CHARLES was father of

HUGH-ROE HIGGINS, Esq. of Moyna, co. Mayo, who m. Kate, sister of John Browne, Esq. of Aughagower, and d. in 1746, leaving two sons, CHARLES, of whom presently; and Philip, who d. unm. in 1764. The elder son,

HINDE OF ELSWICK HOUSE.

HODGSON-HINDE, JOHN, Esq. of Elswick House and Acton House, in Northumberland, and of Norham Castle, co. Durham, b. 30 July, 1806; m. 31 Jan. 1833, Isabella, eldest dau. and co-heir of the late Anthony Compton, Esq. of Carham Hall, in Northumberland. This gentleman, whose patronymic is HODGSON, assumed by sign-manual, in 1836, in compliance with the testamentary injunction of Miss Elizabeth-Archer Hinde, the additional surname of HINDE. He s. his father 12 July, 1820; is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for the co. of Northumberland, and M.P. for Newcastle-upon-Tyne, which he has represented for several parliaments.

Lineage.

The earliest notice which we have of the family of Hodgson, is in the records of the town of Newcastle, in the reign of EDWARD I. John Hodgson was one of the bailiffs of that town in 1276, and served the office of mayor in 1278, 1280, and 1281; in the last year he was knighted. Richard Hodgson, his son, was twice bailiff, in 1281 and 1288. From this time, for nearly a century and a half, we have no trace of their descendants, but it is believed that both the line we are about to follow, and that of the Hodgsons of Hebburn, which at one period spread into so many branches, all now extinct, over the counties of Northumberland and Durham, sprung from this source.

THOMAS HODGSON, with whom a connected pedigree must commence, was b. in 1424, and s. to the estates of Collierley and Biermon on the death of his mother, Johanna, dau. and heiress of John de Guildford. He had a son,

HUGH HODGSON, who s. his father in 1505, and d. in 1508, leaving two sons, GEORGE (for whose descendants see Surtees' Durham, vol. ii.) and

WILLIAM HODGSON, who had two sons, William and GEORGE. He d. before 1566. His second son,

GEORGE HODGSON, living in 1590, had a son,

WILLIAM HODGSON, who was one of the lessees, with Sir William Riddell and others, of the manors of Gateshead and Whickham, held under the crown in trust for the corporation of Newcastle, A.D. 1590. He was an extensive coal-owner, and had property at Whickham, where he also held several copyhold tenements in right of his wife, Agnes, widow of John Harrison, Esq. He had four sons, RICHARD, GEORGE, Samuel, and Henry. The second,

GEORGE HODGSON, s. to the property of his brother Richard, on the death of the latter in 1649. He d. in 1669, leaving by Jane, his wife, a son,

LUKE HODGSON, Esq., who d. in 1691, leaving by his wife, Susan, three sons, Luke, a physician in Newcastle; Samuel, a merchant in the same place; and JOHN. The youngest,

JOHN HODGSON, Esq., was father of

THOMAS HODGSON, Esq., who by his wife Mary, had a son JOHN, and two daus., Jane, d. March 23, 1797, and Mary, d. Sept. 5, 1769, both unm. The only son,

JOHN HODGSON, Esq., m. Anne, only child of James Appleby, Esq. of Askerton, co. Cumberland, (eldest son of Joseph Appleby, Esq. of Kirklinton, in the same shire, by Dorothy, his wife, dau. and ultimately sole heiress of Henry Dacre, Esq. of Lanercost Abbey,) and by this lady, who d. 28 May, 1773, had issue,

James, d. in infancy. JOHN, his heir.
Ann, m. to William Cuthbert, Esq. of Newcastle.
Jane, m. to John Rawlinson, Esq. of Lancaster.

Mr. Hodgson d. 4 Nov. 1749, and was s. by his son,

JOHN HODGSON, Esq., who m. 24 July, 1773, Alice, dau. of Thomas Wilkinson, Esq. of Walbottle, and by her, who d. 27 July, 1832, left at his decease, 13 Aug. 1781, an only son,

JOHN HODGSON, Esq. of Elswick, who m. 3 May, 1803, Sarah, dau. of Richard Huntley, Esq. of Friarside, co. Durham, and had issue,

JOHN, his heir.
Richard, b. 1 April, 1812, M.P. for the borough of Berwick, m. Catherine-Monypenny, second dau. of the late Anthony Compton, Esq. of Carham Hall.
Thomas, b. 3 Oct. 1814, m. Marianne, second dau. of the Rev. J.-T. Huntley, Vicar of Kimbolton, and Rector of Swineshead, Huntingdonshire.
Sarah, m. to the Rev. W.-C. King, of Backworth House, Northumberland.
Alice. Anne-Jane, d. 7 March, 1826. Mary.

Mr. Hodgson d. 12 July, 1820, and was s. by his eldest son, the present

JOHN HODGSON-HINDE, Esq. of Elswick, M.P.

Arms—Per chev., embattled, or and az., three martlets, counterchanged.
Crest—On a rock a dove, az., winged, or, in the beak an olive-branch, ppr.
Motto—Miseris succurrere disco.
Seats—Elswick House and Acton House, Northumberland, and Norham Castle, Durham.

He is also a Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, in consideration of his services in the Peninsular war.

Lineage.

This family, which has been settled for nearly two centuries in the county of Pembroke, derives its name from its ancient inheritance,* Holcombe or Holtcombe, in the honour of Gloucester, in the county of Devon, where, and at Hole, in the same county, they, according to Sir William Pole, resided many descents.

WALTER DE HOLCOMBE was Lord of Holcombe in 1301. Shortly after this period the family changed their residence to Hole, and among the manuscripts in the possession of Sir Thomas Phillipps, Bart., there is a pedigree of seven generations given of them, beginning with John Holcombe, who m. Isabel Downe, the dau. and co-heiress of Hugh Downe, Esq. of Downe Ralph. By this marriage the Holcombes became possessed of considerable estates, part of the ancient inheritance of Downe Ralph, as well as that of the older and nobler house of De la Bruer, Sir Ralph Downe, the great-grandfather of Isabel Downe, having m. Isabel de la Bruer, the dau. and co-heiress of Sir William de la Bruer, the son of the celebrated Sir Geoffrey de la Bruer, who was the great-grandson of Reginald, Earl of Cornwall, the natural son of King HENRY I. These estates remained in the family till about 1600, when Hole &c. was sold (by Gilbert Holecombe, the last of the family who resided in Devonshire) to Ellis Bartlett, and Downe Ralph and Tinge Bruer to Mr. Mallock. The marriage of Christopher Holcombe, the brother of Gilbert Holcombe, is mentioned in the Visitation of 1620, and in 1660 we find his son William settled in Pembrokeshire, and in 1694 appointed mayor of the borough of Pembroke.

JOHN HOLCOMBE, who m. Miss Downe, was the grandfather of Roger Holcombe, who was living in the 19th of EDWARD IV. He was succeeded by his son Charles, who had issue Ellis, who m. Elizabeth, the dau. of Thomas Sydenham, of Lynford Eagle, co. Dorset, and by her had issue, Thomas, who had issue, Gilbert, Christopher, and Josias. Christopher, from whom this family derive, m. an Irish lady, and by her had issue,

WILLIAM HOLCOMBE, the first of the family who settled in Pembrokeshire, and was Mayor of Pembroke in 1694. He d. in 1700, leaving by his wife, Miss Mears, co. Pembroke, WILLIAM, who s. him; and JANE, m. 1st, to Mr. Nixon, 2ndly, to Mr. Cuny. The son and heir,

WILLIAM HOLCOMBE, m. Miss Meyrick, of Bush, in Pembrokeshire, and had,

I. William, a captain in the H. E. I. Co.'s service, d. s. p.

Anne. Frances.

General Northey married a second time, and has further issue. He assumed, by sign-manual, 8 May, 1799, the surname and arms of HOPKINS.

Lineage.

This family, through both lines, NORTHEY and HOPKYNS,* establishes antiquity and eminence—through both it has enjoyed, for a long series of years, parliamentary rank—through both it has served a succession of monarchs—through both, acquired civic and military distinction. In the sanguinary wars of York and Lancaster, which, for thirty years, at least, devastated the fair fields of England, and, with ruthless impartiality, swept away the chief adherents of both houses, the family of Hopkyns is traditionally stated to have taken a prominent part, and to have experienced the inevitable consequences—incarceration, decapitation, and confiscation. To pass, however, from rumour to record, we find, soon after the pacification of the kingdom, (22 and 23 EDWARD IV.) one of its members,

WILLIAM HOPKINS, chosen by the men of Coventry to preside over their city, then a place of consideration. This William was father of three sons,

WILLIAM, his heir.
Richard, sheriff of Coventry in 1554.
Nicholas, sheriff of Coventry in 1561.

The eldest,

WILLIAM HOPKYNS, sheriff of Coventry in 1557, and mayor in 1564, had been persecuted for heresy in 1554. He m. Agnes, dau. of Thomas Riley, mayor of Coventry, and had a son and successor,

RICHARD HOPKYNS, who had two sons, SAMPSON, his heir; and William, proprietor of the lordship of Shortley, 21 JAMES I. The elder,

SAMPSON HOPKYNS, mayor of Coventry in 1609, represented that city in parliament in the 12th and 18th JAMES I. He d. in 1622, leaving, by Jane, his wife, three sons and one dau., viz.,

I. RICHARD, (Sir,) his heir. II. William, (Sir.)
III. Sampson, mayor of Coventry in 1640.
I. Anne, m. to Matthew Babington, Esq. of Rothley Temple, co. Leicester, and d. in 1648, aged 33. (See BABINGTON OF ROTHLEY TEMPLE, p. 42.)

The eldest son,

SIR RICHARD HOPKINS, Knt., became eminent at the bar, and attained the rank of serjeant-at-law. He was steward of Coventry, and represented that city in parliament at the Restoration. He m. Sarah, dau. and co-heir of John Button, Esq. of Buckland, in Hampshire, by Mary, his wife, dau. of William Jesson, Esq., mayor of Coventry in 1631, and had issue,

RICHARD, his heir.
Thomas, secretary to Lord Sunderland, steward of Coventry, and commissioner of salt duties.
Sarah, who m. Sir John Goodricke, Bart. of Ribston, co. York.

Sir Richard, who was a faithful servant of King CHARLES I., and enjoyed the confidence of that unhappy prince in an eminent degree, as a series of letters addressed to him by the king, in his majesty's extremity, still extant, and in the possession of the family, fully attests, d. at Lymington, in Hampshire, and was buried there, in 1682. He was s. by his elder son,

RICHARD HOPKINS, Esq., who sat in parliament for the city of Coventry in 1660, 1669, 1678, 1689, 1696, and 1698. He m. Mary, dau. of Mr. Alderman Johnson, and sister of Lady Hale, by whom he had a son, EDWARD, his heir; and a dau., Mary. Mr. Hopkins was a person of considerable importance in the time of JAMES II., and was an active opponent of the court, and promoter of the revolution. He d. 1 Feb. 1707, in the 68th year of his age, and his widow, 13 Oct. 1711. Both are interred in St. Michael's Church, Coventry. Their son and heir,

THE RIGHT HON. EDWARD HOPKINS, was M.P. for Coventry, temp. WILLIAM III. and Queen ANNE, and Secretary of State for Ireland. This distinguished statesman m. Anna-Maria, dau. and co-heir (with her sister, Charlotte, the wife of Richard Luther, Esq. of Myles's, in Essex, and great-grandmother of JOHN TAYLOR-GORDON, Esq., M.D.) of Hugh Chamberlen, M.D. of Alderton Manor and Hinton Hall, both in the co. Suffolk, by Mary, his second wife, only child and heiress of Nathaniel Bacon, Esq. of Friston Hall, in the same county, and had issue,

I. RICHARD, his heir.
II. Edward, d. s. p. in 1748, under age.
III. Benjamin, d. s. p. in 1779, aged 45.
I. Mary, d. in 1712, aged 17.
II. ANNE, who m. WILLIAM NORTHEY, Esq. M.P., of Ivey House, in Wiltshire, and d. in 1822, leaving, with other issue, a third son,

RICHARD NORTHEY, an officer of rank in the army, of whom presently, as inheritor of the Hopkins' estates.

* The name was originally written Hopkyns—it was so spelt by John Hopkyns, who filled a civic office in the city of Coventry, in 1567.

This eminent person, who, as stated above, filled the important office of Secretary of State for Ireland, left behind him an interesting manuscript, entitled "Travels of the Right Hon. Edward Hopkins, written by himself, for the amusement of his descendants." Mr. Hopkins had afterwards the high honour of accompanying the ambassador on a visit to the Prince of Condé, at Chantilly, and describes several days' sojourn there. He d. 17 Jan. 1735-6, in the 62nd year of his age; his widow survived him 35 years, and d. 9 Feb. 1768. They were interred in St. Michael's, Coventry. He was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD HOPKINS, Esq., who served in seven successive parliaments for the city of Coventry, and filled, with honour and ability, the posts of Lord Commissioner of the Admiralty and Lord of the Treasury. He d. without issue, 18 March, 1799, aged 71, and was s. by (the third son of his sister, Anne) his nephew, Richard Northey, who has assumed the additional surname and arms of HOPKINS, and is the present LIEUT.-GEN. RICHARD NORTHEY-HOPKINS, of Oving House.

Mr. Hopper-Williamson is in the commission of the peace for the county of Durham.

Lineage.

Surtees, in his "History of Durham," several times makes mention of the respectable family of Hopper of Shincliffe, and the records of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, under whom nearly the whole of the property at Shincliffe is held, state that the lease of the premises where the Hoppers lived, was granted "11 May, 1594, to John Hopper, of Shincliffe, Janet, his wife, and Sampson Hopper, their son." At the beginning of the last century, one of their descendants,

HENDRY HOPPER, of Durham, purchased (A.D. 1720) the estate of Crook Hall, and the manor of Sidgate; in 1739, he further purchased of Sir Thomas Robinson, the lordship of Thrislington, one of the townships of Bishop Middleham; and before his death, in 1752, he had also added to his landed property the estates of Heugh Hall and Quarrington Grange, in the parish of Kelloe. Dying s. p., he was s. by his nephew,

JOHN HOPPER, Esq. of Shincliffe, son of John Hopper, of the same place, by his wife, Anne Colling, of Long Newton, co. Durham. He m. at Yarm, 25 June, 1752, Elizabeth, only child of Robert Hilton, Esq., and had issue, JOHN, who d. unm.; ROBERT, of whom presently; and Ralph, in holy orders, who m. Elizabeth Arthy, and left one son. The second son,

ROBERT HOPPER, Esq., a barrister of great provincial eminence, Chancellor of the County Palatine of Durham, and Recorder of Newcastle-upon-Tyne,* m. 28 October, 1782, Anne, only dau. of Dr. William Williamson, rector of Whickham, third son of Sir William Williamson, Bart., and assumed in consequence the additional surname of WILLIAMSON. Of this marriage the issue were two sons, viz., the present REV. ROBERT HOPPER-WILLIAMSON, rector of Hurworth, and JOHN-WILLIAM WILLIAMSON, Esq. of Whickham, b. 17 Sept. 1789, a magistrate, deputy-lieutenant, and, for several years, chairman of the Quarter Sessions of the county of Durham.

Arms—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, gyronny of eight, sa. and erm., over all a tower, triple-towered, arg., masoned; 2nd and 3rd, or, a chev., gu., between three trefoils, slipped, sa.
Crest—A tower, triple-towered, arg., masoned.
Residence—Hurworth Rectory, near Darlington.

 Of this family was RALPH HOPPER, Esq. of Bishop Middleham, brother of John Hopper, Esq. of Shincliffe, who m. Elizabeth Hilton. By Philadelphia, his wife, he was father of an only son, the late JOHN-THOMAS-HENDRY HOPPER, Esq. of Wilton Castle, co. Durham, who married and had issue. Of his daus., Mary-Anne m. Joseph Bailey, Esq., of Glanusk Park, co. Brecon, M.P.; and of the sons, the eldest, the REV. JOHN HOPPER, sold Wilton Castle to Sir William Chaytor, Bart.

Philip-Herbert, b. 14 Nov. 1841.

Edith-Catherine, b. at Wimbledon.

Lineage.

The surname of this family originated, like many others, in a soubriquet, as Le Blonde, Le Grey, &c.; the adjective hore signifies grey-headed, and is now spelt hoar.

Sir William le Hore, one of the Norman knights who invaded Ireland in 1170, obtained grants of land in the county of Wexford; his descendant,

Thomas le Hore, (with whom the pedigree, in the Visitation of the county, begins,) of The Pole, held that manor by the service of "keeping a passage over the Pill-water, as often as the sessions should be held at Wexford." He had three sons,

Richard. David.
Walter, of whom hereafter.

The second son,

Sir David le Hore, Knt. of The Pole, sheriff of the county in 1334, is included in a list of "the names of certaine of the chiefe of the English families in Ireland." (Brit. Mus. Addit. 4787, p. 1888.) His son, Nicholas le Hore, was sheriff in 1370, 1377, and 1379. He d. s. p. His uncle,

Walter le Hore, had issue,

William le Hore, chief-serjeant of Wexford before 1382, who had several sons; from the third derived the Hores of Shandon, co. Waterford. The eldest son,

Sir Nicholas le Hore, Knt., seneschal of the Earl of Pembroke's lands, and sheriff of the co. Wexford, in 1390 and 1396, m. Matilda, dau. of Sir William, Lord Loundres of Naas, co. Kildare, and had issue,

Thomas, Abbot of Dunbrody in 1447.
Christopher.

This

Christopher Hore, of The Pole, m. Maude, dau. of John Neville, Baron of Rosgarland, and had a son,

HORE OF HARPERSTOWN.

Hore, Walter, Esq. of Harperstown, co. Wexford, b. 6 June, 1784; m. 13 Oct. 1806, the Hon. Mary-Elizabeth-Thornton Ruthven, dau. of the late Lord Ruthven, and has issue,

I. William, in the army.
II. Ruthven, of Trinity College, Cambridge.
III. Walter, in the Indian army.
IV. Leslie-Melville. V. Cavendish Bradstreet, R.N.

I. Mary. II. Eleanor-Catherine.
III. Anne. IV. Wilhelmina.
V. Jane. VI. Georgina.

Mr. Hore, who is a magistrate for the co. of Wexford, served the office of high-sheriff in 1828; he s. his father in 1798.

Lineage.

Nicholas Hore, Esq. of Harperstown, (son of William Hore, Esq. of Harperstown, by his wife, a dau. of Nicholas Browne, Grand Seneschal of Wexford, and lineal descendant of Thomas le Hore, living in 1272,) flourished temp. Henry VIII. and was a great actor in the border warfare of that period in the co. of Wexford. He m. 1st, Joan, dau. of Thomas Hay, Esq. of Killiane Castle; 2ndly, a dau. of M'Murrough Kavanagh, called by the Irish, King of Leinster; and lastly, a dau. of Edmond Walsh, of Castle Hoel, co. Kilkenny, Lord of the Walsh Mountains, by which last marriage he had an only child,

Edmond Hore, of Harperstown. A grand jury of the co. of Wexford presented to the justices, "that in the 18th year of our Sovereign Lord King Henry VIII. (1527,) David Hore, his uncle, broke violently into his house and did kill and sley him and his wife, she being then greate with child of twoe children." This wife was a dau. of Gerald Kavanagh, of the house of Borris, and their orphan daus.,

Katherine and Margaret, were returned by a subsequent grand jury as "generall heyres to Harpistone, Edmond Hore, of all his landes." Their claims, however, were not powerful enough to dispossess their uncle,

David Hore, who became Lord of Harperstown, having slain his nephew, and procured the setting aside of the claims of that nephew's two co-heirs, in defiance of the presentment of the grand jury. He had the justification of an act of parliament, which made it treason and death to marry a woman of Irish blood, which was the case with respect to his nephew's wife. He m. a dau. of William Sutton, Lord of Ballykeroge, and had issue,

Robert, his heir.
William, who s. his brother.
Richard, of Taghmon, living in 1569, from whom descended David Hore, Esq. of Aghfada, M.P. for Taghmon in 1634, whose dau., Ellen, m. Christopher Bryan, Esq. of Skarr.

The eldest,

Robert Hore, Esq., of Harperstown, received two pardons from Henry VIII.; one in 1532, and the other in 1540. He d. s. p. m. in 1547, and was s. by his brother,

William Hore, Esq. of Harperstown, who m. Joan, dau. of Sir Nicholas Chevers, Knt. of Balyhaly, in the co. of Wexford, by Alison, his wife, sister of Walter Fitz-Simons, Archbishop of Dublin, and dying 26 Jan. 1570, was s. by his grandson,

Edmond Hore, Esq. of Harperstown, b. in 1558 (son of Nicholas Hore, by Margaret, his wife, dau. and co-heir of John Isham, Esq. of Bryanston, grand seneschal of the co. of Wexford.) He m. Elinor, dau. of Nicholas Turner, Esq. of the manor of Balyraly, co. Wexford, and d. 2 Nov. 1609, having had issue, William, his heir; Nicholas; John; Walter, some of whose descendants settled in Spain; James; Thomas; and Mary, m. 1st, to William Walsh, Esq., and 2ndly, to Michael Synnott, Esq. The eldest son,

William Hore, Esq. of Harperstown, b. in 1587, m. 10 Dec. 1607, Margaret, dau. of Oliver Keating, Esq. of Kilcoan, by Joan, dau. of Hon. Pierce Butler, Baron of Kayer, second son of Sir Richard, first Viscount Mountgarrett. He signed the great roll of the Catholic Confederation, and took an active part in the civil wars; was a member of the General Assembly of the Supreme Council of Kilkenny, in 1643; and in 1644, was appointed commissioner of the revenue of Ireland, and the previous year, receiver of the public money, and treasurer of the county. His will was dated 5 June, 1662, and in that year he died. He had issue, John, who d. before 1642; Walter, his heir; Anthony, capt. of a regt. of foot under Col. Warren, in the Royal army; Mary, b. before 1618; Anne, m. to Edward Comerford, Esq., M.P. for Callan in 1634, descended from the Comerfords, Barons of Dangenmore, co. Carlow; and Joane, the last person mentioned in the Visitation. The son and heir,

Walter Hore, Esq., m. in 1633, Alison, dau. of Col. Nicholas Devereux, of Balmagir, and left, with three daus., two sons. The elder,

William Hore, Esq. of Harperstown, b. in 1633, was high-sheriff of the co. of Wexford in 1681. He m. 26 Feb. 1671, Jane, dau. and heiress of William Russell, Esq. of Newcastle, co. Wexford, by whom he left at his decease, in 1699, (with three daus., Alice; Mary, m. in 1697, to Abraham Hughes, Esq. of Ballytrent; and Sarah, m. in 1697, to Thomas FitzSimons, Esq.,) an only son,

Colonel William Hore, of Harperstown, knight of the shire for the co. of Wexford in 1711, and M.P. for his borough of Taghmon, from 1731 till his death. He m. Anne, dau. of the Rev. Thomas Bunbury, of Balesker, and had issue,

William, his heir.
Walter, of Drinagh, d. in 1762.
Thomas, m. ——, dau. of John Tench, Esq. of Bryanstown, and dying before 1762, left William, Walter, and Anne.

Martha.
Jane, m. to Richard Waddy, Esq. of Cloest.

Col. Hore m. 2ndly, Catherine, co-heir of John Shapland, Esq., sister of Elizabeth, wife of Robert Carew, Esq. of Castleboro', ancestor of Lord Carew, and had one dau., Ellen. He d. 13 April, 1741, and was s. by his son,

William Hore, Esq. of the Middle Temple, D.C.L., appointed in 1729, Advocate-general and Judge-martial; in 1730, a commissioner of Appeals; in 1732, a Master in Chancery; and, subsequently, King's Attorney-general, and one of the Chief Justices of Ireland. He was M.P. for Taghmon from 1727 to 1731, and from 1741 till his death. He m. 1st, Dorothy, fifth dau. of William Ponsonby, Viscount Duncannon, sister to Brabazon, first Earl of Besborough, by whom he had issue an only son and two daus., viz.,

Walter, his heir.

Mary, m. 17 April, 1746, to John Cox, Esq. of Coolcliffe.
Anne, b. in 1732, m to Gen. Anthony Cliffe, of Ross.

He m. 2ndly, 29 Aug. 1743, Mary, dau. of John Grogan, Esq. of Johnstown Castle, widow of Major Andrew Knox, of Rathmacknee Castle. She survived him, and m. 3rdly, (as second wife to,) Charles Tottenham, Esq. of Tottenham Green, Wexfordshire, grandfather of Sir Charles-Tottenham Loftus, Bart., first Marquis of Ely, and d. in 1777. Mr. Hore d. in 1746. His son,

Colonel Walter Hore, of Harperstown, s. his father in the offices of Judge-martial and Advocate-general of Ireland. He was Col. of the yeomanry cavalry of the county, and served the office of high-sheriff in 1793. He m. 28 May, 1758, Lady Anne Stopford, fourth dau. of James, first Earl of Courtown, and had several children, viz.,

William.
Walter, now of Seafield, near Courtown, Wexfordshire, Captain in the army, and magistrate for the county, m. Catherine, dau. of John Conroy, Esq., and aunt of Sir John Conroy, Bart., and has issue,

Frederick-Geldart-Webb, b. in June, 1828.
Anna-Phœbe.

Mr. Horlock is a magistrate for Gloucestershire.

Lineage.

This family have spelt their name variously, Harleck, Hurlech, and Horlock, and, bearing nearly the same arms and crest as the Harleghs or Harleys, Earls of Oxford, were in all probability originally derived from a scion of that ancient line. They were early settled in Wales, and subsequently in Dorsetshire, whence a branch removed, about a century since, into Gloucestershire, on the marriage of Isaac-Webb Horlock, Esq. with the heiress of Ashwick. The present representative, Isaac-John-Webb Horlock, of The Rocks, Esq., maternally descends in direct line from the Protector, Seymour, Duke of Somerset, and thus from the Plantagenets.* His grandfather, the aforesaid Isaac-Webb Horlock, Esq. of Ashwick House, co. Gloucester, m. Lucy Webb, heiress of Ashwick, of the family of Major-General Webb, distinguished in Marlborough's wars, and was father of Isaac-William-Webb Horlock, of Ashwick House, and The Rocks, co. Gloucester, who m. Anne, dau. and co-heir of Holled Smith, Esq. of Normanton Turvill, co. Leicester,* and d. in 1829, leaving issue,

Isaac-John Webb, of the Rocks, b. in 1801.

HORNYOLD OF BLACKMORE.

HORNYOLD, THOMAS-CHARLES, Esq. of Blackmore Park and Hanley Castle, co. Worcester, b. 29 Jan. 1791; m. 1st, in Oct. 1812, Bridget-Mary, dau. of John-Webb Weston, Esq. of Sutton Place, co. Surrey: she d. in 1827. He m. 2ndly, in May, 1828, Lucy, eldest dau. of William Saunders, Esq. of Worcester, and grand-niece of Arthur, first Earl of Mountnorris. Mr. Hornyold s. his father in Dec. 1813, and is a magistrate and deputy-lieut. of Worcestershire.

Lineage.

The Hornyolds, or, as their name was originally written, Horniold, possessed lands in Hanley Castle, temp. HENRY III. Hanley Castle and Blackmore Park anciently formed part of the possessions of Richard Neville, Earl of Warwick and Salisbury. On his attainder, they fell to the crown, and were granted to the Lord Clinton, from whom the Hornyolds purchased them. John de Horniold was witness to a deed of lands 8 EDWARD III. From him derived JOHN HORNYOLD, who m. Miss Butler, of the Earl of Ormonde's family, and was father of JOHN HORNYOLD, who, by Catherine Falcon, his wife, had a son, RALPH HORNYOLD, who was shot, with Mr. Anthony Bourne, of Holt, co. Gloucester, by the falconer of two gentlemen they met, 23 ELIZABETH. He left, by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Richard Lygon, Esq. of Madresfield, by Mary, his wife, dau. of Sir Thomas Russell, Knt. of Strensham, a son, JOHN HORNYOLD, who was killed at Worcester. He had, by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Thomas Russell, Esq. of Strensham, a son,

THOMAS HORNYOLD, Esq. of Hanley Castle, a great sufferer for his attachment to the royal cause, temp. CHARLES I. It appears, from a petition delivered to CHARLES II., and certified by the names of Shrewsbury, Cleveland, Thomas Windsor, Henry Littleton, Francis Russel, Plymouth, and Richard Lygon, that Thomas Hornyold constantly served King CHARLES I. in the late war—that he brought a troop of horse at his own charge, and put himself at their head, under the Earl of Cleveland. Being vanquished, he was forced to fly his country; was found guilty of treason against the Parliament, his estates were sequestered, and 3000*l.* of timber sold from his estate. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Robert Gower, Esq. of Colemers, and 2ndly, Frances, dau. of J. Skynner. By the former he had a son,

ROBERT HORNYOLD, Esq. of Hanley Castle, who d. in 1712, and was buried at Hanley, leaving, by Bridget, his wife, dau. of Anthony Windsor, Esq., a son,

JOHN HORNYOLD, Esq. of Hanley Castle, who m. Mary, eldest dau. of Sir Piers Mostyn, Bart. of Talacre, co. Flint, by Frances, his wife, dau. and co-heir of Sir George Selby, and d. in 1771, when he was s. by his son,

THOMAS HORNYOLD, Esq. of Blackmore Park, who m. Mary-Catherine, b. in 1721, only dau. of Richard Towneley, Esq. of Towneley, by Mary, his wife, dau. of William, Lord Widdrington, and by her, who d. in 1762, had issue, a dau. Bridget, and two sons, THOMAS and Charles. The elder son and heir,

THOMAS HORNYOLD, Esq. of Blackmore Park, m. Teresa, dau. of Thomas Fitzherbert, Esq. of Swinnerton Hall, co. Stafford, and by her, who d. in 1815, had issue,

THOMAS-CHARLES, his heir.

Teresa, m. to John-Vincent Gandolfi, Esq. of East Sheen, co. Middlesex.

Maria, a nun.

Mr. Hornyold d. in 1813, and was s. by his only son, the present THOMAS-CHARLES HORNYOLD, Esq.

Arms—Az., on a bend, embattled, arg., a greyhound, courant, between two escallops, sa.
Crest—A demi-unicorn, gu., crined and armed, or.
Seats—Blackmore Park and Hanley Castle, co. Worcester.

HORROCKS OF LARK HILL.

HORROCKS, SAMUEL, Esq. of Lark Hill, co. Lancaster, b. 12 Dec. 1796; m. 29 Sept. 1827, Eliza, second dau. of Thomas Miller, Esq. of Preston. Mr. Horrocks is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for Lancashire: he is only son, by Alice, dau. of Mr. Duckworth, of the late Samuel Horrocks, Esq., M.P. for Preston from 1804 to 1826, who d. 24 March, 1842, and grandson of John Horrocks, of Preston.* Mr. Horrocks has six sisters, viz., Eliza, m. to Charles Whitaker, Esq.; Sarah, m. to William St. Clare, Esq., M.D.; Mary, m. to the Rev. William Birkett; Alice, m. to the Rev. J.-S. Master, (see

* Mr. Horrocks had another son besides Samuel, viz., JOHN HORROCKS, Esq., who sat in parliament for Preston, in 1802. He d. in 1804, leaving two sons, Peter and John.

MASTER OF CROSTON;) Susan, m. to the Rev. Thomas Raven; and Anne-Eliza.

HORTON OF HOWROYDE.

HORTON, THE REV. JOSHUA-THOMAS, of Howroyde, co. York, vicar of Ormskirk, co. Lancaster, b. in 1791; m. 6 Nov. 1832, Harriet, eldest dau. of Sir Thomas-Dalrymple Hesketh, Bart. of Rufford Hall, and by her, who d. 10 May, 1836, has issue one son, JOSHUA-THOMAS, b. in 1836.

Mr. Horton, who inherited the estates at the decease of his father in Dec. 1828, is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant.

Lineage.

The antiquity of the family of HORTON is established by the fact, that one ROBERT DE HORTON manumitted a bondman to his manor of Horton long before the time of Henry Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, who d. in 1310; it is also ascertained that the Hortons had a manor house in Great Horton, with a mill and certain demesne lands thereunto belonging, at a very remote period.

WILLIAM HORTON, Esq. of Frith House, in Barkisland, Halifax, descended from the above-mentioned Robert, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Hanson, Esq. of Toothill, and dying about 1640, had issue,

I. WILLIAM, of Barkisland Hall, who purchased, in the 15th of CHARLES I., the estate of Howroyde, and settled himself there. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Gledhill, Esq., and had (with three daus.) two sons, viz.
  1. THOMAS, of Barkisland Hall, d. 2 Jan. 1699, leaving three daus., his co-heirs, namely,
    ELIZABETH, m. to Richard Bold, Esq. of Bold Hall, and conveyed to her husband the estate of Barkisland.

HUBAND OF IPSLEY.

HUBAND, GEORGE, Esq., M.A., Captain unattached, late Captain 8th Hussars, Representative of the Hubands of Warwickshire and Derbyshire, s. his grandfather in 1835, in his landed property in the co. of Dublin; m. 1 May, 1844, Marianne, youngest dau. of Admiral Croft, of Stillington, co. York. (See CROFT OF STILLINGTON HALL.)

Lineage.

"This family," says Wotton, "is of very ancient and worthy extraction, and descended from HUGO HUBOLD, who held Ipsley, of Osbernus, at the Norman invasion, &c.; and they have continued lords of this ancient manor in a lineal succession until now," (1727.) The name, written successively Hubald, Hubold, Hubaude, and Huband, is derived from HUGH, the appellation of the Saxon progenitor, and BALD, the Saxon spelling of the word bold. Chaucer spells it baude—

"Many a ribaude is merie and baude."—Rom. R. 5674.

Hugo appears in Doomsday Book as holding the lands of Ipsley at the Norman invasion, in 1066; and Dugdale mentions him as ancestor of the Hubands of Warwickshire and Derbyshire. From this Hugo descended WILLIAM HUBOLD, sometimes written HUBANT, living 5 STEPHEN, 1140, and HUGH HUBOLD, who held the manor of Ipsley in 1189. The son of the former, (William,)

HENRY HUBALD, living 1 King JOHN, 1216, was father of

SIR WILLIAM HUBALD, or HUBAUDE, Knt., who was taxed for one knight's fee in Ipsley, in 1236. He was in commission for jail delivery for Warwick in 1261, and was one of those who held Kenilworth Castle against the king, for which his manor of Ipsley and other lands were seized, but the treason being purged by the Decree called "Dictum de Kenilworth," he was again a commissioner for jail delivery in 1269-70 and 72. Sir William m. Dionysia, widow of Sir Simon de Berreford, and dying in 1287, was s. by his eldest son,

SIR JOHN HUBAND, Knt. of Ipsley, who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Emerick de Paunceford, Knt. of Hasfield and Crickhowell, co. Gloucester, and d. in 1319, leaving an only son,

SIR JOHN HUBAND, Knt. of Ipsley, who m. in 1321, Margaret, dau. of Sir William Lucie, Knt. of Charlecote, co. Warwick, and had issue, JOHN, his heir; William, who served in the wars of Gascoign; Thomas; Robert; and Geffrey. The two latter served in the wars of Brittany. In 15 EDWARD II., Sir John Huband was employed with many persons of quality upon the king's service in Wales, and in the 18th of the same reign, was in the commission to inquire what persons were seised of lands in Warwickshire from the yearly value of 5*l.* to 100*l.*, and to certify the same. In 19 EDWARD III., he had a military summons to attend the king in the French wars, participated in the victory of Crecy, and was in the commission of Array for Warwickshire, for providing archers. Sir John was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN HUBAND, Esq. of Ipsley, who served in the wars in Brittany, and was one of the knights of the shire in the parliament assembled at Westminster 29 EDWARD III. To him succeeded

THOMAS HUBAND, Esq., a commissioner 2 RICHARD II., for assessing a subsidy for Warwickshire. He was father of

RICHARD HUBAND, Esq., who was ranked amongst the persons of note in Warwickshire, 12 HENRY VI. He made oath for observance of certain articles concluded upon in the parliament then holden, and bore for his arms, Sa, three leopards' faces, to which the fleurs-de-lis were added about this time, to commemorate the services of the family in the French wars, particularly at Crecy and Agincourt. After him was

THOMAS HUBAND, Esq., living 20 EDWARD IV., 1461. He was s. by

RICHARD HUBAND, Esq., who flourished in 1490. He m. Anne, dau. of Thomas Burdett, Esq. of Arrow, co. York, (ancestor of the present Sir Francis Burdett, Bart.,) and was father of

JOHN HUBAND, Esq., living 21 HEN. VIII., who was s. by

NICHOLAS HUBAND, Esq., who m. Dorothy, dau. and co-heiress (with her two sisters, viz., Anne, m. to Reginald Digby, Esq. of Coleshill, co. Warwick, ancestor of Earl Digby, and Elizabeth, m. to Sir Thomas Cave, Knt. of Stanford) of Sir John Danvers, Knt. of Calthorpe and Waterstock, co. Oxford, descended from the marriage of Sir William Danvers, Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, son of John Danvers, by Jane, dau. and heir of William Bruly, of Waterstock, co. Oxford, with Anne, dau. and heir of John Purie, Esq. of Chamberhouse, and by her, who d. 16 May, 1558, left, at his decease in 1554, (with two daus., Anne, m. to John Egyoke, Esq. of Egyoke, co. Worcester, and Mary, m. to Ralph Sheldon, Esq. of Broadway, in the same co.,) four sons, viz.,

I. JOHN, (Sir,) Knt. of Ipsley, sheriff of Warwickshire, 18 and 35 HENRY VIII., who was in great favour with the celebrated, but unfortunate, Robert, Earl of Leicester, who bore such mighty sway in those times, and constituted him constable of Kenilworth Castle, chief steward of all his manors, and ranger of all his forest parks. Sir John m. Mary, youngest dau. of Sir George Throckmorton, Knt. of Coughton, co. Warwick, but d. s. p. in 1583, and was s. by his brother, RALPH.
II. RALPH, successor to his brother at Ipsley,* high-sheriff of Warwickshire 34 ELIZABETH, who m. twice, and d. in 1605, leaving, by his second wife, a son and heir,
JOHN HUBAND, Esq. of Ipsley, who m. a dau. of Sir Henry Poole, Bart. of Oakly, Wiltshire, and d. 16 April, 1650, aged 68, leaving (with three daus., Anne, m. in 1631, to Henry Englefield, Esq., son of Sir Thomas Englefield, Bart. of Wootton Bassett, Wilts; Eleanor; and Elizabeth) a son and heir,

* "On the 24th July, 1605, we find 'William Shakespeare, gentleman,' (the bard of Avon,) executing an indenture for the purchase of the unexpired term of a long lease of certain of the great and small tithes in Stratford, Old Stratford, Bishopton, and Welcombe, in the county of Warwick. The vendor was Raphe Huband, of Ippesley, Esq."—The Life of Shakespeare, by J Payne Collier.

RALPH HUBAND, Esq., Lord of Ipsley, who m. Anne, dau. and co-heiress of Gervase Teverey, Esq. of Stapleford, Notts, by Anne, his wife, dau. of Ashby, Esq., of Loseby, co. Leicester, and by her, who d. 23 March, 1672, left, at his decease, 29 Oct. 1651, three sons, JOHN, (Sir,) his heir; Teverey, d. s. p. 24 June, 1693; and Ralph, gentleman commoner, Queen's College, Oxford, d. s. p. in July, 1670-1. The eldest son,

SIR JOHN HUBAND, of Ipsley, created a Baronet by CHARLES II., 2 Feb. 1660-1. He m. Jane, dau. of Lord Charles Paulett, of Dowlas, Hants, and d. in 1710, leaving (with two daus., Jane, m. to Edward Pollen, Esq., eldest son and heir of John Pollen, Esq. M.P. for Andover, and sheriff of Hants, by Frances, his wife, dau. and heiress of Edward Exton, Esq.; and Martha, m. to Limbery, Esq.) a son and heir,

SIR JOHN HUBAND, second Baronet of Ipsley, m. Rhoda, eldest dau. of Sir Thomas Broughton, Bart. of Broughton, co. Stafford, by Rhoda, his wife, dau. of John Ancoats, Esq. of Aystrop, co. Lincoln, and d. in 1727, leaving a son, JOHN, his heir, and three daus., Rhoda, m. to Sir Thomas Delves, Bart. of Doddington, Cheshire, and d. 27 Jan. 1772; Mary, m. to Thomas Wright, Esq. of Warwick, and d. 8 Oct. 1768; and Jane, m. to Sir Robert Henley, created Baron Henley, and Earl of Northington, Lord Chancellor of England: his son was, in 1783, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. The Earldom of Northington became extinct by his death, s. p., (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage,) but his eldest sister, Elizabeth, having m. Frederick-Morton Eden, Esq., the Barony of Henley was conferred on him in 1799. Sir John Huband's son and heir,

SIR JOHN HUBAND, third Baronet of Ipsley, d. at Oxford, a minor, in his 18th year, when the baronetcy and the male line of Ralph, second son of Nicholas Huband became extinct, and the family representation devolved on the descendant, Nicholas' fourth son, Anthony.

III. George, d. unm.

IV. ANTHONY, whose line continued the representation.

The fourth son,

ANTHONY HUBAND, Esq., inherited estates in Worcestershire under his mother's will. He m. a dau. of the Rev. John Tibotts, rector of Inkberrow, in the same co., (to which living he had been presented by Sir John Huband,) and was father of

JOHN-TIBOTTS HUBAND, Esq. of Inkberrow, who d. in 1624, (his will bears date in the previous year,) leaving, by Mary, his wife, an only son,

Dublin, by his wife Catherine Noy, of the family of William Noy, Attorney-general to CHARLES I., and by her, who d. in 1841, had (with three daus., Catherine, m. to Edward Smith, Esq. of Smith Park, co. Meath, now deceased; Eliza, m. to the Rev. Philipps Griffith, of Roscrea, co. Tipperary, also deceased; and Sarah, m. to George Bonynge Rochfort, Esq. of Woodville, co. Westmeath,) an only son,

WILLCOCKS, a gentleman of extensive literary attainments, and a zealous patron of the fine arts. He was the author of a number of works, which he printed for presentation to his friends, but never published; among which we may mention a didactic poem, entitled, "Art of Acting, and Theatrical Education;" "A Dictionary of English Participles;" "An Essay on English Orthography," &c. But Mr. Huband's most esteemed and curious works were, "An Essay upon Taste and Judgment in the Fine Arts," and an "Essay on Etching upon Copper," referred to in Dr. Dibdin's "Decameron."* Mr. Willcocks Huband m. in 1806, Frances, eldest dau. (by Anna, his wife, dau. of Samuel Lindesay, Esq. of Hollymount, co. Mayo,—see LINDESAY OF HOLLYMOUNT) of Arthur-Chichester Macartney, Esq. of Murlough, co. Down, elder brother of the late Sir John Macartney, Bart., and eldest son of William Macartney, Esq., forty years M.P. for Belfast, (see MACARTNEY OF BLACKETT,) by Catherine, his wife, dau. of Thomas Bankes, Esq. of the ancient family of Bankes, of Corfe Castle, co. Dorset, and dying v. p. in 1834, left issue,

GEORGE, successor to his grandfather.

Arthur, late of the Royal Navy.

Anna, d. unm. in 1822.

Catherine, m. to Arthur-Burgh Crofton, Esq. of Roebuck Castle, co. Dublin, high-sheriff in 1842, and has a son, George-James, and four daus.

Letitia, and Georgiana-Augusta, both d. unm.

Mr. Huband d. in 1835, and was s. by his grandson, the present CAPT. GEORGE HUBAND, now male representative of the Ipsley family.

Arms—Sa., three leopards' faces, jessant de lis, arg, quartering DANVERS, BRULY, and PURYE. (See BURKE'S Heraldic Illustrations.)

Crest—A wolf, passant, or.

Motto—Cave lupum.

* "I do not know Mr. Huband, but he is a very distinguished bookman, for I am told he wrote a book on Engraving, that he printed it with his own hands, and engraved the plates, (he also bound it;) so that he beats the curate of Lusleigh, immortalized in Nichols' Anecdotes."—(DIBDIN'S Biographical Decameron.)—Dr. Dibdin adds, "Lord Spencer possesses the only copy (presented to him by the author) of this curious performance which I have seen in England."

HUDDLESTON OF SAWSTON.

HUDDLESTON, RICHARD, Esq. of Sawston, co. Cambridge, b. in 1768; s. his father in April, 1808. Mr. Huddleston was formerly major of the Cambridgeshire Militia, and served as Sheriff for the counties of Cambridge and Huntingdon in 1834. He is a magistrate and Deputy-Lieut.

Lineage.

This branch of the ancient family of HODELSTON, or HUDDLESTON, of Millum Castle, in Cumberland, became fixed in Cambridgeshire some time in the fifteenth century, through an alliance with the once potent house of NEVIL, which it now partly represents.

According to the York Manuscript, the HODELSTONS derive their name from Hodelston in Yorkshire, where they were seated for several generations antecedently to the Conquest. The pedigree begins with an ADAM, and proceeds, through four subsequent descents, (JOHN, son of Adam, RICHARD, son of John, RICHARD, son of Richard, all in Saxon times,) to

NIGEL DE HODELSTON, who gave to the Abbey of Selby two carrucates of land and a half in Millum, and part of his tithe in Hodelston with the soccage, &c. Witnesses, Thomas, Archbishop of York; William, the Deane; and William, Treasurer. This Nigel had two sons, viz., GILBERT, (Sir,) living in the time of HENRY II., and REGINALD. The second son,

REGINALD DE HODELSTON, was father of

RICHARD DE HODELSTON, living in the 7th of King JOHN, and in the 12th of HENRY III., who was s. by his son,

JOHN DE HODELSTON, Lord of Hodelston, who m. Sybel, dau. of Laurence, son of Richard de Kirkbie, and had a son and heir,

SIR JOHN DE HODELSTON, Lord d'Anys, who was summoned to a council at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and ordered, on 26 Sept., 26 EDWARD I., to attend the King at Carlisle, with horse and arms, in the record of which he is styled a baron. (See Appendix to the Peerage Report.) He was also one of the great council who subscribed, in 1301, the celebrated letter to Pope Boniface VIII. Sir John assisted at the siege of Karlaverock, anno 1300, in the train of the Earl of Lincoln. He m. temp. HENRY III., JOAN, dau. and sole heiress of ADAM DE BOIVIL, Lord of Millum, in Cumberland, and had four sons, RICHARD, his heir, Adam, John, and Robert. He was s. by his eldest son,

Sir Richard de Hodelston, Lord of Millum, living 13 Edward II., who m. Alice, dau. of Richard Troughton, and was s. by his son,

Sir John Hodleston, Knt., Lord of Millum, who, according to Lysons, obtained licence, in 1335, to embattle his mansion at Millum. He m. Maude, dau. of Sir William Pennington, and was s. by his son,

Sir John de Hodleston, Knt., Lord of Millum, 14 Richard II., who m. Catherine, dau. of Richard Tempest, of Bowling, in Yorkshire, and was s. by his son,

Richard de Hodleston, Lord of Millum in the 1st and 13th of Henry IV., and 5th of Henry V., who m. Anne, dau. and co-heir of Sir John Fenwicke, Lord of Fenwicke, in Northumberland, and was s. by his son,

Sir Richard de Hodleston, who participated in the glory of Agincourt, and was made a knight banneret on that celebrated field. He served in the wars of France in the retinue of Sir William de Harrington, K.G., whose sister, Margaret, dau. of Robert de Harrington, Lord Harrington, he had married. Sir Richard was s. by his son,

Sir John Hodleston, Knt., Lord of Millum, who was sheriff of Cumberland in 35 Henry VI., to which office he was appointed for life by the Duke of Gloucester. He represented the county in 7 Edward IV., and was keeper and bailiff of the King's woods and chases in Barnoldewicke, co. York, steward of Penrith, and warden of the West Marches. He m. Joane, eldest dau. and co-heir of Sir Miles Stapleton, and had three sons, viz.,

I. Richard, (Sir,) K.B., who d. in the lifetime of his father, 1 Richard III. He m. Margaret, natural dau. of Richard, Earl of Warwick, and had one son and two daus., viz.,
   Richard, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Lady Mabil Dacre, and d. s. p.
   Johan, m. to Hugh Fleming, Esq. of Rydal, in Westmoreland. From this marriage descended Mary Fleming, who m. Thomas Brougham, of Scales, ancestor of Lord Chancellor Brougham.
   Margaret, m. to Launcelot Salkeld, of Whitehall.

II. John, (Sir,) who carried on the line of Millum, and was ancestor of the Hudlestons of Millum and Hutton-John.

III. William, (Sir.)

The youngest son,

Sir William Hodleston, Knt., m. the Lady Isabel Nevill, fifth dau. of John, Marquess of Montacute. This lady, on the death of her brother George, Duke of Bedford, divided with her four sisters, as his co-heirs, the large possessions which had belonged to the Marquess of Montacute, her father, to Sir Edmund Inglesthorpe, her maternal grandfather, and to John Tiptoft, Earl of Worcester, her maternal great-uncle, as fully set forth in the ancient partition made 4 July, 17 Henry VII., in the hands of the present Mr. Huddleston. Lady Isabella's portion comprised fifteen manors or estates, amongst which were those of Sawston and Dernford, still the property and abode of the family. By the co-heir of the Montacute branch of the great family of Nevill, who survived him, Sir William had two sons. The elder son and heir,

Sir John Hodleston, Knt. of Salston, m. the Hon. Dorothy Sutton, dau. of Edward, Lord Dudley. He was sheriff of the cos. of Cambridge and Huntingdon in 3 Richard III., and was s. at his decease by his son,

Sir John Hodelston, Knt., privy councillor to Queen Mary, vice-chamberlain to King Philip, and captain of his Majesty's guard. This gentleman enjoyed, in a pre-eminent degree, the confidence of his royal mistress, as evinced on the proclaiming of Lady Jane Grey, when her Majesty repaired privately to Salston, and that she might the better disguise herself, rid behind Sir John's servant to Framlingham Castle. "Besides other great boones," saith Fuller, "Queen Mary bestowed the bigger part of Cambridge Castle, then much ruined, upon him, with the stones, whereof he built his fair house in this county." Sir John m. Bridget, dau. of Sir Robert Cotton, Knt. of Lanwood, in Cambridgeshire, and had issue,

Edmund, (Sir,) his successor.

Alice, m. to Sir Thomas Lovel, Knt. of East Harling, Norfolk.

Sir John Hodelston d. 4 Nov. 1557, and was s. by his son,

Sir Edmund Hodelston, Knt. of Salston, co. Cambridge, who m. Dorothy, dau. and heir of Henry Beconsall, Esq. of Beaconsall, in Lancashire, and had one son and four daus., viz.,

Henry his heir.

Frances, m. to George Wild, Esq. of the co. of Worcester, serjeant-at-law, and d. 29 Nov. 1630.

Jane, m. to Sir Walter Wiseman, Knt. of Brodon, in Essex.

Isabel, m. to Edward Fortescue, Esq. of Faulkborn, in Essex.

Dorothy, m. to Henry Hastings, Esq., son of Sir Henry Hastings, Knt. of Leicestershire.

Whilst the house at Salston was erecting, Sir Edmund resided on his estates in Essex, and served the office of sheriff for that county in 20, 21, and 30 Elizabeth. He d. at his sister's, Lady Lovel, in 5 James I., and was s. by his son,

Henry Hodelston, of Salston. This gentleman m. Dorothy, dau. of Robert, first Lord Dormer, by his wife, the Hon. Elizabeth Brown, dau. of Sir Anthony Brown, Viscount Montagu, and had four sons and two daus. He d. in 1617, and was s. by his elder son,

Sir Robert Hodelston, of Salston, gamekeeper to King Charles I., at Newmarket, who m. 1st, the Hon. Mary Roper, dau. of Christopher, Lord Teynham, by whom he had a son, Henry, who predeceased him unm. Sir Robert m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Richard Tufton, Esq., and niece of Nicholas, Earl of Thanet, but had no issue. His brother,

Henry Hodelston, Esq., Lieut.-Col. in the service of King Charles I., m. Mary, dau. of William Havers, Esq. of Thelton Hall, in Norfolk, and dying in 1659, was s. by his son,

Richard Huddleston, Esq. of Sawston. This gentleman m. Mary, dau. of Richard Bostock, Esq. of Wexhall, co. Salop, by whom (who d. 30 Aug. 1729) he had (with seven daus., of whom, Mary, m. Sir Francis Fortescue, Bart.; Catherine, m. Charles Bodenham, Esq. of Rotherwas; and Constantia, m. the Rev. Robert Harding) four sons,

I. Richard, his successor.

II. William, m. Frances Beaumont, and was father of Gen. William-Orcher Huddleston, of the Artillery.

III. John, in Holy Orders.

IV. Henry, M.D., m. Mary, dau. of Sir William Gage, Bart. of Hengrave, and had a dau., Lelia, m. to James Farril, Esq., and d. without issue.

Mr. Huddleston d. 10 May, 1713, and was s. by his eldest son,

Richard Huddleston, Esq. of Sawston, who m. Mary, dau. and co-heir of John Ayloffe, Esq. of Ewhurst, Hants, and dying in 1717, left, with two daus., Barbara and Frances, nuns at Bruges, a son and successor,

Richard Huddleston, Esq. of Sawston, b. 30 Aug. 1716, m. 23 Feb. 1735, Jane, dau. and sole heir of Thomas Belchier, Esq. of Monmouth, by Ursula, his wife, dau. of R. Needham, Esq. of Helston, and had issue,

HUGHES OF GWERCLAS.

Barons of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion.

HUGHES, WILLIAM, Esq., REPRESENTATIVE, in the male line, of the HUGHES'S OF GWERCLAS, BARONS OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION, b. 18 April, 1801; m. 11 July, 1835, Eliza-Anne, dau. of William-Henry Worthington, of Sandiway Bank, co. Chester, Esq. formerly Captain in the Royal Horse-guards Blue, (See WORTHINGTON OF SANDIWAY BANK,) and has issue,

WILLIAM O'FARRELL, b. at Nancy, Loraine, France, 18 Feb. 1838.

Frances-Elizabeth-Margaretta, b. at Gayton Mansion, co. Northampton.

Mr. Hughes s. to the Representation of the Family at the decease of his father, William Hughes, of Pen-y-Clawdd, co. Denbigh, Esq., 18 January, 1836.

Lineage.

Few families can establish a loftier lineage, or deduce their descent through more numerous stocks of historic distinction, than the HUGHES'S OF GWERCLAS, BARONS OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION, within the ancient Principality of Powys and Kingdom of Wales.

Derived, by uninterrupted lineal male succession, from OWAIN BROGYNTYN, Lord of Edeirnion, Dinmael, and Abertanat in Powys, son of Madoc, last Sovereign Prince of Powys, the existing heir of the Hughes's deduces, through the Baronial Lords of Kymmer, and the Royal Line of Powys, a genealogy of twenty-eight descents, extending over ten centuries, transmitted, in common with the lineage of the monarchs of North Wales and South Wales, (the two other Sovereign Dynasties of Cambria,) from RHODRI MAWR, renowned in the annals of the Cymri as the Egbert of his race, who, uniting the several states of North Wales, South Wales, and Powys, became King of all Wales, A.D. 843. This monarch,

RHODRI MAWR, (Roderick the Great,) s. to the Kingdom of POWYS, at the decease, in 843, of his father, Mervyn Vrych, King of Powys; to that of NORTH WALES, by inheritance, from his mother, Esyllt, Queen of North Wales; and having m. Angharad, heiress of SOUTH WALES, dau. of Meuric ap Dyfnwal, Lord of Caerdigan, and sister and heiress of Gwgan ap Meuric, Lord of Caerdigan, he acquired the Sovereignty of South Wales; thus uniting the crowns of North Wales, South Wales, and Powys, under one sceptre. By Angharad, his consort, heiress of South Wales, Rhodri Mawr, who was slain A.D., 876, had issue,

1. Anarawd ap Rhodri Mawr, King of North Wales, from whom derived, fifth in descent, GRIFFITH AP CYNAN, King of North Wales, FOUNDER OF THE I. ROYAL TRIBE OF WALES. Griffith, who bore "Gu., three Lioncels, passant, in pale, argent, armed, az.," d. in 1136, aged 82, and lies buried on the south side of the great altar in the Cathedral of Bangor, having reigned 57 years. His eldest son, OWEN GWYNEDD AP GRIFFITH, Prince of North Wales, was a chivalrous asserter of the independence of his country against the English, and dying in 1219, after a distinguished and popular reign of 32 years, lies buried in Bangor Cathedral. Owen, who bore "Vert, three Eagles, displayed, in fesse, or," left, with other issue,
   1. Iorwerth ap Owen Gwynedd, his eldest son.
   2. Roderick ap Owen Gwynedd, Lord of Anglesey, who assumed his father's arms, which have been since borne by his descendants; and from him derived, I. the LLOYDS OF RHIWAEDOG, co. Merioneth; II. MORRIS'S OF CLENENNEU, co. CAERNARVON; III. ANWYLS OF PARK, co. Merioneth; IV. BRYNKERS OF BRYNKER, co. Caernarvon; V. WYNNS OF GWYDYR, co. Caernarvon, Barts.; VI. WYNNS OF BERTHDDU AND BODYSGALLEN, co. Caernarvon.

   The eldest son of Owen Gwynedd,

   Iorwerth Drwyndwn, who was excluded from the throne, was father, by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Madoc, Prince of Powys, of an only son, LLEWELYN AP IORWERTH, surnamed the Great, Prince of North Wales. This monarch, after an eventful reign of fifty-six years, d. in 1240, and was buried in the Abbey of Conway, leaving (with a dau. Gwladys, from whose marriage, with Ralph Lord Mortimer, of Wigmore, temp. HENRY III., derived EDWARD IV., KING OF ENGLAND,) an elder son, GRIFFITH AP LLEWELYN, imprisoned in the Tower in 1242, who had issue,

1. Owen ap Griffith, who jointly with his brother Llewelyn, s. to the throne, but was deposed by the latter, and d. s. p.
2. LLEWELYN AP GRIFFITH, who assumed the sole Sovereignty of North Wales. Attacked by the overwhelming forces of EDWARD I. of England, Llewelyn, the last native Sovereign Prince of Wales recognised by the English monarchs, was slain at Builth, in the valley of the Wye, 11 Dec. 1282. This monarch, who bore "Quarterly, or and gu., four Lions, passant, guardant, counterchanged," m. 3 Oct. 1278, the Lady Eleanor, dau. of the memorable Simon de Montfort, Earl of Leicester, by the Princess Eleanor, widow of William, Earl of Pembroke, and second dau. of JOHN, KING OF ENGLAND, (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage, art. MONTFORT, EARL OF LEICESTER,) and by her, who d. in childbirth in 1280, had an only dau. and heiress,

   The PRINCESS CATHERINE, who was sent by EDWARD I. into England, attended by her nurse, and confined in a nunnery. She m. Philip ap Ivor, Lord of Iscoed, in Caerdigan, (Refer to PRYSE OF GOGERDDAN,) and was mother of a dau. and heiress, the LADY ELEANOR, who m. THOMAS AP LLEWELYN, LAST LORD OF SOUTH WALES, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOVEREIGN PRINCES OF SOUTH WALES, and was mother of two daus. and co-heiresses,

      The LADY ELEANOR, who m. GRIFFITH VYCHAN, LORD OF GLYNDWRDWY, IN MERIONETHSHIRE, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOVEREIGN PRINCES OF POWYS, and was mother of,

         Owen ap Griffith Vychan, Lord of Glyndwrdwy, the memorable OWEN GLENDOWER.

         TUDOR AP GRIFFITH VYCHAN, LORD OF GWYDDELWERN, in Merionethshire, from whom descend, by maternal representation, the HUGHES'S OF GWERCLAS, BARONS OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION.

      The Lady Margaret, who m. Sir Tudor ap Grono, Knt., derived, through Ednyfed Vychan, Lord of Brynffenigl, in Denbighland, from Marchudd ap Cynan, Lord of Brynffenigl, Founder of the VIII. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys. (See LLOYD OF PLYMOG.) By this alliance Margaret was mother of a son and heir,

         Sir Owen Tudor, Knt. This celebrated personage m. Catherine of Valois, youngest dau. of CHARLES VI., King of France, widow of HENRY V., King of England, and by him mother of HENRY VI., King of England. By this illustrious alliance Sir Owen Tudor had a son and heir, EDMUND TUDOR, Earl of Richmond, who m. the Lady Margaret Beaufort, dau. and heir of John, Duke of Somerset, and great-granddaughter of John of Gaunt, by Catherine Swinford, and dying in 1546, left an only son,

         Henry VIII., King of England, Founder of the Royal Line of Tudor.

3. David ap Griffith. This Prince, after the death of his brother Llewelyn, continued the struggle for the independence of his country, but being betrayed, was captured, arraigned by EDWARD I. before an English parliament, 30 Sept. 1283, and executed. By his wife, a dau. of the Earl of Derby, David had a dau., who was removed by the English monarch to England, and confined in a nunnery, with her cousin Catherine, where she is supposed to have d. unm. David ap Griffith had also two sons, whose legitimacy has been questioned. Of these sons, DAVID GOCH AP DAVID, Lord of Penmachno, in Caernarvon, who bore "Sa., a Lion, rampant, argent, within a bordure, engr., or," m. Angharad, dau. of Heilin, ap Sir Tudor, Knt. of Nant and Llangynhafal (See BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage, WILLIAMS-BULKELEY, OF PENRYN, BART.) and had issue,

   Griffith ap David Goch, (of whom there is a stone figure, recumbent in armour, in the church of Bettws-y-Coed, near Llanrwst,) ancestor of, I. the LLOYDS OF ESCLUSHAM AND DULASEU; II. GETHINS OF FEDWDEG, now extinct.

   Gwladys, who m. Griffith, living 22 July, 12 EDWARD I., 1284, son of Iorwerth ap Owain Brogyntyn, Lord of Edeirnion, Dinmael, and Abertanat, and by him was mother of a son, David ap Griffith, ancestor of the HUGHES's OF GWERCLAS, BARONS OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION.

II. Cadell ap Rhodri Mawr, King of South Wales, took possession of the Kingdom of Powys, on the decease, in 900, of its sovereign, Mervyn ap Rhodri Mawr, and dying in 907, was s. by his son, HOWEL AP CADELL, surnamed Dha, or the Good, King of South Wales, who annexed Powys to his hereditary dominions, and, in 947, also usurped the crown of North Wales. This celebrated monarch, the Justinian of Cambria, d. in 948, and left an elder son, OWEN AP HOWEL DHA, King of South Wales, who m. twice. By his second consort, Angharad, Queen of Powys, Representative of Mervyn ap Rhodri Mawr, King of Powys, he had a son, the heir and successor of his mother, viz.,

MEREDITH AP ANGHARAD, KING OF POWYS, ANCESTOR OF THE SOVEREIGNS OF POWYS, FROM WHOM DERIVE LINEALLY THE HUGHES'S OF GWERCLAS, BARONS OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION.

Owen ap Howel Dha, d. about 987, and was, by his first marriage, great-grandfather of RHYS AP TEWDWR MAWR, restored in 1077 to his hereditary crown of South Wales, FOUNDER OF THE III. ROYAL TRIBE OF WALES. From him, who bore "Gu., a Lion, rampant, within a bordure, indented, or," derived, fifth in descent, LLEWELYN AP OWEN, Lord of South Wales, who m. the Lady Eleanor, dau. of Henri, Comte de Bar, in the Province of Champagne, in France, by the PRINCESS ELEANOR, widow of ALPHONSO, King of Arragon, and eldest dau. of EDWARD I., KING OF ENGLAND, by the PRINCESS ELEANOR, his first wife, dau. of FERDINAND III., KING OF CASTILE. By this lady, Llewelyn had an elder son and successor, THOMAS AP LLEWELYN, LAST LORD OF SOUTH WALES. This Prince m. the LADY ELEANOR, dau. and heir of Philip ap Ivor, Lord of Iscoed, in Caerdigan, (See PRYSE OF GOGERDDAN,) by the PRINCESS CATHERINE, DAU. AND HEIR OF LLEWELYN, PRINCE OF NORTH WALES, and had by his consort, two daus. and co-heirs, I. the LADY ELEANOR, II. the LADY MARGARET, who m. Sir Tudor ap Grono, Knt., and was mother of OWEN TUDOR, progenitor of the ROYAL HOUSE OF TUDOR. (See LLOYD OF PLYMOG.) The elder dau. and co-heiress,

The LADY ELEANOR, m. GRIFFITH VYCHAN, LORD OF GLYNDWRDWY, in Merionethshire, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE PRINCES OF POWYS, and was mother of, I. OWEN GLENDOWER, II. TUDOR. From the younger son, TUDOR AP GRIFFITH VYCHAN, LORD OF GWYDDELWERN, in Merionethshire, derived, by maternal representation, the HUGHES'S OF GWERCLAS, BARONS OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION.

III. MERVYN AP RHODRI MAWR, KING OF POWYS, of whose line we have to treat.

IV. Meuric ap Rhodri Mawr, d. in Ystrad, without issue.

V. Tudwal ap Rhodri Mawr, surnamed Gloff, or the Lame, from a wound in the knee which he received at the battle of Cynwyd a place within two miles of the town of Conway. The eighth in descent from Tudwal Gloff, was CADIVOR AP DYFNWAL, Lord of Castel Howel, who lived in the reign of HENRY I. of England, and acquired martial renown in an age in which every man capable of bearing arms was bound to be a soldier. In the 2nd of HENRY II. he took by escalade the castle of Caerdigan from the Earl of Clare, and in requital of his valour, is said to have obtained from his sovereign, Rhys ap Tewdwr Mawr, King of South Wales, a new shield of arms, viz., "Sa., three scaling ladders, and between the uppermost a spear head, arg., its point imbrued; on a chief, gu., a tower, triple turretted, of the second." Cadivor ap Dyfnwal was ancestor of, I. the OWENS OF CEFN HAFOD, and subsequently of GLANSEVERN, co. MONTGOMERY; II. OWENS OF LLAN DULAS; III. LLOYDS OF MILLFIELD, co. CARDIGAN, Barts.; IV. LLOYDS OF FOES-Y-BLEIDDIED, (See PHILLIPPS LLOYD OF DALE CASTLE;) V. LLOYDS OF POUND, co. Devon, (See LLOYD OF DAN-YR-ALLT.)

The third son of Rhodri Mawr, King of Wales, viz.,

II. MERVYN AP RHODRI MAWR, s. to the Kingdom of Powys. Pengwern, or Shrewsbury, was the ancient metropolis and residence of the Powysian sovereigns, till the time of Offa, King of Mercia, who, passing the Severn about the year 780, with a great force, expelled the Cambrians from their fruitful plains, and reduced the Kingdom of Powys to the western side of the celebrated ditch, (Clawdh-Offa,) still known by his name. The royal residence was, in consequence, transferred to a district not less fertile, Mathraval, in the beautiful vale of Meifod, in the present county of Montgomery. There, on a steep bank of the river Vyrnyw, Rhodri Mawr built a Castle-palace, the site of which is still easily traced. Mervyn ap Rhodri Mawr, d. A.D. 900, having had issue,

I. LLEWELYN AP MERVYN.

II. Triffyn ap Mervyn, ancestor of the "Inheritors of Rhiw in Llyn," and from whom descended Sir WILLIAM JONES of Caermarthenshire, one of the Justices of the King's Bench, temp. CHARLES II.

III. Yarthyr ap Mervyn, drowned about 952.

I. Avandreg, who m. Idwal Voel, King of North Wales, and was mother of MEURIC AP IDWAL VOEL, ANCESTOR OF THE SOVEREIGNS OF NORTH WALES.

The eldest son,

III. LLEWELYN AP MERVYN, (who was excluded from his crown by the usurpation of his uncle, Cadell, and his cousin, Howel Dha, successively Kings of South Wales,) was father of a dau. and heiress,

IV. ANGHARAD VERCH LLEWELYN, QUEEN OF POWYS, who m. Owen ap Howel Dha, King of South Wales, (ancestor, by his first consort, of the Sovereigns of South Wales,) and by him was mother of two sons, of whom, Llywarch, the younger, was taken prisoner, in 986, with two thousand troops, by Harold the Dane, and deprived of his eyes. The elder son,

V. MEREDITH AP ANGHARAD, KING OF POWYS, left at his decease, A.D. 998, an only dau. and heiress,

VI. ANGHARAD VERCH MEREDITH, QUEEN OF POWYS. This sovereign m. twice, 1st, Llewelyn ap Seissylt, son of Trawst, dau. of Elis, 2nd son of Anarawd, King of North Wales. Exercising the sovereignty of Powys in respect of Angharad, Llewelyn usurped, in 1015, the crowns of North Wales and South Wales, and assumed the authority and title of King of all Wales. By this brave and excellent Prince, who was assassinated, A.D. 1020, Angharad had an only son,

Griffith ap Llewelyn, King of Powys by maternal inheritance, and of North and South Wales by usurpation. Griffith was put to death at the instigation of Harold the Dane, and his cousins Bleddyn and Rhiwallon jointly usurped the crown of Powys, to the exclusion of Griffith's sons, by his wife, a dau. of Algar, son of Leofric, Earl of Mercia. These sons, MEREDITH AP GRIFFITH and ITHEL AP GRIFFITH, who asserted unsuccessfully their claim to the throne, both d. unm., and the descendants of Angharad by her first husband having thus become extinct, the Crown of Powys vested in the eldest son of her second marriage, BLEDDYN AP CYNFYN.

ANGHARAD, QUEEN OF POWYS, m. 2ndly, Cynfyn, a Lord of Powys, son of Gwerystan ap Gwaethvoed Vawr, a potent Chief of that Kingdom, (See DAVIES OF DENBIGH, under HEATON OF PLAS-HEATON,) and was mother of three sons and three daus., of whom the eldest son,

VII. BLEDDYN AP CYNFYN, KING OF POWYS, by inheritance, acquired the Kingdoms of North Wales and South Wales by usurpation, and became FOUNDER OF THE III. ROYAL TRIBE OF WALES. This distinguished monarch revived the code of laws instituted by Howel Dha, and by his excellent government acquired the esteem of his subjects, but, from unascertained motives, was assassinated at Powys Castle, by Rhys, the son of Owen ap Edwyn, the youngest son of Howel Dha, "after he had worthilie governed Wales thirteen years." The ensigns displayed on Bleddyn's standard were, "Or, a Lion, rampant, gu., armed and langued, of the first." By Haer, his wife, dau. and co-heir of Cilin ap y Blaidd Rhudd, Lord of Gest-yn-Efionydd, in Merioneth, Bleddyn had one son, his successor,

MEREDITH AP BLEDDYN, of whom hereafter, as PRINCE OF POWYS.

By subsequent unions, Bleddyn ap Cynfyn was father of several children, of whom,

Cadwgan ap Bleddyn, Lord of Nannau, in Merionethshire, for some time associated in the Sovereignty of Powys with his elder brother, Meredith, is dignified by Camden by the title of "The Renowned Briton." This Prince, who bore "Or, a Lion, rampant, az.," had numerous children. By Gwenllian, his first wife, dau. of Griffith ap Cynan, King of North Wales, he left an only son, MADOC AP CADWGAN, Lord of Nannau, who m. Efa, dau. and heir of Philip ap Uchdryd, and was father of an eldest son, MEURIC AP MADOC, Lord of Nannau. This Lord m. Gwenllian, dau. and heir of Iorweth ap Peredyr, derived through Ednowain ap Bradwen, Lord of Llys Bradwen, from Marchudd ap Cynan, Lord of Brynffenigl, (See LLOYD OF PLYMOG,) and was s. by his son, YNYR AP MEURIC, Lord of Nannau, who, by Gwerfyl, his wife, dau. and heir of Madoc ap Llowarch Vychan, descended from Llowarch Holbwrch, Treasurer of Griffith, Prince of Wales, had issue, I. Einion ap Ynyr, Lord of Nannau, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph, 21 Oct. 1268, termed by the Welsh, y Brawd Ddu O'Nannau, (the Black Brother of Nannau,) who d. s. p.; II. YNYR VYCHAN AP YNYR, Lord of Nannau, who, by Gwenhwyfar, his wife, dau. of Griffith ap Gwen, derived from Einion ap Seissyllt, Lord of Mathafern, (See PRYCE OF GUNLEY,) had, with junior issue,

I. Meuric Vychan ap Ynyr, Lord of Nannau, living 21 EDWARD III., who m. Gwladys, dau. of Griffith ap Owen, grandson of Bleddyn, Lord of Dinmael, third son of Owain Brogyntyn, Lord of Edeirnion, Dinmael, and Abertanat, and left, with junior issue, two sons,

1. Howel ap Meuric Vychan, Lord of Nannau, living 15-16 Richard II., 1391-2, and 7 Henry VI., father, by Nest, his wife, dau. of Ievan Vychan, of an only dau. and heiress,
   Angharad, who m. Rhys ap Ievan, iv. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, and Baron of Crogen and Branas, under age 15-16 Rich. II., and Raglor of Abertanat, 2 Henry V., 1415, and was by him mother of,
   David ap Rhys, v. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, and Baron of Crogen, and Branas, who d. 25 Oct., 23 Henry VI., 1444, ancestor of the Hughes's of Gwerclas, Barons of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion.
2. Meuric ap Meuric, Lord of Nannau, ancestor of i. The Nanneys of Nannau, whose heiress, Jonet, dau. and heir of Hugh Nanney, Esq. of Nannau, m. Robert Vaughan, Esq., of Hengwrt and Wengraig, co. Merioneth, and from this marriage descend the Vaughans of Nannau, Barts.; ii. Nanneys, of Maes-y-Pandy, co. Merioneth, whose heiress, Lowry, m. Robert Wynn, Esq. of Maes-y-Neuadd, co. Merioneth, represented by the son of the late Rev. John Nanney, of Maes-y-Neuadd, (See that name;) iii. Llwyds of Cwm Bychan, co. Merioneth, from a younger branch of which House, seated at Llanarmon, descended the late Rev. John Lloyd, Rector of Caerwys, co. Flint, who d. in 1793, eminent as a Welsh antiquary, and the valued friend and constant attendant of Pennant in all his Welsh tours. He was father of our cotemporary, Miss Angharad Llwyd, distinguished by her zealous promotion of Cambrian literature, and her profound investigation and elegant exposition of the History, Genealogy, and Antiquities of the Principality.

ii. Howel ap Ynyr Vychan, ancestor of i. The Vaughans of Wengraig, Hengwrt, and Nannau, Barts.; ii. Vaughan of Rûg and Hengwrt, co. Merioneth, (See that name;) iii. Vaughans of Dol-y-Melynllyn, co. Merioneth. (Refer to that family.)

Bleddyn ap Cynfyn was s. by his eldest son by his first Queen,

VIII. Meredith ap Bleddyn, who s. to his hereditary dominions as Prince of Powys, while the Kingdoms of North Wales and South Wales, which had been usurped by his father, reverted, after a short interval, to the rightful heirs, Griffith ap Cynan, and Rhys ap Tewdwr Mawr, after a memorable battle, fought on the mountain of Carno in 1079. Meredith's armorial ensigns were, "Arg., a Lion, rampant, sa., armed and langued, gu.," ("The Black Lion of Powys,") which, from this time, became the Royal Arms of Powys, and have been transmitted to his descendants, the Hughes's of Gwerclas, Barons of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion. By his consort, Hunydd, dau. of Efnydd Gwernwy, Lord of Duffryn Clwyd, in Denbighland, Founder of the xiv. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, (See Meredith of Pentrebychan,) Meredith had, with junior issue,

i. Madoc ap Meredith, of whom hereafter, as Prince of Powys.

ii. Griffith ap Meredith, Lord of Mawddwy-Cyfeilioc, who took an active part in the feuds and warfare of the period, and d. in his father's life-time, in 1128, leaving, by Gwerfyl, his wife, dau. and heir of Gwrgenas ap Howel, Lord of Caer-a-Chydewen, derived from Elystan Glodrydd, Prince of Fferlys, Founder of the iv. Royal Tribe of Wales, (See Morris of the Hurst,) an only son, Owen Cyfeilioc ap Griffith, Prince of Higher Powys, to which Principality he succeeded on the decease of his grandfather, Meredith ap Bleddyn, who divided the Principality of Powys into the Principality of Lower Powys, and that of Higher Powys, the former of which devolved on his eldest son, Madoc. Owen Cyfeilioc, who was an eminent warrior and distinguished bard, founded the Cistertian Abbey of Ustrad Marchell, and d. in 1197, leaving (by Gwenllian, his wife, dau. of Owen Gwynedd, Prince of North Wales) an only son, Gwenwynwyn ap Owen Cyfeilioc, Prince of Higher Powys, from him called afterwards Powys-Wenwynwyn. By his wife, Margaret, dau. of Rhys ap Tewdwr Mawr, King of South Wales, Gwenwynwyn had two sons,

1. Griffith ap Gwenwynwyn, Prince of Powys-Wenwynwyn, who m. Margaret, dau. of Howel-y-Pedolau, derived from Hwfa ap Cynddelw, Founder of the i. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, (See Burke's Peerage and Baronetage, Owen of Orielton, Bart.,) and had, with other issue, an eldest and younger son, viz.,
   Owen ap Griffith, last Prince of Powys-Wenwynwyn, living 16 May, 17 Edward I., known as "Lord de la Pole," from his residence, Powys Castle, near Pole, commonly called Welsh Pool, in Montgomeryshire. Summoned to a Parliament held at Shrewsbury, Owen abdicated his throne, resigned to the English monarch and his heirs the Sovereignty of Powys, and acknowledged his domains to be held under the Crown of England, in capite, under the tenure of Free Baronage. Owen m. Hawys, dau. of Philip Corbet, Baron of Caus, and by her had an only dau. and heiress,
   Hawys Gadarn, or the Hardy. This lady, by the gift of Edward II., became the wife of John de Charlton, elder son of Sir Allan de Charlton, co. Salop, who, in her right, acquired the Feudal Barony of Pole, held in capite from the English Crown, and was summoned to Parliament 26 July, 1313, as Baron Charlton, and from that period to 25 July, 1353. By him, who d. in 1353, Hawys, who predeceased him, and lies buried in the House of the Grey Friars at Shrewsbury, was mother of,
   John, ii. Lord Charlton. (See Burke's Extinct Peerage.)

William ap Griffith, living 17 Edward I., was father of John ap William, Lord of Mawddwy, who m. Jane, dau. of Sir Thomas Corbet, Knt., and had (with a son, Foulk ap John, Lord of Mawddwy, who d. s. p.) a dau.,
Elizabeth, who, as heiress of her brother, s. to the Lordship of Mawddwy, and the vast domains of her family. She m. Sir Hugh de Burgh, Knt., derived from Hubert de Burgh, Earl of Kent, Justiciary of England, temp. Henry III., (See Hussey-Burgh of Donore, and Burke's Peerage, Marquis of Clanricarde,) and was mother of Sir John de Burgh, Knt., Lord of Mawddwy, who m. Joan, dau. and co-heir of Sir William Clopton, Knt. of Clopton, co. Warwick, and Radbrook, co. Gloucester, and left four daus., his co-heirs, viz.,

1. Elizabeth, m. Thomas Newport, Esq. of High Ercall, co. Salop, ancestor of the Newports, Earls of Bradford.
2. Ancreda, m. John Leighton, Esq. of Stratton, and jure uxoris of Watlesborough, co. Salop, ancestor of the present Sir Baldwin Leighton, Bart. of Watlesborough.
3. Isabel, m. Sir John Lingeyne, Knt. of Lingeyne and Sutton, co. Hereford, and jure uxoris of Radbrook, ancestor of Robert Lingen, Esq. of Sutton Court and Radbrook, who assumed the name of Burton. (Refer to Lingen of Penlanole.)
4. Eleanor, m. Thomas Mytton, Esq., M.P. for Shrewsbury in 1472, jure uxoris Lord of the Barony of Mawddwy, ancestor of, i. The Myttons of Halston, co. Salop, Lords of the Barony of Mawddwy, (See Mytton of Halston;) ii. Myttons of Garth and Pen-y-lan, (See that name;) and iii. Mutton, Sir Peter, of Llanerch Park, co. Denbigh, whose dau. and co-heir, Anne Mutton, of Llanerch Park, m. Robert Davies, Esq. of Gwysaney, co. Flint, and from this marriage derive, 1. the Davies's of Gwysaney, and 2. the late Thomas Davies, Esq. of Trefynant, co. Denbigh, (Refer to Davies of Gwysaney, under Cooke of Owston,) father of,
   Owen Davies, Esq. of Eton House, co. Kent. (Ibid.)
   Elizabeth, who m. the late William Hughes, Esq. of Pen-y-Clawdd, male Representative of the Hughes's of Gwerclas, Barons of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, and was by him mother of the present William Hughes, Esq.

2. Madoc Goch ap Gwenwynwyn, Lord of Mawddwy, and Caer Einion. This Prince having d. without issue male, the Lordships of Mawddwy and Caer Einion reverted to the elder branch, and, as has been shewn, vested in William, fourth son of Griffith ap Gwenwynwyn. Madoch Goch's dau. and heiress,
   Efa, m. Iorwerth, Lord of Half Edeirnion, eldest son of Owain Brogyntyn, Lord of Edeirnion, Dinmael, and Abertanat, and was mother of an eldest son,
   Griffith ap Iorwerth, living 22 July, 12 Edward I., 1284, ancestor of the Hughes's of Gwerclas, Barons of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion.

Meredith ap Bleddyn, Prince of Powys, by his second wife, Efa, dau. of Ednowain Bendew, Lord of

Tegaingl, in Flint, Founder of the XIII. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, (See DAVIES OF DENBIGH, under HEATON OF PLAS-HEATON,) was father of,

Iorwerth Goch, (Edward the Red,) Lord of Mochnant, in Powys, who bore the same arms as his father. From him derived, ninth in lineal succession, Griffith Kynaston, of Stocks, co. Salop, Seneschal of the Lordship of Ellesmere, in Shropshire, temp. HENRY VI., ancestor of, I. The KYNASTONS OF OTELEY, co. Salop, whose heiress, Mary, sister and heiress of Edward Kynaston, Esq. of Oteley, m. James Mainwaring, of Bromborough, co. Chester, Esq., and was mother of Charles Mainwaring, Esq. of Bromborough, grandfather of the present CHARLES MAINWARING, ESQ. OF OTELEY PARK, (See KYNASTON OF OTELEY PARK, under MAINWARING OF OTELEY PARK;) II. KYNASTONS OF HARDWICK, CO. SALOP, BARTS., represented by the present SIR JOHN ROGER KYNASTON, BART. (See BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage.)

Meredith ap Bleddyn d. in 1132, and was s. by his eldest son,

IX. MADOC AP MEREDITH, PRINCE OF LOWER POWYS, called from him POWYS-FADOC, who bore the same arms as his father, and was one of the most distinguished monarchs of his race. Having died at Winchester in 1160, he was buried at Meifod, near Mathrafal, his palace, in Montgomeryshire, and with him expired the Principality of Powys. By the Princess Susanna, his wife, dau. of Griffith ap Cynan, King of North Wales, Madoc had issue,

I. Griffith Maelor ap Madoc, who s. as Lord of Maelor, or Bromfield, and Mochnant-ys-Rhaiadar,—"a man wise and liberal, nor was he less brave, nor less a friend to his country;" he was valiantly engaged, at the head of the men of Bromfield, at the battle of Crogen, whence HENRY II. was repulsed. Griffith, who bore "Paly of eight, arg. and gu., over all a Lion, rampant, sa., armed and langued, gules," d. in 1191, and was buried at Meifod, and from him derived, sixth in succession,

GRIFFITH VYCHAN AP GRIFFITH, LORD OF GLYNDWRDWY, in Merionethshire, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOVEREIGN PRINCES OF POWYS, who m. the LADY ELEANOR, ELDER DAU. AND CO-HEIR OF THOMAS AP LLEWELYN, LAST LORD OF SOUTH WALES, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOVEREIGN PRINCES OF SOUTH WALES, by the LADY ELEANOR, his wife, dau. and heir of Philip ap Ivor, Lord of Iscoed, in Caerdigan, by the Princess CATHERINE, DAU. AND HEIR OF LLEWELYN AP GRIFFITH, LAST NATIVE SOVEREIGN PRINCE OF NORTH WALES recognised by the English monarchs. By this lady, the Lord of Glyndwrdwy had, with junior issue, two sons,

1. Owen ap Griffith Vychan, Lord of Glyndwrdwy, the renowned OWEN GLENDOWER, of English writers, Representative of the Sovereign Princes of North Wales, South Wales, and Powys. This celebrated Prince, and memorable champion of Cambrian independence, who asserted his claim to the Throne of Wales, as Representative of its three Sovereign Dynasties, m. Margaret, dau. of Sir David Hanmer, Knt. of Hanmer, co. Flint, (See BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage, HANMER OF HANMER, BART.,) and (with several sons, all of whom are stated to have d. s. p.) had five daus., presumed coheirs,—viz. I. ISABEL, m. Adda ap Iorwerth Ddu; II. Elizabeth, m. Sir John Scudamore, Knt. of Ewyas, Holme Lacy, and Kent Church, co. Hereford, from which marriage derives JOHN-LACY SCUDAMORE, Esq. of Kent Church; III. JANET, m. Sir John De Croft, Knt. of Croft Castle, co. Hereford, ancestor of the present SIR ARCHER-DENMAN CROFT, OF CROFT CASTLE, BART.; IV. Margaret, m. Roger Monnington, of Monnington, co. Hereford.
2. TUDOR AP GRIFFITH VYCHAN, LORD OF GWYDDELWERN, in Merionethshire, upwards of twenty-four years old, 3 Sept., 10 RICHARD II., 1386, when, under the designation of "Tudor de Glendore," he appeared as a witness in the celebrated Scrope and Grosvenor Controversy. ("Scrope and Grosvenor Controversy," by Sir Harris Nicolas, I. 60.) Tudor distinguished himself by the zeal with which he supported the interests of his brother, Owen Glendower, and terminated a gallant career at the battle fought between the English and Welsh forces, on the 11th of March, 1405, at Mynydd-y-Pwll-Melyn, near Grosmont, Monmouthshire. After the action he was found among the slain, and from his resemblance to his brother, a report was spread of the death of the latter; but on examining the dead body, it was found to want a wart over the eye, which distinguished Owen from Tudor. (Carte's Hist. of England, vol. ii. p. 665.) This gallant scion of the Royal Dynasties of Powys, South Wales, and North Wales, m. Maud, dau. and heir of Ievan ap Howel, derived from Tudor Trevor, Lord of Hereford and Whittington, (See JONES-PARRY OF LLWYNON, and BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage, MOSTYN OF TALACRE, BART.,) and had a dau. and co-heiress, LOWRIE, who m. Griffith ap Einion, of Cors-y-Gedol, in Merionethshire, living A.D. 1400, derived, through Osborne Fitzgerald, Lord of Ynysymaengwyn, in the same County, from Walter FitzOtho, Castellan of Windsor, temp. Conquesitoris, progenitor of the Ducal House of Leinster, (See WYNNE OF PENIARTH,) and was by him mother of two sons,

   1. Griffith Vaughan, Esq. of Cors-y-Gedol, co. Merioneth, who m. Maud, dau. of Sir John Clement, Knt., and was ancestor of Richard Vaughan, Esq. of Cors-y-Gedol, who m. Margaret, dau. and heir of Sir Evan Lloyd, of Bodidris, co. Denbigh, Bart., and had, (with a son, William Vaughan, Esq. of Cors-y-Gedol, who d. s. p.,) a dau., Catherine Vaughan, who m. the Rev. Hugh Wynn, D.D., and left a dau. and heir, Margaret Wynn, heiress of her uncle, William Vaughan. This lady married Sir Roger Mostyn, of Mostyn, co. Flint, Bart., and had (with two sons, Sir Thomas Mostyn, Bart., and Essex, both of whom d. s. p.) five daus., the co-heirs of their brother, of whom two had issue, viz., Elizabeth Mostyn, m. to the present Lord Mostyn, and has a son and heir, THE HON. EDWARD-MOSTYN LLOYD, who s. to Cors-y-Gedol, together with the other Mostyn Estates, under the will of his uncle, in compliance with which he, in 1821, assumed the surname and arms of MOSTYN; and II. Anna-Maria Mostyn, m. to the late Sir Robert-Williames Vaughan, of Nannau, co. Merioneth, Bart., and by him was mother of the present SIR ROBERT-WILLIAMES VAUGHAN, BART. (See BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage.)
   2. Ellis ap Griffith, of Gwyddelwern, Raglot of the Commote of Penllyn, 12 EDWARD IV., who is said to have died in 1489, m. Margaret, dau. and heir of Jenkin ap Ievan, of Plas-yn-Yale, co. Denbigh, (See LLOYD OF GLOSTER,) and had with other issue, two sons, 1. David ap Ellis, of Plas-yn-Yale, co. Denbigh, ancestor of the YALES OF PLAS-YN-YALE, extinct in the male line; and 2. JOHN WYNN AP ELLIS, of Bryntangor, co. Denbigh, whose son, ROGER AP JOHN WYNN, of Bryntangor, m. Helen, dau. of Foulk Salusbury, of Llanrwst, co. Denbigh, Esq. (son of Thomas Salusbury, Esq. of Lleweny, in the same county. See BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage, SALUSBURY OF LLANWERN, BART.) and was grandfather of JOHN ROGERS, of Bryntangor, Esq., whose only dau. and heiress,

      MAGDALEN ROGERS, Heiress of Bryntangor, b. 21 August, 1602, m. (æt. 10 years) 13 August, 1615, Humffrey Hughes, of Gwerclas, co. Merioneth, Esq., XI. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, and dying 20 Oct. 1655, left a son and heir,

      THOMAS HUGHES, ESQ., ANCESTOR OF THE HUGHES'S OF GWERCLAS, BARONS OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION.

II. Owen Vychan ap Madoc, Lord of Mechain Iscoed, who m. Ellinor, dau. of Maelgwyn Vychan, grandson of Rhys ap Tewdwr, King of South Wales, and d. 1187, leaving a son, OWAIN VYCHAN AP MADOC, Lord of Mechain Iscoed, whose dau. and heiress, Angharad, m. Iorwerth Goch, derived from Cadell, King of South Wales.

III. OWAIN BROGYNTYN AP MADOC, LORD OF EDEIRNION, DINMAEL, AND ABERTANAT, of whose line we have to treat.

I. Margaret, m. Rhys ap Griffith, Lord of South Wales, and by him, who d. in 1198, and was buried at St. David's, was mother of GRIFFITH AP RHYS, LORD OF SOUTH WALES, ANCESTOR OF THE LORDS OF SOUTH WALES.

MADOC AP MEREDITH, PRINCE OF POWYS, by a subsequent union with Efa, daughter of Madoc ap Urien, of Maengwynedd, had issue twin sons,

I. Cynric Efell, Lord of Eglwys Egle, a division of the Lordship of Bromfield, to whom are assigned as armorial bearings, "Gu., on a bend, arg., a Lion passant, sa., armed and langued, gu." Cynric Efell was progenitor of, 1. The DAVIES'S OF GWYSANEY; II. DAVIES'S OF ETON HOUSE, co. Kent, (See DAVIES OF GWYSANEY, under COOKE OF OWSTON;) III. DAVIES'S OF MARRINGTON HALL, CO. Salop, (See that name;) IV. WYNNE'S OF TOWER, CO. Flint; V. Richard Parry, Lord Bishop of St. Asaph, from whom derived the PARRYS OF PLAS-NEWYDD, co. Denbigh; and VI. EYTONS OF LEESWOOD, co. Flint, (See that name.)

II. Einion Efell ap Madoc, Lord of Cynllaeth, in Denbighland, who bore, "Party, per fesse, sa. and arg., a Lion, rampant, counterchanged, armed and langued, gu." From him descend, I. the MEREDITHS OF ABERTANAT, CO.

Salop; II. Roberts's of Llangedwin, co. Denbigh; III. Kyffins of Bodfach, co. Montgomery; IV. Tanats of Abertanat; V. Tanats of Blodwell, co. Salop; VI. Wynns of Plas-newydd-yn-Bodlith; VII. Wynns of Plas-yn-Moeliwrch; VIII. Edwards's of Ness Strange, co. Salop, (Refer to that family;) IX. Kyffins of Glascoed; X. Lloyds of Aston, co. Salop, (See that name;) XI. Vaughans of Golden Grove, co. Carmarthen; XII. Vaughans, Earls of Carbery; XIII. Kyffins of Maenan, co. Caernarvon.

The third son of Madoc, Prince of Powys Fadoc, viz.,

X. Owain-Brogyntyn ap Madoc bore the prefix of Brogyntyn, from the place of his birth, a locality of that name near Oswestry in Shropshire, the modern Porkington, where he possessed a fort called "Castell Brogyntyn," the ruins of which, after the lapse of six centuries, are still to be traced. (See Gore of Porkington.) In 1160, when the Sovereign Diadem, of the Madocian line of Powys, was buried in the tomb of Madoc ap Meredith, last Prince of Powys, and his dominions were apportioned among his children, his gallant and distinguished son, Owain Brogyntyn, became Lord of Edeirnion, Dinmael and Abertanat, in Powys-Fadoc, and inherited from his father the Royal Arms of Powys, "Arg., a Lion, rampant, sa., armed and langued, gu.," which have been transmitted to his descendants. This Chief was one of the most distinguished warriors of his age, and took a conspicuous and leading part in the most prominent incidents of a period peculiarly eventful in the annals of Cambria. Entering with his brother, Griffith Maelor, Lord of Bromfield, into alliance with the chivalrous Owen Gwynedd, Prince of North Wales, and Rhys ap Tewdwr Mawr, King of South Wales, to resist the renewed attempt of Henry II. of England on the independence of Wales, Owain Brogyntyn, as one of the chief officers of the allied forces, contributed materially to the victory over the English monarch at the battle of Crogen, fought in 1165, beneath "Castell Crogen," the present Chirk Castle, where the battle field is still called "Adwyr Beddall," (the Pass of the Graves.) After this action, the English retreated to Edeirnion, posting themselves on the face of the Berwyn Hills, and the vestiges of their encampments may be traced extending between the villages of Corwen and Cunwyd, through the Barony of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, so long the patrimony of Owain's descendants. "Owain de Brogyntyn made a grant to God, St. Mary, and the monks of Basingwerk Abbey, of a certain water in Penthlin called Thlenteget, or Pemblemere" [Bala Lake], " and all the pasture of the said land of Penthlin. This was witnessed by Reiner, who was Bishop of St. Asaph from 1186 to 1224, and by Ithel, Owain's chaplain," (Pennant's Tours in Wales.) The Welsh law of inheritance did not permit Owain Brogyntyn's domains to remain long united, the operation of the law of gavelkind soon subdividing them among his descendants. At an early period we find Edeirnion divided into the Lordship of Glyndwrdwy, the Lordship of Rûg, and the "Thirteen Baronies of Edeirnion," including Kymmer. The Lords of these Baronies enjoyed Baronial rights, which were confirmed to them by Edward I. by special grants in 1284, after his conquest of Wales, and these grants were afterwards pleaded to Writs of Quo Warranto, by which Edward III. endeavoured to extort supplies from his reluctant Cambrian subjects. Owain Brogyntyn m. 1st, Jonet, dau. of Howel, ap Madoc, descended from Elystan Glodrydd, Prince of Fferlys, Founder of the IV. Royal Tribe of Wales, but by her had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Maredd, dau. of Einion ap Seissylt, Lord of Mathafern, (See Pryce of Gunley,) and by her was father of,

I. Iorwerth ap Owain Brogyntyn, of whose line we have to treat.

II. Griffith ap Owain Brogyntyn, living A.D. 1200, who s. to Half Edeirnion. He m. Jonet, dau. of Sir William Say, Knt., and was father of,

David ap Griffith, Baron of Crogen and Hendwr, in Penllyn, co. Merioneth,* who had two sons,

1. Llewelyn ap David, Baron of Crogen and Branas, included in the royal grant of 22 July, 12 Edward I. (See Note.) His son and successor, Ievan ap Llewelyn, Baron of Crogen and Branas, and others, appeared on the Morrow of All Saints, 8 Edward III., (2 Nov. 1334,) on a Writ of Quo Warranto, to shew by what warrant they claimed their lands in Penllyn and Edeirnion, by Barony, when they pleaded the grant of 22 July, 12 Edward I., already referred to. Ievan ap Llewelyn, who was living 44 Edward III., left an only dau. and heiress,

Maredd, Baroness of Crogen and Branas, designated in ancient Welsh MSS. as "Arlwyddes [Lady] Crogen," and as the "Lady of Crogen," by Vaughan of Hengwrt. She was under age, 44 Edward III., as appears by a Writ of Quo Warranto of that date, (Harl. MSS. 4476, fol. 73,) by which, among others, "Ievan ap Llewelin [her father] and Morwith fil: Ieun" are summoned to answer to the Lord, the Prince, by what warrant they claim to exercise certain Baronial rights in Thlandrithlan [Llandrillo] and Edyrnyon." To this Quo Warranto it is pleaded, "qd: loquela versus eos rone: minoris ætatis pde: Morwith non rem," &c., and it is further pleaded that Edward I., by a grant, dated 22 July, in the twelfth year of his reign [1284], Concessit David [her great grandfather] fil: Griffin: fil: Owen [Brogyntyn] and Llewelyn [her grandfather] antecessoribus ipsorum Ievan et alior: quor: hdes: ipsi: sunt qd: heant et teneant omnes: [terras] suas: p: Baroniam sicut antecess: sui eas tenuer." The Baroness of Crogen and Branas m. Ievan ap Llewelyn Ddu, III. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, and was by him mother of a son and heir, Rhys ap Ievan, IV. Baron of Kymmer, and Baron of Crogen and Branas, under age 15-16 Richard II., ancestor of the Hughes's of Gwerclas, Barons of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, and of their derivative branches, the Lloyds of Crogen, and Branas's of Branas.

2. Madoc ap David, Baron of Hendwr, in Penllyn, to whom the Bailiwick of Penllyn was committed 15 Edward II. He m. Efa, dau. of Llewelyn, son of Griffith ap Gwenwynwyn, Prince of Powys-Wenwynwyn, and was father of David ap Madoc, Baron of Hendwr, living 24 Edward III., who m. Sibilla Cornwall, living 4 Sept. 1390, and had (with a son, David "de Hendour," possessed of a moiety of the manor of Hendwr, 7 Aug. 1389,) another son, Gwyn Lloyd, who d. seised of lands in Llandrillo, &c., which were taken into the King's hands, by Brief, dated 3 Henry VI. He m. Lucy, dau. of Grono ap Griffith, derived from Ririd Blaidd, Lord of Penllyn, (refer to Myddelton of Gwaynynog,) and had, with other issue, a son and heir, David ap y Gwyn Lloyd, Baron of Hendwr, who, by Mali, his wife, sister of Rhys ap David, Lord of Rûg-yn-Edeirnion, left three daus. and co-heirs,

I. Angharad, who m. Ievan ap Einion, jure uxoris of Hendwr, one of the Barons of Edeirnion, living 6 Oct. 1427. (See Wynne of Peniarth.)

II. Margaret, who m. Morris ap Ievan Gethin. (See Edwards of Ness Strange.)

III. Lucy, who m. Ievan ap Griffith, of Bersham. (See Jones-Parry of Llwynon.)

III. Bleddyn ap Owain Brogyntyn s. to the Lordship of Dinmael, in Powys, now in Denbighshire, and was living 25 May, 2 Henry III., 1218. (Rymer's Fœdera, i. 227, A.D. 1218, An. 11 Henry III., and Claus. 11 Henry III.) He was ancestor of I. The Lords of Rûg-yn-Edeirnion; II. Maesmors of Maesmor-yn-Dinmael; III. Wynns, Barons of Plas Issa-yn-Edeirnion; IV. Wynns, of Pentre Morgan, co. Salop; V. Vaughans of Duddlestone; and VI. Lloyds of Ebnal, co. Salop.

The eldest son of Owain Brogyntyn,

XI. Iorwerth ap Owain Brogyntyn inherited half Edeirnion. He m. Efa, dau. and heir of Madoc, Lord of Mawddwy in Merionethshire, younger son of Gwenwynwyn, Prince of Powys-Wenwynwyn (Vide ante), and had issue,

I. Griffith ap Iorwerth, of whom presently.

* By an Inquisition taken 7 Edward II. by Roger Mortimer, Justiciary of Wales, it appears that Llewelyn, the son of David ap Griffith, deposed that the manor of "Crogen" "fuit in manibus antecess: suor: a temp: quo non extat memoria," and that it never was a domain of the Prince of Wales; that in the last war the Prince seized the manor and all the other lands of David because he supported the King of England, and, on the conclusion of peace between the Prince and the King, the former restored them to David, who held them during his life, and died seised of them, whereupon Crogen devolved upon Llewelyn ap David, as his share of his father's inheritance. (Inquis. in Turr. Lond. 7 Edw. II., Num. 55; and see Minister's Accounts, in the Chapter House, Mich. 10 to East. 11 Edw. I.) After the subversion of the independence of Wales, the English monarch made a grant, dated 22 July, 12 Edward I., 1284, to David and his son, Llewelyn, to hold their lands by barony; and David is the subject of a fine Welsh elegy, by Llewelyn Vardd, published in the Myvyrian Archaiology of Wales, vol. i. p. 369.

II. Elisau ap Iorweth, living 22 July, 12 EDWARD I. (1284), the date of a grant from that monarch to him and Madoc ap Llewelyn, "nepos suus," which grant is pleaded to a Writ of Quo Warranto of 44 Edw. III. (Rot. Wall. 12 Edw. I. in Turr. Lond. m. 5.) Elisau was father of MADOC AP ELISAU, Baron of Cryniarth, in Edeirnion, who, by the description of "Mad: ap Elisse," is summoned by Quo Warranto, dated 44 EDWARD III., to answer to the Lord the King by what warrant he claims to exercise Baronial rights in his Barony, to which he pleaded the royal grant to his father of 22 July, 12 EDWARD I. This Baron was father (with several daus., co-heiresses of their brother, of whom, Efa, m. Griffith ap Llewelyn, of Cors-y-gedol, Sheriff of Merionethshire in 1373,—see WYNNE OF PENIARTH,) of LLEWELYN AP MADOC, Baron of Cryniarth, who was consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph, 3 EDWARD III., 1357, and d. s. p. in 1375.

Iorwerth ap Owain Brogyntyn was s. by his eldest son,

XII. GRIFFITH AP IORWERTH, a Baron of Edeirnion, who strenuously co-operated with the Cambrian patriots in asserting the independence of his country against EDWARD I. of England, but, compelled to submission, received from that monarch the following pardon:—"R. omnibus Ballis &c. salutem. Sciatis qd admisim: ad pacem et voluntatem nram Griffinum ab Yereward et ei pdonavim: omnem indignacoem et animi rancorem quos erga ipm: concepiamus occone guerre nup cont: nos in tra nra Wall. mote," &c. &c. "T. me ipso apud Karnarvon, XX die Jul: p.bre. d. p. vato sigillo." (Rot. Wall. 12 EDWARD I. m. 5. in Turr: Lond:) This pardon was two days afterwards followed by a Grant of Confirmation from the English monarch, dated 22 July, 12 EDWARD I. [1284], to Griffith ap Iorwerth, and David ap Llewelyn, "nepos suus," whereby Edward "concessit quod habeant et teneant omnes terras suas PER BARONIAM sicut antecessores sui eas tenuerant" (Ibid); which grant was afterwards pleaded to a Quo Warranto of EDWARD III., against Griffith's grandson, Owen ap David, Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion.* Griffith ap Iorwerth m. Gwenllian, dau. (by Angharad, dau. of Heilin ap Sir Tudor, Knt. of Nant and Llangynhafal, (see LLOYD OF PLYMOG, and BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage, WILLIAMS-BULKELEY, OF PENRHYN, BART.) of David Goch, Lord of Penmachno in Caernarvon, son of David ap Griffith, Prince of North Wales (Vide ante), and was father of,

XIII. DAVID AP GRIFFITH, a Baron of Edeirnion, who m. Agnes, dau. of Madoc Vychan, of Main-yn-Meifod, co. Montgomery, and had issue,

I. Owen ap David, first recorded BARON OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION, in the Parish of Llangar, Township of Kymmer-Llangar, Commote of Edeirnion, and County of Merioneth. It appears from Harl. MS., No. 6068, that being summoned by the designation of "Owenus ap Davidus, DOMINUS DE KIMMER," together with others, to the sessions held at Harlech, in Merionethshire, on Wednesday, the Morrow of All Saints, 8 EDWARD III. (2 Nov. 1334), before the Justiciary of North Wales, "ad ostend: quo warranto clamat tenere [terras] suas p. BARONIAM," he pleaded the above Grant of Confirmation of 22 July, 12 EDWARD I. to his grandfather, Griffith ap Iorwerth.

II. LLEWELLYN DDU AP DAVID.

Owen ap David d. unm., and was s. by his younger brother and heir,

XIV. LLEWELYN DDU AP DAVID, II. BARON OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION, living 44 EDWARD III., when he and his brother Owen were summoned as "Llewelinus ap David et Owen ap David fr. ejus" to the sessions held at Conway before the Justiciary of North Wales, to answer by what warrant they claim to exercise BARONIAL rights, "APUD THLANGAYR [Langar] IN TERRIS SUIS IN EDEIRNION." (Record of Caernarvon, published by the Record Commissioners, page 183.) The Barony of Kymmer, which continued for many ages the seat and, to the present generation, the property of this Baron's descendants, derives its name from the locality of its manor-house and hamlet—Cymmer signifying in Welsh, a confluence. Llewellyn Ddu m. Anne, dau. of Ievan ap Iorwerth, of Llanwyllyn, in Merionethshire, derived (in common with Llewellyn ap Ynyr O'Ial, Lord of Gelligynan; the Lloyds of Yale, Barts.; Powells of Horsley, Barts; Williams-Wynns of Wynnstay, Barts., and Williams's of Bodylwyddan, Barts.,) from Sandde Hardd, a potent Chieftain who flourished towards the end of the XII. century, and obtained from the Sovereigns of Powys, for his valour in numerous conflicts with the Saxons, extensive domains in Powys, including the Lordship of Morton, (the modern Township of Burton,) in the Parish of Gresford, Denbighshire, (See LLOYD OF GLOSTER.) By this lady, who descended maternally from the De Clares, Earls of Hertford, the De Meschines and Albinis, Earls-Palatine of Chester, and the Saxon Algar, Earl of Mercia, (Ibid.) Llewelyn Ddu was father of,

XV. IEVAN AP LLEWELYN DDU, III. BARON OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION, who m. Maredd, "Lady of Crogen and Branas," co Merioneth, under age 44 EDWARD III., dau. and heir of Ievan ap Llewelyn, Baron of Crogen and Branas, derived from Griffith, Lord of Half Edeirnion, second son of Owain Brogyntyn, Lord of Edeirnion. By this lady, Ievan ap Llewelyn Ddu had a son, RHYS AP IEVAN, continuer of the line, and a dau., Gwenhwyfar, who became the second wife of Ievan Vychan of Abertanat and Moeliwrch in Shropshire, third son of Ievan Gethin of Lloran, Gartheryr and Moeliwrch, derived from Einion Efell, Lord of Cynllaeth, and was mother of an eldest son, Howel ap Ievan Vychan of Abertanat and Moeliwrch, ancestor of, I. THE WYNNS OF PLAS-NEUADD-YN-BODLITH; II. WYNNS OF PLAS-Y-MOELIWRCH; and III. EDWARDS'S OF NESS STRANGE, (See that name.) Ievan ap Llewelyn Ddu was s. by his son,

XVI. RHYS AP IEVAN, IV. BARON OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION, and Baron of Crogen and Branas, under age, and his lands in Edeirnion in the custody of Queen ANNE, 15-16 RICHARD II., 1391-2, (Minister's Accounts in Augmentation Office, Mich. 15 to Mich. 16, RICHARD II., and 2 HENRY V., 1415). This Baron, who was Raglot of Abertanat, 2 HEN. V., 1415, an office analogous to that of Sheriff, (Minister's Accounts in Queen's Remembrancer's Office, Mich. 2 Mich. 3, HENRY V.) m. Angharad, dau. and heir of Howel* ap Meuric Vychan, v. Lord of Nannau, in Merionethshire, fifth in descent from the "renowned Briton" Cadwgan, Lord of Nannau, younger son of Bleddyn ap Cynfyn, King of Powys. (Refer to VAUGHAN OF RUG, and BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage, VAUGHAN OF NANNAU, BART.) By this alliance, Rhys ap Ievan had two sons, I. DAVID AP RHYS, of whom we have to treat; and II. Griffith ap Rhys, Baron of Crogen and Branas, who d. 4 HENRY VII., (Inq. p. m. of that date; and Accounts in Queen's Remembrancer's Office, Mich. 4 to Mich 5 HEN. VI.) and was ancestor of, I. THE LLOYDS, BARONS OF CROGEN; II. THE LLOYDS OF PALE-YN-EDEIRNION, (See that name;) III. BRANAS'S, BARONS OF BRANAS-YN-EDEIRNION; IV. FOULKS'S OF CILAN IN EDEIRNION; V. THE HOUSE OF BRANAS-ISSA; VI. OWENS OF PLAS-ISSA IN EDEIRNION. The elder son,

XVII. DAVID AP RHYS, V. BARON OF KYMMER-YN-EDEIRNION, (who appears as one of the Jurors in an Inquisition held at Bala in Oct. 1427,) m. Mali, sister of David ap Ievan, the heroic Constable and defender of Harlech Castle in 1468, and dau. (by Angharad, eldest dau. and co-heir of David ap y Gwyn Lloyd, Baron of Hendwr, living 7 Aug. 1389, and Mali, his wife, sister of Rhys ap David, Lord of Rûg-yn-Edeirnion) of Ievan, one of the Barons of Edeirnion, living 6 Oct. 6 HENRY VI. [1427], son of Einion ap Griffith of Cors-y-gedol, co. Merioneth, living 7 July, 1382, and 21 June, 1386, derived from Osborne Fitzgerald, Lord of Ynys-y-Maengwyn, in Merionethshire, who, in common with the Ducal House of Leinster, deduced his lineage from Walter Fitz Otho, Castellan of Windsor Castle, (See WYNNE OF PENIARTH, and FITZGERALD, KNIGHT OF GLIN.) By this lady, David ap Rhys had issue,

* The Baronial rights which were the subject of the Quo Warranto proceedings we have noticed were exercised under the control of courts, held at the village of Cynwyd in Edeirnion, to a comparatively recent period. Mr. Davies, of Llansilin, in his "Display of Heraldry," published in 1716, states that "the posterial heirs of Llewelyn Ddu kept a court at Cynwyd until the time of Morgan Branas, of Branas, [a descendant of Llewelyn Ddu,] and to the memory of several persons in my time." Pennant refers to Cynwyd as "a village noted for the courts kept there by the great men of the neighbourhood," and adds that "the courts have been long discontinued, and the records destroyed," a supposition countenanced by a tradition preserved in the Gwerclas MSS., that "the Cynwyd courts were discontinued in consequence of Hugh Hughes, XII. Baron of Kymmer, who d. in 1725, having quarrelled wtih the other Barons of Edeirnion and burnt the records."

* The "Firma Amobr. Talypont" was demised, 15-16 RICH. II., to Howel ap Meuric, and he was one of the Jurors in an Inquis. taken at Hardlegh, die Sabb. prox. post festum ascencionis dni. anno R. R. Henric: quinti post conquestum septimo [1419]. (Record of Caernarvon, p. 89, Comot. of Ardudoy, co. Merion.)

I. Griffith Vychan ap David, his successor.

II. Ievan ap David, who m. Margaret, dau. and co-heir of Griffith ap Deicws, of Dol-y-Glessyn, in Edeirnion. From this marriage derived, eighth in succession, John Lloyd, of Dol-y-Glessyn, living in 1698, presumed father of Robert Lloyd, Esq. of Dol-y-Glessyn, High-sheriff of Merionethshire, in 1725, from whose family Dol-y-Glessyn passed, by purchase, about 1779, to the proprietors of the adjoining estate of Rûg.

III. Rees ap David, whose lands were taken into the King's hands at his father's death, by reason of his minority, and so remained 32 Henry VI., 1454, and also 37 Henry VI., 1459. (Minister's Accounts in Queen's Remembrancer's Office, Mich. 31 to Mich. 32 Henry VI.; Ibid., Mich. 23 to 24 Henry VI.; Ibid., in Augmentation Office, Mich. 36 to Mich. 37 Henry VI.) They are not mentioned in the next roll of Minister's Accounts extant, 12 Edw. IV.

I. Mabli, m. to Rhys ap Cynric ap Robert Goch, of the Cwm, co. Flint, derived from Ednowain Bendew, Lord of Tegaingl, in Flint, Founder of the XIII. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys.

II. Katherine, m. to Griffith Vaughan, of Deuddwr.

III. Lowry, m. 1st, to David ap Robert, of Dol, in Edeirnion, grandson of Griffith Goch, Lord of Rhos and Rhyfoniog (Denbighland), derived from Marchudd ap Cynan, Founder of the VIII. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, and was mother of a son, David Lloyd, of Dol, ancestor of the Lloyds of Dol-yn-Edeirnion. She m. 2ndly, Griffith ap Howel ap Madoc, of Efionydd, in Merionethshire, derived from Colwyn ap Tangno, Lord of Efionydd, Founder of the V. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys. (See Burke's Peerage, Earl of Lisburne.)

David ap Rhys was dead 25 Oct., 23 Henry VI., 1444, as appears by his Inquis. post-mortem, taken 8 Henry VII., 1492-3, which was returned into the Exchequer of Caernarvon. (Minister's Accounts in Queen's Remembrancer's Office, Mich. 10 to Mich. 11 Elizabeth, Veter. Escaet., Ibid, Mich. 23 to Mich. 24 Hen. VI.) He was s. by his elder son,

XVIII. Griffith Vychan ap David, VI. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, who m Margaret, dau. of William ap Meredith of Mochnant-yn-Rhaiadr, immediate ancestor of the Kyffins of Bodfach, co. Montgomery, (represented as heir general by Lord Mostyn,) derived from Einion Efell, Lord of Eglwys Egle, (Refer to Edwards of Ness Strange,) younger son of Madoc ap Meredith, last Prince of Powys, and by this lady had an only son and successor,

XIX. William ap Griffith Vychan, VII. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, who m. Margaret, third dau. of Meredith ap David of Melai and Vronheulog, in Llanfair Duffryn Clwyd, co. Denbigh, immediate ancestor of the Wynns of Melai and Maenan, (represented by Lord Newborough as heir general,) derived, through Grono Llwyd, son of Penwyn of Melai, a celebrated Welsh Chief, living temp. Edward I. from Marchudd ap Cynan, Founder of the VIII. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, (See Wynne of Garthewin.) By Margaret, William ap Griffith had, I. Hugh ap William; II. Katherine, m. to Roger Lloyd, of Brynglas Lloyd, (son of David ap Elisau of Plas-yn-yale, co. Denbigh,) ancestor of the Lloyds of Plas Enion; and III. Lowry, m. Griffith ap Robert, Baron of Plas-Issa in Edeirnion, younger son of Robert ap Griffith of Maesmor in Dinmael, and was mother of Robert Wynn, Baron of Plas-Issa, ancestor of the Wynns of Plas-Issa in Edeirnion. His son and successor,

XX. Hugh ap William, VIII. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, and of Gwerclas, in the Parish of Llangar, Township of Kymmer-Llangar, Commote of Edeirnion, and County of Merioneth, substituted for Kymmer, so long the residence of his Baronial ancestors, the adjoining mansion of Gwerclas, within the Barony, henceforward the principal seat of the Representatives of his line. This gentleman, who was living 27 Feb. 37 Henry VIII., 1546, is described as "un o Farwrnied Edeirnion ag Arglwydd holl Gymer," [one of the Barons of Edeirnion and Lord of all Kymmer,] in the Visitation Pedigree, taken 7 Oct., 36 Eliz. 1594, by Lewis Dwn, appointed in 1580, Deputy Herald for all Wales, by Robert Cook, Clarencieux, and William Flower, Norroy, King of Arms. Hugh ap William m. after 31 Henry VIII., 1539-1540, Alis, dau. of Richard ap Thomas of Caervalwch, in Llanynys, co. Flint, descended from Llowarch Holbwrch, Treasurer of Griffith ap Llewellyn, Prince of North Wales, and by her, who survived her husband, and was living 3 Dec., 45 Eliz. 1602, had five sons, I. Humffrey, his successor; II. John, living 1 Dec., 2 James I., and then ætat. circa 62, d. s. p.; III. Roger, living 6 Feb., 40 Eliz., d. s. p.; IV. Richard, successor of Humffrey; V. Oliver; and also six daus. Hugh ap William d. at Gwerclas, 28 Feb., 42 Eliz., [1600] as appears by his Inq. post mortem, taken at Bala, co. Merioneth, 1 Dec. 2 James I., (Calendar of Inq. p. m. at the Rolls Chapel,) and was s. by his eldest son,

Humffrey Hughes, Esq. of Gwerclas, IX. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, High-sheriff of Merionethshire in 1618. This gentleman, who assumed the surname of "Hughes," from this time hereditary in the family, and was living 7 Oct., 36 Eliz. 1594, the date of Lewis Dwn's Visitation Pedigree, m. 1st, Jane, widow of Thomas Wynn, of Plas Neuadd, Esq., High sheriff of Merionethshire in 1595, dau. of Howel Vaughan, of Glan-y-Llyn, Esq., derived from Ririd Blaidd, Lord of Penllyn. He m. 2ndly, Margaret, living 25 Nov., 45 Eliz. 1602, dau. of John ap Edward, but had no issue, and d. s. p. at Gwerclas, 6 Feb., 18 James I., 1620-21, as appears by an Inquisition taken at Gwyddelwern, in Merionethshire, 14 March, 18 James I., "Ad inquirendum post mortem Humffrid: Hughes, Armiger: defunct." (Originalia Add. MSS. 6387, fol. 46.) This gentleman was s. by his brother and heir, the fourth and eventually eldest surviving son of Hugh ap William, viz.,

XXI. Richard Hughes, Esq. of Gwerclas, X. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, living 7 Oct. 36 Eliz. 1594, who was for many years before his succession to the representation of the Family, Secretary to the powerful and princely Cliffords, Earls of Cumberland, by whom he was confidentially employed, both at home and abroad, on affairs of state and diplomatic missions, as well as on their most important private affairs. He m. 2 Nov. 1601, Frances, widow of Richard Evers, Esq., "dau. to John Volpe" [Iovanni Volpe,] "an Italian Doctor; was famous in Queen Elizabeth's time, went with George, Earl of Cumberland, most of his sea voyages, and was with him at the taking of Portorico, in the Indies." (MS. Account of his Family, by Humffrey Hughes.) By this lady, who d. 29 June, 1636, aged about fifty, Richard Hughes had (with five daus., of whom the eldest, Margaret, m. 5 Feb. 1620, Humphrey Branas, Esq. of Branas; the second, Alice, m. 23 Aug. 1628, James Babington, of Carleton; the fourth, Frances, m. 6 June, 1631, Robert Goodgeon, of Skipton, co. York; and the youngest, Elizabeth, m. in 1637, William Halstead, of Worsthorne, co. Lancaster,) six sons, I. Humffrey, his heir; II. John, b. 5 Jan. 1608, m. 1 Dec. 1635, Mary, dau. of Charles Radcliffe, Esq. of Thresfield, co. York, and d. 6 Feb. 1644, leaving issue; III. Henry, d. s. p.; IV. William, b. in 1614, d. s. p.; V. Richard, d. at Barbadoes in 1649; and VI. Charles, d. 22 May, 1634. Richard Hughes, of whom and his wife portraits still remain with their descendants, d. 21 March, 1641, about eighty years of age, and was succeeded by his eldest son,

XXII. Humffrey Hughes, Esq. of Gwerclas, XI. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, b. 14 Aug. 1605, High-sheriff of Merionethshire in 1670. This gentleman, of whom there is a fine portrait among the family pictures, was a devoted adherent to the Stuart cause, and among other penalties of his ardent and unflinching loyalty, incurred the forfeiture of his estates, for which, however, he was fortunate enough to compound with Oliver Cromwell and his Council, by the payment of the inconsiderable sum of 333*l.* 10*s.* 9*d. Mr. Hughes m. 1st, 13 Aug. 1615, ("myselfe at ten years of age, and she at thirteen"—his own MS.,) Magdalen, dau. and heir of John Rogers, of Bryntangor, in Bryneglwys, co. Denbigh, Esq., derived from Osborne Fitzgerald, Lord of Ynys-y-Maengwyn, in Merionethshire, a scion of the Fitzgeralds, Lords of Desmond, in Ireland, sprung from the renowned Walter Fitzotho, Castellan of Windsor, temp. Conquesitoris, progenitor of the Ducal

* To the eminent Welsh antiquary and genealogist, Robert Vaughan, Esq. of Hengwrt, Mr. Hughes was indebted for a valuable addition to his genealogical muniments—a magnificent pedigree on vellum, (still possessed by the family,) five yards in length, emblazoned with ninety-two coloured armorial bearings of his ancestors, compiled in 1650, containing on one side the descent of the family from their immediate paternal progenitor, "Owain Brogyntyn, Lord of Edeirnion, Dinmael, and Abertanat, sonne of Madoc, sonne of Meredith, Prince of Powys," to "Humffrey Hughes, Esq.," and containing, on the other side, the descent of his first wife, Magdalen Rogers, Heiress of Bryntangor, in Denbighland, deduced from Osborne Fitzgerald, Lord of Ynys-y-Maengwyn.

House of Leinster,* (See WYNNE OF PENIARTH, and FITZGERALD, KNIGHT OF GLIN.) By the Heiress of Bryntangor, who was b. 21 Aug. 1602, and d. 20 Oct. 1655, Humffrey Hughes had (with six daus., of whom, I. Dorothea, m. about 3 Jan. 1649, Thomas Yale, of Plas-yn-Yale, co. Denbigh, Esq., Capt. in the service of CHARLES I., and was mother of HUMPHREY YALE, Esq. of Plas-yn-Yale, co. Denbigh, ancestor of the YALES OF PLAS-YN-YALE; II. Maudlin, m. William Price, of Euarth, co. Denbigh, Esq.; and III. Catherine, m. John Maesmor, of Maesmor, co. Denbigh, Esq.) nine sons, of whom the eldest two, I. Richard, b. 11 Nov. 1624, and II. John, b. 29 April, 1626, d. s. p.; III. THOMAS, of whom presently; IV. Henry, and V. Robert, twins; VI. Hugh, Merchant of London; VII. Charles, of the city of London, Merchant, b. 16 Oct. 1638, seated at Bryntangor, High-sheriff of Merionethshire in 1689, m. Elizabeth, dau. of James Mytton, of Pont-ys-cowryd, co. Montgomery, Esq. (See that name), d. s. p., and was buried 3 Aug. 1703. Mr. Hughes m. 2ndly, 18 May, 1659, Ellenor, dau. of John Savage, of Barrow, co. Chester, Esq., and widow of Francis Fitton, Esq. of Carden, in the same county. She d. 5 Aug. 1661, aged fifty-five. He m. 3rdly, 31 May, 1662, Sarah, dau. of Richard Franklin, of Ebsworth, co. Cambridge, Esq., which lady d. 22 Oct. 1666; and 4thly, 12 Feb. 1667, Ellenor, (who survived him,) dau. of Thomas Jones, of Sandford, co. Salop, Esq., and widow of James Mytton, Esq. of Pont-ys-Cowryd. Mr. Hughes, whose will, dated 25 April, 1682, was proved 19 May following, was buried at Llangar, 4 May, 1682, having had issue by his first wife only. The third, but eventually eldest surviving son,

XXIII. THOMAS HUGHES, Esq. OF GWERCLAS, who was educated for the law, and was admitted a Barrister, distinguished himself by his zealous devotion to the royal cause as a Captain in the service of CHARLES I. He was b. 10 September, 1628, m. 1st, Mary, dau. and heir of John Griffith, of Hendreforfydd, co. Mr. Hughes is the author of an "Itinerary of Provence and the Rhone," to which Sir Walter refers with much commendation in his preface to "Quentin Durward."

Lineage.

The surname of Hughes was first adopted in this line of Welsh gentry, by the sons of HUGH AP THOMAS AP MWYNDEG, of Pantgwyn, in the parish of Ysceiviog, of the XIIIth Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, founded by Edwin of Tegiangl. Of this family was MYNDIC, (or properly MWYNDEG) HUGHES, merchant of Liverpool, and son of the last possessor of the estate of Gelle Ffowler, in the parish aforesaid. He m. the sister and co-heir of Thomas Wood, Esq. of Hillingdon, Middlesex, and was father of

The REV. THOMAS HUGHES, of Trinity Hall, Cambridge. After having narrowly escaped in his youth the consequences of a Jacobite plot, in which several of the sons of Welsh gentry were involved, Mr. Hughes settled in Denbighshire, where he educated the late Lord Chief Justice Kenyon, Chief Baron Richards, and several other persons distinguished in life. He afterwards obtained the livings of Llanfwrog and Llansilyn. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Norfolk Salusbury, Esq. of Plas-y-Ward, co. Denbigh, (See SALUSBURY, in Baronetage,) and had issue, Robert, in the Hon E.I.Co's service, (whose dau. and heiress, Frances, m. her cousin, Archdeacon Newcome, warden of Ruthin, North Wales;) 2. THOMAS, of whom presently. Anne, m. to John Fryer, Esq. of Taplow Lodge, Bucks, and Elizabeth, m. to Rev. H. Newcome, rector of Gresford, co. Denbigh, (nephew of the then Bishop of St. Asaph.) The second son,

The REV. THOMAS HUGHES, D.D., obtained the Chancellor's medal, and the Setonian prize, when at St. John's College, Cambridge. He was preceptor to his Majesty the King of Hanover, and to their Royal Highnesses the Dukes of Sussex and Cambridge; subsequently canon residentiary of St. Paul's, and one of the clerks of the closet to GEORGE III. and GEORGE IV. On his death, in 1833, Dr. Hughes bequeathed about 4000*l.* to different religious and charitable societies which he had liberally assisted in his lifetime. He m. Mary-Anne, dau. and heiress of the late Rev. George Watts,* justice of the peace for Wilts and Berks, and granddau. of the Rev. George Watts, chaplain to GEORGE II., and master of the Temple Church, London, and by her had an only son, John Hughes, Esq. of Donnington Priory.

Arms, Crest, &c., see Heraldic Illustrations.
Seat—Donnington Priory, Berks.

* Mrs. Watts, the maternal grandmother of the present Mrs. Hughes, was dau. and heiress of Richard Head, Esq., descendant and representative of the Mr. Head mentioned in the "History of Newbury" as the host of Lord Falkland before the battle, with whom he received the sacrament. The meaning of "Mwyndèg" is "courteous." It appears only to occur in this line as a baptismal name.

Lineage.

This family possesses the most unerring proof of antiquity in the title-deeds of their estate of Hulton, from which the Hultons derive their surname, and of which they have been uninterrupted lords since the Conquest. The first feudal proprietor on record,

BLEYTHIN DE HULTON, living temp. HENRY II., was father of

JORVETH, alias YARWIT DE HULTON, who flourished in the reigns of RICHARD I. and JOHN, and obtained from the latter a grant by charter of the town of Penelton, in Lancashire, in exchange for other lands which the king, when Earl of Morton, had given him. He had, with other issue, a son,

RICHARD DE HULTON, who had a grant of lands in Barton, from Edith de Barton, by consent of Gilbert de Notton, her husband, which lands, Jorveth de Hulton, father of Richard, had some time held of her. To his son and successor,

DAVID DE HULTON, Lord of Hulton, his cousin, Robert de Hulton, granted all his lands in Hulton, and William de Ferrers gave all his possessions in Flixton, together with his manor of Hordeshale, by homage and service of two marks of silver four times in a year, and by the sixth part of a knight's fee, A.D. 1219. David de Hulton m. Agnes, dau. of Adam de Blackburne, and was father of several sons,* of whom the eldest,

RICHARD DE HULTON, of Hulton, living temp. EDWARD I., m. Margery, dau. of Robert de Radclive, of Radclive Tower, and was s. by his son,

RICHARD DE HULTON, of Hulton Park, living 5 EDWARD II. This Richard left a son and successor,

RICHARD DE HULTON, of Hulton Park, who d. s. p., and was s. in his estates by his uncle,

ADAM DE HULTON, of Hulton Park, living temp. EDWARD III., who m. Alicia de Eccles, and had, with several younger sons, his successor,

HUME OF NINEWELLS.

HUME, DAVID, Esq. of Ninewells, co. Berwick, formerly one of the Barons of the Court of Exchequer in Scotland, from which office he retired in 1834, having held it for a period of twelve years. He was successively Sheriff-depute of Berwickshire and of West Lothian, and was a Professor of the Scotch Laws in the University of Edinburgh.

Lineage.

THOMAS HUME, or HOME, second son of Sir Alexander Home, of Dunglass, who was slain at the battle of Verneuil, in 1424, founded the family of HOME OF TYNINGHAME AND NINEWELLS, of which the representative at the close of the seventeenth century,

JOSEPH HUME, Esq. of Ninewells, son of John Home, Esq. of Ninewells, m. Catherine, dau. of Sir David Falconer, Lord President of the Court of Session, 1681, and sister of David, fifth Lord Falconer,* by whom he had issue,

JOHN, his heir.
DAVID, the celebrated historian, b. at Edinburgh, in 1711, and d. in 1776.
Catharine.

The elder son,

JOHN HUME, Esq. of Ninewells and of Fairney Castle, Berwick, which latter estate he acquired by purchase in 1764, was b. in 1724, and m. in 1751, Agnes, only dau. of Robert Carre, Esq. of Caverse in Roxburghshire, (by Helen, his wife, sister of Sir Walter Riddell, Bart. of Riddell,) and had issue,

JOSEPH, his heir.
DAVID, who s. on the death of his brother, to the family estates, and is the present representative of the family.
John, a Writer to the Signet in Edinburgh.
ROBERT, d. young.
Catherine, m. to Capt. Robert Johnston, 39th foot, an officer who served with distinction at the siege of Gibraltar, and was afterwards appointed Lieut.-col. of the Berwickshire Light-dragoons, by whom she had,
  Agnes, m. to the Rev. Alexander Scott, Rector of Egremont, and has issue,
    Francis, Lieutenant R.N.
    Robert, in holy orders.
  Margaret. Catharine.
Agnes, d. unm., 9 March, 1808.
Helen, Agatha, } d. young.

Mr. Hume was highly esteemed by all who knew him as an honourable, just, and strictly conscientious man. He was a man, too, of no mean celebrity as a literary character. He d. 14 Nov. 1786, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOSEPH HUME, Esq. of Ninewells, who was, in early life, a Capt. in the 2nd Dragoon-guards, but preferring the pursuits of a country gentleman to the active exertions of a military career, he retired to his paternal estate, where he d. unm., 14 Feb. 1832, and was s. by his next brother and heir, DAVID HUME, Esq., now the representative of the family.

Arms—Vert, a lion, rampant, arg., within a bordure, or, charged with nine fountains, or wells, ppr. (See BURKE'S General Armory.)
Crest—A lion's head, erased, arg., collared, gu.
Motto—True to the end.
Seat—Ninewells, Berwickshire.

 GEORGE HOME, Esq. of Whitfield, derived from a brother of Home of Ninewells, was possessed of a very considerable landed property in Berwickshire, and long represented that county in parliament, but owing to the prominent part he took in the rising of '45, the estate of Whitfield was confiscated. This George Home, who inherited the lands of Manderston, near Dunse, from his mother's brother, Alexander Cairncross, Bishop of Raphoe, was s. by his brother,

ALEXANDER HOME, of Manderston, who m. the heiress of Drummond of Kildees, with whom he obtained a small fortune, but being of an extravagant disposition, he soon involved his property. Manderston was sold, and with the residue he purchased a property between Edinburgh and Leith, which he denominated Whitfield, in order to preserve the family title. He died without issue, and was succeeded by his nephew, (the son of his deceased brother,) at that time a Midshipman, R.N., who d. in 1805, in the Island of Dominica, of which he was a member of council, leaving a widow and an infant son, the present ALEXANDER-GEORGE HOME, Esq. of Whitfield, Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, and assistant-surgeon of the 2nd Dragoon-guards.

III. GAVIN.

The third son,

GAVIN HUME, afterwards styled "Captain of Tantallon," espoused the cause of Queen MARY, and served as Lieutenant under James, Earl of Arran, Duke of Chatelherault. Subsequently, an officer in the Gens d'Armes, he took part in the famous battle of St. Quintins, in the year 1557, and his military skill and bravery on that occasion are recorded by many French and other historians: Thuanus, (vol. i. lib. xix. p. 658,) giving an account of this engagement, says that "the second breach was given to be defended by Hume, the lieutenant of the Earl of Arran;" and that Cologni, in his Commentaries, attributes to him the chief praise of the military skill displayed on the occasion. In page 659 of the same volume, he mentions that Hume, with several other Scotch, were taken prisoners. Ide Serres also, in his History of France, Lond. 1611, p. 716, makes mention of the capture of Hume at St. Quintins. Gavin m. a French lady, and had a son and successor,

HUNGERFORD OF DINGLEY PARK.

HOLDICH-HUNGERFORD, HENRY-HUNGERFORD, Esq. of Dingley Park and Maidwell Hall, both in the co. of Northampton, b. 9 Jan. 1803, a deputy-lieutenant of Leicestershire, and high-sheriff for Northamptonshire in 1828; s. by will to the estates of the late John Peach Hungerford, Esq., M.P. for Leicestershire in three successive parliaments, from 1775 to 1790, who d. 4 June, 1809, aged 90.

Lineage.

The Holdich's, from whom the present Henry-Hungerford Holdich-Hungerford, Esq., paternally derives, are a branch of the family of Holdich, Holditch, or Holdiche, which at an early period possessed considerable estates in the co. of Norfolk; amongst others, Ranworth, purchased, 2 JAMES I., of Henry Howard, Earl of Northampton, by Henry Holditch, (a descendant of Richard de Holditch, Lord of Didlington, in Grimsho Hundred, 20 EDWARD III.,) with messuages and lands in Panxford Wood, Bastwick, &c., late possessions of Thomas, Duke of Norfork, attainted. Of the same family also was ROBERT HOLDICH, Esq., supervisor to the Duke of Norfolk's estate, 4 HENRY VII., and JOHN HOLDICH, Esq., Lord of Didlington, about the year 1500. ROBERT HOLDICH and his son and heir were both living in the 3rd and 4th of PHILIP and MARY; and about that time, Frances, dau. of Robert, m. William Rookwood, Esq. In the 4th and 5th of ELIZABETH, MILES HOLDICH, Esq., had livery of the manor of Didlington, was lord, and farmed the rectory. To him s. in 1600, HENRY HOLDICH, Esq., who, by Susan, his wife, had Elizabeth, his only dau. and heir, who by her marriage conveyed all her paternal estates to Sir Isaac Sidley, Bart. of Great Chart, co. Kent, and had a son, Sir John Sidley, Bart., who sold the Holdich property to John Houghton, Esq., youngest son of Sir Robert Houghton, Judge of the King's Bench.

EDWARD HOLDICH, living in 1700, had three sons: Edward, the eldest, was of Sidney College, Cambridge, where he graduated A.B. in 1703, and d. soon after unm.; THOMAS, the second son, of whom presently; and Jeffery, the third, was of Clare Hall, Cambridge, where he graduated in 1724; he was rector of Stibbington, Huntingdonshire, many years, and d. in 1779, leaving issue.

THOMAS HOLDICH (second son) lived at Thrapston, where he d. in 1752, and was buried in the church there. His son,

EDWARD HOLDICH, s. him, and in 1756, m. Anne, eldest grand-niece and co-heiress of Thomas Peach, Esq. of Dingley Park, and had, with other issue, a son,

THE REV. THOMAS HOLDICH, A.M., Clare Hall, Cambridge, rector of Burton Overy, co. Leicester, which he resigned in 1811, and present rector of Maidwell, co. Northampton, to which he was presented, in 1808, by the late John Peach Hungerford, Esq; and also of Draughton, to which he was presented, in 1841, by H.-H. Hungerford, Esq. He m. 1st, in 1802, Anne, eldest dau. of Henry Haynes, Esq. of Whittlesea, co. Cambridge, and by her, who d. 20 Feb. 1806, had issue,

I. HENRY-HUNGERFORD, the present proprietor of Dingley, who, upon attaining the age of 21, (in 1824,) assumed the name and arms of HUNGERFORD, in compliance with the will of the late J.-P. Hungerford, Esq.
II. Thomas-Peach, A.M., Baliol College, Oxford, rector of Dingley, to which he was presented, in 1841, by H.-H. Hungerford, Esq., b. 21 Dec. 1804, m. 1st, 25 Nov. 1830, Katherine, dau. of the Rev. F.-J. Corrance, vicar of Great Glenn, co. Leicester, which lady d. s. p. 28 Feb. 1834; and 2ndly, in 1839, Susan, dau. of — Garrard, Esq., and has issue.

I. Mary-Anne, m. to C. Boultbee, Esq. of Whittlesea.

Mr. Holdich m. 2ndly, in 1808, Elizabeth-Laura, dau. and co-heiress of the late Henry-Lawrence Maydwell, Esq. of Whittlesea, (a lineal descendant of Alan de Maydwell, Lord of Maydwell, (in 1224), and sheriff for the co. of Northampton, 27 HENRY III.) and has by her several children.

Family of Hungerford.

The Hungerfords of Wiltshire flourished in that county antecedently to the Norman Conquest. Through a long line of ancestors, (many of whom were conspicuous in a very exalted station in the kingdom, and of whom the late Sir Richard Hoare has published a separate volume, to elucidate his History of Wiltshire,) we come to JOHN HUNGERFORD, Esq. of Combe Bisset, who, by marriage with St. John, one of the daus. and co-heiresses of Sir John Topp, Bart. of Tormarton, co. Gloucester, had JOHN HUNGERFORD, Esq., late of Dingley. Upon Mr. Hungerford's decease, his widow, St. John Hungerford, m. in 1722, Thomas Peach, Esq. of Market Harborough, co. Leicester, descended from the Peach, or Pechés, of Sherrow Hall, co. Derby, who, at his decease in 1770, devised his estates to his son-in-law, John Hungerford, with a desire that he would take the name of PEACH, or PEACHEY, in addition to his own name.

Arms—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, sa., two bars, arg., in chief, three plates, for HUNGERFORD; 2nd and 3rd, or, on a chev., sa., cottised, gu., three martlets, of the field, a chief, vaire, for HOLDICH. (See BURKE's Heraldic Illustrations.)
Crests—1st, out of a ducal coronet, or, a pepper garb, of the first, between two sickles, erect, ppr., for HUNGERFORD; 2nd, a martlet, sa., in front of a cross-patée, fitchée, between two branches of palm, or, for HOLDICH.

HUNTER OF HUNTERSTON.

HUNTER, ROBERT, Esq. of Hunter, or Hunterston, co. Ayr, b. 29 Aug. 1799; m. 22 Nov. 1836, Christian-Macknight, eldest dau. of William Craufurd, Esq. of Cartsburn, co. Renfrew, and has issue,

I. Jane. II. Eleonora.

Mr. Hunter, an advocate at the Scottish bar, is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for Ayrshire, and s. to the representation of this ancient family upon the death of his father in 1826.

Lineage.

Two ancient families of the name of HUNTER existed in Scotland for many centuries—HUNTER, of Polmood, in Tweeddale, now extinct, and HUNTER, of Hunterston, the present chief of the Hunters.

Of the Hunterston line, Craufurd states that he had "very carefully perused their writs," and that "from charters they appear to have had at least a part of the estate they still possess in Cunninghame, while the Morvilles were lords of that country, as far back as the reign of ALEXANDER II." In the remarks on the Rag. Roll, it is stated, that in an ancient bounding charter, the lands of Arnele-Hunter, adjoining to Hunterston, are bounded with "terris NORMANI VENATORIS," the presumed ancestor of the family before us. The first in the pedigree of whom any certain record now remains,

WILLIAM HUNTER, obtained a charter from ROBERT II. "Willmi. Hunt, totam ter'am de Arnele cum pt. que fuit Andre Campbell militis . . . . apud St' Welyne sedo. die. Maij. anno rgni. nri. Q'rto (1375)." The lands here alluded to appear to have been part of the barony of Arnele, from which they were subsequently distinguished as Arnele-Hunter. They are now called Campbellton, and are still possessed by Hunterston. The son, or, more probably, the grandson, of this William Hunter, another

WILLIAM HUNTER, of Hunterston, living in 1452, was s. by his son,

ARCHIBALD HUNTER, of Hunterston, father, by his wife, Jane Craufurd, of the family of Crosby, of

JOHN HUNTER, of Hunterston, who m. Margaret, fourth dau. of John, second Lord Cathcart, by Margaret, dau. of Sir William Douglas, of Drumlanrig, and left a son and successor,

ROBERT HUNTER, of Hunterston, infeft on the 5th Sept. 1517, in the Island of Lamlash, who m. Margaret Craufurd, also of the Crosby family, and was s. by his son,

ROBERT HUNTER, of Hunterston, who m. Janet, dau. of Montgomery, of Giffen, and relict of John Craufurd, of Craufurdland, and had (with a dau., who m. John Craufurd, of Giffordland) a son and successor,

MUNGO, or QUINTEGERN HUNTER, of Hunterston, served heir to his father in 1540, who m. a dau. of James Hamilton, of Torrance, and falling at Pinkie, 10 Sept. 1547, left, with other issue, a son and successor,

ROBERT HUNTER, of Hunterston, one of the Ayrshire gentlemen who subscribed the band in defence of the reformed religion, 4 Sept. 1562, and acquired the lands of South Kames, on the Isle of Bute, for which he had a charter from the crown, dated 29 Nov. 1578. He m. Margaret, dau. of Thomas Craufurd, of Auchinames, by Marion, dau. of Montgomery, of Hazlehead, and had two sons, ROBERT, his heir, and Francis; and one dau. Jean, who m. the Rev. Robert Cunninghame, minister of Barnwell, brother to Hugh Cunninghame, of Carlung, and had two daus., JEAN CUNNINGHAME, who m. PATRICK HUNTER; and Catherine Cunninghame, m. to Robert Cunninghame, of Auchinharvie. Hunterston was s. by his son,

ROBERT HUNTER, of Hunterston, retoured to his father, 23 May, 1593, in the lands of Campbellton, Annanhill, and Highlees. This gentleman m. a dau. of Provost Peeblis, of Irvine, but having no issue, he settled his estates on the husband of his niece, Jean Cunninghame,

PATRICK HUNTER, son of William Hunter, of Bromberry Yards, and great-grandson of Mungo Hunter, of Hunterston, as appears from a charter now in the possession of the family, dated 27 Sept. 1611. By his marriage with Jean Cunninghame, Hunterston had (with two daus., the elder m. to Alexander Cunninghame, of Carlung; and the younger, Jean, to David Kennedy, of Balmaclanachan and Craig) three sons, namely,

I. ROBERT, his heir.
II. Henry, minister of Dromore, who d. without issue.
III. FRANCIS, supposed to have been ancestor of the HUNTERS of Long Calderwood. Of this family was the celebrated physician, Dr. William Hunter, of London, born at Easter Kilbride, in Lanarkshire, in 1718, whose grandfather is stated to have been a younger son of Hunterston. For its magnificent museum, the University of Glasgow is indebted to the liberal donation of this gentleman, whose early education was acquired in that college. Dr. Hunter d. in London, 30 March, 1783. His brother, JOHN HUNTER, one of the most eminent surgeons of the age, was b. in 1728, and d. also in London, (where he had long practised with unrivalled reputation,) 16 Oct. 1793. Their sister, Jane, m. to the Rev. James Baillie, minister of the Kirk of Shotts, and afterwards Professor of Divinity in the University of Glasgow, by whom she was mother of the late eminent Dr. Baillie, physician to the king, and JOANNA BAILLIE, the very celebrated author.

Patrick Hunter, whose name appears among those of other gentlemen in the committee of war for Ayrshire, during the troubled times of 1647, was fined 600*l.* in 1662, by one of Middleton's arbitrary acts. He was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

ROBERT HUNTER, of Hunterston, served heir of conquest to his younger brother, the Rev. Henry Hunter, in 1674. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Craufurd, of Auchinames, by Anna, his wife, dau. of Sir Coll Lamont, of Ineryne, and had four sons, viz.,

I. PATRICK, his heir.
II. Robert, who acquired, by purchase, in 1686, the lands of Kirkland, in the vicinity of Kilbride, Ayrshire. He m. in 1675, Margaret, dau. of John Hamilton, of Grange, in Ayrshire, and left a son and successor,
  ROBERT HUNTER, of Kirkland, who purchased a part of the lands of Drumelling, adjacent to his own. He m. Margaret, dau. of Baillie Munro, of Irvine, and left (with two daus., Margaret, wife of William Cunninghame, of Monktonhill; and Elizabeth, of John Boyd, of Carlung) a son and heir,
  GEORGE HUNTER, Esq. of Kirkland, who m. 1st, his cousin, Dorothea, dau. of John Boyd, of Carlung, and had (with several other children, who d. young) a son, ROBERT, his heir. He m. secondly, Mary, dau. of Cunninghame, of Monkton Hill, and had a dau., Dorothea. His son,

Robert Hunter, Esq. of Kirkland, m. in 1791, Jane Boyd-Cunninghame, eldest dau. of John Boyd, of Carlung, and by her (who d. 24 March, 1825) had issue, George, Robert, Jane, and Marion, m. 1 Feb. 1825, to John Woodrop, Esq. of Dalmarnoch.

iii. Hugh, a physician at Kilmarnock.

iv. James, who was bred to the bar. He m. Margaret Spalding, and was father of General Robert Hunter, who d. Governor of Jamaica, in 1734. He m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir Thomas Orby, of Burton Pedwardine, co. Lincoln, Bart., and relict of Lord John Hay, second son of John, second Marquis of Tweeddale. By this lady, General Hunter was ancestor of the Orby-Hunters, of Croyland Abbey, co. Lincoln.

Robert Hunter was s. by his eldest son,

Patrick Hunter, of Hunterston, whose retour is dated 19 Jan. 1680. He m. Marion, dau. of John Cunninghame, of Langmuir, by whom he acquired that estate, and had issue,

Lineage.

The founder of this family in Ireland was

JAMES HUTCHINSON, (son of John and Isabel Hutchinson,) b. in 1613, at Kirkby Gibbon, co. Westmoreland, who proceeded to Ireland as captain in CROMWELL'S army, whence he returned, on the cessation of hostilities, in 1651, and m. in England, Mary, dau. of John Godfrey, Esq. of King Wilton, co. Hereford, but went back immediately after to Ireland, and settled at Knockballymagher, near Roscrea, co. Tipperary. By the above-mentioned lady (who d. in May, 1653) he had a son and heir, JAMES, of whom presently. He m. a second time, 19 Nov. 1653, Mary, dau. of John Sandford, Esq. of Castle Doe, co. Donegal, and by her (who d. in 1691) had, with three daus., Susanna, Martha, and Rebecca, a son, David, b. 17 Nov. 1655, who m. and had two daus., Mary and Abigail. Capt. Hutchinson d. 20 Sept. 1689, and was s. by his elder son,

JAMES HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Knockballymagher and Timoney, who m. 1st, 10 Jan. 1681, Mary, dau. of John Bennet, Esq. of co. Kildare, and by her (who d. 12 Oct. 1690) had (with two daus., Mary, d. 17 April, 1706; and Elizabeth, d. in 1705) two sons,

JAMES, who inherited Knockballymagher, of whom presently.
JOHN, to whom his father left Timoney.

Mr. Hutchinson m. 2ndly, 8 Aug. 1694, Sarah, relict of Richard Poard, of Limerick, and d. 18 Sept. 1718, dividing his estates between his two sons: to the elder, James, he bequeathed Knockballymagher; and to the younger, John, the adjoining estate of Timoney. The elder son,

JAMES HUTCHINSON, of Knockballymagher, m. 23 Feb. 1712, Anne, dau. of Thomas Duckett, Esq. of Philipstown, co. Carlow, (see p. 356,) and by her (who d. 15 Oct. 1739) left at his decease, 13 March, 1738, with other issue, JAMES, his heir; and THOMAS, successor to his brother: the former,

JAMES HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Knockballymagher, b. 28 Sept. 1715, d. unm. 25 May, 1780, and was s. by his brother,

THOMAS HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Knockballymagher, b. 7 Feb. 1721, who m. 4 May, 1750, Elizabeth, dau. of Jonathan Hutchinson, Esq., and by her (who d. in June, 1799) had issue, JAMES, his heir; John, d. young; THOMAS, successor to his brother; Elizabeth, d. young; Anne, m. to John Duckett, Esq. of Philipstown, co. Carlow; Mary; and Martha. Mr. Hutchinson d. 17 Oct. 1788, and was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Knockballymagher, b. 7 July, 1751, who d. s. p. in May, 1791, and was s. by his brother,

THOMAS HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Knockballymagher, who m. 6 Sept. 1784, Sarah, dau. of James Hutchinson, Esq. of Timoney, by Christiana, his wife, and by her (who d. in 1794) left at his decease, in 1820, with four daus., Christiana, Lydia, Ann, and Maria-Isabella, an only son and heir,

WILLIAM-HENRY HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Knockballymagher, who m. 1st, in 1821, Sarah, dau. of John Birch, Esq. of the Shee Hills, co. Tipperary, and by her had an only dau., and, by the marriage settlement, sole heiress to his landed property, SARAH-ANNE. He m. 2ndly, in 1832, Eliza-Hannah, dau. of George Waller, Esq. of Prior Park, co. Tipperary, and by her had issue, a son and two daus., Thomas William-Henry, b. in 1833; Eliza-Selina, and another dau. Mr. Hutchinson d. 21 Nov. 1842, and was s., according to the terms of his marriage settlement, by his only child of his first marriage, SARAH-ANNE HUTCHINSON, now of Knockballymagher.

Timoney Branch.

JOHN HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Timoney, second son, by Mary Bennet, his wife, of JAMES HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Knockballymagher, who devised him the former estate, m. 18 June, 1715, Mary, dau. of Paul Chambers, Esq., and d. 18 May, 1753, leaving JAMES, his heir; Benjamin, b. in 1720, d. in 1791; John, b. in 1731; Mary; Elizabeth, d. in 1792. The son and heir,

JAMES HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Timoney, b. 20 July, 1716, m. 15 Oct. 1748, Christiana, dau. of John Pim, Esq. of Larra, Queen's County, and d. 11 Aug. 1791, and had by her, (who d. in 1795,) with other issue,

WILLIAM, his heir. John, b. 2 Jan. 1763.
Mary, m. in 1779, to Robert Powell, Esq. of the city of Dublin, whose family settled in Ireland at an early period, and was a branch of the Powells of Gloucestershire, and by him (who d. in 1807) had a son, Robert, m. in 1824, Eliza, dau. of Nathaniel Johnstone, Esq. of Bordeaux, and two daus., Florinda, m. in 1808, to Joseph Reid, Esq. of the city of Dublin; and Maria, m. in 1813, to Major Hopkins, of the 1st Royals.
Sarah, m. to Thomas Hutchinson, Esq. of Knockballymagher.

The son and heir,

WILLIAM HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Timoney, b. 9 Sept. 1757, m. 10 June, 1791, Anna, dau. and co-heiress of John-Dawson Coates, Esq. of the city of Dublin, banker, and by her, by whom he became possessed of considerable estates in the counties of Dublin, Carlow, Meath, Wexford, King's and Queen's Counties, had issue,

I. JOHN-DAWSON, present proprietor.
II. James, d. 9 March, 1839.
III. William, d. in 1814.
IV. Dawson. V. Frederick.
VI. Joseph. VII. Summers.
VIII. Samuel. IX. William, d. in 1836.

I. Eliza-Dawson.
II. Christiana, m. in 1826, to Frederick Lidwill, Esq. of Dromard, co. Tipperary, and d. in 1833, leaving issue.
III. Sarah-Summers, m. in 1819, to John-Dawson Duckett, Esq. of Duckett's Grove, co. Carlow.
IV. Maria.
V. Anne, m. 7 June, 1840, to Michael-Head Drought, Esq. of Harristown, Queen's Co., (see p. 353.)
VI. Sophia, m. in 1831, to John Pim, Esq. of Larra, Queen's Co.
VII. Henrietta.
VIII. Louisa, m. 20 Feb. 1840, to Frederick-Adolphus Jackson, Esq. of Inane, co. Tipperary.
IX. Amelia.
X. Charlotte, m. in 1844, to Samuel-John Goslin, Esq., capt. 49th regt.

Mr. Hutchinson, who served in a corps of cavalry during the Rebellion of 1798, and subsequently for many years commanded the Roscrea corps of infantry, was a magistrate of Tipperary, and the King's and Queen's Counties, and served as high-sheriff of the first in 1805. He d. 6 June, 1832, and was s. by his eldest son, the present JOHN-DAWSON HUTCHINSON, Esq. of Timoney.

Seat—Timoney, co. Tipperary.

HUTTON OF OVERTHWAITE.

HUTTON, WILLIAM, Esq. of Overthwaite, co. Westmoreland, b. 28 May, 1781; m. 16 June, 1803, Catherine, dau. of Edward Pedder, Esq. of Bishham Lodge, and Preston, co. Lancaster, (see that name,) and has issue,

I. WILLIAM, in holy orders, Incumbent of the perpetual Curacy of Helsington, near Kendal.
II. Edward. III. Thomas.
IV. George, Royal Artillery.
V. Molyneux. VI. James.
VII. Charles. VIII. Richard.

I. Margaret, m. to the Rev. William Mason, A.M., vicar of Normanton.
II. Eleanor. III. Catherine. IV. Isabella.

Mr. Hutton s. his father, the late Rev. William Hutton, in Aug. 1811.

Lineage.

About the time of HENRY VII. it appears, from deeds and other records, that the HUTTONS OF OVERTHWAITE, and the HUTTONS OF GOLDSBOROUGH, in Yorkshire, branched from the ancient family of HUTTON, of Hutton Hall, Penrith, which derived from ADAM DE HOTON, living temp. EDWARD I.*

THOMAS HUTTON, Esq. of Overthwaite, in the parish of Beetham, Westmoreland, who d. in 1588, at a very great age, left a son and successor, GEORGE HUTTON, Esq. of Overthwaite, who d. in 1621, and was father of THOMAS HUTTON, Esq. of Overthwaite, at whose decease, in 1650, the property devolved on his son, GEORGE HUTTON, Esq. of Overthwaite, who d. in 1678, and had two sons, THOMAS, his heir; and John, ancestor of the REV. JOHN HUTTON, vicar of Burton, whose only dau. and heir, Agnes, m. to Capt. Johnson, of Mains Hall, co. Hereford. The elder son, THOMAS HUTTON, Esq. of Overthwaite, m. Eleanor, dau. of William Tenant, Esq. of York, by Eleanor, his wife, dau. of Roger Crowle, Esq.,† by Eleanor, his wife, dau. of Edward Wilson, Esq. of Dalham Tower, and d. in 1732, leaving a son, GEORGE HUTTON, Esq. of Overthwaite, who left at his decease, in 1736, two sons, GEORGE HUTTON, Esq. of Overthwaite, who d. unm. in 1802, and

THE REV. WILLIAM HUTTON, vicar of Beetham, who built Cappleside House, near Beetham, and fixed his residence there. He m. Lucy, third dau. and co-heir, by Mary, his wife, dau. of Oliver Marton, Esq. of Lancaster, of Rigby Molyneux, Esq., M.P. for Preston, only son of Thomas Molyneux, Esq. of Preston, by Mary, his wife, dau. of Gilbert Mundy, Esq. of Allestree, co. Derby, and grandson of Sir John Molyneux, Bart. of Teversall, by Lucy, his wife, dau. of Alexander Rigby, Esq. of Middleton, one of the Barons of the Exchequer, and d. in 1811, having had two sons, Thomas-Molyneux Hutton, who d. unm. 20 May, 1796, and the present WILLIAM HUTTON, Esq. of Beetham.

Arms—Arg., on a fesse, sa., three bucks' heads, caboshed, or.

HUTTON OF MARSKE.

HUTTON, TIMOTHY, Esq. of Marske and Clifton Castle, co. York, b. 14 Oct. 1779; m. 12 Dec. 1804, Elizabeth, dau. of William Chaytor, Esq. of Spennithorne. Mr. Hutton s. his brother 14 Aug. 1841.

Lineage.

This family is descended from the HUTTONS of Priest Hutton, in Lancashire. In the grant of arms to the family, dated 1 May, 1584, the following assertion is made by Glover, the herald: "Ex antiquâ Huttonorum familiâ in Lancastriensi Palatinatu nobilibus satis parentibus oriundus."

MATTHEW HUTTON, of Priest Hutton, in the parish of Warton, m., and had three sons, viz.,

I. EDMUND, of Warton, father of ROBERT HUTTON, D.D., Prebendary of Durham, and rector of Houghton-le-Spring, ancestor of the HUTTONS OF HOUGHTON-LE-SPRING.
II. MATTHEW, of whom presently.
III. Robert, D.D., rector of Houghton-le-Skerne, co. Durham.

The second son,

MATTHEW HUTTON, who had taken holy orders, was made Dean of York in 1567; elected Bishop of Durham 9 June, and consecrated 27 July, 1589; and translated to the archiepiscopal see of York 24 March, 1594. He m. thrice, but by his first and second wives, Catherine Fulmesby, niece of Dr. Goodricke, Bishop of Ely, (m. in 1564,) and Beatrice, dau. of Sir Thomas Fincham, Knt., (she d. in 1582,) he had no issue; by the third, Frances, dau. of Sir Martin Bowes, Knt., who d. 10 Aug. 1620, he was father of two sons, TIMOTHY, (Sir,) his heir, and Thomas, (Sir,) of Popleton, co. York; and three daus., Thomasine, m. to Sir William Gee, of Bishops' Burton, in Yorkshire; Elizabeth, m. to Richard Remington, Archdeacon of York; and Anne, m. to Sir John Calverley, Bart. Archbishop Hutton was no less distinguished by a sound judgment, great learning, and eloquence, at once manly and persuasive, than by an honourable independency of character, unhappily not very general in his time or his profession. That prelate was no sycophant who durst preach before a court on the instability of kingdoms and the change of dynasties, and durst ring in ELIZABETH'S ears the funeral knell of a succession. There is a monument to the Archbishop in the Cathedral of York. His elder son and heir,

SIR TIMOTHY HUTTON, purchased the estate of Marske in 1598, and was sheriff of the co. of York in 1605, and then received the honour of knighthood. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir George Bowes, of Streatlam, co. Durham, Knight Marshal, by his second wife, Jane, dau. of Sir John Talbot, Knt., and had issue,

MATTHEW, his successor.
Timothy, bapt. 22 Sept. 1601, a merchant at Leeds, m. Margaret, dau. of Sir John Bennet, Knt.
Philip, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Bowes, eighth son of Sir George Bowes, of Streatlam, and had Matthew, Timothy, Thomas, John, Elizabeth, and Anne.
Beatrice, m. to James Mauleverer, Esq. of Arncliffe, co. York.
Frances, m. to John Dodsworth, Esq. of Thornton-Watlass, in Yorkshire.
Elizabeth, m. to Edward Cliburne, Esq. of Cliburne, in Westmoreland.

Sir Timothy d. in 1629, was buried in St. Mary's Church, Richmond, where there is a splendid monument to his memory, and s. by his eldest son,

MATTHEW HUTTON, Esq. of Marske, b. 22 Oct. 1597, m. at Hornby, co. York, the seat of the lady's father, 22 April, 1617, Barbara, eldest dau. of Sir Conyers D'Arcy, afterwards Lord D'Arcy, and sister of Conyers, first Earl of Holderness, by whom he had two sons and four daus., viz.,

JOHN, his heir, b. 6 Sept. 1626.
Timothy, twin with his brother.
Dorothy, b. at Marske, 22 July, 1620, m. to Sir Philip Warwick, Knt., who was interred at Marske, 6 Aug. 1644.
Barbara, b. at Richmond, in Yorkshire, 23 Oct. 1630, m. at Marske, 16 April, 1655, to Thomas Lyster, Esq. of Bawtry.
Mary, b. at Marske, 4 Feb. 1637, m. to Richard Pierse, Esq. of Hutton Bonville, co. York.
Elizabeth, b. at Richmond, 4 March, 1638.

Mr. Hutton was s. at his decease by his elder son,

JOHN HUTTON, Esq. of Marske, who m. in 1651, Frances, second dau. of Bryan Stapylton, Esq. of Myton, co. York, eldest son of Sir Robert Stapylton, of Wighill, Knt., by his second wife, Olive, dau. and co-heir of Sir Henry Sherrington, of Laycocks, Wilts, Knt. (see STAPYLTON,) and dying in March, 1663-4, left (with five daus., of whom Frances m. to Andrew Wanley, Esq. of Eyford, co. Gloucester; and Olyfe, m. to Thomas Alcock, Esq. of Chatham) an only son,

JOHN HUTTON, Esq. of Marske, b. 14 July, 1659, m. in 1680, Dorothy, dau. and co-heir of William Dyke, Esq. of Frant, in Sussex, and d. in Feb. 1730-1, (he was buried on the 2nd of March following,) leaving issue,

I. JOHN, his heir.
II. MATTHEW, D.D., Archbishop of Canterbury, b. in 1692, d. 19 March, 1758. His Grace m. Mary, dau. of John Lutman, Gent. of Petworth, co. Sussex, and had two daus.,
DOROTHY, m. to Francis Popham, Esq. of Littlecott, and d. without issue.
MARY.
III. Timothy. IV. Thomas.
I. Elizabeth, b. in 1683, d. in 1759.
II. Frances, b. in 1686, d. in 1772.
III. Dorothy. IV. Barbara.
V. Henrietta, m. in 1718, to John Dodsworth, Esq. of Thornton-Watlass, co. York, d. in 1797, leaving issue.

The eldest son and heir,

JOHN HUTTON, Esq. of Marske, b. in 1691, m. 1st, in 1720, Barbara, dau. of Thomas Barker, Esq. of York, and by her, who d. in 1723, had no issue. Mr. Hutton m. 2ndly, in 1726, Elizabeth, dau. of James, Lord D'Arcy, of the kingdom of Ireland, and by her, who d. in 1739, had issue,

JOHN, his successor.
Matthew, b. in 1732, d. unm. 31 Dec. 1782.

* The last direct male heir of the Huttons of Hutton Hall, was Dr. Addison Hutton, who d. in 1745. Sir Richard Hutton, a younger son of the Hutton Hall family, was Judge of the Common Pleas, temp. HEN. VIII.

† Roger Crowle was eldest son of George Crowle, Esq. of Hull, by Eleanor, his wife, dau. of Lowther of Swillington.

James, b. in 1739, d. at Aldborough, co. York, 2 March, 1798. He m. Mary, dau. of John Hoyle, Esq. of Ashgill, in Yorkshire, and left issue a son, JAMES-HENRY-D'ARCY HUTTON, Esq., now of Aldburgh, who m. in 1821, Harriet Aggas, and by her, since deceased, had (with a dau., Harriet-Emma) two sons, John-Timothy, b. in 1822, and James-Henry, b. in 1823.

Anne, b. in 1731, m. to her cousin, George-Wanley Bowes, Esq. of Thornton, co. York, and had three daus., their father's co-heirs, viz.,

Margaret-Wanley Bowes.
Anne Bowes, m. to Thomas Thoroton, Esq., late lieut.-col. of the Coldstream regiment of Guards.
Elizabeth Bowes, m. to the Rev. Robert Croft.

Elizabeth, m. to Henry Pulleine, Esq. of Carleton Hall, co. York.

He d. in 1768, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN HUTTON, Esq. of Marske, b. 30 Sept. 1730, m. Anne, dau. of Mr. Richard Ling, of Appleby, and had four sons, viz.,

I. JOHN, his heir.
II. James, a captain in the army, b. 24 Jan. 1776, d. at Marske, 24 Jan. 1803.
III. Matthew, a captain in the army, b. 31 Dec. 1777, d. 12 Dec. 1813, buried at Marske.
IV. TIMOTHY, now of Marske and Clifton Castle.

Mr. Hutton d. on the 24th Sept. 1782, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN HUTTON, Esq. of Marske, b. 24 Sept. 1774, High-sheriff of Yorkshire in 1825, who d. unm. 14 Aug. 1841, and was s. by his brother, TIMOTHY HUTTON, Esq. of Marske and Clifton Castle.

HUYSHE OF SAND & CLISTHYDON.

HUYSHE, THE REV. FRANCIS, of Sand, in Devonshire, sometime Rector of Clisthydon, Prebendary of Cutton, in the Castle of Exeter, b. 29 Feb. 1768; m. at Halifax, Yorkshire, 18 May, 1803, Harriet, third dau. of John Waterhouse, Esq. of Wellhead, Halifax, and Elizabeth, his wife, second dau. and co-heir of Charles Beaty, of Louth, by Bridget, dau. and co-heir of Robert Saunderson, of Alford. By this lady Mr. Huyshe has had issue,

Wentworth, b. 29 May, 1812; d. at Madeira, 22 Nov. 1829. His early virtues, and the affection of his schoolfellows, are recorded on a cenotaph, erected by them to his memory in Harrow Church.
Harriet, m. 20 Feb. 1838, to Arthur Abbott, Esq.

Mr. Huyshe s. his father 17 May, 1802.

Lineage.

This is a branch of the ancient family of Huyshe, of Doniford, in Somersetshire, whose name, originally spelt Hywis, was taken from their residence, Lod Hywis, in the same county.

RICHARD DE HYWIS, of Lod Hywis, living temp. King JOHN, had two sons, Richard de Hywis, and

JOHN DE HYWIS, of Lynch, in the parish of Luxborough, father of

JOHN DE HYWISH, who had a grant of a house and a caracute of land, in Doniford, from John Fitzurse, 38 HENRY III. Contemporaneous with this John lived Bartholomew, of Lod Hewish, and an Andrew of the same name, whose dau. m. Andrew de Cottele.

GEFFRY DE HYWIS, son of John de Hywish, was on the jury, 2 EDWARD I., for the hundred of Willerton, in Somersetshire. He had a son,

JOHN DE HYWISH, of Lynch and Doniford, 19th EDWARD II., who had two sons and a dau., namely, GILBERT, his heir; William, living 3 and 5 EDWARD III., as appears by fines in the Chapter House, Westminster; and Joan, m. to Walter Perceval, second son of Sir Richard Perceval, Knt., of Corneville. This lady was a widow in 1387. She conveyed her lands in East Quantock to her brother,

GILBERT DE HYWISH, of Doniford and Lynch, 4th EDWARD III., by fine, dated 5 EDWARD III. Together with John Durborough and others, Gilbert was a witness to a grant made by John Mohun, Lord of Dunster, to that priory, 15 EDWARD III. He m. Alice, dau. of Sir John Durborough, Knt., and was s. by his eldest son,

OLIVER HYWISH, of Doniford and Lynch, 42 and 49 EDWARD III., who m. the dau. and heir of Simon de la Roche, and, in consequence, the arms of Roche, "Arg., on a bend, sa., three roaches, of the first," was assumed by Oliver and his posterity, instead of the ancient bearing of the Hywis's, which had been "A chev. between three roundlets, and a chev., on a chief, three leaves." Contemporary with them was a William de Hywish, 3 and 5 EDWARD III. Oliver had two sons,

JOHN, his heir.
Richard, to whom his father gave Lynch. He was living 10 HENRY V., and had a son,
Oliver, of Holnicault, in the parish of Selworthy, whose dau. and heir m. John Woode, of North Tawton, and had a dau., (represented in some pedigrees as an heiress,) who m. William Steynings. Other pedigrees, those of Woode, give her a brother, John, ancestor of the Woodes of North Tawton.

The elder son,

JOHN HUYISH, of Doniford, 10 HENRY VI., left, by Catherine, his wife, a son,

OLIVER HEWISH, of Doniford, 30 HENRY VI., who m. Johanna, dau. and co-heir of John Avenell, of Blackpoole, in the parish of South Molton, Devon, and had (with two daus., Elizabeth, wife of John Doddington, of Doddington; and Anne, m. to Alexander Vernie, son, by the third wife of John Vernie, of Fairfield, in Somersetshire,) a son and successor,

OLIVER HEWISH, of Doniford, 10 HENRY VII., who m. a Cavendish, and had (with a dau., m. to Chichester, of Hawle, in Devonshire,) three sons, viz.,

I. JOHN, his heir.
II. Humphrey, who m. Jacquet, dau. and co-heir of John Hawle, of High Bray, in the parish of South Molton, Devonshire, and had four sons, 1. HENRY, who purchased the estate of Sand, which his son, Thomas, of Axminster, sold to his cousin, James Huyshe, of London; 2. John, of Okeford, Devon, d. s. p.; 3. Bartholomew, of Studley, Devon, d. s. p.; and 4. John, d. unm.
III. Thomas, who was, according to the family pedigree, found at Sand, the ancestor of the Huyshes, of Tetton, in the parish of Kingston, and of "thos other Huyshes about Taunton; and so of RICHARD HUYSHE, who lyeth buried in Taunton." This RICHARD HUYSHE was of New Inn, in 1589. He died without issue, and bequeathed his property in the Blackfriars, London, and in Taunton, to trustees, for the maintenance of an alms-house in Taunton, for aged men, with preference to any poor among his kindred, and for exhibitions at the universities of Oxford and Cambridge, to young men of his name and kindred, or of his kindred only, and in default of these, to young men born in the counties of Somerset and Devon.

Oliver Hewish's eldest son,

JOHN HEWYSHE, Gent. of Doniford, whose will, dated 24 July, 1551, was proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, 8 Feb. 1552, m. Grace, dau. of Richard Walrond, Esq., and had issue,

I. WILLIAM, of Doniford, who m. 1st, Ellen, dau. and co-heir of John Gaunt, Esq. of Dorsetshire; and 2ndly, Johanna, dau. of John Sydenham, Esq. By the former he had two sons and two daus., namely, SILVESTER, of Doniford; John; Honora; and Dorothy: by the latter, one son, John, ancestor of HUYSH OF WELLS.
II. ROGER, whose son, WILLIAM, was of Aller, in Somersetshire.
III. JAMES, of whom presently.
I. Dorothy, m. to Edward Hensley, of Devonshire.
II. Alice, m. to John Borne.

The youngest son of John Hewyshe, of Doniford,

JAMES HUYSHE, was sometime of Cheapside, London, and a member of the Grocers' Company. He d. 20 Aug. 1590, and was buried in St. Pancras, Soper Lane. His will, dated 7 July, 1590, was proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, 27 Oct. 1590. His monumental inscription is preserved in STOWE'S London. By his first wife he had eleven children, and by the second, eighteen. Of these, Rowland, William, James, and Thomas, are the only sons named in his will. His first wife was Margaret, dau. and heir of Robert Bowser, or Bourchier, of London.

His second wife, Mary,* dau. of Moffytt, of Barnet, in Herts. The eldest son by the first wife,

ROWLAND HUYSHE, sometime of South Brent, in Somersetshire, and afterwards of Sand, in the parish of Sidbury, Devon, was bapt. 11 April, 1560, and named after his godfather, Sir Rowland Hill. He had livery of his father's lands, 8 June, 1591, and by inquisition taken at Sherborne, 29 Aug., 9 CHARLES I., appears to have died 19 Jan. in the preceding year. He m. Anne,† dau. of John Wentworth, Esq. of Bocking, in Essex, by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Sir Edward Capel, Knt., and had by her, who was buried at Sidbury, 7 Oct. 1629, a son and successor,

JAMES HUYSHE, Esq. of Sand, bapt. at Sidbury, 2 May, 1604, who had livery of his father's lands granted him 25 June, 1634. During the civil wars, Mr. Huyshe engaged most actively in support of the Royal cause, and thereby sacrificed a considerable portion of his private fortune. The estates he had inherited from his wealthy and industrious grandfather were, in part, sold, and on the remainder a fine was imposed of a tenth, viz., 283*l.* By the Royalist composition papers, it appears that he took up arms against the parliament, laid them down in 1643, and compounded in 1646. In 1660, he received the appointment of captain in the militia of foot raised in East Devon by the Duke of Albemarle. He m. Deborah, co-heir of her brother, Periam Reynell, Esq., and dau. ## HYETT OF PAINSWICK.

HYETT, WILLIAM-HENRY, Esq. of Painswick House, co. Gloucester, b. 2 Sept. 1795; m. 25 Oct. 1821, Anne-Jane, dau. of Joseph-Seymour Biscoe, Esq., and has issue,

I. WILLIAM-HENRY ADAMS, b. 14 Dec. 1825.
I. Frances-Stephana. II. Josephine.
III. Mary-Clementina. IV. Annie-Grace.
V. Sarah-Jane. VI. Stephana-Inglis.

Mr. Hyett, whose patronymic was ADAMS, assumed, by Act of Parliament, in 1815, his present surname, upon succeeding to the estates of the late Benjamin Hyett, Esq. of Painswick, who d. 21 June, 1810. He is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for Gloucestershire, and was formerly M.P. for Stroud.

Lineage.

In earlier times, the Gloucestershire house of Hyett, formerly seated at Lydney, in that county, has been recorded regularly in the Visitations.

CHARLES HYETT, Esq. of Painswick House, b. in 1675, was Constable of the Castle of Gloucester in the reign of Queen ANNE, and, 9 GEORGE I., was elected M.P. for the city. He m. a dau. of Nicholas Webb, Esq. of Gloucester. In 1704, he purchased a moiety of the manor and estate at Hunt Court, in Badgeworth, co. Gloucester, of Sir Bouchier Wrey, as heir of his grandmother, one of the daus. of Edward Bouchier, Earl of Bath, and the other moiety of James Grove; and in 1727, certain properties at Bully, in the same county. He d. 17 Feb. 1738, and was buried at the Cathedral in Gloucester. In Painswick Church there is a monumental inscription containing his arms, with those of his wife, (or, a cross, quarterly, gules and sable, in the first quarter an eagle, displayed, sable.) He had issue two sons,

I. BENJAMIN, his heir, b. in 1709.
II. NICHOLAS, heir to his brother.

BENJAMIN HYETT, Esq. of Painswick House, succeeding his father in 1738, contested the parliamentary representation of Gloucester city with Benjamin Bathurst, Esq., in 1742. He m. 15 May, 1744, Miss Snell, of Gloucestershire, a member of the family of Sir Thomas Snell, Knt., high-sheriff for Gloucestershire that year, (1744,) but d. 15 Dec. 1762, without issue, whereupon his estates devolved upon his only brother and heir,

NICHOLAS HYETT, Esq., who had succeeded to estates in the city, and in Bully, Upton, St. Leonards, Longford, Twignorth, and Upleadon, in the co. of Gloucester, from his maternal uncle, Nicholas Webb, by will dated 1714, succeeded also to the estates of his brother Benjamin, on his death in 1762, and was made Constable of Gloucester Castle in 1765. He executed his will 5 May, 1772, leaving his property in the county to his only child, Benjamin Hyett, Esq., and that in the city of Gloucester to Henrietta-Maria, his wife, for life. He d. at Gloucester, 4 March, 1777, and his will was proved in the Gloucester Prerogative Court, 19 April, 1777. By the said Henrietta-Maria, Mr. Hyett left issue an only child,

BENJAMIN HYETT, Esq. of Painswick House, b. in 1743, major of the South Gloucestershire Militia. He m. 1st, Catharine-Gorges Dobyns-Yate, eldest dau. of Robert Dobyns-Yate, Esq. of Evesbatch, co. Hereford, and Broomsberrow Place, high-sheriff of Gloucestershire, but she d. s. p. He m. 2ndly, 10 July, 1788, Sarah, only dau. and heiress of the Venerable and Rev. William Adams, D.D., Archdeacon of Llandaff, Master of Pembroke Coll., Oxon, and a Prebendary of Gloucester Cathedral, (to which family the said Benjamin Hyett eventually devised his estates,) but by her neither had he any issue. Surviving her, he made his will, 14 Feb. 1809, and having no relations of his own, devised his estates, with divers remainders, to WILLIAM-HENRY ADAMS, Esq., (son and heir of the Rev. Henry-Cay Adams, deceased, and the cousin of the said Sarah Adams, his second wife,) certain parts thereof being left for life to Frances Adams, widow of the Rev. H.-C. Adams aforesaid, and mother of the said William-Henry Adams. He d. in 1810, at his seat of Painswick House, co. Gloucester, in his sixty-eighth year, s. p., and was buried in the Cathedral at Gloucester. His will was proved in the Gloucester Prerogative Court, by Frances Adams, widow, the sole executrix, 13 July, 1810.

Family of Adams.

This family of Adams, long settled and connected with Shrewsbury, is a younger branch of the ancient and worshipful house of Adams, of Longdon, in Salop, so long seated in that county; and which bore for arms, "Ermine, three cats, passant, in pale azure."

Their pedigree and arms ("Ermine, three cats, passant, in pale, azure") were recorded at the Visitation in 1623, by Francis Adams, Esq. of Longdon. The immediate ancestor of this branch was Robert Adams, of Great Chatwall, in the parish of Gnosall, co. Stafford. He bought an estate at Hadley, in Salop, 26 Nov., 20 CHARLES II., and was s. by his son and heir, William, who left, by will dated 2 Feb. 1696, the property at Hadley to his younger sons, JOHN and Thomas, whilst that at Great Chatwall was inherited by his eldest son, Robert. This

JOHN ADAMS, b. in 1675, resided at Shrewsbury, where he engaged in the iron trade. He was an alderman of Shrewsbury, and mayor thereof in 1726, when his arms are given by the Rev. Mr. Blakeway, in his History of Shrewsbury, (vol. i. p. 536,) in his list of the "Mayors and their Arms," and are the same as those recorded in 1623 by Francis Adams, of Longdon, Esq. This John Adams m. in 1705, Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Jorden, Esq. of Prior's Leigh, co. Salop, sheriff of Shropshire in 1720, a lineal descendant from Edward Jorden, of Dunsley, in Kinfare parish, by — Moseley, his wife, aunt, through her sister, of Richard Wightwick, D.D., co-founder of Pembroke Coll., Oxon. Mrs. Adams was also cousin-german to William Jorden, M.A., Fellow of Pemb. Coll., tutor to Dr. Johnson; and she being, moreover, as already detailed, of kin to the founder of Pembroke College, her eldest son being founder's kin through her, received his academical education there. Alderman John Adams d. in 1752, leaving issue by his said wife, Frances-Harriet. Margaret-Amelia.

Adeline-Paulina.

Lineage.

For the genealogy of Admiral Irby, (who is younger brother of the present Lord Boston,) refer to BURKE'S Peerage and Baronetage; but as the estate of Boyland Hall, together with others in the co. of Norfolk, was acquired by him in marriage with his first wife, and inherited by her from the family of Garneys, we shall here give some account of that ancient family.

The first of the name which we have met with on record, is Robert Garnoise, who is there stated to have "held many lands in Chembenhall, in the county of Suffolk," 6 RICHARD I., 1194. This is probably the same place as that now called Chipenhall, in Tresingfield, in the immediate vicinity of Laxfield, at which latter place the family seems for many ages to have resided.

ROBERT GARNEYSE, of Laxfield, by charter without date, but about the time of King JOHN, granted to the monks of the neighbouring abbey of Sibton, in the co. of Suffolk, thirty acres of land in Laxfield.

William, son of Robert Garneyse, of Laxfield, by charter, also without date, but about the time of Hen. III., confirmed his father's gift to the monks of Sibton.

Thomas Garneyse, another son of Robert, granted to the church of Sibton a rent charge of 8*d.* per annum, issuing out of lands in Dennington, co. Suffolk. He was living 24 Henry III., 1239.

Richard Garneyse, son of the last-mentioned William, about the beginning of the reign of Edward I., gave a messuage in Stradbroc to Alice, dau. of William de Redshall.

From this time the name continually occurs in records relating to Laxfield and its vicinity, but no connected pedigree of the family has hitherto been traced to a period earlier than the reign of Edward III., when the name of

Robert Garneys, of Heveningham, co. Suffolk, very frequently occurs. He was probably the first of his family who acquired the manor of Rose Hall, in the parish of Beccles, in the same co., and dying 14 May, 1411, 12 Henry IV., left, by Catharine, his wife, dau. and heiress of John Blanchard, Esq. of Huntingfield, (who d. 1405,) two sons,

Peter, his heir.

William, of Geldeston, co. Norfolk, who m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir Ralph Bigot, Knt. of Stockton, in the same co., (representative of a younger branch of the Earls of Norfolk, of that name,) by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. and co-heir of Sir Thomas Mortimer, Knt. of Attleborough, in the same co., whose ancestors had under that title been barons of the realm, and dying in 1424, was s. by his son, Richard, who d. s. p. in 1447.

The elder son,

Peter Garneys, Esq. of Rose Hall, m. Anne, dau. and co-heir of Sir Ralph Ramsay, Knt. of Kenton Hall, in Suffolk, which thenceforth became the principal residence of the family. He d. in 1451, having devised his manor of Rose Hall to his second son, Edmund, in whose posterity it continued several generations. The eldest son,

Thomas Garneys, Esq. of Kenton Hall, m. Margaret, dau. and co-heir of Sir Hugh Frauncis, Knt. of Gifford's Hall, in Wykhambrook, co. Suffolk. by whom (who after his death m. Thomas Peyton, Esq. of Isleham, in Cambridgeshire) he had

John.

Richard, of Mendlesham, co. Suffolk, who m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of William Toppesfield, Esq. of Gislingham, in the same co. He was the first of this family who possessed Boyland Hall, which he purchased, and dying 14 May, 1515, was s. by his son,

John Garneys, Esq. of Boyland Hall, who d. 18 Dec. 1553, leaving by Ursula, his wife, dau. of Thomas Berney, of Redham, in Norfolk,

Richard Garneys, Esq. of Boyland Hall, who built the present mansion-house there. He m. Margery, dau. of James Tyrrell, Esq. of Columbine Hall, in Suffolk, and dying s. p. 3 Jan. 1586, was s. in his estates, by virtue of a settlement previously executed by him, by his kinsman, Nicholas Garneys, Esq. of Kenton Hall.

Thomas Garneys d. 12 Dec, 1458, and was s. by his eldest son,

John Garneys, Esq. of Kenton Hall, b. 1454, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Sulyard, Knt. of Wetherden Hall, in Suffolk, Chief Justice of England, 2 Richard III., and d. 11 June, 1524, (his widow d. 2 April, 1539,) and was s. by his son,

Robert Garneys, Esq. of Kenton Hall, who m. Anne, second dau. and co-heir of Thomas Bacon, Esq. of Baconsthorp, co. Norfolk, who d. in 1558. He had, besides other children,

John, of Spexall, in Suffolk, who d. v. p., leaving by Anne, his wife, dau. of Thomas Rookwood, Esq. of Eurton, in the same co., amongst other children,

Thomas, who s. his grandfather.

Nicholas, of whom hereafter.

Margaret, m. 1st, Walter Devereux, Viscount Hereford, and 2ndly, John, Lord Willoughby of Parham.

Robert Garneys aforesaid d. 2 Aug. 1556, and was s. at Kenton by his grandson,

Thomas Garneys, Esq. of Kenton Hall, who m. Frances, dau. of Sir John Sulyard, Knt. of Wetherden Hall aforesaid, and had an only child and heir, Elizabeth Garneys, who was three years old at her father's decease. She m. Philip Strelly, Esq. of Strelly, in Nottinghamshire, who d. 4 James I. On the decease of Thomas Garneys, without issue male, 20 Dec. 1566, the Kenton estates devolved, by virtue of an entail, on his brother,

Nicholas Garneys, Esq., who also succeeded to the estates of his kinsman, Richard Garneys, of Boyland Hall. He resided chiefly at Redesham Hall, in Suffolk, and was high-sheriff of that co. 1592, 34 Elizabeth. By his wife, Ann, dau. of Thomas Clere, Esq. of Stokesby, in Norfolk, he had several children, of whom Charles, the eldest son, succeeded at Kenton, Boyland, and Clere. The sixth son m. Anne, dau. of John Jolly, of Southwold, and was ancestor of Charles Garneys, of Hedenham, co. Norfolk.

Charles Garneys, Esq. of Kenton and Boyland Halls, eldest son and heir of Nicholas, was sheriff of Norfolk in 1652. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of John Wentworth, Esq. of Somerleyton, co. Suffolk, and sole heir of her brother, Sir John Wentworth, Knt. of the same place. He d. 30 Jan. 1657, and was s. by his son,

John Garneys, Esq. of Boyland Hall, aforesaid, and of Somerleyton Hall and Kenton Hall, in Suffolk, whose fortune was considerably augmented by the estates of his mother's family. He was twice married. By his first wife, Ann, dau. of William Rugg, of Felmingham, in Norfolk, he had a son, Thomas, who inherited the Somerleyton estates, which he sold, and d. s. p. The second wife of John Garneys was Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Thomas Soame, Knt. of Throcking, in Hertfordshire; and by her he had, 1. Wentworth, who inherited the Boyland and Kenton estates, and d. s. p.; 2. Mary, who, on the death of her brother, s. p., inherited the principal part of the Suffolk estates: she m. 1st, in 1679, William Shipman, Esq. of London, and had by him an only son, Thomas, who d. unm. in 1723; she m. 2ndly, Sir William-Dutton Colt, Knt., by whom she had two daus., her co-heirs at her decease in 1726, (see Bond of Grange;) 3. Margaret, eventually co-heir of her brother, m. to Sir William Gostlin, Knt., and d. 23 Jan. 1723, leaving issue; and 4. Martha, of whom hereafter. The son and successor,

Wentworth Garneys, Esq. of Boyland Hall, m. 1st, Ann, dau. of Sir Charles Gaudy, Knt. of Crows Hall, in Suffolk, who d. 7 Sept. 1681, and 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Sir Thomas Abdy, Bart. of Felix Hall, in Essex, but d. s. p. in 1711-12, when his estates became divided between Mary and Margaret, his two surviving sisters, and the issue of Martha, his other sister, who d. in his lifetime, which

Martha Garneys m. to Robert Raworth, Esq. of London, and dying 22 Aug. 1694, left

John Raworth, Esq., who s. his maternal uncle at Boyland Hall, and by Ann, his wife, dau. of Caleb Trenfield, had an only child and heir,

Elizabeth Raworth, b. 1 Aug. 1725, m. 9 Feb. 1746, to William Drake, Esq. of Shardeloes, co. Bucks, M.P. for Amersham, in the same co., who d. 8 Aug. 1796. Mrs. Drake d. 4 Feb. 1757, leaving

William Drake, Esq., her son and heir, who was also M.P. for Amersham. By Rachel-Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Jeremiah Ives, Esq. of Norwich, who d. 4 Aug. 1781, he had two daus. and co-heirs, viz.,

Rachel-Ives Drake, m. 17 Oct. 1801, to George Irby, Lord Boston.

Lineage.

This is a branch of the ancient family of IRELAND, of the Hutt and Hale, in Lancashire, now represented by JOHN-IRELAND BLACKBURNE, Esq. of Orford and Hale, (see that name.)

WILLIAM IRELAND, son of George Ireland, who was brother of Sir John de Ireland, the father of the great Sir Gilbert Ireland, of the Hutt and Hale, m. about the year 1640, the HON. MARGARET DE COURCY, sister and heir of ALMERICUS, LORD KINSALE, and shortly after settled in Ireland, on a property he purchased near Athy. His only son,

DE COURCY IRELAND, Esq., was an officer in the army of WILLIAM III., and after disposing of his commission, held the appointment of sole agent of the forfeited estates in Ireland, an office then of great trust and emolument. He purchased a small property in the Queen's County, now known as Ireland's Grove. He m. 1st, Miss Moore, and had by her two sons,

I. DE COURCY, of Ireland's Grove, barrister-at-law, who received a pension from the Crown, in regard to his claim to the title of Kinsale. He d. unm. about the year 1754, having, to the exclusion of his brother, Richard, devised his estate to his two sisters of the half-blood, by whom it was sold to the Earl of Portarlington.
II. RICHARD, of whom presently.

Mr. Ireland m. 2ndly, Miss Blanchfield, an heiress, of the co. Kilkenny, and had by her two daus., and two sons, Hawkins and George. The second son of the first marriage,

RICHARD IRELAND, Esq., an officer in the army, d. early in life, at Killene, near Headford, co. Galway, about the year 1740, leaving, by Catherine, his wife, dau. of Mark Lynch, a rich resident of Galway, an only son,

IRTON OF IRTON.

IRTON, SAMUEL, Esq. of Irton, co. Cumberland, b. 29 Sept. 1796; m. 25 July, 1825, Eleanor, second dau. of Joseph-Tiffin Senhouse, Esq. of Calder Abbey. Mr. Irton, who s. his father 2 Nov. 1820, is in the commission of the peace for Cumberland, and represents the Western Division of that co. in parliament.

Lineage.

The Irtons have been seated at Irton, co. Cumberland, from a period antecedent to the Conquest, and have, since that period, been, in a direct line, successive lords thereof. The first of the family mentioned by Mr. Warburton, Somerset Herald, is

BARTRAM D'YRTON, who lived in the beginning of the reign of HENRY I.; and Richard is mentioned soon after the Conquest, as appears by a deed of gift in the Exchequer of lands given to the abbey at York by Andrew de Morwick, to which Bartram was an evidence. He was s. by

ADAM D'YRTON, of Yrton, who was one of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, and attending Godfrey of Boulogne and the other Christian princes to the Holy Land, was at the siege of Jerusalem. During the war, he slew a Saracen general, and is said to have severed, at one blow, the infidel's head from his body. He m. Joan Stutville, and was father of

HUGH D'YRTON, who m. Gertrude Tiliol, of an ancient and eminent family, which possessed Scaleby Castle and a large estate on the borders, and was s. by his son,

EDMUND D'YRTON, who joined the crusade under RICHARD I., and participated in all that monarch's wars. He lost his life in the journey to Jerusalem, and left, by his wife, the dau. of Edmund Dudley, of Yanwick, in Westmoreland, a son and successor,

STEPHEN D'YRTON, who m. Jane Dacre, (who was surety to HENRY III. for her brother, Thomas Dacre, for his safe keeping of the castle of Bridgenorth, in Salop, against the incursions of the Welsh,) and had two sons, namely,

ROGER, his heir.

Randolph, who was bred a priest at Rouen, in Normandy. On his return to England he was made Prior of Gisburn, in Yorkshire, and being a man of great learning and piety, was constituted by King EDWARD I., in 1280, Bishop of Carlisle, being likewise appointed one of the commissioners to treat of a marriage between Margaret, Princess of Scotland, and King EDWARD'S son, as appears by an ancient parchment roll in the Tower of London.

The elder son,

ROGER D'YRTON, m., and had a son and successor,

WILLIAM D'YRTON, who m. Grace Hanmer, of Shropshire, a near relative of the Hanmers of Hanmer, in Flintshire, and was s. by his son,

ROGER D'YRTON, living in 1292, who m. Susan, dau. of Sir Alexander Basinthwaite, and sister of Sir Alexander Basinthwaite, who was slain at the battle of Dunbar, in 1296. By this lady, Roger D'Yrton acquired the manors of Basinthwaite, Loweswater, Unthank, and divers other lands of considerable value, and had a son and heir,

ADAM D'YRTON, who m. Elizabeth, sole heiress of Sir John Copeland, and obtained with her the manors of Berker, Berkby, and Senton. He left two sons, of whom the younger, Alexander, m. a lady of the family of Odingsels, and settled at Wolverly, in Warwickshire. The elder,

RICHARD D'YRTON, m. Margaret, dau. of John Broughton, of Broughton, in Staffordshire, and was father of

CHRISTOPHER IRTON, of Irton, who m. Margaret, dau. of Richard Redman, of Herwood Castle, and was s. by his son,

NICHOLAS IRTON, of Irton, who m. a dau. of William Dykes, of Wardell, in Cumberland, and was s. by his son,

JOHN IRTON, Esq. of Irton, living temp. EDWARD IV., who m. Anne, dau. of Sir Thomas Lamplugh, Knt., by Eleanor, his wife, dau. of Sir Henry Fenwick, of Fenwick, and had, with another son, Joseph, (who left two daus., Elizabeth, m. to William Armorer, Esq.; and Mary, m. to John Skelton, Esq. of Armathwaite Castle,) a son,

WILLIAM IRTON, Esq. of Irton, who was appointed, in 1493, General to the Duke of Gloucester, and (as appears by an old grant in the family) his deputy-lieutenant. He m. a dau. of the ancient house of Fleming of Rydall, and was s. by his son,

THOMAS IRTON, of Irton, who received the honour of knighthood from the Earl of Surrey, at Flodden Field, and was slain in a skirmish at Kelso with the Scotch. He d. s. p., and was s. in 1503, by his brother,

RICHARD IRTON, of Irton, who served as sheriff for Cumberland 22 HENRY VIII. He m. Anne, dau. of Sir William Middleton, Knt., of Stokeld Park, and left a son and heir,

CHRISTOPHER IRTON, Esq. of Irton, who m. in 1543, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Mallory, Knt., of Studley Park, and was s. by his son,

JOHN IRTON, Esq. of Irton, who m. in 1577, Anne, dau. of Richard Kirby, Esq. of Kirby, by Mary, his wife, dau. of Sir Roger Bellingham, and was father of

JOHN IRTON, Esq. of Irton, who m. in 1638, Anne, sister of Sir Harry Ponsonby, ancestor to the Earls of Bessborough, and left a son and successor,

JOHN IRTON, Esq. of Irton, who m. in 1658, Elizabeth, dau. of Musgrave, of Meatrig, younger brother of Sir William Musgrave, Knt., of Crookdale, and was s. by his son,

GEORGE IRTON, Esq. of Irton, who m. Eliza, dau. of Thomas Lamplugh, Esq. of Lamplugh, and was s. by his son,

GEORGE IRTON, Esq. of Irton, high-sheriff of Cumberland in 1753, who m. in 1695, Elizabeth, dau. of David Poole, Esq. of Knottingley and Syke House, co. York, and had two sons and five daus. He was s. by the eldest,

SAMUEL IRTON, Esq. of Irton, who m. Frances, only dau. and heiress of Robert Tubman, Esq. of Cockermouth, and had three sons, with as many daus. The eldest surviving son,

EDMUND-LAMPLUGH IRTON, Esq. of Irton, m. 1st, Miss Hodgson, of Hawkshead, and 2ndly, 2 Aug. 1787, Harriet, dau. of John Hayne, Esq. of Ashbourn Green, co. Derby. By the latter he had issue,

SAMUEL, his heir.

Richard, capt. in the Rifle brigade, m. Sarah, dau. of Joseph Sabine, Esq.

Anne, m. to Joseph Gunson, Esq. of Ingwell.

Frances, m. 6 Oct. 1842, to Sir E.-S. Prideaux, Bart.

Mr. Irton d. 2 Nov. 1820, and was s. by his son, the present SAMUEL IRTON, Esq. of Irton, M.P. for West Cumberland.

Arms—Arg., a fesse, sa., in chief, three mullets, gu.
Crest—A Saracen's head.
Motto—Semper constans et fidelis.
Seat—Irton Hall, situated on the river Irt.

IRVINE OF DRUM.

IRVINE, ALEXANDER, Esq. of Drum, co. Aberdeen, b. 4 Oct. 1754; m. 31 Dec. 1775, Jean, only dau. of Hugh Forbes, Esq. of Schivas, in the same co., by Christian Garden, his wife, and had four sons and a dau., viz.,

ALEXANDER-FORBES, b. 10 Jan. 1777, s. in 1807 to the estate of Schivas, as heir to his cousin, Miss Frances Forbes, and is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for Aberdeenshire. He m. 19 Dec. 1816, Margaret, dau. of the late James Hamilton, Esq., and has three sons and two daus., viz., Alexander-Forbes, James-Hamilton, Charles, E.I.C.S., Beatrice-Wood, and Jane-Christina.

Charles, of London.

Hugh, d. in 1829. This gentleman was a landscape-painter.

Francis, capt. in the East India Company's service, m. in 1815, Frances-Sophia, dau. of the late John-Herbert Harrington, Esq., and has one son and two daus.

Christian.

Mr. Irvine, who is a deputy-lieutenant in Aberdeen, s. his father in 1761.

Lineage.

The name of IRWIN, IRWYN, or IRVINE, appears to have been of long standing in the south and south-west of Scotland.

A member of the family of Irwin early acquired the lands of Bonshaw, in Dumfriesshire, which his descendants still possess; and when ROBERT BRUCE took the field against EDWARD I. for the crown of Scotland, he appointed

WILLIAM DE IRWIN of that line (but whether its chief or not has not been ascertained) his armour-bearer, gave him his own device or arms, when Earl of Carrick, viz., "three holly-leaves," and made him a grant, by charter under the great seal, of the Forest of Drom, or Drum, in Aberdeenshire. He was s. by his son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, who m. the second dau, of Sir Robert Keith,* Great Marishall, and his wife, Margaret, dau. of Sir Gilbert Hay, Lord High Constable, and was s. by his son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, who was a commander of the Lowland forces at the battle of Harlaw, anno 1411, where he and M'Lean, of Dowart, the ancestor of Coll, having fought together, were both killed. M'Lean was lieutenant-general under Donald of the Isles. Alexander Irvine was s. by his brother,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, who changed his Christian name upon inheriting, a precedent for which alteration being established by King ROBERT III., whose baptismal name had been JOHN. This Laird of Drum was one of the commissioners deputed by the states of Scotland to treat concerning the ransom of JAMES I., and was knighted by that monarch in 1424. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Robert Keith, Great Marishall of Scotland. This lady had been first married to his deceased brother, to adjust a feud which had for some time subsisted between the families, such a proceeding being, it is said, enjoined by the states of the kingdom; but the ceremony only having taken place, Alexander, the elder brother, recommended her to his successor, should he himself fall at Harlaw. The lady brought him the lands of Strachan, in Kincardineshire, which were conferred by his father-in-law, Sir Robert Keith, and he acquired, by charter under the great seal, in 1446, the lands of Learny, on the resignation of John Halyburton. He had two sons: the elder was ALEXANDER, his heir; and the younger, to whom he gave the lands of Whiteriggs and Redmires, and who had a charter from the Earl of Huntly of the lands of Beltie, distinguished himself at the battle of Brechin, in 1452, under that nobleman, against the Earl of Crawfurd. From this gallant person descend the Irvines of Lenturk, and the Irvines in Germany. The elder son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, m. Abernethy, dau. of the Lord Saltoun, and was s. by his son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, who m. 1st, Elizabeth, third dau. of Alexander, Lord Forbes, and had, with a dau., m. to Lesley, of Wardhouse, three sons, viz.,

ALEXANDER, his successor.
Richard, of Craigton, from whom the Irvines of Hilltown.
Henry, ancestor of the Irvines of Kingcausie.

He m. 2ndly, a Lindsay, and had eight daus., seven of whom were married, namely, the eldest to Couts, of Westercourt; the second to Chalmers, of Strichen; the third to Skene, of that ilk; the fourth to Ogston, of Fettercairn; the fifth to Ross, of Auchlossen; the sixth to Crawford, of Fornet; the seventh to Duguid, of Auchenhuive. The eldest son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, m. Janet, only dau. of Allardyce, of that ilk, and had (with two daus., the elder m. to the Laird of Balbigno; the younger, to Fraser of Muchels, the predecessor of Lord Fraser) a son and heir,

ALEXANDER, living in 1527. He m. Elizabeth Ogilvie, dau. of the Laird of Findlater, and falling at the battle of Pinkie, anno 1547, his father then living, left six sons and three daus., viz.,

ALEXANDER, successor to his grandfather.
William, of Ardlogie.
Robert, of Tillylair, from whom the Irvines of Fortrie.
Gilbert, of Colairlie, predecessor of Murthill and Cults.
JAMES, a Knight of Malta, ordained, by the Grand Master, Prior of the order in Scotland.
John, d. young.
Janet, m. to Gordon, of Abergeldie.
Elizabeth, m. to Seton, of Meldrum.
Margaret, m. to Cheyne, of Arnage.

The laird was s. at his decease by his grandson,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum. He m. the Lady Elizabeth Keith, second dau. of William, Earl Marishall, and had five sons and four daus., viz.,

I. ALEXANDER, who s. him.
II. Robert, of Fornett and Moncoffer; line now extinct.
III. James, of Brucklaw, predecessor of Saphock; extinct.
IV. William, of Beltie; extinct.
V. JOHN, of Artamford, who m. Beatrix, dau. of Irvine, of Pitmurchie and Lumphanan, by whom he had eight sons, who all d. without issue, except JAMES, the second, who, by a transaction with his eldest brother, s. to the estates, and became

JAMES IRVINE, of Artamford. He m. Anne, dau. of Keith, of Ravenscraig, by whom he had (with another son who d. young, and two daus., Anne, m. to Elphinstone, of Glack; and Beatrix, m. to Dalgardno, of Millhill) a son and successor,

JAMES IRVINE, of Artamford, second substitute in the entail of DRUM. This gentleman m. in 1673, Margaret, dau. of James Sutherland, of Kinminily, by whom he had five sons and one dau., viz.

ALEXANDER, who sold ARTAMFORD to his brother William, and bought CRIMOND, in 1703. Of this gentleman hereafter, as inheritor of DRUM.
William, who bought ARTAMFORD from his brother.
Robert.
Thomas, of Auchmunziel.
Charles, was already engaged as a merchant in the first establishment of the Swedish East India Company.
Margaret, m. to Hugh Rose, of Clova.

I. A dau., m. to Hay, of Ury.
II. A dau., m. to Keith, of Craig Inverugie.
III. Elizabeth, m. to James Ogilvie, of Boyne.
IV. Margaret, m. to Gilbert Menzies, of Pitfodles.

This Laird of Drum was s. by his son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, living temp. JAMES VI. He m. the Lady Marion Douglas, dau. of Robert, Earl of Buchan, and had two sons and five daus., viz.,

ALEXANDER, his heir.
Robert, of Fidderate, now extinct.
Margaret, m. to Sir George Ogilvie, of Dunlugas, afterwards created Lord Banff.
Isabella, m. to Urquhart, of Leathers.
Janet, m. to Sir William Douglas, Bart. of Glenbervie.
Anne, m. to Sir John Ogilvie, of Inverquharity.
Mary, m. in 1628, to Sir Robert Graham, of Morphie.

This laird founded four bursaries of philosophy, and two of divinity, at the Marishall College of Aberdeen, and four at the grammar school, which are all presented by the family. His lady endowed an hospital in Aberdeen for poor burgesses' widows and daughters, of which the patronage is with the town council. Drum was s. by his elder son,

SIR ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, sheriff principal of Aberdeen, who got from his father, in 1617, a charter of the lands of Kinmuck, and in 1621, another of the lands of Forglen. He m. in the former year, Magdalen, eldest dau. of Sir John Scrimzeour, of Diddup, Knt., Constable of Dundee, and had issue,

ALEXANDER, his successor.
Marion, m. to James, Viscount Frendraught.
Jean, m. to George Crichton, brother of Lord Frendraught.
Margaret, m. to Charles, Earl of Aboyne.

Sir Alexander had a patent from King CHARLES I., creating him Earl of Aberdeen, which the breaking out of the rebellion prevented from passing the great seal. His losses by the civil wars were considerable, himself and his sons having zealously espoused the royal cause. His third son, Robert, died in prison in Edinburgh, where he and his eldest son were also long in confinement: the latter was condemned to death, the execution of which was only stopped in consequence of Montrose's victory at Kilsyth. Sir Alexander was eventually s. by him, the said

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, who m. 1st, the Lady Mary Gordon, fourth dau. of John, Marquess of Huntly, by whom he had

ALEXANDER, his heir.

Mary, m. to Patrick, Count Leslie, of Balquhain.
Margaret, m. to Gilbert Menzies, of Pitfodles.
JEAN, m. to ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Murthill, eventually of Drum.
Henrietta, m. to Alexander Leslie, of Pitcapple.

The laird m. 2ndly, Margaret Couts, and had a dau.,

Katharine, m. to John Gray.

DRUM, with his father and brothers, as already stated, was actively engaged in upholding the royal cause, and suffered in consequence incarceration, expatriation, and confiscation. At the restoration of the monarchy the peerage was offered him, but declined on his part, unless the patent bore the date of that granted to his father. The more probable reason, however, for his declining so high a distinction, was the reduction of his fortune. One of his estates, that of Kelly, in Angus-shire, he sold to

* Killed at the battle of Durham, in 1346.

Lord Panmure. In 1687, the laird executed a nomination of heirs of entail, failing heirs male of his own body, to the IRVINES of Murthill, Artamford, and Cults, and their heirs male in order. IRVINE of Saphock was nearest heir male, failing the entailer's own, but was, from some dislike, entirely omitted. The laird d. the same year, and was s. by his eldest son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, who m. Margaret Forbes, dau. of Forbes, of Auchreddie, and d. in 1696, without issue. In him failed the male line of the family from father to son. By this circumstance the succession opened to (the eldest son of Alexander Irvine, of Murthill, the first nominee under the entail, who had d. four years before the last laird)

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Murthill, who thus became Laird of Drum. He m. Jean, the entailer's third dau., and had

ALEXANDER, his heir.
Margaret.
Helen, m. to Gordon, of Durlathers.

This gentleman sold Murthill, and also the lands of Strachan, which had not been included in the entail. He d. in 1720, and was s. by his son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum, who had the misfortune, sometime after his accession, to become insane. He was cognosced in 1731, and d. in 1735, unm., when he was s. by his uncle and tutor,

JOHN IRVINE, of Drum. Sometime before the accession of this gentleman, means had been devised to defeat the entail and to sell the greater part of the estate, which at last was effected in 1737, during his possession. He m. Katharine, dau. of Robert Fullerton, of Dudwick, but d. in 1737, without issue, when the male line of the Murthill branch became extinct. The succession then opened to the descendants of JOHN IRVINE, of Artamford, (refer to issue of ALEXANDER of Drum, who inherited, in 1553, and his wife, the Lady Elizabeth Keith,) and devolved upon his great-grandson,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Crimond, who thus became "of Drum." In 1744, he likewise became heir of line to the entailer by the death of IRVINE of Saphock, without male issue. He m. in 1698, Isabel, dau. of Thomas Thomson, of Faichfield, by whom he had James, who d. s. p.; ALEXANDER, eventual heir; Margaret, m. to James Rose, of Clova; Isabel; Janet; Anne; Elizabeth; and Mary. He d. in 1744, and was s. by his only surviving son,

ALEXANDER IRVINE, of Drum and Crimond, who m. in 1751, Mary, second dau. of James Ogilvie, of Auchiries, by whom he had three sons and three daus., viz.,

ALEXANDER, his successor.
Charles, a major-general in the army, who m. Diana, dau. of Sir Alexander Gordon, Bart. of Lesmore, and had three sons, now deceased, and five daus., of whom the second, Mary, m. the Rev. Charles Wimberley. General Irvine d. in 1819.
James, m. a Roman lady, the widow of — Manley, painter, but had no issue. He d. at Rome, in 1831.
Margaret.
Isabella, m. to the Rev. Alexander Allen, and had issue; but herself, her husband, and children, are all dead.
Rebecca, m. to George Ogilvie, of Auchiries, and had issue, of whom Alexander Ogilvie, lieut.-col. 46th regiment, m. Jane, dau. of J.-A. Ogilvie, Esq. of Carolina, and d. s. p. in 1832.
  John Ogilvie, M.D., m. Jane, dau. of John Forbes, Esq. of Boyndlie, and has three sons and four daus.
  George Ogilvie, m. Sarah, dau. of — Sinclair, Esq.; himself and his wife are dead, leaving two sons and a dau. He d. a major in the East India Company's Service in India.
  William Ogilvie, capt. in the East India Company's Service, unm.
  Mary Ogilvie.
Mrs. Rebecca Ogilvie and her husband are both dead.

The Laird of Drum d. in 1761, and was s. by his eldest son, ALEXANDER IRVINE, Esq. of Drum.

Arms—Arg., three bunches of holly-leaves, three in each, two and one, vert, banded, gu.

IRWIN OF TANRAGOE.

IRWIN, JOHN, Esq. of Tanragoe, co. Sligo, Colonel of the Sligo Militia, b. 17 April, 1770. Colonel Irwin has been in the commission of the peace since 1793, was formerly a governor of the county, and served the office of high-sheriff in 1822.

Lineage.

The Irwins of Tanragoe have maintained a position of great respectability amongst the gentry of the co. of Sligo, since their settlement in Ireland, but from which branch of the Scottish Irvines or Irvings they descend, has not been ascertained. The peculiar name of Crinus, borne by members of the family, is traditionally derived from Krynin Abethnæ, the second husband of the mother of DUNCAN, King of Scotland, to whom and his descendants that monarch granted the privilege of bearing the thistle as a crest.

JOHN IRWIN, Esq., who m. a dau. of Colonel Lewis Jones, of Ardnaglass, held a command in the parliamentary army, in which his father-in-law also served, and accompanying CROMWELL into Ireland, settled in the co. of Sligo. He was father of

Alexander Irwin, Esq. of the co. of Sligo, who m. the sister of — Griffith, Esq. of Ballincar, and aunt of Colonel Griffith, father of Anne, Countess of Harrington, and of Lady Rich. By this lady Mr. Irwin had six sons, who all d. without issue excepting the eldest,

JOHN IRWIN, Esq. of Tanragoe, b. in 1680, a colonel in the army. He m. 1st, Lady Mary Dilkes, widow of — Dilkes, Esq. of the co. of Cork, but had no issue; and 2ndly, Susanna Cadden, of an ancient Cavan family, by whom he had one son and two daus., viz.,

LEWIS-FRANCIS, his heir.
Letitia, m. to Capt. Thomas Webber, of the 4th Horse, and had one son and a dau.
Margaret, who m. Robert Browne, Esq. of Fortland, co. Sligo.

Col. Irwin d. in 1752, and was s. by his son,

LEWIS-FRANCIS IRWIN, Esq. of Tanragoe, b. in 1728, who m. in 1766, Elizabeth, only sister of the late John Harrison, Esq. of Norton Place, co. Lincoln, and by her, who d. in 1815, aged 82, had issue,

JEBB OF NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

JEBB, THE REV. JOHN, M.A., Rector of Peterstow, co. Hereford, b. 21 Sept. 1805; m. 30 Sept. 1831, Frances, youngest dau. of Lieut.-Gen. Sir Richard Bourke, K.C.B., of Thornfield, co. Limerick, formerly Governor of New South Wales. Mr. Jebb s. to the representation of his family at the decease of his father, the late Judge Jebb, in 1834.

Lineage.

The Jebbs were settled, for several generations previous to the end of the 17th century, at Woodborough, in Nottinghamshire, where the names of many of the family are recorded in the parish registers from the beginning of the reign of ELIZABETH, and where their armorial ensigns were preserved (till the great Rebellion) in the principal window of the parish church. Of the literary reputation of the Jebbs, honourable mention is made by Nichols, in his "Literary Anecdotes of the Eighteenth Century;" and, in reference to ancestral distinction, we may add that the present head of the house, the Rev. John Jebb, is considered to be heir-at-law of JOHN DE WITT, the Grand Pensionary.

SAMUEL JEBB, Esq. of Mansfield, Notts, m. in 1689, Elizabeth, dau. of — Gilliver, Esq. of Banefield, co. York, by Amelia, his wife, dau. of JOHN DE WITT, uncle of the Grand Pensionary, and had issue,

I. RICHARD, his heir.
II. Samuel, M.D., the learned editor of Roger Bacon and Aristides, d. 9 March, 1772, leaving a son,
SIR RICHARD JEBB, M.D., physician to King GEO. III., and one of the most eminent practitioners of his day. He was created a BARONET in 1778, but d. unm. in 1787, when the title became EXTINCT.
III. Joshua, b. in 1699, who d. in 1799, aged 100. He was progenitor of JOSHUA JEBB, Esq. of Walton Grove, Chesterfield, who is married and has issue.
IV. Avery. V. Robert.
VI. John, D.D., Dean of Cashel, father of the learned JOHN JEBB, M.D., F.R.S., Fellow of Peter House, Cambridge.
I. Hannah, who m. — Hallifax, and had two sons, R. Hallifax, M.D., physician to the King; and Samuel Hallifax, D.D., Bishop of St. Asaph.
II. Elizabeth, who m. James Oates, and was mother of Ann Oates, who m. William Ward, Esq., and had an only child, ANN WARD, b. in 1764, wife of WILLIAM RADCLIFFE. This lady was the distinguished novelist, the authoress of "The Mysteries of Udolpho."

The eldest son,

RICHARD JEBB, Esq. of Mansfield, Notts, settled at Drogheda, in Ireland, and became a merchant there. His only son,

JOHN JEBB, Esq., alderman of Drogheda, b. in 1719, m. 1st, Priscilla Forbes, by whom he had no issue, and 2ndly, Alice Forster, by whom he had two sons and three daus., viz.,

I. RICHARD, his heir.
II. John, Bishop of Limerick, b. 27 Sept. 1775, and d. unm. 9 Dec. 1833. This eminent divine was educated at the University of Dublin, where he gave early proofs of those powers which, together with the sanctity of his life, gained him so high a place as a scholar, a divine, and a Christian. After several minor preferments, he was, in 1820, appointed Archdeacon of Emly, and in 1823, consecrated Bishop of Limerick. A celebrated speech delivered by him in the House of Lords, in the session of 1824, had considerable effect in diverting, for some years at least, the blow which was aimed at the Irish branch of the Established Church. In 1827 an attack of paralysis disabled him for the remainder of his life, from performing in person the more active duties of his station; but although deprived of the use of his right hand, he continued at intervals to edit works of distinguished merit, till his death.
I. Deborah, d. unm.
II. Elizabeth, m. to the Rev. Joseph M'Cormick, vicar of Aghaderg, co. Down.
III. Maria, m. to Rowley Heyland, Esq. of Dublin.

The eldest son,

RICHARD JEBB, Esq., graduated at the University of Dublin, and was called to the Irish bar in 1789. In 1799, he published "A Reply to a Pamphlet entitled, Arguments for and against a Union." This, his only publication, made a great sensation, and was noticed by the government of the day, who, notwithstanding he had opposed them, offered him a seat in the Imperial Parliament, which, however, he declined. In 1807, he was created a King's Counsel; in 1816, one of the three Serjeants; and in 1818, a Judge of the King's Bench in Ireland, where he sat, with justly-earned popularity, till his death, occasioned by an attack of malignant cholera, in 1834. Mr. Justice Jebb m. in 1802, Jane-Louisa, dau. of John Finlay, Esq. of Corkagh, co. Dublin, M.P. for that county during many years, and by her, who d. 8 Nov. 1823, had issue,

I. JOHN, present representative of the family.
II. Richard, of Lincoln's Inn, barrister-at-law, b. 20 Jan. 1807.
III. Robert, of Dublin, barrister-at-law, b. 12 Sept. 1808, m. in Aug. 1840, Emily-Harriet, youngest dau. of the Very Rev. Henry Horsley, A.M., Dean of Brechin, in Scotland, son of Samuel Horsley, Bishop of St. Asaph, and has issue,
  Richard-Claverhouse, b. 27 Aug. 1841.
  Frances-Emma.
IV. Thomas, in holy orders, b. 26 Dec. 1810.
V. Cornelius-De Witt, b. 29 Dec. 1816.
I. Elizabeth-Jane.

Arms—Quarterly, vert and or: in the 1st quarter, a falcon, close, ppr., armed, jessed, and belled, or; in the 4th, a lure, in pale, ppr.

JODRELL OF YEARDSLEY.

JODRELL, JOHN-WILLIAM, Esq. of Yeardsley, co. Chester, b. in 1808; s. to his estates upon the demise of his father, 5 March, 1829; entered the Grenadier Guards in 1825, and retired from them in 1831.

Lineage.

The Jodrells of Yeardsley were settled at Yeardsley, in the county of Chester, towards the middle of the reign of EDWARD III.

The first of the name on record was possessed, together with his sons, of lands in several townships within the manor of High Peak, in the co. of Derby, 14 EDWARD I., A.D. 1286. His great-grandson,

WILLIAM JAUDERELL, the immediate ancestor of the family, served as an archer under Edward the Black Prince, Earl of Chester, in the French Wars. He had his pass for England, dated from Bordeaux, 28 EDWARD III., A.D. 1355, and was possessed at his death (as appears by several authentic records) of lands in the townships of Yeardsley cum Whaley, Disley, and Kettleshulme, in the co. of Chester, which lands have continued ever since in the family. He m. in 1356, Agnes, dau. of Robert de

Bradshawe, and left issue, ROGER, Thomas,* John, Robert, and Alice. He was s. by his eldest son,

ROGER JAUDRELL, of Yeardsley, Esq., who was for many years one of the four esquires of the king's body, in the reign of RICHARD II., and for his good services had granted to him for life, 17 RICHARD II., the town of Wheston, in Leicestershire. In the 22nd of RICHARD II. his family and effects were ordered to be especially protected, himself, by special command, being sent on an expedition into Ireland. He m. in 1395, Alice, dau. and heiress of Robert de Thorneton, in the co. of York, and left, besides seven other sons and three daus., a son and heir,

GEORGE JOYDRELL, of Yeardsley, Esq., who m. Matilda, dau. of John Sutton, of Sutton, and dying about the year 1463, was s. by his son,

ROGER JOUDRELL, of Yeardsley, Esq., who m. the dau. of Nicolas Davenport, of Woodford, Esq., and was s. by his son,

NICOLAS JODRELL, of Yeardsley, Esq., who m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Worthington, Esq., but had no issue by her. He m. 2ndly, Amy, dau. of Anthony Shallcross, of Shallcross, in the co. of Derby, Esq., and had by her, besides two other sons and three daus., a son and heir,

ROGER JODRELL, of Yeardsley, Esq., who m., 16 HENRY VII., 1501, Isabel, dau. of John Sutton, of Sutton, Esq., by whom came lands called Hawkeshurst. He afterwards m. Ellen, dau. and co-heiress of Roger Knutsford, of Twemlow, Esq., by whom came the Twemlow estate, and lands in Knutsford. His eldest son and heir, (by his second wife, Ellen Knutsford,)

EDMUND JODRELL, of Yeardsley and Twemlow, Esq., was high-sheriff of the co. of Chester, 4 ELIZABETH, 1561. He m. Katharine, dau. of James Kelsal, of Bradshawe, and by her had issue five sons and seven daus. He was buried in the parish church at Taxal, in 1630, and was s. by his fourth, but eldest surviving son,

ROGER JODRELL, of Yeardsley and Twemlow, Esq., who was probably also high-sheriff of the county, for, by a document bearing date 7 CAR. I., 1631, it appears that he was fined "tenne pounds for his contempte in not attending and receiving the order of Knighthood at his Heighnes' Coronac'on, according to ye lawe in that case provided;" for which fine of "tenne pounds" a receipt was given him by his majesty's commissioners. He d. unm. in 1634, and was s. by his only surviving brother,

EDMUND JODRELL, of Yeardsley and Twemlow, Esq., who was imprisoned in 1642, together with many other gentlemen of the county, at Stockport and Nantwich, and afterwards at Stafford, on refusing (after having paid several subsidies) to advance a further contribution of 300*l.*, for the use of parliament during the civil wars, on the demand of Sir William Brereton, and others of the council of war, at Nantwich. During his imprisonment at Stockport, it is mentioned in a memorandum of those events, written by himself, and dated 1645, that "horses, arms, money, plate, saddles, bridles, furniture, and other goods," to a considerable amount, were forcibly taken, by the parliamentary troops under Colonel Bright, Captain Zankie, and others, from Yeardsley Hall; where also (as appears by the same document) were quartered "commanders, officers, and soldiers, at divers and severall tymes, to a verie great number." He afterwards obtained a letter of protection from General Fairfax, and was high-sheriff of Cheshire in 1650, during the Commonwealth. He m. in 1634, Mary, dau. of Robert Holt, of Stubley and Castleton, in the co. of Lancaster, Esq., and dying in 1657, was s. by his only son,

EDMUND JODRELL, of Yeardsley and Twemlow, Esq., high-sheriff of Cheshire in 1670. He m. in 1661, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Frauncys Burdett, of Foremark, in the co. of Derby, Bart., and had issue by her,

I. EDMUND, his heir.
II. John, capt. in Col. Beaumont's regiment of foot, 1688, d. in Flanders, in 1692.
III. Burdett, m. Ruth, dau. of Peter Egerton, of Shawe, co. Lancaster, Esq.
IV. William, m. 1st, Carolina, dau. of Charles Cutts, Esq.; and 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir (with her elder sister, Dorothy, wife of Richard Walmesley, Esq. of Coldcoates Hall, co. Lancaster, ancestor, by her, of the late RICHARD HUGHES LLOYD, Esq. of Plymog, Gwerclas, and Bashall, — see LLOYD OF PLYMOG) of John Ferrers, of Bashall, co. York, Esq.
V. Thomas, m. Dorothy, dau. of William Beech, of Beech, in Staffordshire.
I. Mary, m. to John Baskervyle, of Old Withington, co. Chester, Esq., (see p. 472.)
II. Elizabeth; and III. Dorothy, both d. unm.

EDMUND JODRELL, of Yeardsley and Twemlow, Esq., eldest son and heir, m. in 1688, 4 JAC. II., Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Molyneux, of Teversal, in the co. of Nottingham, Bart., and left issue,

I. FRANCIS, his successor.
II. John, capt. in Gen. Sabin's royal regt. of Welsh Fusileers, m. Penelope, dau. of Robert Pye, Esq. of Farringdon, in Berkshire, and d. at Fort William, in 1724.
III. Robert, lieut. in Major-Gen. Evans's regt. of Dragoons, d. in the Highlands of Scotland.
IV. Molyneux, d. young.

FRANCIS JODRELL, of Yeardsley and Twemlow, Esq., eldest son and heir, high-sheriff of Cheshire in 1715, m. in 1713, Hannah, only dau. and heiress of John Ashton, Esq., who brought him lands in the counties of Lancaster and York, and by whom he had issue two sons and nine daus., most of whom d. young. He afterwards m. Mary, one of the daus. and co-heiresses of Edward Gregge, Esq. of Hopsford, in Cheshire, but had no issue by her. His eldest and only remaining son, by his first wife,

FRANCIS JODRELL, Esq., m. Jane, dau. and co-heiress of Thomas Butterworth, Esq., and predeceasing his father, about 1750, left issue,

I. FRANCES, of whom presently.
II. Elizabeth, who inherited the Twemlow estate, and m. in 1778, Egerton Leigh, Esq. of High Leigh, co. Chester, (see that name.)

FRANCES JODRELL, eldest dau. and heiress of the Yeardsley estate, m. in 1775, John Bower, of Manchester, Esq., who had previously inherited considerable property in that town at the death of his father. Mr. Bower, upon his marriage, assumed, by sign-manual, in compliance with the testamentary injunction of his wife's grandfather, the surname and arms of JODRELL. He afterwards bought Henbury,* in the county of Chester, where he settled in 1779, having previously pulled down a large portion of the old hall at Yeardsley, with the intention of rebuilding it, which design was abandoned, on the purchase of Henbury. On the demise of his younger brother, Foster Bower, Esq., barrister-at-law, and recorder of Chester, he succeeded to the Taxal estate, (also in the co. of Chester, and adjoining Yeardsley,) where Mr. Foster Bower had expended large sums in planting. Mr. Bower-Jodrell had issue, by his wife, Frances, three sons and two daus., viz.,

I. FRANCIS, his successor.
II. Thomas-Marsden, captain in the 35th regt. of foot, who fell at Rosetta, in Egypt, while acting as aide-de-camp to Gen. Oswald. A monument was erected to his memory at Oxford, by Dr. Jackson, Dean of Christ Church, in 1809.
III. Edmund-Henry, lately Colonel Commanding the second battalion of Grenadier-guards, served thirty-four years in that regiment; was on foreign service in Sicily, in 1806 and 1807; in the Peninsula, in 1810, 1811, and 1812; was present at the battle of Barrosa; at the passage of the Bidassoa, the Nive, and the Nivelle; the actions in front of Bidart; the passage of the Adour; and at Bayonne.
I. Harriet, m. to Shakspeare Phillips, Esq.
II. Maria, m. to John Stratton, Esq.

Mr. Bowen-Jodrell d. in 1796, and was s. by his eldest son,

FRANCIS JODRELL, of Yeardsley and Henbury, Esq., who was high-sheriff of Cheshire in 1813. He m. in 1807, Maria, dau. of Sir William Lemon, of Carclew, in the co. of Cornwall, Bart., (by Jane, dau. of James Buller, of Morval, Esq., by his second wife, Lady Jane Bathurst, dau. of Allen, first Earl Bathurst,) and had issue,

I. JOHN-WILLIAM, present proprietor.
II. Foster-Bower, b. in 1810, d. at Oxford, in Nov. 1830.
III. Francis-Charles, b. in 1812, lately captain in the Grenadier-guards.

Mr. Jodrell d. 5 March, 1829, and was s. by his eldest son, JOHN-WILLIAM JODRELL, Esq., present representative of the family.

EDWARD, Barrister-at-Law.
James, M.D., m. Maria-Mary Payne, dau. of Joseph Webster, Esq. of Penns, and has one dau, Maria-Mary.

Lineage.

JOHN JOHNSTONE, of Mylnefield, had, with his ancestors, the Johnstones of Newby, enjoyed the barony of Mylnefield, which he held, probably, from the Baron Johnstone, under whose family he served in the military expeditions to which they were frequently called out in those hostile times. King JAMES was hardly seated on the throne of England, when the Laird of Mylnefield felt the rod of oppression, which was then heavily laid upon the necks of the vassals to the Scots lords. He was called upon to produce the writings by which he held his lands: he gave the same answer which the Scots barons had formerly given to Robert Bruce, when the king, for better reasons, made the same demand. John of Mylnefield answered, he held them by his sword; but that title having now lost its usual value and importance, he was compelled to surrender his lands to the Lord Johnstone, his chief and superior. In 1625, John Johnstone purchased of John Galloway, in Annan, the lands of Galabank. His son and successor,

GEORGE JOHNSTONE, m. Agnes Graham, of Dumfries, and had a very considerable sum of money settled upon him, which shews that John of Mylnefield was, for the times, a man of opulence. His only son,

JOHN JOHNSTONE, of Galabank, m. in 1670, Janet, dau. of Thomas Kirkpatrick, of Auldgirth, and had issue,

JOHN, of Galabank, whose only dau. and heiress, Janet, m. Beatty, of Millies.

JOLLIFFE OF AMMERDOWN PARK.

JOLLIFFE, JOHN-TWYFORD, Esq. of Ammerdown Park, co. Somerset, s. his father in 1824.

Lineage.

The family of Jolliffe, originally Jolli, is of considerable antiquity in the counties of Stafford and Worcester, and the pedigree, in possession of the senior members, comprises intermarriages with many eminent and noble houses. One branch, established in the North, enjoyed, it appears, from authentic records, power and affluence, even before the institution in Europe of hereditary honours.

JOHN JOLLIFFE, Esq., (third son of Benjamin Jolliffe, Esq. of Cofton Hall, co. Worcester, and grandson of Thomas Jolley, or Jolliffe, Esq. of Cofton, by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Richard Skinner, Esq.,) represented the borough of Petersfield in parliament, anno 1763. He m. 1st, Katherine, dau. of Robert Mitchell, Esq. of Petersfield, but had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. and heiress of Samuel Holden, Esq. of London, by whom he had,

WILLIAM, M.P., who m. Eleanor, dau. and heiress of Sir Richard Hylton, Bart. (formerly Musgrave) of Hayton Castle, in Cumberland, and was s. by his eldest son,

Lineage.

This Family, which has been uninterruptedly seated at Llwynon from a very remote period, and has allied itself with many of the most eminent Houses in the Principality, deduces male descent from Tudor Trevor, Lord of Hereford, Founder of the Tribe of the Marches; Progenitor of the Mostyns of Mostyn, Barts.; Mostyns of Talacre, Barts.; Mostyn, Lord Vaux; Trevors of Brynkynallt; Trevors of Trevallyn; Pennants of Downing; Pennant, Lord Penrhyn; Edwardes's of Shrewsbury, Barts., and other distinguished families.

Ynyr ap Cadforch, Lord of both Maelors, Oswestry, and Whittington in Powys, one of the Barons of that Kingdom, m. Rhiengar, dau. and sole heir of Lluddoca ap Caradoc Vreichfras, Lord of Hereford, in South Wales, and was by her father of a son,

Tudor Trevor, (so called, because born or nursed at Trevor,) Lord of Hereford, Whittington, and both Maelors, and Founder of the Tribe of the Marches—an appellation derived from the numerous families seated in the marches of England and Wales, descended from him. Tudor Trevor's chief seat was Whittington Castle, of which he is said to have been the founder, and the Welsh heralds assign to him as ensigns, "Parted, per bend, sinister, ermine and ermines, over all a Lion, rampant, or," which, as chief arms, or quartered, have been borne by all his descendants. The Lord of Hereford and Whittington m. Angharad, dau. of Howell Dha, King of South Wales, A.D. 907, the celebrated Lawgiver of Cambria, and had issue,

JONES OF YSTRAD.

JONES, MARY-ANNE, of Ystrad, co. Carmarthen, s. to the representation of the family upon the decease of her brother, the late John Jones, Esq., M.P.

Lineage.

The Jones's of Llansadwrn, from whom the Jones's of Ystrad descend, are a younger branch of the very ancient and once highly-distinguished knightly family of JONES OF ABERMARLES, co. Carmarthen. The ancestor of the present line settled at Llansadwrn, near Abermarles, about the year 1556, and possessed there an extensive landed property, including the village and the tithes. The religious and political opinions of the family subsequently caused the forfeiture of these estates; but the REV. THOMAS JONES was allowed the quiet possession of Twyellowyngw and other lands in the year 1640. Nearly half-a-century later, WALTER and RANDOLPH JONES, Esqrs. were still struggling for the same property, which was granted, in 1689, through the influence of their kinsman, Thomas Powell, Esq., afterwards the celebrated Judge Powell.

MORRIS JONES, a younger son of Walter, m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Rees, Esq. of Capeldewy, co. Carmarthen, descended from an ancient family, and had, with a dau. Mary, m. to her first cousin, Thomas Davies, Esq. of Blyne, co. Carmarthen, an only son,

THOMAS JONES, Esq. of Jobswall, an officer in the Royal navy, who m. his first cousin, Anne, dau. of Thomas Davies, Esq. of Blyne, and d. 17 March, 1767, aged sixty-three, having had issue three sons and a dau., viz., Morris, drowned whilst bathing, John, and THOMAS, and Anne. The only surviving son,

THOMAS JONES, Esq. of Ystrad and Capeldewy, m. in 1773-4, Anna-Maria. eldest dau. and co-heiress of John Jones, Esq. of Crynfryn, co. Cardigan, second son of John Jones, Esq. of Tyglyn, in the same county, descended from Rees Chwith, Esquire of the Body to EDWARD I., and the ancient Lords of Cardigan, and by her (who m. 2ndly, John-Wallis Colthurst, Esq. of the co. of Cork) had issue two sons and a dau.,

THOMAS, his heir.
JOHN, successor to his brother.
MARY-ANNE, present representative of the family.

Mr. Jones d. 20 Sept. 1790, and was s. by his elder son,

KEIGWIN OF MOUSEHOLE.

KEIGWIN, THE REV. JAMES-PHILIP, M.A., Fellow of Wadham College, Oxford, being of the Founder's kindred, b. 31 Dec. 1811; s. his father, as representative of his family, in July, 1829.

Lineage.

The family of KEIGWIN, though probably of Welsh origin, is of considerable antiquity in Cornwall; and their arms are evidently derived from the name, which, in the Cornish language, signifies "White Dog."* The first person recorded in the Herald's College† was JENKIN KEIGWIN, who was settled at Mousehole, near Penzance, in the reign of Queen ELIZABETH, and whose fate is connected with one of the most memorable events in the history of Cornwall—the burning, in 1595, by some Spanish galleys, of the towns of Mousehole, Newlyn, and Penzance.

The Spaniards having set fire to the church of Paul, the original parish register was destroyed, and the circumstance is thus noticed in the present register: "Register of St. Pawle in the countie of Cornwall from the 23 daye Julie the yeare of our gracious Lord God 1595 on the which daie, soon after the sun was risen, the church, tower, bells, and all other things pertaining to the same, together with the houses and goods was burned and spoiled by the Spaniards in the saide parish being Wensdaie the daie aforesaide in the 37th yeare of the raigne of our Soveraine Ladye Elizabeth."

By one of the shots fired on that occasion, Jenkin Keigwin lost his life, and his burial at Paul is thus recorded in the parish register: "1595 Jenkin Keigwin of Mousehole, being killed by the Spaniards was buried the 24th of Julie."

Though the property of the Keigwins at Mousehole and in its immediate neighbourhood has long since passed into other hands, the extensive influence which they once possessed there, is still remembered by the inhabitants; and in an interesting tale, written by Mr. Carne, of which that village is the scene, their former importance is very pleas-

* "Kei," a dog, "gwyn," white.

† The pedigrees of Keigwin, in the College of Arms, from which the above account has been taken, are registered in the books marked, "Howard;" and "Norfolk, vol. v." Though Jenkin Keigwin is the first person mentioned in those pedigrees, it is said, in Borlase's MSS., in the possession of the late Sir John St. Aubyn, Bart., that, in 1410, John Polkinghorne, of Cornwall, m. Margaret, dau. of Carne Keigwin. A John Kegewyn, priest, was vicar of Newbottle, in Northamptonshire, in Feb. 1432.

ingly described: "Although its inhabitants were now, with regard to the possessions of this world, in general, on a happy footing of equality, possessing a bare competence, free alike from riches and penury, this had not always been the case. The roomy and massive dwelling of the last survivor of an old family, the only grandee of the place, had not very remotely become the chief inn in the village; yet the faded portraits on some of the walls, the gloomy air of many of the spacious apartments, and, above all, the decaying walls, on parts of which ivy had grown, of the ancient and now neglected garden, proved that the possessor had been a man of opulence, and, as was still recollected, of influence in the village, almost equal to that of a feudal chieftain."

JENKIN KEIGWIN, who was slain in 1595, left issue, by Thomasine, his wife, who was buried with her husband, 1 Oct. 1616, two sons, RICHARD and Martin, and one dau., Elizabeth, wife of Nicholas Fleming, Esq., and mother of Dr. John Fleming, Warden of Wadham College, Oxford. The elder son,

RICHARD KEIGWIN, of Mousehole, b. in 1562, d. 21 April, 1636, and by his wife, Elizabeth, who was buried at Paul, 29 Nov. 1637, had issue,

I. JOHN, of whom presently.

II. Martin, b. in 1595, m. 1st, in 1626, Frances Scawen, who d. in 1634, leaving issue; and 2ndly, a dau. of — Penrose, by whom he had, besides other children, John Keigwin, well known as "the industrious preserver of the Cornish language." His translations of two ancient Cornish poems into English, have been published, and he is described by the learned Lhuyd, as being, "without any comparison, the most skilful judge of our age in the Cornish language." Mr. Keigwin resided at Mousehole, and was described of "the lower house," probably to distinguish him from his cousin, John Keigwin, the representative of the family. He was b. in 1641, m. in 1666, Mary Penrose, and left issue.

III. Richard, of Penzance, merchant, b. in June, 1605, m. in Feb. 1636, Margery, dau. and eventually co-heir of Nicholas Godolphin, Esq. of Trewarveneth, and dying in Nov. 1647, left by her, who remarried Bryan Rogers,

Mr. Kelham is a magistrate of the county. He assumed his present surname, in lieu of his patronymic, LANGDALE, by Royal licence, in 1812, in pursuance of the will of his maternal uncle, Robert Kelham, Esq.

Lineage.

The family of Kelham is of considerable antiquity in the counties of Nottingham and Lincoln. RICHARD KELHAM, who resided at Allington, in the latter county, possessed lands there, in 1428; and ROBERT KELHAM purchased property at Great Gonerby, in 1500, which is still in the possession of the present representative, ROBERT-KELHAM KELHAM, Esq. The Langdales, Mr. Kelham's paternal ancestors, are traditionally descended from a younger branch of the LANGDALES of Houghton, co. York, from whom also derived the famed Cavalier Commander, Sir Marmaduke Langdale, afterwards created BARON LANGDALE of Holme, in 1658. (See BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.)

GODFREY LANGDALE, Esq. of Longthorp, co. Northampton, b. in 1674, son of George Langdale, Esq., was always addressed as "cousin" by Marmaduke, third Lord Langdale. He m. Margaret, dau. of George Sayer, Esq. of Huntingdon, and had, with other issue, a son,

KELSO OF KELSOLAND.

KELSO, WILLIAM, Esq. of Dankeith, co. Ayr, J.P., Lieut.-Col. E.I.C.S., s. his father 22 April, 1836.

Lineage.

HUGO DE KELSO, the first of the name mentioned in the public records of Scotland, appears in the Ragman Roll, anno 1296, and is called by the continuator of Nisbet, "ancestor of the Kelsos of Kelsoland." From him derived,

JOHN KELSO, of Kelsoland, father, by his wife, a dau of William Stewart, of Fynock, second son of William Stewart, of Bute, grandson of King ROBERT II., of

THOMAS KELSO, of Kelsoland, designed in a charter from JAMES V., in 1521, "filius et hæres Joannis de Kelso de Kelsoland." His son and successor,

THOMAS KELSO, of Kelsoland, infeft, in 1536, m. a dau. of Frazer, of Knock, and left a dau., Giles, the wife of Hugh Crawfurd, of Cloverhill, and a son,

ARCHIBALD KELSO, of Kelsoland, infeft heir to his father, 10 Nov. 1576, who m. Margaret, dau. of James Stewart, of Ardgowan and Blackhall, by Janet, his wife, dau. of George Maxwell, of Newark, and had issue,

DAVID, his heir.
William, whose son,
ROBERT, repurchased Kelsoland, in 1632, and continued the line of the family.
Giles, m. to John Stewart, of Ascog, in Bute, and had a son, Ninian Stewart, of Ascog, who m. Janet, dau. of Sir Bryce Blair, of that ilk, and a dau., the wife of Fullarton, of Greenhall.

The elder son,

DAVID KELSO, of Kelsoland, was returned heir to his father, 2 Nov. 1601. He m. his cousin, Elizabeth, dau. of James Stewart, tutor of Blackhall, second son of James Stewart, of Ardgowan, and was s. by his son,

ARCHIBALD KELSO, of Kelsoland, who m. Sarah, dau. of Matthew Brisbane, of Rossland, but by her (who m. 2ndly, Sir William Mure, of Rowallan) having no issue, he was s. by his brother,

ROBERT KELSO, of Kelsoland, served heir in 1613. This gentleman, having no children, sold his lands, in 1624, to Patrick Schaw, (second son of John Schaw, of Greenock,) from whose son, Hugh Schaw, however, they were purchased back, in 1632, by the heir male of the Kelso family, (the grandson of Archibald Kelso, of Kelsoland, in 1576,)

ROBERT KELSO, of Halrig, who then became "of Kelsoland." He m. Jean, dau. of John Osborn, Provost of Ayr, and had JOHN and William. The elder,

JOHN KELSO, of Kelsoland, disposed of the old family estates, in 1671, to James Brisbane, of Bishopton, who altered the name of Brisbane. Mr. Kelso, who enjoyed, until his demise, the office of collector and sole surveyor of the Customs of Port Glasgow, m. Mary, dau. of the Rev. Archibald Hamilton, minister of Wigton, brother of James, first Viscount Claneboye, and son of the Rev. Hans Hamilton, vicar of Dunlop, and had,

This gentleman, who was formerly of Roath Castle, in Glamorganshire, sold that estate, in 1830, to John-M. Richards, Esq., and purchased his present residence in 1832.

Lineage.

JOHN KEMPE, a younger son of Thomas and Beatrice Kempe, of Olanteigh, who was born in 1380, and educated at Merton College, Oxford, obtained distinction in the time of HENRY V., by whom he was appointed Chief Justiciary of Normandy, and sent ambassador to treat with Ferdinand of Arragon for a league of perpetual amity, and for the marriage of the daughter of that prince with the king. He was afterwards nominated successively, within five years, to the sees of Rochester, Chichester, London, and York; in 1439, created Cardinal, by the title of St. Balbinia, and eventually became Archbishop of Canterbury, and twice Chancellor of England.

One branch of the Kempes of Olanteigh, an estate which remained in their possession until 1607, is represented by the present THOMAS READ KEMPE, Esq. of Kempe Town, near Brighton; and from another, settled at Lavethan, in the parish of Blisland, Cornwall, descends the present WILLIAM KEMPE, Esq. of Teign Villa.

RICHARD KEMPE, of Lavethan, in 1500, (grandson of Edmund Kempe, citizen of London, third son of Sir Thomas Kempe, Knt. of Olanteigh,) m. Grace, fifth dau. of John Boscawen, Esq. of Tregothnan, and left a son,

KENNEDY OF BENNANE & FINNARTS.

KENNEDY, HEW-FERGUSSONE, Esq. of Bennane and Finnarts, both in the county of Ayr, s. to the estates, and representation of the family, upon the demise of his father.

Lineage.

The accounts which are afforded of the family of De Carrick, or Kennedy, and its origin, are various and contradictory. It has been affirmed by some, that it sprung from the Irish house of Thomond, and by others, with even less show of truth, that the first of the name who appeared in the shire of Ayr was a second son of MacLean of the Isles; the only reason assigned being, that, together with the MacLeans, the Kennedys carry the three crosslets in their armorial bearings.

Nisbet, author of the excellent work on Heraldry, whose authority must be considered good, is of opinion that the Kennedys sprung from the family of the old Earls of Carrick, before the Macdonalls or the Bruces had that title. In confirmation of this, Sir David Lindsay, of the Mount, Lyon King-at-Arms in the reign of JAMES V., has given, in his Blazons, in 1549, the arms of the "Erle of Carrik of ald" thus—"Argent, a cheveron, gules." Those borne by the name of Kennedy are the very same, with the addition of three crosslets.

The best Scottish historian, Buchanan, has told us, in his Latin work, that the district of Galloway, which then included Carrick, was made over, for their services in war, to the Irish Scots, in 750. Much about the same time, while Mallachy had the sovereignty of Ireland, we read that Kennedy, father of Brian Boru, was Prince of Connaught. In 850, Kennethe was Thane of Carrick; and to this day the name Kennedy is pronounced by the country people in Carrick, "Kennetie."

The name, we thus find, has been known in Ireland and in Scotland at a very remote period; and it matters not much from whom the Kennedys have sprung—whether from Thomond, MacLean, Kilconath, the Prince of Connaught, or from Kennethe, Thane of Carrick. It is, at all events, certain that they were the ancient and chief inhabitants of the country where, although decreased in number, they still continue to have the most extensive possessions.

The first of the family mentioned in any charter, Nisbet informs us, is DUNCAN DE CARRICK, and from the document it appears that he lived in the reign of MALCOLM IV., which began about 1150. The grandson of Duncan, ROLAND, of Carrick, had a grant of the country of Carrick, from Neil, Earl of Carrick, and was declared Chief of his name. This grant was confirmed by ALEXANDER III.

The sixth in lineal descent from this Roland, was SIR JOHN KENNEDY, of Denure. He m. the heiress of Sir Neil Montgomerie, of Cassilis, and had two sons, SIR GILBERT, who succeeded him, and SIR HEW, of Ardstinchar, whom the King of France distinguished for his gallant conduct at the battles of Baugè and Verneuil. Sir Hew d. unm. Sir Gilbert, the elder son, was twice married: by his first wife, Marion, dau. of Sir James Sandilands, of Calder, he had two sons, Gilbert, who d. in the French service, without issue; and THOMAS, of Bargany, who s. also to the estates and honours of his uncle, Sir Hew, of Ardstinchar. We find the arms of Kennedy of Bargany emblazoned, in 1549, by Sir David Lindsay, as quartered with the Royal arms of France. From Nisbet, it appears that Sir Gilbert again had, by his second marriage, one son, James, who was preferred to his father's inheritance in consequence of his matching with the Royal Family. By the Princess Mary, dau. of ROBERT III., and widow of the Earl of Angus, he had issue, and his eldest son was created Lord Kennedy.

The third in descent from Thomas of Bargany, was,

ALEXANDER KENNEDY. He m. Katherine, sister to David, Earl of Cassilis, and had two sons, SIR THOMAS, who succeeded him; and Gilbert, of Kirkhill.

SIR THOMAS KENNEDY, of Bargany, m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Hew Campbell, of Loudon, sheriff of Ayr, and had two sons, THOMAS, his heir; and HEW, who was afterwards of Bennane. The elder son,

THOMAS KENNEDY, m. Agnes, sister to the Earl of Eglintoun, but his issue failed after the death of Gilbert, his son, who was slain in a feud with the Earl of Cassilis, whose family, we read, "had assumed the pre-eminence in consequence of their greater alliance with the Royal Family."

HEW KENNEDY, the second son of Sir Thomas, m. in 1560, Katherine, heiress of David Kennedy, of Bennane,* and Marion Kennedy, of Dalquhorniel, "ane air portionar of Carltoune," and had issue, HEW, his heir, and Thomas. The elder son,

HEW KENNEDY, of Bennane and Bargany, m. Janet, dau. of Matho' Ross, of Gaston and Henning, and had issue,

HEW KENNEDY, of Bennane, who m. Margaret, dau. of James Cathcart, of Genoch, and was father of,

HEW KENNEDY, of Bennane, who m. Isabel Wardlaw, of the family of Pitrevie, in Fife, and had a son and heir,

HEW KENNEDY, of Bennane, who m. Anna, dau. of the Rev. William Caldwell, of an ancient family in Renfrewshire, now extinct, and had issue, Hew, who d. young, and

HAMILTON KENNEDY, of Bennane, who m. Margaret, dau. of the Rev. Thomas Fergusson, of the Castle Hill family, and was father of

HEW KENNEDY, of Bennane, who m. his cousin-german, Agnes, dau. of David Fergussone, of Finnarts, and had issue,

DAVID KENNEDY, of Bennane, who m. his cousin-german, Mary, dau. of John Forsythe, of Belliston, co. Antrim, and had issue, a son and successor,

HEW-FERGUSSONE KENNEDY, now of Bennane and Finnarts, twenty-third in descent from Duncan de Carrick.

Arms—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, KENNEDY, arg., a chev., gu., between three crosslets, fitchée, sa.; 2nd and 3rd, FRANCE, az., three fleurs-de-lis, or. The shield supported on the dexter side by a female, and on the sinister by a wyvern.
Crest—A fleur-de-lis, or, issuing out of two oak leaves, ppr.
Motto—Fvimvs.
Seat—Finnants, Ayrshire.

* The estate of Bennane had descended from father to son through eight generations, from Gilbert Kennedy (who had a charter of several lands, with the office of Mair-of-fee and Sergeandry of Carrick, from the BRUCE,) to the above David, who, together with his father, Johne Kennedy, of Bennane, was killed at the battle of Pinkie, fought in Sept. 1547.

KENNEDY OF KNOCKNALLING.

KINGDON OF LAUNCELLS.

KINGDON, GEORGE-BOUGHTON, Esq. of Launcells, co. Cornwall, and Compton Hartley, co. Devon, m. 29 June, 1837, Christiana, dau. of the late Rev. Wiliam-Holland Coham, of Coham, Dunsland, and Upcott Avenell, all in co. Devon. Mr. Kingdon is one of the gentlemen of her Majesty's most honourable Privy Chamber, a magistrate for Cornwall and Devon, and a Deputy-Lieutenant of the former.

Lineage.

The Kingdons are an old and respectable family of the counties of Cornwall and Devon. Their most ancient residence, of which there is now any authentic account, was at TREHUNSEY, in the parish of Quithiock, Cornwall, where they flourished in the 12th, 13th, 14th, and 15th centuries. In the parish church of Quithiock is a cross aisle, on the southern side, belonging to the ancient mansion and manor of Trehunsey, with the family vault underneath, near which stands an antique marble monument, on which are the brass effigies of ROGER KINGDON, (who d. A.D. 1462) Joanna, his wife, and fifteen children.

The arms of Kingdon—Arg., a chev., sa., between three magpies, ppr., appear on one of the shields.

The younger sons of this numerous family dispersed and branched forth into several parishes in the counties of Cornwall and Devon.

The eldest branch of the Kingdon family became extinct at Trehunsey, about the middle of the sixteenth century, when the two co-heiresses married Chiverton and Vivian; the manor of Trehunsey, with divers lands, merged in the Chivertons, with whom it remained until the year 1658, when Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Richard Chiverton, conveyed it in marriage to Sir John Coryton, Bart., from whom it descended (through a female heir) to John-Tillie Coryton, Esq. of Pentillie Castle. The mansion of Trehunsey is now a mere farm-house.

ROGER KINGDON, (son of Roger Kingdon, Esq., descended from one of the sons of the Trehunsey family,) settled at Holsworthy, co. Devon, about the year 1730, and engaged in commerce. He m. in 1733, Judith, dau. of John Cory, Esq., and had issue,

I. JOHN, in holy orders, an active magistrate for the counties of Cornwall and Devon, and Patron of the advowsons of the parishes of Bridgerule, Pyworthy, and Holsworthy, in the west of Devon, and of Whitstone and Marhamchurch, in the north of Cornwall. Georgina-Emily. Louisa-Harriott.

Mr. Kingscote is a magistrate for the counties of Gloucester and Wilts, and s. his uncle, the late Colonel Robert Kingscote, in 1840.

Lineage.

"It may be said," says Smythe, of Nibley, "of this family, as doubtless of noe other in the county of Gloucester, nor, I think of many others in this kingdome, that the present Mr. Kingscote, and his lineal ancestors have continued in this manor nowe about 500 yeares, never attainted, nor dwellinge out of it elsewhere, nor hath the tide of his estate higher or lower flowed or ebbed, in better or worse condition; but like a fixed star in his firmament to have remained without motion in this his little orbe, without any remarkable change; and as to the name of the first ancestor, that is not perished, ANSGERUS; it importeth that it is hereditary Saxon." This

ANSGERUS, living in 985, was grandfather of

NIGELL FITZ-ARTHUR, who m. Adeva, dau. of Robert Fitz-Hardinge, grandson of SUENO, the third King of Denmark, by Eva, niece of WILLIAM the Conqueror. With this lady he received as dower the manor of Kingscote, (called in Domesday Book, Chingescote,) and he had, by her, two sons,

ADAM, his heir.
Robert, living in 1241, who had issue,
NIGELL, eventually inheritor of Kingscote.
RICHARD, heir to his brother.

* This gentleman m. in 1743, Mary, dau. of the Rev. John Herring, of Beckleigh, cousin to his Grace, Thomas Herring, Archbishop of Canterbury. "Domus hujus non pauci
Arma gestarunt nec inglorii,
Hoc PICTONUM et AGINCORTH arva,
Hic idem Mauritius Aurasinis
Princeps testati sunt;
Omnes ad unum
Contra quamcumque Tyrannidis speciem
Tam in sacris, quam in civilibus
Strenuè et semper certaverunt."

* In the same church a tombstone records the death of TROYLUS KINGSCOTE, "who did service as a commander for the Prince of Orange forty years, and being eighty years old, ended this life upon the 10th of December, 1656."

3. ELIZABETH, successor to CHRISTOPHER.

Stephen Knight's son,

RICHARD KNIGHT, Esq. of Chawton, m. Elizabeth, dau. of J. Fielder, Esq. of Barrow Court, in Berks, and was s. at his decease, in 1642, by his son,

SIR RICHARD KNIGHT, Knt., who m. Priscilla, only dau. of Sir Robert Reynolds, of Elvetham, in Hants, but dying s. p. in 1679, he devised his estates to his kinsman,

RICHARD MARTIN, Esq. This gentleman, upon inheriting, assumed the surname of KNIGHT. He d. unm. in 1687, and was s. by his brother,

CHRISTOPHER MARTIN, Esq., who likewise took the name of KNIGHT. He also d. unm. in 1702, and bequeathed his estates to his sister,

ELIZABETH KNIGHT. This lady m. 1st, William Woodward, Esq., son of Edward Woodward, Esq. of Fosters, in Surrey, by Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Christopher Lewkenor, and his wife, Mary May. She m. 2ndly, Bulstrode Peachey, Esq., uncle of the first Lord Selsey, but dying s. p. in 1737, devised her estates in tail male to, first, THOMAS MAY, of Godmersham; second, to William Lloyd, of Newbury; and third, to John Hinton, (descended from the Martins,) to whom she likewise bequeathed the next presentation to her Rectory of Chawton, with remainder over to her own right heirs, Edward Hinton, of Sheering, being, at the time of her decease, her heir at law. Her relative and successor,

THOMAS BROADNAX, Esq. of Godmersham in the 15th GEORGE I., pursuant to the will of Sir Thomas May, Knt., and under the authority of an act of parliament, had relinquished his patronymic, and assumed the surname of MAY. In 1729, this gentleman kept his shrievalty for the county of Kent, and rebuilt, three years after, the mansion of Godmersham. In 1738, Mr. May again changed his name to that of KNIGHT, in comformity with the testamentary injunction of Mrs. Elizabeth Knight, widow of Bulstrode Peachey Knight, Esq. He m. in 1729, Jane, eldest dau. and co-heir of William Monk, Esq. of Buckingham, in Sussex, (by Hannah, dau. and co-heir of Stephen Stringer. We need only name "Sense and Sensibility," "Pride and Prejudice," and "Emma." Miss Austen's style was her own—domestic, interesting, and original.

his father in 1808, is a magistrate for the counties of Nottingham and York, and a Deputy-Lieutenant and M.P. for the former. In the years 1810 and 1811, he travelled in Spain, Sicily, Greece, the Holy Land, and Egypt; and in 1815, published a volume of poems. In 1826, he appeared again in a literary capacity, as the author of a pamphlet on the Catholic Question; and in 1837, he produced "An Architectural Tour in Normandy."

Lineage.

This family, originally of Hampshire, was settled in the North by

Sir Ralph Knight, (son of William Knight, Esq., by Alice Worthington, his wife,) who served with distinction in the forces of the parliament, became Aide-de-Camp to General Monk, and received the honour of knighthood at the Restoration. Having m. a lady of Yorkshire, he purchased, about 1650, from Thomas Burton, the estate of Langold, in that county, as a residence for her, near her relations, during his absence on military duty; and he subsequently obtained other estates in the same and in the adjoining county. Sir Ralph m. 1st, 23 June, 1646, Faith, dau. of the Rev. William Dickinson, vicar of Rotherham, of a family seated in the parish of Ecclesfield; and 2ndly, the widow of John Rolleston, Esq. of Sokeholme. By the former, who d. 18 April, 1671, aged 54, he had issue. Sir Ralph left at his decease, 21 April, 1691, a son,

Isaac Knight, Esq. of Langold, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Robinson, of Denston, in Suffolk, and dying 13 Sept. 1721, aged 68, was s. by his only son,

SNEYD-KYNNERSLEY OF LOXLEY PARK.

KYNNERSLEY-SNEYD, THOMAS, Esq. of Loxley Park, co. Stafford, b. 6 May, 1774, m. and has issue. This gentleman, whose patronymic is SNEYD, assumed, in 1815, by sign-manual, in compliance with the testamentary injunction of his uncle, Clement Kynnersley, Esq., the additional surname and arms of that family, when he s. to the Kynnersley estates.

Lineage.

Acording to an old pedigree, "the family of the Kynnersleys is very ancient, being seated long before the Conquest in com. Hereford, in a castle soe called at present. In Doomesday Booke it is recorded, that when the Conqueror was possessed of his newe kingdome of England, hee sent his Comiss^rs throughout y^e remote parts thereof, to know howe every man held his lands. In which tyme there was an ould gentleman that lived and was owner of Kynnardsley Castle, in com. Hereford: by name John de Kynnardsley, and by title a knight, (if any knights were before the Conquest.) This ould gentleman was blind, he had then liveing with him twelve sonnes, whom with himself he armed, and stood in his castle gate, his halberd in his hand, attending the coming of sheriffs and other comiss^rs from y^e king, who being arrived, demanded of him by what tenure he held his castle and lands; y^e old kn^t replyed by his armes, shewing to them his halberd."

HUGO DE KYNNARDSLEYE is mentioned in several charters, in the time of HENRY III., and was seised of the manor of Newland and other estates in the cos. of Gloucester and Hereford. This Hugh, a soldier of the Cross, accompanied Prince Edward to the Holy Land, and received the honour of knighthood, upon which occasion he added the Jerusalem crosses to his arms, which were before "Az., a lion rampant, arg."

JOHN DE KYNNARDSLEY, in the latter part of the reign of EDWARD II. or the beginning of that of EDWARD III., m. Johanna, dau. and heiress of Thomas de Ferrers, of Loxley, co. Stafford, a younger branch of the family of Ferrars, Earls of Derby, and is written Dominus de Lockesleye. He had a son,

JOHN DE KYNNARDSLEY, of Lockesleye, who m. Joan, dau. and heiress of Sir Robert Dethicke, Knt., and dying 23 EDWARD III., was s. by his son,

WILLIAM DE KYNNARDSLEY, of Lockesleye, who m. Elizabeth, sister and heiress of Robert Salway, of Cannock, and had, with other issue,

ROBERT DE KYNNARDSLEY, of Lockesleye, who m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Gyfford, of Chillington, Knt., and had a son, JOHN, his successor. He m. 2ndly, Joane, relict of Sir Thomas Tamhorne, by whom he had a son, Henry, of Brocton, co. Derby, and 3rdly, Isabel, dau. of John Hynckley, of Aston. He d. 37 HENRY VI., and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN DE KYNNARDSLEY, of Lockesley, who m. Margaret, dau. of Robert Aston, of Tixal, and dying 13 EDWARD IV., was s. by his son,

THOMAS KYNNARDSLEY, of Lockesley, who m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of John Agard, of Foston, co. Derby; 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of Humphrey Wolrych, and relict of Henry Petit, of Badger; and 3rdly, Elizabeth, dau. of William Hussey, of King's Bromley. He d. 30 HEN. VIII., and was s. by his grandson,

THOMAS KYNNARDSLEY, of Loxley, (son of his eldest son, JOHN,) who m. Dorothy, dau. of Sir Philip Draycot, of Pensley, co. Stafford, and had, with other issue, ANTHONY, his successor; and Edward, of Cleobury, Shropshire, living in 1613, who m. Jane, dau. of Richard Johnson, of Chester, and had several sons and grandsons in the service of the parliament. The eldest son,

ANTHONY KINARDSLEY, Esq. of Loxley, s. to the estates in 34 ELIZABETH. He m. Isabell, dau. and heiress of Lewis Walker, of Bramshall, and had issue,

FRANCIS, his successor.
Edward, who m. Margaret, dau. of William George, Esq., and niece of Sir John George, by whom he had several children.

Mary, m. to Henry Mainwaring, Esq. of Caringham, in Cheshire.

Anthony Kinardsley was s. at his decease, in 1622, by his son,

FRANCIS KINARDESLEY, Esq. of Loxley, who marrying Lettice, dau. of Richard Bagot, Esq. of Blithfield, had, with other children, a son,

THOMAS KYNNERSLEY, Esq., his successor, in 1634. This gentleman, who was sheriff of Shropshire in 1653, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Ralph Floyer, of Hints, co. Stafford, and had a son and successor,

THOMAS KYNNERSLEY, Esq. of Loxley, who m. 1st, Sarah, dau. of — Clarke, Esq. of Walford, co. Northampton, by whom he had a son, THOMAS, his heir. He m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of — Joddrell, Esq. of Twamley, and had further issue,

John, of Badger, who m. Miss Anne Case.

* The Knivetons of Mercaston were completely impoverished by the civil wars, and their connexion with the county of Derby terminated in 1655, when Sir Andrew Kniveton, the third bart., who had been a zealous Royalist, and Governor of Tutbury Castle, for Charles the First, was, from the great sacrifices he had made, obliged to sell his family property.

† The name appears, in numerous instances, to have been written indifferently Kniveton, Knifton, and Knyfton, but the latter variation had, about this time, become fully adopted by this branch of the family.

Elizabeth, m. to Walter Horton, Esq. of Catton, in the county of Derby.
Mary.
Lettice, m. to Ralph Adderley, Esq., of Coton, Staffordshire.

Mr. Kynnersley d. in 1662, and was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS KYNNERSLEY, Esq. of Loxley, b. in 1654, who m. Mary, dau. of John London, of Islington, merchant, and was s. upon his demise by his son,

THOMAS KYNNERSLEY, Esq. of Loxley, who m. Barbara, eldest dau. of Sir Gilbert Clarke, of Chilcote, co. Derby, by whom (who d. in 1717,) he had fourteen children, of whom six only survived infancy, viz.,

CRAVEN, his successor.
THOMAS, who inherited from his brother.
Barbara, m. to Sir John Frederick, Bart. of Hampton, in the co. of Middlesex.
Mary, m. to — Kirby, Esq. of Leicester.
Dorothy, d. unm. in 1759.

The elder son,

CRAVEN KYNNERSLEY, Esq. of Loxley, was unfortunately killed in the park at Loxley, by the accidental discharge of his fowling-piece. He had m. Jane, dau. of Sir Edward Bagot, Bart. of Blithfield, but d. s. p. in 1735, when the estates devolved upon his brother,

THOMAS KYNNERSLEY, Esq. of Loxley, an officer in the Navy, who m. Penelope, only dau. of John Wheeler, Esq. of Wootton, co. Stafford, and had issue,

CLEMENT, his heir.
Penelope, who m. John Sneyd, Esq. of Bishton, and afterwards of Belmont, co. Stafford, (see that family,) and had, with several elder children, a son,
THOMAS, who inherited, by will, from his uncle, Clement, the Kynnersley estates, and assuming that additional surname, is the present THOMAS SNEYD-KYNNERSLEY, Esq. of Loxley.
Dorothy, m. 1st, to Thomas Byrche-Savage, Esq. of Elmley Castle, in the co. of Worcester, and 2ndly, to Ralph Adderley, Esq. of Coton.
Barbara, d. unm. in 1782.
Mary, m. to Charles-Augustus-Louis-Frederick Baron de Bodè, and d. at Moscow, in 1814.
Catherine, d. unm. in 1815.

Mr. Kynnersley d. in 1755, and was s. by his son,

CLEMENT KYNNERSLEY, Esq. of Loxley, who m. Rosamond, dau. of Sir Wolstan Dixie, Bart. of Bosworth Park, co. Leicester, but dying issueless, in 1815, willed his property to his nephew, THOMAS SNEYD, who has assumed the additional surname of KYNNERSLEY, and is the present proprietor.

Arms—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, for KYNNERSLEY, az., semée of crosses-croslet, a lion rampant, arg.; 2nd and 3rd, for SNEYD, arg., a scythe, the blade in chief, the sned, or handle, in bend sinister, sable; in the fesse, point, a fleur-de-lis, of the second.

KYRLE OF MUCH MARCLE.

MONEY KYRLE, REV. WILLIAM, of Hom House, in the parish of Much Marcle, co. Hereford, of Whetham, co. Wilts, and of Pitsford, co. Northampton, M.A. of Oriel College, Oxford, and a magistrate for the counties of Hereford and Wilts, b. 13 Oct. 1776; m. 16 July, 1805, Emma, dau. of Richard Down, of Halliwick Manor House, co. Middlesex, Esq. (by Rose, his wife, dau. and heir of Henry Neale, of London, Esq., lineally descended from the ancient house of NEALE,* of Dean, in Bedfordshire,) and has issue,

I. WILLIAM, of Oriel College, Oxford, and of the Inner Temple, eldest son and heir apparent, b. 1 May, 1808.
II. Edward Kyrle, lieut. 2nd regt. Bengal Light Cavalry, b. 29 Jan. 1810, d. unm. at Loodianha, East Indies, 17 Nov. 1841.
III. John Erule, capt. 32nd regt., b. 1 March, 1812, m. 16 July, 1842, Harriet-Louisa, eldest dau. of William Sutton, of Hertingfordbury, co. Herts, Esq.
IV. James Stoughton, of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, in holy orders, Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries, and Rector of Yatesbury, co. Wilts, b. 31 Oct. 1813, m. 17 Jan. 1839, Rosa-Elizabeth, dau. of John Drake Pridham, of Plymouth, co. Devon, Esq.
V. George Washbourne, M.A., Fellow of King's College, Cambridge, b. 22 Oct. 1815.
VI. Richard-Walter, b. 16 Nov. 1825; in the 32nd regt.
VII. Charles-Septimus, b. 26 Sept. 1827.
I. Emma.

This gentleman, to evince his respect for the memory of his ancestor, Sir John Kyrle, of Much Marcle, Bart., (whose estates devolved upon him on the demise of his brother, Major-Gen. Sir James Kyrle Money, Bart.,) assumed by Royal licence, dated 10 Aug. 1843, the surname of KYRLE, in addition to and after that of MONEY, together with the arms of KYRLE, to be borne quarterly with those of his own family.

Lineage.

In the oldest writings relative to the KYRLES, the name is variously written, Crul, Crull, and Crulle; afterwards Cryll, and sometimes Curl; until at last it was universally spelt KYRLE. The first of the family on record,

ROBERT CRUL, of Altone, or Old Town, near Ross, resided, in 1295, at Homme, now Hom Green, in the same neighbourhood. From him descended WALTER KYRLE, who was seated at "the Hulle," or Hill, near Ross, in the year 1489. Dying at the close of the same century, this gentleman bequeathed the Hill to his eldest son, WALTER, who left an only dau. and heir, Alice, m. to Christopher Clarke, Esq.,* and to his second son, JAMES, the estate of Walford, near Ross. JAMES thus became founder of the WALFORD branch of the KYRLE family. He was grandfather to the founder of the MUCH MARCLE branch. Of this latter, which although the younger, was the most distinguished line of the family, we are about more particularly to treat.

THOMAS KYRLE, of Walford Court, son and heir of the above-mentioned James, lived temp. HENRY VII., and by his marriage with Johan, dau. and heir of Hugh Abrahall, (by Alice, his wife, dau. of John Rudhall, of Rudhall,) had, with four daus., nine sons. From the eldest of these sons, viz., WALTER, of Walford, (who m. Joan, dau. of Richard Warncombe, Esq.,) descended JOHN KYRLE,† the celebrated "MAN OF ROSS," (who was born at the White House, Dymock, in May, 1637, and d. s. p. at Ross, 7 Nov. 1724,) and from the fourth of them, viz., THOMAS KYRLE, who seated himself at Much Marcle early in the reign of ELIZABETH, the line, which, through the female representative, still retains possession of that ancient seat. This

THOMAS KYRLE, lord of the manor of Much Marcle, co. Hereford, in the commission of the peace for that shire, and for Worcestershire, m. Frances, dau. and heir of John Knottesford, of Malvern, Esq., one of the Esquires of the Body to King HENRY VIII., and left a son and successor,

JOHN KYRLE, of Much Marcle, Esq., justice of the peace, and twice high-sheriff of Herefordshire, who was created a BARONET 17 May, 1627. He m. Sybille, dau. and heir of Philip Scudamore, Esq., and had issue,

I. FRANCIS, high-sheriff of Herefordshire, who m. Hester, dau. of Sir Paul Tracy, of Stanway, co. Gloucester, Bart., and dying v. p. in 1649, left, with other issue,
JOHN, successor to his grandfather.
II. Thomas, of Gray's Inn, d. s. p.
I. Joane, m. to John Nourse, Esq.
II. Sybille, m. to Thomas Capell, of How Capell, co. Hereford.

Sir John Kyrle d. in 1650, and was s. at his decease by his grandson,

* See Noble's "History of the House of Cromwell," and pedigree of Neale in this work.

* Now represented by KINGSMILL EVANS, of The Hill, Esq. (See p. 386.)

† The Man of Ross is buried in the chancel of Ross Church, where the monument which now exists was erected to his memory, in 1776, by Lieut.-Col. James Money, funds having been bequeathed for that purpose by CONSTANTIA, VISCOUNTESS DUPPLIN, of whom the colonel was cousin, and executor. For a further account of this worthy man's descent, see BURKE'S Extinct and Dormant Baronetcies.

Sir John Kyrle, of Much Marcle, Bart., who m. 16 Dec. 1647, Rebecca, dau. of Daniel Vincent, Esq.,* and by her (who m. 2ndly, John Booth, Esq. of Letton) had issue,

I. Vincentia, of whom presently.

III. Elizabeth, m. to John Midlebrooke, Esq.
IV. Sibille, m. to Giles Wintour, Esq., younger brother of William Wintour, Esq. of Dymock.

Sir John Kyrle, who was M.P. for Herefordshire, at the period of his decease, d. 4 Jan. 1679-80, and was s. by his eldest dau. and co-heir,

Vincentia Kyrle, b. 2 Oct. 1651, who m. at Much Marcle, 6 Dec. 1674, Sir John Ernle,† Knt. of Bury Town, Wilts, (son of Sir John Ernle, of Whetham, Knt., Chancellor of the Exchequer, temp. Charles II. and James II.,) and had issue,

John Kyrle Ernle, the heir.
Hester Ernle, b. 8 Feb. 1675-6, m. to William Washbourne,‡ Esq., son and heir of William Washbourne, of Wychenford and Pytchley, Esq., and (with other children, all of whom died without issue) was mother of Elizabeth Washbourne, who was m. 1 Oct. 1723, at Bromyard, co. Hereford, to Francis Money, Esq. of Wellingborough, and d. 2 March, 1726, leaving an only son,
James Money, Esq., of whom presently.

Vincentia Lady Ernle was s. at her decease by her son,

John Kyrle Ernle, Esq. of Whetham and Much Marcle, bapt. 10 May, 1683, who m. in 1704, Constantia, only dau. of Sir Thomas Rolt, Knt. of Saccombe, Herts, and dying in Oct. 1725, left an only dau. and heir,

Constantia Ernle, who m. in 1741, Thomas, Viscount Dupplin, afterwards 8th Earl of Kinnoul, and had an only child, Thomas-John-Ernle Hay, b. 12 Aug. 1742, who d. 14 Oct. 1743. The countess herself d. in 1753, and was interred at Calne on the 7th July. Leaving no issue, she settled her estates upon the next heir, and sole representative of her ancestors, as shewn above, (the son of her first cousin, Elizabeth,)

James Money, of Pitsford, Northamptonshire, Esq., lieut.-col. in the army, bapt. 25 Sept. 1724, who m. Eugenia, eldest dau. and coheir of George Stoughton,* Esq. of St. John's, Warwick, and dying 14 June, 1785, left an only surviving son,

* Eldest son of Henry, who was second son of Robert Vincent, of Kinfare, co. Stafford, Esq., who, according to a pedigree in the office of Ulster king-of-arms, in Dublin, attested by Segar, Garter king-of-arms, was lineally descended from Francis, Viscount Lovel; his lordship's second son having assumed the name of Vincent after his father's death at the battle of Stoke, A.D. 1487.

† This family derives its name from the village of Earnley, or Ernle, in Sussex, so styled from the Saxon words "Earn" and "Lege,"—"The place or habitation of eagles;" in reference to which three eagles were borne as the arms of Ernle. In the reign of Henry III., Richard de Earnley was seated at Earnley. His son represented the shire in parliament, A.D. 1331, and from him, the 13th in regular descent, was Sir John Ernle, of Bury Town, who m. Vincentia Kyrle. The Ernles continued to reside at Ernle, maintaining a leading position in the county, till the commencement of the sixteenth century, when, acquiring by marriage extensive estates in Wiltshire, they gradually withdrew from Sussex, and the elder line in that county terminating in a female, the male representation reverted to the branch which, in the reign of Elizabeth, (in virtue of the marriage of Michael Ernle, Esq., with Mary, dau. and heir of Roger Finamore, of that manor,) enjoyed possession of Whetham, in Wilts, and is now represented by the Rev. William Money Kyrle. The Ernles were ever distinguished for their loyalty, particularly during the Great Rebellion. Sir Michael Earnley, the Governor of Shrewsbury Castle, (who was born at Whetham,) was, as Clarendon relates, "killed in his shirt," at the capture of Shrewsbury, "whilst he behaved himself as well as was possible, and refused quarter." The name of Sir John Ernle, of Whetham, occurs in the list of those who, at the Restoration, were to have been invested with the order of the Royal Oak; the Ernles of Etchilhampton were compelled to compound for their estates as "malignants;" and on the 2nd Feb. 1660-1, a Baronetcy was granted to that branch of the family, which expired with Sir Edward Ernle, of Brimslade, on the 26th Dec. 1787.

‡ This family, whose pedigree is fully given in the Visitations of Worcestershire, was of knightly degree previous to the reign of Edward III., and in point of descent ranked with the most ancient houses of the kingdom. It derived its name from the hamlet of Washbourne, or Wasseborne, in Worcestershire, where at the earliest period of its history we find it located. The Washbournes flourished here till the commencement of the fifteenth century, when John Washbourne, (great-grandson of Sir Roger Washbourne, of Washbourne,) marrying the heiress of John Poher, of Wychenford, in Worcestershire, his son, Norman Washbourne, retired to his mother's estate, at Wychenford, where his descendants continued to reside for many generations. During the troubles in the reign of Charles I., the Washbournes suffered severely for their loyalty. Among the cavaliers taken prisoners at the battle of Worcester, and afterwards obliged to compound with the parliament for their estates, the name of "John Washbourne, of Wychenford," the head of this family, appears—a gentleman who had already almost exhausted his estate in the service of the king. About this period the Washbournes removed to Pytchley, in Northamptonshire, having acquired by marriage property in that county. The male line terminated with Ernle Washbourne, Esq., (the eighteenth in lineal succession from Sir Roger Washbourne, temp. Henry III.,) who d. s. p. 4 Sept. 1743, aged 53. He was son of William Washbourne, Esq. of Wychenford, and Pytchley, who, as shewn above, m. Hester, dau. of Sir John Ernle, of Bury Town, and whose only child that left issue, was m. to Francis Money, Esq., great-grandfather of the present Rev. William Money Kyrle.

* This family derived its name from Stoche, or Stoke, in Surrey, and Tun, a word signifying "enclosure." At the period of the Conquest, Godwin de Stocktun resided at Stocktun, and in the 3rd Edward III., Henry de Stoctun had royal licence to empark there certain acres of land. In the early part of the 16th century, the family became divided into two branches; the elder division continued at Stoughton, and obtained a Baronetcy, 29 Jan. 1660-1, which, in 1691-2, became extinct on the death of Sir Lawrence Stoughton, of Stoughton. The second branch seating itself at St. John's, Warwick, a large and ancient mansion, originally the hospital of St. John the Baptist, remained there in direct descent for a long series of years, until the male line expired with George Stoughton, who left the dau. and co-heir, Eugenia, who married Lieut.-Col. Money; and thus the representation of the Stoughtons of St. John's has devolved on that gallant officer's grandson, as shewn above.

I. Mary-O'Hara, deceased.
II. Helen. III. Mary-Georgina.

Mr. L'Amy, an Advocate at the Scotch Bar, is sheriff of Forfarshire, and a deputy-lieutenant of the same county.

Lineage.

The family of L'Amy, of Dunkenny, is one of considerable antiquity. The writings, or Land Rights, by which the present possessor holds the lands of Dunkenny, and in which occur the names of his ancestors who succeeded to the inheritance, go back as far as 1520; and in the Lord Lyon's patent of arms it is mentioned, that a "Lamy, of Dunkenny," was one of the witnesses to a Royal Charter in 1401. The surname appears at a much earlier period (1329) in the Chamberlain's Roll, in the Scotch Exchequer records. The late representative, JOHN-RAMSAY L'AMY, Esq. of Dunkenny, m. in 1760, Agnes, dau. of Robert Hamilton, Esq. of Kilbrackmont, co. Fife, and by her, who d. in 1782, had issue,

LANDOR OF IPSLEY COURT.

Landor, Walter-Savage, Esq. of Ipsley Court, co. Warwick, b. in Jan. 1775; m. in May, 1811, Julia Thuillier, of Bath, a lady of Swiss extraction, and has, Arnold-Savage, Walter-Savage, Charles-Savage, and Julia-Elizabeth-Savage. This gentleman is known in the world of letters as the author of "Imaginary Conversations of Literary Men and Statesmen," and several other productions. He has long resided in Italy, chiefly on his estate at Fiescoli, near Florence.

Lineage.

The family now before us, which were designated indifferently Launde and Launder, claim to derive from the De la Laundes. In the reign of Charles I., John Launder, of Rugeley, was a captain in the Royal army, while Michael Noble, the representative of an old Staffordshire family, which afterwards merged in those of Landor and Cotton, was the friend of Cromwell, and member for Lichfield during the Long Parliament. In the reign of Charles II., the name began to be spelt as it now appears; and under William and Mary, Walter Landor, Esq. of Rugeley, was high-sheriff for Staffordshire. The head of the family at the close of the seventeenth century,

Robert Landor, Esq. of Rugeley, in Staffordshire, b. 6 June, 1680, m. Elizabeth, only dau. and heiress of the Rev. John Taylor, Rector of Cotton, and dying 15 May, 1711, left a son and successor,

Robert Landor, Esq. of Rugeley, who m. 4 May, 1732, Mary, dau. and co-heir of Walter Noble, Esq. of Longdon, co. Stafford, and by her, who d. in 1798, left at his decease, 23 March, 1781, a son and successor,

Walter Landor, Esq., who m. 1st, in May, 1760, Mary, only child of Richard Wright, Esq. of Warwick, and had by her an only dau., Maria, m. to her cousin, Humphrey Arden, Esq. He m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, one of the four daus. and co-heirs of Charles Savage, Esq. of Tachbrook, in Warwickshire, and had by her

Walter-Savage, his heir.
Charles-Savage, in holy orders, rector of Cotton, in Staffordshire, m. in January, 1812, Catherine, only child of — Wilson, Esq. of Marston Montgomery, Derbyshire, and has, with three daus., one son,
Charles-Wilson.
Henry-Eyres.

X. Agnes-Louisa, b. 14 June, 1842, d. 15 June, 1842.

Mr. Lane s. his father in 1824.

Lineage.

The ancient family of Lane came into England, according to Hollinshed, with the Conqueror. Its pedigree commences with

Adam de Lone, of West Hampton, co. Stafford, whose son, John de la Lone, had issue,

Richard de la Lone, 9 Edward II., living at Hampton; Thomas de la Lone; William de la Lone; Hervey de la Lone.

Andrew de la Lone, son of Richard, 12 Edward III., was father of John de la Lone and Thomas de la Lone.

John de la Lone, son of Andrew, 42 Edward III., was father of

Richard Lone, of Halton, 9 Henry IV., of Hyde, 1 Henry V., who d. 16 Henry VI. He m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Ralph de la Hyde, and left a son,

John Lone, of Bentley and Hyde, who m., 11 Hen. VI., Margery, dau. of Randle Egerton, of Wrinehill. He was s. by his son,

Richard Lane, Esq., whose son,

Ralph Lane, m. Joyce, dau. of Ralph Cresset, Esq. He d. 17 Edward IV., and was s. by his son,

Richard Lane, Esq., who m. 15 Henry VII., Anne, dau. of John Harcourt, of Raunton, of the ancient family of Harcourt of Stanton Harcourt, and was s. by his son,

John Lane, Esq. of Bentley, who m. Catherine, dau. and heiress of Thomas Partrich, of King's Bromley, and dying 19 Elizabeth, was s. by his son,

Thomas Lane, Esq. of Bentley and Hyde, who m. Catherine, dau. of Richard Trentham, Esq. of Rochester, and sister of Elizabeth de Vere, Countess of Oxford, and had issue, John, his successor; Thomas; Richard, of Kearns, in Monmouthshire; and Cassandra, m. to Thomas Littleton, third son of Sir Edward Littleton, of Pillaton. He d. 31 Elizabeth, and was s. by his eldest son,

John Lane, Esq. of Bentley and Hyde, who m. Jane, dau. of Sir Edward Littleton, of Pillaton, and had issue Thomas, his successor; and Alice, m. to Alexander Wightwick, Esq. He d. 3 James I., and was s. by his son,

Thomas Lane, Esq. of Bentley and Hyde. This gentleman m. Anne, eldest dau. of Walter Bagot, Esq. of Blithfield, co. Stafford, and sister of Sir Hervey Bagot, Bart. He was very instrumental in the preservation of King Charles II., after the battle of Worcester, and suffered severely for his attachment to the Royal cause. He had several children, I. John, his successor; II. William, of Shetton, from whom the Irish family spring; III. Richard, a Groom of the Bedchamber; I. Jane. (This lady has become celebrated for her heroic conduct in saving the life of King Charles II., after the battle of Worcester, by riding behind the Prince, disguised, from Bentley, the ancient seat of the Lane family, in Staffordshire, to her cousin, Mrs. Norton's house, near Bristol. She m. subsequently, Sir Clement Fisher, of Pachington, in Warwickshire.) II. Withy, m. to — Petre, Esq.; III. Ann, m. to Edward Birch, Esq. of Leacroft; IV. Mary, m. to Edward, son of Sir Oliver Nicholas, (Cupbearer to James I., and Carver to King Charles I.,) of Winterbourn-Earl, co. Wilts. She d. 24 Dec. 1686, aged 67. Mr. Thomas Lane d. in 1660, and was s. by his eldest son,

Col. John Lane, who was so instrumental in saving King Charles II., after the battle of Worcester, and received him at his seat at Bentley, from which place he was conveyed in disguise by Miss Lane, as stated above, to Mrs. Norton's, at Abbot's Leigh, near Bristol. For these signal services, pensions were granted, after the Restoration, to the Colonel, to his brother, a Groom of the Bedchamber, and to his sister, which were continued, with arrears constantly owing, to the time of Queen ANNE; and the family was, moreover, dignified with an especial badge of honour, viz., the arms of England in a canton, in augmentation of its paternal coat, and a crest, a strawberry roan horse, bearing between his fore legs the Royal crown. There is a tradition, that Col. Lane was likewise offered a peerage, but declined it. He m. Athaliah Anson, and had, with other issue, SIR THOMAS, his successor; Lettice, who d. 23 Nov. 1709; Frances, m. to William Offley, of Madeley Manor, co. Stafford; Mary, m. to Sir Humphrey Jervis, Lord-Mayor of Dublin. Col. Lane d. in 1667, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR THOMAS LANE, Knt. of Bentley, who m. Abigail, Lady Williams, widow of Sir Henry Williams, Bart. of Gwernevet, and dau. of Samuel Wightwick, prothonotary of the King's Bench, by whom he had issue, JOHN, his successor; Thomas, d. at Sluys, in Flanders, 3 April, 1697; Elizabeth, d. 20 July, 1695. Sir Thomas Lane d. 25 Jan. 1715, and was s. by his only surviving son,

JOHN LANE, Esq. of Bentley, b. 12 Dec. 1669, who m. 30 April, 1702, Mary, dau. and co-heiress, with her sister, Sybill, (wife of the Rev. Dr. Birch,) of Humfrey Wyrley, Esq. of Hamstead, co. Stafford, by Mary, his wife, eldest dau. and co-heiress (with her sister, Jane, m. to William de Zulestein, Earl of Rochford) of Sir Henry Wroth, Knt. of Durance, co. Middlesex.* This Mrs. Lane was (as her sister, Mrs. Birch, d. without issue) the sole representative of the ancient and great family of Wyrley, and brought into the Lane family a claim to more than one dormant English barony and many quarterings. By this lady Mr. Lane had issue, THOMAS, his successor; Mary, m. to — Leigh, Esq. of Aldridge; Elizabeth, d. unm.; Jane, m. to John Wyrley Birch, Esq. Mr. Lane d. 25 Oct. 1748, and was s. by his son,

I. Mary-Anne, m. to the Rev. William Marriott Leir, eldest son of the Rev. William Leir, Rector of Ditcheat, a magistrate for Somersetshire.

Lineage.

From authentic records, it appears that this family were seated in the county of Wilts at an early period. In the Roll of EDWARD III. we find, "Le Sire de Langford port d'argent et gules pales de vj, en chef d'azure une leopard passant d'or." Several manors and estates, formerly their property, in that county, still bear the name appended, viz., Steeple Langford, Little Langford, &c. About the year 1580, there were three brothers of the name, Edward, JOHN, and Robert. Edward, the eldest, lived at Trowbridge, and having married a lady of good fortune in the account of that age, had issue, Mary, his co-heir; she m. Henry Hyde, M.P., of Dinton and Pirton, Wilts, 1592. By him, amongst other children, she became mother of Edward Hyde, Lord Chancellor, and Earl of Clarendon, and (through the marriage of his dau. Anne with James, Duke of York) great-grandmother of MARY and ANNE, Queens of England. The chief property thus passed into the family of Hyde, and the rest, by purchase, into that of Methuen. The manors of Gussage St. Andrew, a parcel of Shaston Abbey, and West Woodyates, in Dorsetshire, originally granted to Henry Langford, (36 HENRY VIII.,) were alienated at the death of William, his grandson, (35 ELIZABETH,) without issue. Thus the elder branch of the family became extinct. Of the two brothers of Edward Langford, of Trowbridge, Robert, who is described as of Studlie, near Calne, Wilts, migrated into Somersetshire, and bought an estate at Hallatrow, in the parish of High Littleton, 1620. This property having passed through five generations, is now held jointly by two female descendants, Mary-Anne and Frances Langford, the former of whom is m. to J. Usticke Scobell Esq., J.P.

JOHN LANGFORD, the other brother, retired to a small paternal property near Ross, Herefordshire. Thence this branch moved to the neighbourhood of Manchester, where

EDWARD LANGFORD, the eldest son, in 1715, joined the force raised by the English insurgents in support of Charles-Edward, and was at the battle of Preston Pans. After the ruin of the Stuart cause, he was compelled to seek safety in flight, and retired to Penzance, in Cornwall, where he became a considerable merchant, and purchased the estate of Trungle, in the parish of St. Paul. He also acquired a property in the tin mines at St. Agnes, by his marriage, in 1722, with Catherine, dau. of John Nettle, Esq. of Penzance. By this lady he had issue (with a dau., Constantia, m. to Samuel Pellew, Esq. of Flushing, Cornwall, and had, amongst other issue, EDWARD, Lord Exmouth) a son,

EDWARD LANGFORD, Esq. of Trungle, b. in 1730, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Frederick Dansey, Esq. of Plymouth-Dock, Devon, and d. in 1782, leaving an only son, EDWARD LANGFORD, Esq., the present representative of this branch of the family.

LA TOUCHE OF MARLAY.

La Touche, David-Charles, Esq. of Marlay, co. Dublin, b. 18 April, 1800, a magistrate for the counties of Dublin and Wicklow, and a deputy-lieutenant of the former. Mr. La Touche served the office of high-sheriff of co. of Wicklow in 1838, and of the county of the city of Dublin in 1843.

Lineage.

The family of La Touche was established in Ireland by David Digues de la Touche, a Huguenot, who settled in that kingdom after the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, having served first as volunteer, and afterwards as lieutenant and captain, in the Princess Anne's regiment of infantry. He was the fourth son of a noble Protestant family of the Blesois, which possessed considerable estates between Blois and Orleans, and in other parts of France. He first fled to Holland, where a branch of his family had for some time been established, and shortly afterwards embarking with the Prince of Orange, served the Irish campaign under him. At the conclusion of the war, Mr. La Touche, with many of his countrymen, settled in Dublin. He m. twice: by his second wife he had no issue; but by the first, whom he m. 5 July, 1690, Judith Biard, dau. of Noé Biard, and Judith Chevalier, his wife, he had issue, I. David; II. James-Digges, who m. twice, and dying in 1763, left surviving issue three sons, William, E.I.C.C.S.; James, of Jamaica; and Peter; III. Martha; and IV. Judith. Mr. La Touche d. 17 Oct. 1745, on his knees in the chapel of the Castle of Dublin, where he daily attended the morning prayers, and was s. in the Bank which he had established in Dublin, by his son,

Mr. Lawson inherited the estates at the decease of his elder brother, Marmaduke, s. p., 10 March, 1823, and is M.P. for Knaresborough.

Lineage.

The name of LAWSON, although not of frequent occurrence in the southern parts of England, is widely spread throughout Scotland and the northern counties; and so early as the first year of King HENRY III.'s reign, we find JOHN LAWSON, Lord of Fowlesgrove, near Scarborough, in Yorkshire, (see pedigree of LAWSON, Bart., in Thoresby's Ducatus Leodensis, p. 249,) to whom the Baronets of Cumberland and Westmoreland trace their foundation. From the same locality, at a much later date, (1665,) SIR JOHN LAWSON, (of whom Clarendon says, "he was of Yorkshire, near Scarboro',") of poor parentage, and having raised himself from a common sailor to the rank of Vice-Admiral of the fleet by his renowned naval exploits, triumphant with parliamentary honours, conferred a celebrity on the name of LAWSON, which his more opulent and more regularly descended namesakes have failed to attain. Dwelling up to this period in Yorkshire, as a distinct branch, the LAWSONS of the Aynsty (see Dodsworth's Collect.) have had a continued residence there, or have been landed proprietors for upwards of three centuries at least, (during 250 years of which they were either at the capital of the county, or within five miles of it; the head of the family, except twice, when in holy orders, being always designated "Esquire," in times when that title was not so freely bestowed as at present,) and as they have always borne the same name and arms identical with SIR WILFRID LAWSON'S family, there is every probability that these two houses were originally one. Without, however, going beyond "what is written," we find this family designated as "Lawsons of Poppleton," among the Aynsty families in the "Heraldic Visitations and Pedigrees of Yorkshire," preserved in the British Museum, from 1530 to 1612, when GEORGE LAWSON, the last of Poppleton, having a family of eight daughters and three sons, sold that estate to Sir John Bennett. The moat of the "old hall" now partly surrounds a modern farmhouse, which, however, still retains its ancient name. Thence having removed with diminished fortune, George Lawson, in 1606, exercised rights as a resident proprietor of the small estate of Moreby, in the parish of Stillingfleet-with-Moreby, in the East Riding, which property he had derived from his mother Beckwith, and where he was probably induced to fix, from the contiguity to his wife's family, at Barley, near Selby. This small estate descended regularly in the possession of the Lawsons till the death of Marmaduke Lawson, of Moreby and Seaton Rosse, (great-uncle of the present direct representative of the family,) in Jan. 1761.

The patrimony of the Lawsons then passed into other hands, under the will of that gentleman, (made before the birth of his nephew, Marmaduke, father of the present Mr. Lawson,) leaving the estates at Moreby, Seaton Rosse, Holme, and Beilby, failing the more direct heirs, "to his brother, Richard, and the heirs of his body," and only "in default of such issue, to William Preston and his heirs." Richard predeceased the testator six months, in consequence of which the property devolved upon Mr. Preston, a distant relation of the family.

The Rev. Marmaduke Lawson having thus been deprived of his paternal inheritance, the Wilkinson property (one much superior to the Lawson) was left by will of the last male descendant, and the Lawsons are thus continued in their native county, within twelve miles of Poppleton, sixteen of York, and twenty-one of Moreby, retaining their proper name of Lawson, but indebted for their estates to Wilkinson.

In 1530,

SIR GEORGE LAWSON, Knt., Treasurer of Berwick, was Mayor of the city of York. He left at his decease a dau., Anne, m. to William Lawson, and a son, his successor,

THOMAS LAWSON, of York, also Mayor of that city in 1562. He m. Christian, dau. of Hugh Atkinson, of Castleford, in Yorkshire, and had, with two daus., Anne, m. to Nynyan Lawson, of Ripon, and of Monckton, both in the co. of York; and Frances, m. to Stephen Langdale, of Eberston, in the same shire, three sons, of whom the eldest,

PETER LAWSON, of Poppleton, living in 1584, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Ambrose Beckwith, of Stillingfleet, in the same shire, and had two sons and two daus. The elder son,

GEORGE LAWSON, b. in 1575, of Poppleton, and subsequently of Moreby, m. Anne, dau. of George Twisleton, of Barley, near Selby, and had issue, three sons and eight daus. The eldest son,

THE REV. GEORGE LAWSON, of Moreby, bapt. at Stillingfleet, 13 Nov. 1606, Rector of Eakring, Notts, m. in 1656, Eleanor More, of Normanton, co. Lincoln, by whom (who was buried at Stillingfleet, in 1686) he had, beside Anne and Eleanor, (the latter d. in 1679, unm.) a son and heir,

GEORGE LAWSON, Esq. of Moreby, who m. in 1680, Elizabeth, only dau. and heir of Marmaduke Bosville, Esq. of Seaton Rosse, in the East Riding, and by her who d. in 1698, had (with two daus., who d. in infancy) two sons, viz.,

I. MARMADUKE, his heir.

II. RICHARD, b. in 1697, Mayor of York, in 1741 and 1754. He m. Barbara, dau. of the Rev. Thomas Burton, M.A., vicar of Halifax, by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Francis Jessop, Esq. of Broom Hall, great-great-grandson of Richard Jessop, Esq., by Anne, his wife, eldest dau. and co-heir of Robert Swyft, Esq. of Broom Hall, descended from Robert Swyft, "the rich mercer of Rotherham," and had issue,

1. MARMADUKE, of whom presently.
2. Dorothy, m. to her cousin, ANDREW WILKINSON, Esq. of Boroughbridge, capt. R.N., eldest surviving son of Andrew Wilkinson, Esq., member for Aldbro' in many parliaments, by Barbara, sister to the last Lord D'Arcy, of Navan, (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage,) being dau. and co-heir of William Jessop, Esq. of Broom Hall, M.P., and the Hon. Mary Jessop.

Mr. Lawson d. in 1699, and was s. by his elder son,

MARMADUKE LAWSON, Esq. of Moreby, who inherited, through his mother, the Bosville estates of Seaton-Rosse, Holme, and Beilby. This gentleman, who was bapt. in 1685, and buried at Stillingfleet, in 1761, had, by Susannah, his first wife, (who was interred at Stillingfleet, in 1711,) two sons and two daus., viz.,

GEORGE, b. 1 Jan. 1705, d. s. p.

Marmaduke, b. in 1709, who appears to have d. s. p. abroad.

Mr. Lawson m. 2ndly, Grace, dau. of the Rev. Dr. Brooksbank, of Reading, (buried at Stillingfleet, in 1770,) but had no other issue. This gentleman made a will previously to the birth of his nephew, the REV. MARMADUKE LAWSON, devising the estates at Moreby, Seaton-Rosse, Holme, and Beilby, failing his more direct heirs, "to his brother, Richard, and the heirs of his body," and "in default of such issue, to William Preston, and his heirs." Those estates subsequently devolved upon Mr. Preston, the devise to the heirs of Richard Lawson being a lapsed devise, as already stated, while the representation of the family, presuming that his second son, Marmaduke, d. issueless, came to (the son of his deceased brother, Richard) his nephew,

THE REV. MARMADUKE LAWSON, M.A., Rector of Sproatley and Prebendary of Ripon, b. in 1749, who m. Barbara-Isabella, dau. of John Wilkinson, Esq. of the Middle Temple, brother of the Rev. James Wilkinson, Vicar of Sheffield, of Broom Hall, near that place, and of Boroughbridge Hall, Yorkshire, well known and much respected for his "unaffected piety, inflexible integrity, and unwearied zeal in the service of the public during a period of half a century." This gentleman being the last of the Wilkinsons in tail male, left by his will, at his decease, in 1805, his estates at Boroughbridge &c. to his niece, Mrs. Lawson, and her family, thus fulfilling the express wishes of his brother, Capt. Andrew Wilkinson. He also evinced his esteem for his friend and relative, the Rev. Marmaduke Lawson, by inserting his name subsequently in the entail. Mr. Lawson had issue,

MARMADUKE, his heir.
ANDREW, heir to his brother.
James, in Holy Orders, Vicar of Buckminster, co. Leicester.
John, in Holy Orders, Incumbent of Seaton Carew, co. Durham.
Barbara.
Dorothy, m. in 1831, to the Rev. Edward Bird, Rector of Tattenhall, Cheshire.
Mary, m. in 1833, to the Rev. Alexander Stewart, M.A., Rector of Burford, Worcestershire, eldest son of the Hon. Montgomerie Stewart, and nephew to the Earl of Galloway. He d. in 1836, leaving two daus.

Mr. Lawson d. in 1814, (Mrs. Lawson d. in 1838,) was buried at Aldborough, and s. by his eldest son,

MARMADUKE LAWSON, Esq. of Boroughbridge Hall, a gentleman distinguished by his literary pre-eminence at Cambridge, where he was the first Pitt's scholar in 1814. In 1812, he obtained one of Sir William Browne's medals for the best Latin ode; and, in 1816, one of the Chancellor's medals for the best classical exercises; was subsequently an active magistrate, and was thrice returned to parliament for Boroughbridge. He d. unm. 10 March, 1823, when the Wilkinson estates devolved upon his next brother, ANDREW LAWSON, Esq., the present proprietor.

Arms—Paly of four, gu. and vert, on a chev., or, a greyhound's head, erased, sa., between two cinquefoils, az., a chief, gold, charged with an ogress, thereon a demi-lion, rampant, arg., between two crescents, sa., on each three plates.

Crest—A wolf's head, erased, ppr., charged on the neck with three bezants, a collar, vert.

Motto—Loyal Secret.

LAWTON OF LAWTON.

LAWTON, CHARLES-BOURNE, Esq. of Lawton Hall, co. Chester, m. 1st, Anne, dau. of Henry Featherstonhaugh, Esq. of Tooting, co. Surrey, and 2ndly, Marianne-Percy, dau. of William Belcombe, M.D., of York, but has no issue. Mr. Lawton is in the commission of the peace for the county of Chester.

Lineage.

This family have possessed the manor of Lawton since the reign of HENRY VI., and, by well-founded tradition, from a much earlier period. The pedigree, however, prior to that date cannot be perfectly traced; we shall, therefore, begin with the earliest member of the family from whom there is a clear deduction, viz.,

HUGH LAWTON, of Lawton, who m. Isabella, dau. of John Madoc, and widow of Bekyn Bernys. By her he had issue, I. John, who m. and d. in the lifetime of his father, leaving an only surviving son, RICHARD, successor to his grandfather; II. Hugh, d. s. p.; I. Isabel, m. to George Dod; II. Amicia, wife of — Shelton.

RICHARD LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, grandson and heir, was s. by his son,

JAMES LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, who m. Eleanora, dau. of Matthew More, Esq. of The Hall-o'-th'-Heath, and d. leaving (with a dau., Jane, m. to George de Bertram, of Barlaston, co. Stafford, and another dau., m. to Slade, of Bredhurst) a son and heir,

WILLIAM LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, who m. Katherine, dau. of Thomas Bellot, Esq. of Moreton, co. Chester, and d. 28 Dec., 5 EDW. VI., leaving issue, I. JOHN, his heir; II. Austin; III. Ambrose; I. Werburga, m. to John Horton, Esq.; II. Eva, m. to Geoffrey Rowley, of the co. of Stafford; III. Dorothy, m. to Robert Cooke, Esq. of the parish of St. Clement Danes, London; IV. Eleanora, m. to Robert Luton, of Gorstyhill, co. Chester; and V. Katherine, m. to Richard Davies, Esq. of Flint. The eldest son,

JOHN LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, living there in 1580, m. 1st, Anne, widow of Robert Corbet, Esq. of Hatherton, but by her had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Fulke Dutton, Esq., and had issue, I. WILLIAM, his heir; II. Robert; III. Thomas; IV. John; and I. Mary, m. to William Yeardsley, Esq. of Yeardsley, co. Chester. The eldest son,

WILLIAM LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, (1613,) m. 1st, Mary, dau. and heiress of George Wood, Esq. of Barterley, and 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Maxfield, of Chesterton, co. Stafford, and by the latter only had issue, I. JOHN, his heir; II. William, in holy orders, Rector of Lawton, d. unm.; I. Eleanor, m. to George Bellot, Esq. of Odd Rode, co. Chester, uncle of Sir George Bellot, Bart. of Moreton. His eldest son and heir,

JOHN LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, b. in 1606, m. Clare, dau. of Ralph Sneyd, Esq. of Keel, co. Stafford, by whom he had (with two younger sons, John, d. unm.; and Ralph, m. Katherine, dau. of William Charlwood, Esq. of the co. of Kent) an eldest son and successor,

WILLIAM LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, b. in 1630, who served as sheriff of Cheshire in 1672. He m. Hester, second dau. of Sir Edward Longueville, Bart., by Margaret, dau. of Sir Thomas Temple, of Stowe, and by her had issue,

JOHN, his heir.
William, b. in 1662, served as a captain in the Irish war, d. s. p.
Thomas, bapt. 20 Feb. 1671, m. in 1702, Mary, dau. of John Reeve, Esq. of Audley, co. Stafford, and d. in the East Indies.
Ralph, an officer in the Excise, d. in 1756, unm.
Clare, m. 28 Feb. 1677, to William Trafford, Esq. of Swithamley.
Hester, m. to William Church, Esq. of Tunston.
Felicia, m. to Francis Holinshed, of Whelock.
Margaret, m. to her cousin, Charlwood Lawton, Esq. of Leatherlake.
Catherine, m. 27 May, 1686, to John Bowyer, of Woolstanton, co. Stafford.
Elizabeth, m. to James Chetham, Esq. of Mellor Hall, co. Derby.

Mr. Lawton d. 9 Sept. 1693, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, b. 7 May, 1656, who m. 1st, Anne, dau. of George, younger son of Henry, first Earl of Manchester, and sister of Charles, Earl of Halifax. By this lady Mr. Lawton had issue,

William, who d. s. p. in 1714.
Edward, m. Charlotte, dau. of William Trafford, Esq. of Swithamley, and d. in 1730.
John, M.P. for Newcastle-under-Lyme, d. 18 June, 1740.
Anne, m. in 1735, to John Lawton, Esq. of Wybunbury.
Mary, m. to Ralph Trafford, Esq.: with several other children who d. unm.

Mr. Lawton m. 2ndly, Mary, relict of Sir Edward Longueville, Bart., by whom he had an only son, his successor,

ROBERT LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, bapt. 6 May, 1723, sheriff of Cheshire, in 1754, who m. Sarah, dau. of John Offley, Esq. of Madeley, M.P. for the co. of Chester, who assumed afterwards the surname of Crewe. By this lady Mr. Lawton had (with two younger sons, William, b. in 1749, d. unm. 9 April, 1814; and Philip, d. unm.) an eldest son and successor,

JOHN LAWTON, Esq. of Lawton, b. in Sept. 1746. He m. Anne, dau. and co-heiress of Charles Crewe, Esq., M.P. for Cheshire, and d. 25 March, 1804, leaving issue,

Lineage.

The family of De Mussenden came over with WILLIAM the Conqueror, and became possessed of the lordship and lands of Mussenden, or as it is now written, Missenden, co. Bucks, about that period. SIR WILLIAM DE MUSSENDEN appears to have been Grand Admiral of England, temp. HENRY I., A.D. 1133. He founded the Abbey of Missenden, and dedicated it to the Blessed Virgin, in fulfilment of a vow made during a dreadful storm at sea, in which his whole fleet were in the most imminent danger of sinking. From him descended SIR BERNARD DE MUSSENDEN, who m. Isabella, dau. and co-heir of John Frome, Lord of Frome, temp. HENRY IV., by whom he had one child, KATHERINE, m. to John Iwarby, of Missenden, Bucks. Sir Bernard dying without issue male, the De Mussendens of Lincolnshire became the representatives of that ancient family, and were lords of Leak and Leverton, in that county, for many succeeding generations. About the year 1660, FRANCIS MUSSENDEN, in Holy Orders, last lord of the above-named places, passed over into Ireland, became Prebendary of the diocese of Down and Connor, and settled at Hillsborough. He had two sons, JOHN, of whom presently; and Francis, Registrar of the same Diocese, ancestor of the present WILLIAM MUSSENDEN, Esq. of Larchfield, co. Down. (See that family.) The elder son,

JOHN MUSSENDEN, Vicar-general of Down and Connor, m. Penelope Hill, of Hillsbro', and had a son,

JOHN MUSSENDEN, Esq., who m. Jane, dau. of Adam Leathes, Esq., and sister of William Leathes, Esq., Minister at the Hague, and d. in 1700, leaving issue,

CARTERET, his heir.

Hill, b. in 1699, M.P. for Harwich, m. in 1736, to Miss Johnson, of Warwickshire, but d. s. p. in 1772, having bequeathed Herringfleet to his elder brother, CARTERET LEATHES, Esq.

Jane, who m. William Johnstone, Esq. of the county of Antrim, and had a son, Leathes, who m. a sister of the late Lieut.-Gen. Sir Thomas Blomefield, Bart., and d. in 1772; and a dau., Jane, wife of the Rev. James Saurin, and mother of the late Right Hon. William Saurin, Attorney-General for Ireland, and of James Saurin, Bishop of Dromore.

The eldest son,

CARTERET MUSSENDEN, Esq., b. in 1698, at the death of his maternal uncle, and in compliance with his will, took the surname and arms of LEATHES. He represented the boroughs of Harwich and Sudbury in several successive parliaments, and d. in 1787, possessed of considerable property in the cos. of Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex. By his marriage with Loveday, dau. of S. Garrod, Esq. of the co. of Lincoln, who d. in 1758, he had, with one dau., three sons, viz.,

I. Louisa-Mary. II. Harriet-Elizabeth.

Family of Leathes.

The family of Leathes appears to have been originally settled at Leatheswater, Cumberland. In Nicholson's History of that county, p. 199, we find the following remarks: —"Leathes is a hamlet next unto Wampool, and was so called from a grange or farm which the Lord of Whiterigg had there. From this place the family of Leathes took their surname, which anciently well nigh the Conquest enjoyed the same, and it descended in the issue male until Adam de Leathes, in the reign of Queen ELIZABETH, sold the same to the inhabitants." They appear to have possessed considerable property in the north of Ireland about the end of the 17th century, and were Lords of Aghatresk and other places in the co. of Antrim. William, son of Adam Leathes, of the above place, and maternal uncle of Carteret Mussenden, afterwards Leathes, was b. in 1674, and rose rapidly under the Duke of Marlborough to posts of considerable importance, both civil and military: he was paymaster-general to the forces in the reign of Queen ANNE, and many years King GEORGE I.'s Minister-plenipotentiary at the courts of Brussels and the Hague. He d. at his residence, Brocket Hall, Herts, in 1727, leaving a large funded property, together with his Irish estates, and those of Great and Little Oakley, co. Essex, to his eldest nephew, CARTERET, who was to assume the name and arms of LEATHES.

Arms—Az., on a bend, between three fleurs-de-lis, or, as many mullets, pierced, gu., quartering MUSSENDEN. (See BURKE'S Heraldic Illustrations.)

LECHE OF CARDEN.

LECHE, JOHN-HURLESTON, Esq. of Carden, co. Chester, b. 23 May, 1805; m. 25 May, 1826, Elizabeth-Antonia, eldest dau. of Anthony-Innys Stokes, Esq. of St. Botolph's, in Pembrokeshire, and has had issue,

I. JOHN-HURLESTON, b. 25 Feb. 1827.
II. William-Randolph, b. 10 Feb. 1828, and d. 7 Jan. 1830.
III. William-Edward, b. 4 Aug. 1830.
IV. Hugh-Richard-Anthony-Evergreen, b. 5 April, 1832.
V. Charles-Henry, b. 30 May, 1833.
VI. Randal, b. 22 Jan. 1835.
VII. James-Thomas, b. 30 May, 1837.

I. Victoria-Penelope. II. Johanna-Hurleston.

Mr. Leche s. his father 8 May, 1817, and served the office of high-sheriff for Cheshire in 1832.

Lineage.

A family which assumed their surname of CAWARDEN, or CAWARTHYN, from their place of abode in the county of Chester, where they had settled before the reign of HENRY III., terminated in the male line, about the time of HENRY IV., with

ISABELLA, m. to Thomas Fitton, of Cawarden.
LUCY, m. to JOHN LECHE.
Eleanor, m. to John Golborne.
Margery, m. to David de Cluttone.

The husband of the second co-heir,

JOHN LECHE, who was living in the reign of HEN. IV., and then in possession of Lower Carden, in right of his wife, is made by some pedigrees a younger brother of the family of Leche, of Chatsworth, co. Derby; "but," says Ormerod, "there is a material variation between the higher generations of the Chatsworth Leches, as given in these pedigrees, and in abstract of deeds, (Harl. MSS. 2119, 50,) from which, if correct, it appears that the family was settled in Carden as early as 20 EDWARD III., when Eva, widow of Hugh de Warin, releases lands in Caruthin to John Leche, and Lucy, his wife, her sister, which John is said to be father of Leche, surgeon to EDWARD III., who, by patent, (50 EDWARD III.,) was grantee of Castle Warin and other lands, and was father of Daniel, the father of John Leche, to whom Jane, wife of John Preston, delivers lands in Carden, 2 HENRY IV., and who obtained the Lower Carden estate in marriage with Lucy de Cawarden." John Leche left by Lucy de Cawarden a son and heir,

JOHN DE L'LECHE, to whom, and to Maud, his wife, (dau. of Robert del Holte, and relict of Robert de Carden,) Howell de Elton, and Ellen, his wife, release lands in Clotton, Carden, and Aldersey, 18 HENRY VI. The said John Leech, and Maud, his wife, and the said Howell and Ellen, hold lands for life in Tilston, Carden, and Clotton, and grant the same in trust to Berneston de Churton, 31st of the same king. John de l'Leche had, with David of Nantwich, an elder son, his successor,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, whose name, with that of his wife, Isabel, dau. and heir of William Johnson, of Farndon, occurs in a deed in 1 EDWARD IV. (1461.) His son and successor,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, m. 14 EDWARD IV., Margaret, dau. and sole heir of George Mainwaring, Esq. of Ightfield, and had issue, I. JOHN, his heir; II. Henry, who m. Mary, dau. of Andrew Wilson, and was father of JOHN, who s. his uncle at Carden; III. George, alderman of Chester, ancestor of the LECHES OF MOLLINGTON; IV. William; V. Robert; I. Anne; and II. Margaret, m. to Hugh Catherall. The eldest son and heir,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, survived until 6 EDWARD VI., as appears by his will dated in that year, and dying without issue, was s. by his nephew,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, who m. before 27 HENRY VIII., Jane, dau. of Robert Fitton, Esq., and had (with a younger son, Charles, and two daus., Margaret, b. in 1567, and Anne, wife of — Broughton) a successor,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, bapt. at Tilston in 1558, who inherited at his father's decease, 11 ELIZABETH. He m. Ursula, (living in 1591, the date of her husband's will,) dau. of the Rev. John Mainwaring, of Drayton, and had (with two daus., Mary, the elder, m. to Thomas Bebington, of Chorley; and the younger, m. to John Hinde, of Stanney,) a son and heir,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, who m. in 1613, Alice, dau. of William Aldersey, alderman of Chester, and dying in 1657, was buried at Tilston, and s. by his son,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, aged fifty, 29 July, 1664, who m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of John Newton, of Highley, in Salop, and by her, who d. in 1654, had four sons and four daus., viz., I. JOHN, his heir; II. Francis, deputy-registrar of the diocese of St. Asaph; III. Thomas, a minister in Cambridge; IV. Charles, of Chester, m. Frances, dau. of George Buckley, Esq., and had a son, Samuel; I. Mary; II. Sarah, m. 10 Dec. 1682, to Humphrey Walley, of Chester; III. Elizabeth; and IV. Alice. Mr. Leche m. 2ndly, at Tilston, 20 April, 1665, Elizabeth, dau. of — Best, Esq., and relict of Richard Alport, Esq. of Overton, by whom he had Richard and Bridget. He was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, aged more than twenty-one years in 1664. He m. at Kildwick, 23 Sept. 1674, Grace, dau. of Hugh Currer, Esq. of Kildwick, in Yorkshire, and had issue, I. JOHN, his heir; II. Thomas, bapt. in 1679, rector of Tilston; III. Henry; and I. Elizabeth, m. to the Rev. Thomas Lloyd, of Plas Power, in Denbighshire, and d. in 1746. The eldest son,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, was high-sheriff of Cheshire in 1712. He m. Sarah, dau. and heiress of Thomas Hargrave, Esq. of Helsby, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN LECHE, Esq. of Carden, sheriff of Cheshire in 1753, who m. 7 May, 1728, Mary, second dau. of John Hurleston, Esq. of Newton, and co-heir of her uncle, Charles Hurleston, Esq. and by her, who d. 29 Dec. 1763, aged fifty-two, left at his decease (with three daus., I. Penelope, m. to Thomas Puleston, Esq. of Emral, but d. s. p.; II. Sarah; and III. Mary, m. to Thomas Roberts, Esq. of Mollington) several sons, all of whom d. s. p., except

WILLIAM LECHE, Esq. of Carden, the only proprietor of that estate in a line of thirteen generations who did not bear the name of John. He served the office of sheriff for Cheshire in 1774, and m. at Tilston Church, 26 April, 1805, Hannah, dau. of James Newell, by whom he had a son, JOHN-HURLESTON, his heir. Mr. Leche dying 8 May, 1817, aged eighty-three, was buried in a new vault in Tilston churchyard, on the north side of a chancel belonging to the family, erected by Edward Wright, Esq., and s. by his son, the present JOHN-HURLESTON LECHE, Esq. of Carden.

V. Squire-Thornton. VI. Stratford.
I. Jane-Elizabeth. II. Diana-Maria.
III. Louisa-Victoria. IV. Albertina.

Mr. Lecky s. his father 29 Jan. 1834.

Lineage.

This family, which has been settled in the north of Ireland for nearly two centuries, and members of which took part, as military officers, in the memorable siege of Derry, is of Scotch extraction, and was early established in the neighbourhood of Stirling, where the ruins of the ancient seat are still visible, and where a village was called Lecky. During the popular tumults of Scotland, two brothers of the name were obliged to fly from their native country—persecuted, tradition adds, by the vindictive feeling of the Duke of Argyll—and established themselves in the sister island; one in the county of Londonderry, and the other in the county of Carlow. From the former derives the present HOLLAND LECKY, Esq. of Castle Lecky; and from the latter, the present JOHN-JAMES LECKY, Esq. of Ballykealey.

A hundred and fifty years since, the name of Lecky is associated with the high official appointments of Derry, for which city the late ALDERMAN WILLIAM LECKY (cousin of Averell Lecky, Esq. of Castle Lecky) was twice returned in 1790. CONNOLLY-M'CAUSLAND LECKY, Esq., the inheritor of his property, m. in 1835, Anne, dau. of John Harvey, Esq. of Bargy Castle, co. Wexford.

The grandfather of the present representative of the Derry Leckys,

HOLLAND LECKY, Esq. of Castle Lecky and Ballyholland House, capt. 2nd Dragoon-guards, (whose mother was dau. of John Averell, Bishop of Limerick,) m. Elizabeth, dau. of the Rev. Thomas Daniel, of the co. of Derry, an heiress, and had issue, AVERELL, his heir; Holland; William; and Catherine. The eldest son,

AVERELL LECKY, Esq. of Castle Lecky and Ballyholland House, capt. 14th Light-dragoons, m. in or about the year 1790, Jane, widow of Mr. Aylward, of Ballinagar, co. Galway, and dau. of the late Hyacinth Daly, Esq. of Killimur Castle, in the same county, (see p. 304,) and by her left at his decease, 29 Jan. 1834, an only child, the present HOLLAND LECKY, Esq. of Castle Lecky and Ballyholland House.

Arms—Az., a chev. between three mullets, or. (See BURKE'S Heraldic Illustrations.)
Crest—A wild boar's head, erased, ppr.
Motto—Semper paratus.
Seats—Castle Lecky, and Ballyholland House.

LECKY OF BALLYKEALEY.

LECKY, JOHN-JAMES, Esq. of Ballykealey, co. Carlow, b. 2 Oct. 1799; m. in July, 1825, Sarah-Lucia, dau. of the late John Smith, Esq., and has one son, JOHN-FREDERICK, and one dau., Mary-Elizabeth. Mr. Lecky is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant of the county of Carlow, and served as high-sheriff in 1828.

Lineage.

JOHN LECKY, Esq. of Ballykealey, co. Carlow, son of Robert Lecky, Esq., and grandson of James Lecky, Esq., who derived from the younger of the two brothers who, flying from Stirlingshire, settled themselves in Ireland, (see LECKY OF CASTLE LECKY,) m. in 1780, Elizabeth Goff, and left, at his decease, surviving issue, a dau., the wife of Richard Goff, Esq. of Tottenham Green, co. Wexford, and an only son, the present JOHN-JAMES LECKY, Esq. of Ballykealey.

Crest—A boar's head, erased, ppr.
Mottoes—Semper paratus, and, Virtus post funera vivit.
Seat—Ballykealey, co. Carlow.

LEDSAM OF CHAD HILL.

LEDSAM, JOSEPH-FREDERICK, Esq. of Chad Hill, co. Warwick, b. 16 April, 1791; m. 4 Dec. 1817, Elizabeth-Ann-Ashton, only dau. and heir of James Goddington, Esq. of Camp Hill, near Birmingham, Banker, and has surviving issue,

I. JOSEPH, b. 24 Dec. 1823.
II. Frederick-George, b. 23 Nov. 1826.
III. Thomas-Moreton, b. 10 May, 1830.
IV. William, b. 27 Oct. 1832.
I. Mary-Elizabeth. II. Emily-Agnes.

Mr. Ledsam is a magistrate for the counties of Warwick, Worcester, and Stafford, and a Deputy-Lieutenant of the first named.

Lineage.

This family is of very considerable antiquity in the counties of Chester and Flint. Ormerod, in his History of the former shire, mentions that "Richard, son of Letitia de Ledsham, occurs in a grant of lands in Moston, in the time of Thomas, Abbot of Chester, in the thirteenth century;" and Willet, in his Memoirs of Hawarden, says that "the earliest documents the parish possesses, save the Register, is a copy of the Will of GEORGE LEDSHAM, late of the Inner Temple, London, bearing date 24 Feb. 1606. By this will," continues Mr. Willet, "George Ledsham left £300 to erect and maintain a grammar-school for ever, in the west corner of the churchyard of Hawarden. Mr. Ledsham was a freeholder of this parish, and the proprietor of that estate in Ewloe known by the name of Farm-Stile, the which he gave to his sister, Ann Ledsham, who married a Mr. Robert Jones, of Farm-Stile." Among the names of the ancient families of the city of Chester, in 1646, when it surrendered to the parliamentary forces, is mentioned Thomas Ledsham.

GEORGE LEDSHAM, of the Inner Temple, of Hawarden, co. Flint, and of the Farm-Stile estate, in Ewloe, died about 1606, leaving a son,

DANIEL LEDSHAM, b. at Weppera, co. Flint, who went to Ireland about 1655, as secretary to Col. Harrison, in CROMWELL'S army. He d. in that kingdom, leaving three sons, DANIEL; JOHN, of Hawarden; and Thomas. The eldest son,

DANIEL LEDSHAM, Esq. of Cloghjordan, co. Tipperary, served as high-sheriff of that county. He subsequently removed to Flintshire, and finally settled at Birmingham, where he died in 1783, aged ninety-three. He m. 23 May, 1727, Ann, dau. of John Moreton, Esq. of Northop, co. Flint, and had issue,

JOHN, Fort-Major of Pendennis Castle, d. s. p.
Joseph, of Water Eaton, co. Stafford, whose only dau., Ann, d. unm. in 1831.
Daniel, d. unm.
THOMAS, of whom presently.
Edward, whose dau. Elizabeth, m. to John Bourne, Esq.

The fourth son,

THOMAS LEDSAM, Esq., b. at Hawarden, co. Flint, 12 Feb. 1740, m. Charlotte, eldest dau. of William Ward, Esq. of Allestree Hall, co. Derby, by Mary, his wife, dau. of Richard Smith, Esq. of Enderby Hall, co. Leicester, and had issue,

I. JOHN-MORETON, b. 19 Oct. 1762, of Farringdon, co. Berks, and Lechlade, co. Gloucester, m. Mary-Barbara, dau. of Coffin, of Blackladies, co. Stafford, and d. 6 Nov. 1832, leaving issue,
  John-Joseph, b. 14 Nov. 1798, m. 9 July, 1828, Selina-Jones, of Packington, co. Warwick.
  Barbara-Maria, m. 27 Dec. 1823, to Gabriel-Jean-Marie De Lys, M.D., only son of the Marquis de Lys, of La Vilder, Brittany, and had issue.
  Frances-Anne, m. to George-Elwell Jackson, Esq.
II. JOSEPH, of whom presently.
III. Daniel, of the Moors and Nonsuch, co. Worcester, b. 29 March, 1772, m. Sarah-Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Soden, Esq. of Allesley, co. Warwick, and had issue, DANIEL, in holy orders, b. 26 Jan. 1813, and Sarah, m. in 1832, to Charles Hopkins, Esq., lieut. R.N.
IV. William, b. 10 March, 1778, d. at Lisbon, 13 July, 1814.

The second son,

JOSEPH LEDSAM, Esq., b. 5 March, 1767, m. Mary, eldest dau. of John Bullock, Esq., by his wife, Mary Blythe, of Saltley, co. Warwick, and dying 9 Nov. 1816, left (with a dau., Mary-Anne-Moreton, m. 23 Jan. 1818, to Joseph Hodgson, Esq. of Birmingham, F.R.S., and has one dau., Marianne,) an only surviving son, the present JOSEPH-FREDERICK LEDSAM, Esq. of Chad Hill.

LEIGH OF BARDON.

LEIGH, ROBERT, Esq. of Taunton, b. in 1774; late Captain 1st Somerset Militia, and a deputy-lieutenant for that county.

Lineage.

This is a branch of an ancient Devonshire family, Walter de Lega having, as appears by Sir William Pole's collections towards a description of Devon, held lands therein in the reign of HENRY II. Lysons, in the sixth volume of his "Magna Britannia," in his account of families extinct since 1620, or removed out of the county, states, that "Leigh, of Ridge, in Bishop's Morchard, married the heiress of Ridge. Ten descents are described in the Visitation of 1620, when there was male issue."

ROBERT LEIGH, a scion of the Leighs of Ridge, removed out of Devonshire, and settled at Bardon, in Somersetshire, A.D. 1595. His great-grandson,

ROBERT LEIGH, of Bardon, m. in 1674, Margaret, dau. of John Collard, of Spaxton, co. Somerset, a gentleman of good estate, to whom arms had been granted for his loyalty, after the Restoration, in 1666. Their eldest son,

Lineage.

The surname of Leith is deemed of great antiquity in Scotland, and those who bore it held, in a remote era, vast possessions, including the Barony of Restalrig, and others in the shire of Mid-Lothian and territory of Leith, whence it is presumed the name was assumed. The immediate ancestor of the family before us,

William Leith, of Barnis, living in the time of David Bruce, and said to have been the male representative of the Leiths of Edingarrock, was Provost of Aberdeen in 1350, and proprietor of the lands of Caprington, in Aberdeenshire. He m. a dau. of Donald, 12th Earl of Marr, and had two sons, Laurence, his heir; and John, ambassador to the court of England in 1412. William Leith d. some time in the reign of Robert II., and was s. by his elder son,

Laurence Leith, of Barnis, co. Aberdeen, and Provost of Aberdeen in 1401, 1403, and 1411. He d. in the time of James II., and was s. by his son,

Norman Leith, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Leslie, 4th Baron of Balquhain, by Agnes Irvine, his wife, dau. of the Baron of Drum, and had three sons, viz., Henry, his heir; Gilbert; and John, ancestor of the Leiths of Overhall. Norman d. temp. James III., and was s. by his son,

Henry Leith, of Barnis, who had also three sons, George, his heir; William, successor to his brother; and Patrick, progenitor of the Leiths of Harthill. Dying before the year 1479, he was s. by his eldest son,

George Leith, Esq., who possessed many other lands besides those of Barnis. He had two daus., viz.,

Elizabeth, m. to John Forbes, of Towie.
Janet, m. 1st, to Alexander Seton, of Meldrum, and 2ndly, to Sir Alexander Gordon, of Abergeldie.

Between his two daus., George Leith, at his decease, in 1505, divided the lands of Barnis &c., but the representation of the family devolved upon his brother,

William Leith, Esq. of Edingarrock, which estate he had acquired by charter from George Leslie, of Leslie, dated on the last day of Jan. 1499. He m. a dau. of Gordon, of Strathdon, and was s. by his elder son,

Patrick Leith, Esq. of Edingarrock, who d. without issue, and was s. by his brother,

George Leith, Esq. of Edingarrock, who, in 1550, was served and returned heir male to his uncle, George Leith, of Barnis, before John Leslie, of Balquhain, Sheriff of Aberdeen, and an inquest composed of fifteen of the leading gentlemen in the county. He d. at an advanced age, about the close of Queen Mary's reign, and was s. by his son,

Patrick Leith, Esq. who during the lifetime of his father was designed of Likliehead. He m. Jean, second dau. of William Leslie, seventh Baron of Balquhain, by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Sir Walter Oglivie, of Boyne, and had issue,

Patrick, his heir.
John, designed of Edingarrock, who m. a dau. of John Leslie, of Wardis, but d. s. p.
Laurence, successor to his brother Patrick.
Henry.
Nicholas, m. to George Leslie, fourth Laird of Finrassie.
Margaret, m. to Stephen Leslie, fourth Laird of Warthill.

This Patrick d. in the end of the reign of James VI., and was s. by his eldest son,

Patrick Leith, Esq. of Edingarrock, who sold that estate and the lands of Likliehead, to John Forbes, of Leslie. Dying s. p., he was s. by his brother,

Laurence Leith, Esq. of Kirkton de Rain, who m. 1st, Agnes, third dau. of Alexander, third Laird of Wardis, by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Alexander Forbes, of Towie. By this lady he had no issue, but by his second wife, Bessie, dau. of Sir George Gordon, of Cocklarochie, he had a son and successor,

John Leith, Esq., who sold the lands of Kirkton de Rain, and purchased those of New Leslie, (whence he was sometimes designed,) Peill, Syde, Arnbog, &c. He m. Margery, dau. of Arthur Forbes, fourth son of the sixth Lord Pitsligo, by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Alexander Leslie, fourth Laird of Pitcaple, and had (with two daus., the elder m. to Lumsdain, of Cushnie; the younger, to Forbes, of Culquhary) two sons, namely, James, his heir; and Alexander, commonly called Hard Head, ancestor of the Leiths of Bucharne, Blair, &c. The son and heir,

James Leith, of New Leslie, m. Margaret, dau. of Alexander Strachan, of Glenkindy, and had issue, John, his heir; Alexander, ancestor of the Leiths of Glenkindy and Freefield; William, d. s. p.; Margaret, m. to Gordon, of Beldomie; and Jean, m. to John Grant, of Tomavillion. He was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

John Leith, Esq. of Leith Hall, who m. Janet Ogilvie, dau. of George, second Lord Banff, by Agnes Falconer, his wife, dau. of Alexander, first Lord Halkerton, and had issue, John, his successor; Patrick; George, of Blackhall; Laurence; Anthony; and Elizabeth, m. to Richard Gordon, Esq. of Craigmile. Mr. Leith, acquiring the whole estate of Leslie, in the Garrock, regained possession of the lands of Edingarrock, his ancient patrimonial inheritance. He d. in 1727, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN LEITH, Esq. of Leith Hall, who m. Mary, dau. of Charles Hay, Esq. of Rannes, and dying in 1736, left (with a dau., Janet, m. to James Gordon, of Ardmilie) a son and heir,

JOHN LEITH, Esq. of Leith Hall, who augmented his estate by the lands of Lair and Ardlair. He m. Harriot, dau. and heiress of Alexander Steuart, of Auchluncart, and had three sons, viz.,

JOHN,
ALEXANDER, } heirs in succession.

James, (Sir,) a Lieut.-Gen. in the army, G.C.B., K.T.S., Grand Cordon of the Order of Merit of France, Governor of Barbadoes, and Commander of the forces in the Windward and Leeward Islands. Sir James Leith d. 16 Oct. 1816.

John Leith d. in 1763, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN LEITH, Esq. of Leith Hall, at whose decease, without issue, in 1778, the estates devolved on his brother,

ALEXANDER LEITH, who, having s. Andrew Hay, of Rannes, was the late GEN. ALEXANDER LEITH-HAY, of Rannes and Leith Hall. This gentleman, who was b. in 1758, m. in 1784, Mary, dau. of Charles Forbes, Esq. of Ballogie, and had issue,

LENIGAN OF CASTLE FOGARTY.

LENIGAN, JAMES, Esq. of Castle Fogarty, co. Tipperary, m. Ellen-Frances, dau. of John Evans, Esq., and sister of William Evans, Esq., late M.P. for Leominster, by whom he has two daus., viz.,

SARAH-ELLEN-HENRIETTA.
PENELOPE-ELIZABETH-MARIE.

Mr. Lenigan s. his father in 1825. He is a magistrate for the county of Tipperary.

Lineage.

The ancient family of Fogarty, now represented by the Lenigans of Castle Fogarty, was of importance in Ireland antecedently to the descent of the English in the reign of HENRY II. The chief of the Sept, in 1583,

CONOHER NA SURY O'FOGARTA, of Munroe, co. Tipperary, was father of

DONOUGH O'FOGARTY, who was slain in battle at Lateragh, his father then living, 26 Nov. 1583, and was the Donough who m. Ellen Purcell, of the ancient Baronial family of Loghmoe, and lies buried in the Abbey of Holy Cross, to which he was a considerable benefactor. He was s. by his son,

DONALD O'FOGARTY, of Munroe, surnamed Grany, or the Ill-favoured, whose son and heir,

DONOUGH O'FOGARTY, of Inchy O'Fogarty, Fishmoyne, and Bally Fogarty, (now Castle Fogarty,) left two sons, viz.,

ROGER, his successor.
William, of Fishmoyne, physician to his Majesty King CHARLES II., who, under the charge of being concerned in the Meal-Tub Plot, was imprisoned in the Tower, and d. there s. p. in 1665. This is the gentleman described in the Act of Settlement as Ensign William Fogarty, and who under that act is included amongst those exempted from confiscation. His will bears date in 1606.

The elder son and heir,

ROGER O'FOGARTY, of Inchy O'Fogarty, m. a dau. of Cashuy, and was s. by his son,

TEIGE, or TIMOTHY O'FOGARTY, of Bally Fogarty &c., who m. Margaret, dau. of Burke, of Barrycurry, (of the family of Lord Brittas,) and had issue,

CORNELIUS, his heir.
Thomas, m. Anne, dau. of James Magrath, Esq. of Derrymore, and had a son, Magrath Fogerty, who was father of Thomas Fogerty, and grandfather of Magrath Fogerty, Esq. of Ballinlonty, and of Philip Fogerty, Esq., Barrister-at-Law.
John.
Dyonisius, a priest.
Malachy, Doctor of the Sorbonne, and Prefect of the College of Lombard, in Paris, anno 1705.

The eldest son and heir,

CORNELIUS FOGARTY, Esq. of Castle Fogarty, b. 14 May, 1661, captain in the army of King JAMES II., m. in 1696, Mary, dau. of Michael Kearney, Esq. of Milestown, co. Tipperary, and dying in 1730, was s. by his son,

TEIGE, or TIMOTHY FOGARTY, Esq. of Castle Fogarty, who d. s. p. at the age of fifty, in 1747, and was s. by his brother,

THOMAS FOGARTY, Esq. of Castle Fogarty, who m. Christian, dau. and eventual heir of James Meyler, Esq. of Sallymount, co. Kildare, and had issue,

JAMES, his heir.
Thomas, Capt. in the Regt. of Uttonia, in the Spanish service, d. unm. in 1781.
ELIZABETH, m. to WILLIAM LANIGAN, Esq. of Zoar, co. Kilkenny, and by him (who d. 23 Nov. 1768) left an only son,
THOMAS LENIGAN.

Mr. Fogarty d. in 1758, and was s. by his elder son,

JAMES FOGARTY, Esq. of Castle Fogarty, who having conformed to the Established Church, served the office of high-sheriff for the county of Tipperary in 1783. He d. unm. in 1788, when his sister, ELIZABETH LANIGAN, became his heir, and the estates passed through her to her only son,

THOMAS LENIGAN, Esq., who thus became "of Castle Fogarty," (see family of LANIGAN, at foot.) This gentleman m. 1st, in 1794, Peniel, dau. of Edmund Armstrong, Esq. of Buncraggy, co. Clare, (by his wife, Hannah, sister of Robert-Henry Westropp, Esq.,) and had issue,

James, his successor.
Edmund.
Anna, m. to John-Dennis Ryan, Esq., Lieut. 13th Dragoons, second surviving son of the late George Ryan, Esq. of Inch, co. Tipperary, and has four sons and four daus., viz.,
George-Adolphus Ryan.
Lionel-Thomas Ryan.
John-Vivian Ryan.
Valentine Ryan.
Penelope-Maria Ryan.
Annette-Elizabeth Ryan.
Emma-Henrietta Ryan.
Marian Ryan.
Elizabeth. Henrietta.

Mr. Lenigan m. 2ndly, Clarinda, dau. of John O'Reilly, Esq. of Mount Street, city of Dublin, and had by that lady two other daus., viz.,

Mary, a nun. Rosetta.

He d. 2 Aug. 1825, and was s. by his elder son, James Lenigan, Esq. now of Castle Fogarty.

Family of Lanigan.

The name of Lanigan, or Lenigan, formerly Langadeen, or Llanaghan, is Welsh, the family having been originally of Llanaghan, co. Brecon, to which place it gave its designation. It has been settled, however, from an early period in Ireland.

William Lanigan, the first upon record, was father of

John Lanigan, whose son,

William Lanigan, m. 1st, Miss Grace, of Kilkenny, by whom he had issue, and 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Charles Gore, Esq. of Goreyhiggen, sixth son of Sir Paul Gore, Bart., by whom he had two sons and a dau., namely,

Valentine, who conformed to the established religion, and was s. by his eldest son,
William, who m. Rebecca, dau. of Henry Briscoe, Esq., and was s. by his eldest son,
John, who assumed the surname of Staunard, in consequence of inheriting a property under the will of an English gentleman of that name, not a relation. He was s. by his son,
John Staunard, Esq. of Grange, whose son is John Staunard, Esq., now of Grange.
George, of whom presently.
Catharine, m. to John Maher, Esq.

The second son,

George Lanigan, Esq. of Zoar, co. Kilkenny, m. Mabell, third dau. of Edmond Shee, Esq. of Cloran, in Tipperary, (by his wife, Catherine,* dau. of O'Dwyer, of Dundrum,) and had issue,

William, his successor.
Redmond.
Catherine, m. to Edward Kavanagh, Esq., of Ross.
Margaret.

Mr. Lanigan was s. by his elder son,

William Lanigan, Esq. of Zoar, who, as above stated, m. Elizabeth Fogarty, only dau. of Thomas Fogarty, Esq., and heiress of her brother, James Fogarty, Esq. of Castle Fogarty.

Arms—Quarterly: 1st, az., on a pallet, arg., three trefoils, in pale, vert, between two lions, rampant, or, each between three fleurs-de-lis, two and one, arg., for Lenigan; 2nd, az., in chief, two lions, rampant, supporting a garb, all or, in the dexter base, a crescent, and in the sinister an Irish harp, gold, stringed, arg., for Fogarty, (ancient;) 3rd, vert, a fesse, arg., between three garbs, two and one, or, for Fogarty, (modern;) 4th, arg, a chief, vert, for Myler.

LENTHALL OF BESSELS LEIGH

Lenthall, Kyffin-John-William, Esq. of Bessels Leigh, co. Berks, and Maynan Hall, co. Caernarvon, b. 12 Oct. 1789; m. 28 April, 1818, Mary-Ann, eldest dau. of John Ashton, Esq. of The Grange, co. Chester, and had issue, Edmund-Kyffin, b. 30 Aug. 1821.

William-Kyffin, b. in 1822.
Francis-Kyffin, b. in 1824. Mary-Ann.

Mr. Lenthall s. to the estates upon the demise of his father. He served the office of high-sheriff for Caernarvonshire in 1828.

Lineage.

Sir Rowland Lenthall, of Hampton Court, co. Hereford, was high in favour with King Henry IV., to whom he was Master of the Robes. He was one of the Lords-marchers, and for some time Ambassador to the Parisian court. Sir Rowland accompanied Henry V. to France, and having a command at the battle of Azincourt, made so many prisoners in that celebrated conflict, that he completed, with the produce of their ransom, the new buildings at Hampton Court. In that mansion was preserved a picture, engraved by Vertue, and said to be an undoubted original, of Henry IV. Pendent from the neck is a chain and medallion, on which are depicted the arms of the Fitz-Alans, Earls of Arundel, and underneath the following inscription: "Henry IV., King of England, who laid the first stone of this house, and left this picture in it when he gave it to Lenthall." Sir Rowland m. Margaret, dau., and eventually co-heiress of Richard Fitz-Alan, Earl of Arundel; upon which marriage, Lady Margaret being related to the king, Sir Rowland had given to him "a thousand by the year," for the maintenance of them and their heirs, of which grant, says Leland, the town of Ludlow forms a part.

Some years afterwards, the Lenthalls sold their possessions in Herefordshire to the Cornwalls, Barons of Burford, and settled at Latchford and Great Haseley, in Oxfordshire, (which manors and estates they acquired in the reign of Edward IV., by marriage with the heiress of the Pipards,) where they remained seated for many generations. In 1603, these estates were possessed by

Sir Edmund Lenthall, who was one of those fined, under an act of parliament passed in the reign of James I., for restraining persons of quality from residing so much of the year in London. Sir Edmund m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Francis Stonor, of Stonor, co. Oxford, but d. s. p., when the line of the family was continued by his brother,

William Lenthall, Esq., who m. Frances, dau. of Sir Richard Southwell, of St. Faith's, in Norfolk, and left at his decease, 2 Dec. 1596, aged 44, with other issue,

I. John, (Sir,) who inherited the family estates upon the demise of his uncle, Sir Edmund. This gentleman, who was a member of the Long Parliament, m. Bridget, dau. of Sir Thomas Temple, Bart. of Stow, and had (with eight daus., of whom Catherine m. to Lord Paisley, and Frances m. to Edward, eldest son of Sir Edward Moore, of Odiham, Hants) six sons, of whom the eldest,
Edmund, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Wade, Lieutenant of the Tower of London, and had issue two sons and a dau. The elder son married late in life, and, selling the old family estates at Latchford and Great Haseley, terminated this branch of the family. John, the second son, d. 14 May, 1641, without issue; and Bridget, the only dau., d. unm. in 1641.
II. William, of whom hereafter.
III. A dau., who m. into the family of Warcup, and was mother of Sir Edmund Warcup, the historian of Italy.

The second son,

William Lenthall, Esq., b. in June, 1591, having studied the law with eminent assiduity, and having attained high distinction in that learned profession, was, in 1637, admitted a Bencher of Lincoln's-inn, made Recorder of London, and Master of the Rolls. In 1639, he was returned member for Woodstock; and when the Long Parliament met, 3 Nov. 1640, he was chosen Speaker, which important office he continued to hold after the king's death, and until the dissolution of that assembly. In the first parliament called by Cromwell, as Protector, he had no seat; but in the second, he was returned for two places, the city of Gloucester and the co. of Oxford, and was again elected Speaker. He subsequently was appointed Chamberlain of Chester, Chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, and Keeper of the Great Seal. In the single parliament assembled by Richard Cromwell, he sat in the upper house by the title of William, Lord Lenthall, and so great was his influence and weight at the Restoration, that General Monck assured King Charles, that he could not have brought about that desirable event without Mr. Lenthall's concurrence. This eminent lawyer and statesman m. Elizabeth, dau. of Ambrose Evans, Esq. of Lodington, co. Northampton, by whom he left surviving issue.

JOHN, his successor.
Elizabeth, m. to Rowland Lacey, Esq. of Puddlecote and Shipton, in Oxfordshire.
Ann, m. to Sir John Tempest, of Bracewell, co. York.

Mr. Speaker Lenthall d. at his seat, the Priory, Burford, 1 Sept. 1661, and was privately buried at Burford, the advowson of which church, with the manor and estate, he had purchased of the great Lord Falkland. His only surviving son and successor,

SIR JOHN LENTHALL, was member for Gloucester in the Long Parliament, and also for the same place in the parliament called by RICHARD CROMWELL. Sir John, who was Colonel in the army, Governor of Windsor Castle, and one of the Six clerks in Chancery, was created a Baronet by OLIVER CROMWELL. He m. 1st, Rebecca, dau. of Thomas Bennet, an alderman of London, but had by her no issue. He m. 2ndly, Mary Blewet, relict of Sir John Stonehouse, Bart., by whom he had one son, WILLIAM, and a dau., Elizabeth, m. to Sir Sandys Fortescue, of Buckland Filleigh, co. Devon. Sir John m. 3rdly, Catherine, dau. of Eusebius Andrew, Esq. of Edmonton, Middlesex, but had no further issue. He served the office of sheriff for the co. of Oxford in 1672, and dying 9 Nov. 1681, was buried in the chancel of Bessels Leigh Church, and was s. by his only son,

WILLIAM LENTHALL, Esq., to whom General Monck stood sponsor, who m. his first cousin, the Hon. Catherine Hamilton, only child of James, Lord Paisley, by whom (who m. after his decease, the Earl of Abercorn) he left issue at his demise, 5 Sept. 1686, at the early age of 27, two sons, JOHN, his heir; and James, so named after his grandfather, Lord Paisley. The elder,

JOHN LENTHALL, Esq., who served the office of sheriff for Oxfordshire, and m. Jane, dau. of Sir W. Hill, had two sons and two daus.,

WILLIAM, his successor.
JOHN, successor to his brother.
Anne. Mary.

The elder son,

WILLIAM LENTHALL, Esq. of Burford, sheriff of Oxfordshire, dying unm. in 1781, the family representation devolved upon his brother,

JOHN LENTHALL, Esq., bapt. 29 Jan. 1722, who m. Anne, dau. of the Rev. Christopher Shute, and had two sons,

JOHN, of Burford, sheriff for Oxfordshire, in 1787, who m. Sarah, dau. of the Rev. John Caswall, rector of Swacliffe, by whom (who d. 2 March, 1837) he left at his decease, in 1820, with three daus., two sons, viz.,
- WILLIAM-JOHN, m. Frances-Mary, eldest dau. of T. Terry, Esq. of Beverley, and has one surviving son, Edmund-Henry, of Lincoln's Inn.
- Rowland-Henry, of Kemsey, in Worcestershire, who has been twice married.

WILLIAM-JOHN.

The second son,

WILLIAM-JOHN LENTHALL, Esq. of Bessels Leigh, in Berkshire, b. in Jan. 1764, was high-sheriff for the counties of Caernarvon and Merioneth. He m. in Jan. 1789, Elizabeth, dau. and co-heiress (with Anne, wife of the Rev. John Nanney, of Maes-y-neuadd, co. Merioneth, (see that name,) and Ermine, wife of Richard-Hughes Kenrick, of Nantclwyd, co. Denbigh, Esq.) of Sir Thomas Kyffin, of Maynan, co. Caernarvon, by whom (who d. in June, 1791) he had two children,

KYFFIN-JOHN-WILLIAM, his successor.
Ann-Margaret, d. young.

Mr. Lenthall was s. at his decease by his only son, KYFFIN-JOHN-WILLIAM LENTHALL, Esq., the present possessor.

LESLIE OF WARTHILL.

LESLIE, WILLIAM, ESQ., D.L.& J.P., tenth Laird of Warthill, and twenty-second lineal male descendant of the original progenitor of the ancient family of Leslie, b. 29 June, 1770; m. 16 Jan. 1813, Jane, third dau. of the late Rev. Patrick Davidson, D.D., of Rayne, and niece of the late Sir Walter Farquhar, Bart., and by this lady has issue six sons and two daus., viz.,

I. WILLIAM, b. 16 March, 1814, now partner in the house of Dent and Co., China.
II. Patrick, b. 25 Sept. 1815, settled in New South Wales; m. 9 Sept. 1840, Katherine, third dau. of the Hon. Hannibal-H. McArthur, of Vineyard, Esq., a Member of the Legislative Council in that colony; has issue, one son, William-Norman, b. 11 June, 1841.
III. Walter-Stevenson-Davidson, b. 11 Dec. 1818, settled in New South Wales.
IV. George-Farquhar, b. 19 Aug. 1820, also settled in New South Wales.
V. James, b. 5 Dec. 1824, d. 8 Oct. 1829.
VI. Thomas-Coats, b. 23 Sept. 1826.

I. Mary-Anne, m. 2 Aug. 1836, to Patrick Davidson, younger, of Tillichetly, LL.D., and Professor of Civil Law in King's College, and University of Aberdeen, and has issue, two daus., Jane-Anne and Frances-Mary, and a son, Duncan, b. 5 Aug. 1843.
II. Catherine.

Lineage.

According to the best authorities, the original progenitor of the families of the surname of Leslie, was an Hungarian knight, named Bartholomew, who appeared in Scotland in 1067, during the reign of Malcom Caenmore, and, among other distinguished marks of royal favour, obtained from that monarch a grant of the lands of Fitchie, now called Leslie, in Fifeshire, Innerlepad, in Angus, Cushnie, in Marr, and those now called Leslie in the Garioch. He had also the good fortune to rescue from imminent danger Malcom's Queen, Margaret, sister to Edgar Atheling, and granddau., maternally, of Solomon, King of Hungary, when carried away by the stream in crossing a river on horseback, dragging her to land by her belt or girdle. Hence, a belt and three buckles were assigned to him for a coat of arms, with Grip Fast as the motto, from the queen calling out in these words when in danger, and two griffins rampant, for supporters.

BARTHOLOMEW, who was designated "Dominus de Laislaus," m. one of the Queen's maids of honour, and dying in 1120, left by her a son and successor,

MALCOLM, second Lord of Leslie, who obtained an additional grant of lands from King WILLIAM THE LION, 1166. He m., but his lady's name is unknown, and was s. by his eldest son,

NORMAN, third Lord of Leslie, who m. Margaret, dau. to the Lord of Lorn, by whom he had two sons, LEONARD, his heir, and Bartholomew, who d. young. The elder,

LEONARD, fourth Lord of Leslie, m. Katherine Muir, heretrix of Tassies, in Fife, by whom he had three sons, NORMAN, Leonard, and William. This Leonard was made a golden knight, and was s. by his eldest son,

NORMAN, fifth Lord of Leslie. He m., but his lady's name is unknown, and had two daus., and the same number of sons, ANDREW, who s. him, and Walter, who, by his marriage, became Earl of Ross.

ANDREW, sixth Lord of Leslie, m. a dau. of the Lord Douglass, who brought him two sons, JOHN, his heir, and GEORGE, the first Baron of Balquhane, also two daus. We now leave the chief line, which was ennobled in 1457, in the person of George Leslie, who was elevated to the peerage in that year as EARL OF ROTHES, and whose representative, through female descent, is the present George-William-Evelyn Leslie, Earl of Rothes, and follow up the Balquhane branch.

I. GEORGE LESLIE, first Baron of Balquhane, second son, as aforesaid, of Andrew, sixth Lord Leslie, obtained from King DAVID BRUCE, 1340, a grant of the lands of Balquhane &c., and became the founder of the family who assumed the title of Barons of Balquhane. He m. Elizabeth, dau. to Keith, of Innerugie, and dying in much estimation, in 1351, left a son,

II. HEMELINE LESLIE, who m. a dau. of Maxwell, of Carlaverock, and had by her, ANDREW, his heir, and a dau.

III. ANDREW LESLIE, m. Isabel, dau. to Mortimer, of Cragievar, and having a numerous progeny, was s. by his eldest son,

IV. WILLIAM LESLIE, who m. 1st, Elizabeth Fraser,

dau. of Lord Lovat, by whom he had ALEXANDER, his successor, whose descendants have continued the Balquhane succession, but after Ernest, the 17th baron, only through female descent, down to the present time. He m. 2ndly, Agnes Irvine, dau. of the Baron of Drum, and had by her a son, ALEXANDER, first Baron of Wardes, whose descendants, after failure of the male line of the Balquhane branch, come now to be followed up, in order to continue the regular male descent from the common progenitor.

ALEXANDER LESLIE, 1st of Wardes, to whom his father gave the barony of Wardes &c., got two holly-leaves added to his armorial bearings as a distinctive mark of his family. He m. the heretrix of Balcomie, in Fife, and had JOHN, his successor.

JOHN LESLIE, of Wardes, who m. 1st, Stuart, dau. of the Bishop of Moray, who d. s. p.; 2ndly, Margaret Creighton, dau. of the Baron of Frendraught, by whom he had only one son, who s. him, named Alexander, whose descendants continued the Wardes succession, and his great-grandson, John, sixth Baron, was included among the first creation of Nova Scotia baronets, 1625; 3rdly, Forbes, dau. of the Laird of Echt, by whom he had two sons, WILLIAM and Alexander. The elder,

WILLIAM LESLIE, who got from his father the Kemmels of Durno &c., m. 1st, a dau. of William Rowan, burgess in Aberdeen, by whom he had only one son, John, slain at the fatal battle of Pinkie, in 1547. He m. 2ndly, in the year 1518, Janet Cruikshank, heiress of Warthill, she being only surviving child of John, son of Andrew Cruickshank, of Tillymorgan, who, in 1482, had acquired the lands of Little Warthill, and two ploughgates of Harlaw, from Alexander Glaster, of Glack, and thus the said William became the first proprietor of Warthill of the name of Leslie. By this lady he is reported to have had twenty-one children, of whom eight sons and eight daus. were married in their father's and mother's lifetime, viz.,

I. STEPHEN, his heir.
II. Norman, m. a dau. of Gordon, Bishop of Aberdeen, son to the Earl of Huntly.
III. William, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Gordon, of Auchindoir.
IV. Alexander, m. Isabel Leslie, dau. of the Laird of Kincraigie.
V. George, m. Margaret Dunbar, relict of the Laird of New Leslie.
VI. James, m. Isabel Chalmers, dau. of Balbithean.
VII. Patrick, m., but to whom is not known.
VIII. Walter, who m. and left two sons and daus.
I. Marjory, m. to John Lamb, of Rothie, commonly called Laird Lamb.
II. Margaret, m. 1st, to Alexander Leslie, of Meickle Dunro, and 2ndly, to Alexander Anderson, of Bonniton.
III. Janet, m. 1st, to Alexander Cruickshank, son of Tillymorgan, and 2ndly, to George Leslie, of Overboat of Spey.
IV. Christian, m. to John Leslie, of Buchanstone.
V. Clara, m. to John Seinzour, of New Rain.
VI. Isabel, m. to James Cruickshank, son of Tillymorgan.
VII. Jane, m. to David Archibald, commonly called the Leech of Lewisk, and afterwards to Robert Abercrombie, son to Birkenbog.
VIII. Elizabeth, m. to Andrew Lyall, of Middlehill, at whose marriage they all danced together in the "Ha' of Warthill," along with both parents, who were then hale and strong.

This 1st Laird of Warthill d. in 1561, and was s. by his son,

STEPHEN LESLIE, second Laird of Warthill, who m. 1st, Margaret Leith, of Lickleyhead, and 2ndly, Bessie Spens, dau. to the Laird of Boddam. By his first lady he had two sons, WILLIAM, his heir; and Alexander, who m. Isabel Runciman, dau. to Sir John Priest, of Oyne; also two daus., Julia, m. to John Anderson, son to William, of Bonnyton, and Margaret, m. to Andrew-Edward, son of William, in old Rayne. This Stephen acquired the lands of Ryehill, and dying in his 90th year, was s. by his son,

WILLIAM LESLIE, third Laird of Warthill, who m. Margaret, dau. to Gilbert Gray, of Tullo, by whom he had two sons, JAMES, his heir, and William; also two daughters, Margaret, the eldest, m. to her cousin-german, John Gray, and Beatrix, m. Gordon, Laird of Tillichoudie. He purchased Cushieston, which he gave in Wadset to his son-in-law, John Gray, also Little Folla, from his other son-in-law, Tillichoudie, in 1611, which he gave to his second son, William, whose male descendants enjoyed it for six generations, and then (1799) s. to the patrimonial inheritance of Warthill. He was s. at his decease in his 80th year by

JAMES LESLIE, fourth Laird of Warthill, who m. Beatrix Abercrombie, dau. of Walter, Archdeacon of Aberdeen, son of Birkenbog, by whom he had many children—some say twenty-one. Those that came of age were

I. WILLIAM, his successor.
II. John, who served as cornet in Pitcaple's troop at the battles of Dunbar and Worcester. He m. Janet Innes, dau. of Mr. Hierome Innes, minister of Fyvie, but d. young, s. p.
III. James, m. Isabel, dau. of Mr. Andrew Logie, parson of Rayne, and Archdeacon of Aberdeen, by whom he had two sons and two daus. He purchased Tochers, which he afterwards sold to Alexander, sixth of Warthill, and d. anno 1695.
IV. Alexander, who was settled minister of Crail, in Fife, where he m. Helen Seymour, dau. of Mr. John Seymour, minister of M'Gill, by whom he had two sons, James and David, and three daus. Being a nonconformist at the Revolution, he was, 17 Sept. 1689, deprived of his church and living by act of the Privy Council, and d. about 1705. His eldest son, James, was bred to the law, and purchased the sheriff-clerkship of Fife; but on being appointed factor to the Earl of Wemys, 1714, he removed to Crail, where he d. in 1730. He m. Catherine Mills, granddau. of Mills, of Millhouses, co. Salop. By her he had three sons, Alexander, John, and James, who all d. unm.; also three daus., Jane, m. 1st, to William Robertson, writer in Edinburgh, and 2ndly, to the Rev. David Rae, father of Lord Eskgrove by a former marriage. # LESLIE OF GLASSLOUGH.

LESLIE, CHARLES-POWELL, Esq. of Glasslough, co. Monaghan, M.P. for that county, b. 13 Sept. 1821; s. his father 15 Nov. 1831.

Lineage.

JOHN LESLIE, the founder of the Glasslough branch of the Leslie family, in Ireland, a descendant of the house of Balquhane, in Aberdeenshire, was born in the north of Scotland, and educated first at Aberdeen and then at Oxford. Of this distinguished divine, there is an interesting account in Sir James Ware's History of Ireland, edited by Harris. His chief preferment in the church of Scotland was the Bishopric of Orkney, whence he was removed to Raphoe, in 1633, and thence translated to the See of Clogher, 17 June, 1661. He d. at his seat at Castlelesley, alias Glasslough, in Sept. 1671. He was reckoned at the time of his death the oldest bishop then in the world, having been so about fifty years, from the time of his promotion to the bishopric of the Isles till the time of his death. His lordship's son and successor,

CHARLES LESLIE, was admitted a Fellow Commoner in the College of Dublin in 1664, where he continued till he commenced Master of Arts, and then entered the Temple, in London, where he devoted himself to the study of the law; but after pursuing it some years, he relinquished the legal profession in 1680, entered into holy orders, and, in 1687, became Chancellor of the Cathedral of Connor. At the Revolution, refusing to take the oaths to King WILLIAM, he was deprived of his preferment, and followed the fortunes of the exiled monarch. Eventually, however, after having undergone many difficulties through good and bad report, he returned to Ireland in 1721, and d. the March following, at his seat, Glasslough, where, in the beginning of the year 1689, there had been a brisk skirmish, wherein nearly 200 of the Irish were slain. Mr. Leslie wrote a great number of theological tracts and political papers, intended to serve the cause and party he had embraced. His son and successor,

ROBERT LESLIE, Esq. of Glasslough, m. Frances, dau. of John Rogerson, Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench, in Ireland, by Elizabeth Ludlow, his wife, aunt of the first Earl Ludlow, and had (with a dau., Annabella, m. to the late Robert Leigh, Esq. of Rose Garland, co. IV. J.-Charles-W.

Mr. Leslie s. to the estates upon the demise of his uncle, James Leslie, Esq., in 1796. He is a Deputy-Lieutenant, and was high-sheriff in 1797, for the county of Antrim.

Lineage.

The Leslies descend from the noble family of Rothes, and are allied by blood to many of the nobility of Scotland. Their first settlement in Ireland took place in the reign of James I.; and different members of the family now possess considerable estates in the counties of Monaghan, Antrim, Down, Donegal, and Meath. The chief branches still existing are those of Leslie of Glasslough, (represented by Charles-Powell Leslie, Esq., M.P.) of Ballybay, and of Leslie House. There are also, in the south of Ireland, families of the name, respecting whom it is regretted that no recent information has been obtained. From a document dated in 1788, it appears there resided in the co. of Kerry Sir Edward Leslie, Bart., who was son of the then late Bishop of Limerick, and descended from Dr. John Leslie, of Urney, who obtained from William III. the grant of Tarbert, part of Lord Clare's forfeitures. Dr. John Leslie was son of George Leslie, who came from Scotland with his relative, John, Bishop of Raphoe, and m. that prelate's wife's sister, Catherine, fourth dau. of Alexander Conyngham, Dean of Raphoe.

Henry Leslie, b. in 1580, removing from Scotland, settled in Ireland in 1614, and d. in 1661, leaving a son,

James Leslie, b. 21 Nov. 1624, who m. Jane Echlin, of Downshire, and was s. by his eldest son,

The Ven. Henry Leslie, Archdeacon of Down, b. 4 Nov. 1651, who m. Margaret Beachan, of an English family, and had, with other issue, a son and a dau., viz.,

Peter, his heir.
Penelope, who m. E.-F. Stafford, Esq., and had a dau.,
Anne, b. on Christmas-day, 1715, m. to Arthur Trevor, first Viscount Dungannon, and had issue,
Arthur Trevor, father of the present Viscount Dungannon.
Anne Trevor, m. in 1759, Garret, first Earl of Mornington, and was mother of the Marquis Wellesley, the Duke of Wellington, Lords Maryborough and Cowley, &c.
Prudence Trevor, m. to Charles-Powell Leslie, Esq. of Glasslough, co. Monaghan.

Mr. Leslie was s. at his decease by his son,

The Rev. Peter Leslie, b. in 1686, Rector of Ahoghill, co. Antrim, who m. Jane, dau. of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Dopping, Bishop of Meath, and had issue,

I. Henry, LL.D., of Ballybay, co. Monaghan, b. in Oct. 1719, Rector of Tandragee, in Armagh, who m. in 1753, Catherine, dau. of the Very Rev. Charles Meredyth, Dean of Meath, and had issue,
1. Peter-Henry, b. in 1755, killed in action in America.
2. Charles-Albert, of Ballybay, co. Monaghan, b. 23 May, 1765, m. 1st, in July, 1799, Ellen, youngest dau. of Richard Magenis, Esq. of Waringstown, co. Down; and 2ndly, in July, 1836, Lady Mary-Dorothea, sister of the Earl of Newburgh. By the former, he left at his decease, in 1838, an only surviving dau., Emily-Elinor-Wilhelmina, wife of Arthur French, Esq.
1. Catherine-Letitia, m. to the Right Rev. William Foster, Bishop of Clogher.

II. James, of Leslie House, co. Antrim, b. in 1728, m. 1st, Mrs. Hamilton, and 2ndly, Sarah Fleming, but d. s. p. in 1796.
III. Samuel, major in the 14th regt., d. unm.
IV. Edmond, Archdeacon of Down.
I. Margaret, m, to the Very Rev. Hill Benson, Dean of Connor.
II. Jane, m. to the Rev. Mr. Stewart.

The fourth son,

The Ven. Edmund Leslie, Archdeacon of Down, b. in Nov. 1735, m. 1st, Jane, dau. of John Macnaughten, Esq. of Benvarden, co. Antrim, and had by her, Peter, d. in London.

Bartholomew, d. in India.
James, now of Leslie House.
Edmund, d. in India.

Archdeacon Leslie m. 2ndly, Eleanor, dau. of George Portis, Esq. of London, and had by her three sons and one dau., viz.,

George, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Dr. Hutcheson, of the county of Down, by whom he became possessed of considerable property. He d. in 1831, leaving issue,
Edmund-Francis. George.
Mary-Eleanor. Elizabeth.
Ellen.
Henry, Dean of Connor.
Samuel, Captain R.N., m. Martha, dau. of George Vaughan, Esq.
Ellen, m. to the Rev. Stephen Dickson, youngest son of Dr. William Dickson, Lord Bishop of Down and Connor, and d. in giving birth to her daughter Ellen.

Archdeacon Leslie's eldest surviving son, having inherited the property of his uncle, is the present James Leslie, Esq. of Leslie House.

Arms—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, arg., on a bend, az., three buckles, or, for LESLIE; 2nd and 3rd, or, a lion, rampant, gu., debruised by a riband, sa., for ABERNETHY.

Lineage.

GWAETHVOED, son of Gwlydden, by Morfydd, his wife, dau. and sole heir of Owain ap Teithwalch, Lord of Cardigan, was contemporary with EDGAR, King of the Saxons, and was, in conformity with the vassalage of those periods, summoned, with other Welsh chieftains, by Edgar, to meet him at Chester, to row him, in his Royal barge, on the river Dee, in proof of fealty. Gwaethvoed, in answer to this summons, said he could not row, and that he would not, if he could, except it were to save a person's life, whether king or vassal. Edgar sent a second and very imperious message, which Gwaethvoed did not seem at all to notice, until the messenger begged to know what reply he should deliver to the king; when Gwaethvoed, in the Welsh language, answered thus: "Say to him, Fear him who fears not death" — (Ofner na ofne angau.) This stern reply, discovering at once to Edgar the fearless, unbending character he had to deal with, he prudently changed his autocratic decree into a desire of mutual friendship, and going to Gwaethvoed, gave the Chief his hand in pledge of his sincerity. Gwaethvoed married Morfydd, one of the daughters and co-heirs of Ivor, King or Lord of Gwent, by whom he was father of CEDRYCH, who is stated to have married Nest, dau. of Tangno ap Cadvael, Lord of Ardudwy, in North Wales.

CEDIVOR, son of Cedrych, was Lord of Llancayach, in Morganwg, (Glamorganshire,) and married Myfanwy, dau. of Gwrgant, Lord of Glamorgan. His son,

MEURIG AP CEDIVOR, married Gwladys, daughter of Arthen, King or Lord of Gwent, by whom he was father of IVOR AP MEURIG, known in Welsh history as IVOR BACH, (that is, Ivor Petit or Little Ivor,) who, though a man of low stature, was of high mind and courage; he m. Nest, dau. of Madoc ap Cradoc, with whom he obtained the lordship of Sainghenydd, St. Kenyth's, in Glamorganshire, and in the time of HENRY II, disputes took place between him and William, Earl of Gloucester, then Lord of Glamorgan, because the earl's predecessor had built the castle of Cardiff upon some part of Ivor's lordship, besides dispossessing him of other lands: whereupon Ivor, having gathered his forces together, took the castle of Cardiff by escalade, killing 120 soldiers, and making the earl, his countess, and their son, prisoners; these prisoners, with the spoils of the castle, he conveyed to the mountains of Sainghenydd, nor did he release them until he had compensation for the rents of which he had been deprived: it was also agreed further, that Griffith, eldest son of Ivor, should receive in marriage the earl's daughter, in consideration of which Ivor and Griffith should quit claim to the lands on which Cardiff Castle was erected. In one of the feuds, so common in those days, Ivor was eventually slain, and the valley which was the scene of his last action, is still called Pant Coed Ivor.

GRIFFITH AP IVOR, by the dau. of William Consul, had, with other issue, a son,

HOWEL MELYN AP GRIFFITH, who m. Sarah, dau. of Sir Mayo le Soer, Knt., Lord of St. Fagan's, and was father of

I. WILLIAM. II. Joseph.
I. Mary. II. Elizabeth.
III. Eleanor. IV. Ann.

Lineage.

This name seems to import Anglo-Saxon derivation. Thwaite, signifying a piece of ground cleared of wood, and the prefix, Lowe, a hill, give the ancient orthography of the name. The family appear, from ancient documents, to have held lands in various parts of Cumberland from an early period. We, however, confine ourselves here to a faithful copy from the records of the College of Arms, and authentic documents, registers, &c., since they were seated at Broad Gate.

THOMAS LEWTHWAITE, of Whicham, m. a dau. of Newby, of Haverigg, and had a son,

THOMAS LEWTHWAITE, b. 8 December, 1588, m. a dau. of Askew, of Greymains. This Thomas purchased Broad Gate, and d. in 1667, having had three children, John, a Royalist, slain at Edge Hill; JAMES; and Margaret, wife of William Benson. The second son,

LINDESAY OF LOUGHRY.

Lindesay, John, Esq. of Loughry, co. Tyrone, a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant.

Lineage.

The first of the Loughry and Tullahoge family of Lindesay was Robert Lindesay, chief harbinger and comptroller of the artillery to King James I. of England; he was son of Thomas Lindesay, collector depute within the bounds of Lothian, and searcher-general at Leith and Snowdon Herald in the years 1562, 1580, and 1592, all which situations were, at those early periods, posts of great honour, as well as of very considerable emolument. He was a descendant of the Lords Lindesay of the Byres, progenitors of the late Earl of Crawfurd and Lindesay, who died in 1808, as appears from the inscription and arms on his tombstone, in the cemetery of the Lindesays of Loughry and Cahoo, in the old Abbey burial ground of Donaghrish, in the co. of Tyrone. The inscription on this stone is as follows:—

"Heir lyeth Robert Lindesay, of Tillohog, Esq., late Chief Harbinger to King James."

On the upper part of the stone is embossed the armorial bearings of the Lords Lindesay of Byres, with the cadency mark or crescent in base, viz., "Gules, a fesse, chequy, argent and azure; three mullets in chief, of the second, and a crescent, proper, in base, crested with a swan, proper, standing, his wings closed." His patent remains recorded in the Rolls Office, Chancery-lane, London, and bears date 24 June, JAMES I., 1610.

LITTLER OF CHESHIRE.

LITTLER, SIR JOHN-HUNTER, K.C.B., Maj.-Gen. in the Hon. E. I. Co.'s service,* b. 6 Jan. 1783; m. 25 June, 1827, Helen-Olympia, only dau. (by Louisa, his wife, now Lady Colebrooke, dau. of Captain George Colebrooke) of Captain Henry Stewart, son of John Stewart, Esq., claimant of the Earldom of Orkney, who died at his estate, "Mount Stewart," Prince Edward's Island, in 1833. Mr. Stewart had been Deputy Paymaster-General to Her Majesty's Forces, and Marshal of the Court of Vice-Admiralty in the Island of Newfoundland, and also Speaker of the House of Assembly, and Receiver-General of the Quit Rents in Prince Edward's Island. Col. Littler has issue, Diana-Felicité, Mary-Anne, Helen-Colebrooke-Mary, and Louisa-Sutherland-Blanche.

Lineage.

This family is of considerable antiquity in Cheshire, and derives its surname from the town, village, or hundred of Little Over, in that county, see Lysons' "Magna Britannia," where it is also stated that the Littlers were resident in the neighbourhood of Vale Royal as early as the reign of EDWARD I., and had a seat at Wallerscote, held, at a very early period, under the Nuns of Chester. The descent of the Littlers of Cheshire is deduced from the parish registers of Tarvin, which commence in 1565.

ROBERT LITTLER, Esq. of Tarvin, co. Chester, who d. in 1578, must have been a person of considerable importance, from the large possessions which he left to his son; and his ancestors had doubtless been long established in that neighbourhood, though the previous pedigree cannot be distinctly traced.

RICHARD LITTLER, Esq. of Moss Hayes, co. Chester, m. Elizabeth, dau. of J. Ashley, Esq. of Frodsham, in the same shire, and had by her six sons and one dau., DANIEL, Richard, ROBERT, John, Thomas, William, and Elizabeth. The third son,

ROBERT LITTLER, Esq., m. in 1754, Sarah Hare, of Chorley Hall, Cheshire, and had four sons,

THOMAS. Robert.
John, m. in 1782, Mary, dau. of Samuel Hughes, Esq. of Ivy Lodge, co. Flint, and had several children, who all d. young, except the youngest, Robert, who m. in 1827, Sarah, dau. of Robert Markinson, Esq. of Bolton, and has issue.
Richard.

The eldest son,

THOMAS LITTLER, Esq., m. in 1781, Diana, dau. of John Hunter, Esq., a Director of the E. I. Co., and by her, who d. in 1829, had issue,

JOHN-HUNTER, his heir.
Thomas, R.N., d. on the coast of Africa, in 1812, unm.
Diana, m. in 1816, to James Platt, Esq. of Bolton, and d. in 1819, leaving a dau., Mary-Anne.
Mary-Anne, m. 1st, to George-Newman Hardy, Esq., who d. in 1820, and 2ndly, in 1823, to William Alsope, Esq. of Liverpool.

* Major-Gen. John-Hunter Littler sailed for India in 1800, and was captured on his passage, in the Bay of Bengal, off the Sand Heads, in the Kent Indiaman, by the French privateer La Confiance. He served with his regiment in Lord Lake's campaigns in Upper India, during 1804-5, was attached to a battalion of Bengal volunteers on the expedition to the Island of Java, in 1811; was present at the assault and capture of Batavia and Fort Cornelius, which soon after terminated in the unconditional surrender of the whole island to the British, when he was appointed to the staff by the Governor-General of India, Lord Minto. On its restoration to the Dutch, in 1816, he returned to Bengal, and was confirmed on the staff by the Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief, Lord Hastings, in which he served until 1824, when he vacated on promotion, and the attainment of the command of a regiment. He has recently been highly distinguished in the operations before Gwalior.

Mr. Littler d. 27 Oct. 1831, and was s. by his son, the present MAJOR-GEN. LITTLER, E. I. Co.'s service.

Arms—Vert, two bars, erm., between a griffin, passant, in chief, and an eastern crown, in base, or, in the fesse point, a sword, fesseways, the point to the dexter, ppr., pommel and hilt, gold, all within a bordure, engr., of the last.

Crest—A mount, vert, thereon, in front of a palm-tree, an elephant, statant, ppr., the trappings, gu., fimbriated, or, and charged with a sun in splendour, the girth, az., also fimbriated, gold, the trunk grasping a lotus-flower, slipped, also ppr.

Motto—Astra et castra.

LLEWELLIN OF HOLM WOOD.

LLEWELLIN, RICHARD, Esq. of Holm Wood, co. Gloucester, and Tregwynt, co. Pembroke, b. 29 March, 1802, a magistrate for co. Pembroke, for which county he served as high-sheriff in 1840.

Lineage.

JOHN LLEWELLIN, Esq., m. Mary Meredith, and had three sons, John, d. unm.; RICHARD; and Thomas, father of a son, Thomas, who acquired by purchase, about 1800, Olveston Court, and other lands in the parish of Olveston, co. Gloucester, which he devised at his death, unm., 22 Oct. 1823, to his nephew, Thomas, brother of the present RICHARD LLEWELLIN, Esq. of Holm Wood. The second son,

RICHARD LLEWELLIN, Esq., migrated from Pembrokeshire to Bristol, where he purchased a brewery and other property, and in 1768, the estate of Holm Wood. He m. 27 March, 1765, Mary, dau. of John Williams, Esq. of Trearchid, co. Pembroke, and d. in 1789, having had (with three daus., Mary, m. to George Fisher, of Bristol, merchant; Anne, and Elizabeth, who both d. unm.; and a son, John, who d. in infancy) an only surviving son and heir,

RICHARD LLEWELLIN, Esq. of Holm Wood, b. 1 Nov. 1759, who m. 14 Jan. 1800, Anna-Maria Ames, sister of Lionel Lyde, of Ayott St. Lawrence, Herts, and Levi Ames, of the Hyde, Beds, and by her (who descended from Chauncy de Chauncy, who came over with WILLIAM the Norman) had isssue,

RICHARD, his heir.
Thomas, b. 8 Dec. 1805, of Olveston Court, co. Gloucester, which estate, with others, he acquired under the will of his uncle Thomas.
Anna-Maria, m. 30 May, 1839, to the Rev. William Purcell.
Elizabeth, m. 6 Aug. 1834, to Capt. Thomas-Digby Roberts, Madras army.
Phœbe, and Emma, both d. unm.

Mr. Llewellin d. 17 Dec. 1825, and was s. by his elder son, the present RICHARD LLEWELLIN, of Holm Wood.

LLOYD OF PLYMOG, GWERCLAS, AND BASHALL.

LLOYD, RICHARD-WALMESLEY, Esq., Representative of the Houses of Plymog, Gwerclas, Coldcoates, and Bashall, b. 3 Aug. 1801; s. 24 Jan. 1822, to the Representation of the Family, upon the demise of his father, Richard-Hughes Lloyd, of Plymog, co. Denbigh, Gwerclas, co. Merioneth, and Bashall, co. York, Esq.; m. 14 Aug. 1828, Emma, dau. of the late William Thompson, of Linacre House, co. Lancaster, Esq., and has issue,

EDWARD-WALMESLEY, b. 7 July, 1829.
Emma-Margaretta.

Lineage.

Among the eminent families illustrating the rolls of Cambrian genealogy, few challenge higher consideration than the LLOYDS OF PLYMOG, who, in point of antiquity, both male and female, vie with the most ancient Houses in the kingdom. Paternally they derive, with the ROYAL HOUSE OF TUDOR, the Williams-Bulkeleys, Barts., Williams's of Vaenol, Barts., Griffiths of Burton Agnes, Barts.,

Lord Mostyn, and other distinguished Welsh families, from MARCHUDD AP CYNAN, Lord of Brynffenigl, in Denbighland, Founder of the VIII. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, who flourished in the middle of the IX. century; while, through heiresses, they represent several eminent Houses, including the Hughes's of Gwerclas, Barons of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, scions of the Sovereign Princes of Powys; the Coldcoates line of the Lancashire Walmesleys; a younger branch of the Ferrers's, Earls of Derby; and also the chivalrous and Knightly Talbots de Bashall, senior line of the great House of Shrewsbury.

MARCHUDD AP CYNAN'S chief seat was Brynffenigl, in Denbighland; and the Welsh heralds assign to him for arms, "Gu., a Saracen's Head, erased at the neck, arg., environed about the temples with a wreath, or, and arg.," the ensigns still borne by his descendant, Lord Mostyn. This Noble was father (with two junior sons, I. Arseth, and II. Owen) of KARWEDH AP MARCHUDD, Lord of Brynffenigl, whose son, JAFETH AP KARWEDH, Lord of Brynffenigl, was father of NATHAN AP JAFETH, Lord of Brynffenigl, who had two sons, I. EDRYD, II. Edwin, and a dau., Efa, wife of Madoc Crwm, Lord of Llechwedd, Issaf, Founder of the VII. Noble Tribe of North Wales and Powys, ancestor of SIR WILLIAM CHALONER, OF GUISBOROUGH, co. York, Bart., and of the present CHALONERS OF GUISBOROUGH. (Refer to that name.) The elder son, EDRYD AP NATHAN, Lord of Brynffenigl, had, with other issue,

I. IDNERTH AP EDRYD, of whose line we have to treat.
II. Bleddyn ap Edryd, ancestor of, I. The WYNNS OF BETTWS ABERGELLEU, co. Denbigh; II. The WYNNS OF LLANELIAN, in the same county.
III. Rhys ap Edryd, who had three sons,
1. David ap Rhys, from whom derived, fifth in descent, GRIFFITH GOCH AP DAVID, Lord of Rhos and Rhyfoniog, who was seated at Bryn-Euryn, and bore, "Or, a Griphon, rampant, gu." Griffith Goch m. Efa, dau. and heir of Ievan ap Einion, and was father of two sons,
Howel ap Griffith-Goch, Lord of Rhos and Rhyfoniog, father, by Lowry, his wife, dau. of Griffith ap David, of two daus. and co-heirs,
Agnes, m. to Griffith ap Rhys, Baron of Crogen and Branas, in Edeirnion, co. Merioneth, younger son of Rhys ap Ievan, IV. Baron of Kymmer-yn-Edeirnion, (See HUGHES OF GWERCLAS;) and from this marriage derived, I. THE LLOYDS OF CROGEN; II. The BRANAS'S OF BRANAS. (Ibid.)
Lowry, m. to Rhys ap Meredith-Tudor, and from this marriage derived I. the WYNNES OF VOCLAS; II. PRICES OF GOLER; III. PRICES OF FOXLEY, BARTS.; IV. PRICES OF RHIWLAS.
Robert ap Griffith-Goch, who had issue,
Hugh Conway, of Bryneurin, the first who borrowed from the river which bounded his domains the permanent family surname of Conway. From this gentleman (to whom an ode is addressed by Lewis Glyn Cothi—Poetical Works of Lewis Glyn Cothi, Oxford, 8vo, 1837) derived, I. The CONWAYS OF BRYNEURIN; II. CONWAYS OF NANT, whose representative, Henry Conway, of Nant, had several daus. and co-heirs, of whom Margaret m. Robert, son of Sir Roger Mostyn, Knt.; and Lucy m. Lewis Kinaston; III. CONWAYS, OF PUL-Y-CROCHAN.
John ap Robert, m. Nest, dau. of Griffith ap Howel Coetmore, and was progenitor of I. The LLWYDS OF DISERTH; II. PUGHS OF CEFN-Y-GARTHEG.

By his second wife, Janet, dau. of Sir William Stanley, of Hooton, co. Chester, Knt., Gwilym ap Griffith was father of,

Sir William Griffith, of Penrhyn, Knt., Chamberlain of North Wales, whose great-grandson,

Piers Griffith, Esq., the last hereditary Lord of Penrhyn, distinguished himself as a naval officer, temp. Queen Elizabeth, and served against the Spanish Armada. He subsequently joined Sir Francis Drake and Sir Walter Raleigh in their different expeditions against the Spaniards in the West Indies; but in the reign of James I., continuing his depredations against the same nation, after the proclamation of peace, he was called to account, and so harassed by persecution, that to defray the expenses, he was obliged to mortgage his estate, part to some citizens of London, part to John Llwyd, Esq. of Yale, in Denbighshire; the latter of whom, in conjunction with Sir Richard Trevor, bought the whole, in 1616, and sold it to the Lord Keeper Williams in 1622, who devised it to Griffith Williams, the son of his eldest brother, created a Baronet, 17 June, 1661. Piers Griffith m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Thomas Mostyn, of Mostyn, co. Flint, Knt., and was buried in Westminster Abbey.

3. Rhys ap Griffith ap Gwilym, of Nant, ancestor of the Hughes's of Prestatyn and Feador, and of the Lloyds of Nant, co. Flint, whose line terminated with John Lloyd, of Nant, who left two daus. and co-heirs, I. Janet, m. to Henry-Wynne Conway, of Nant, and II. Catherine, m. to Cadwallader ap Morris Gethin, of Voelas, High-sheriff of Denbighshire in 1548. (See Wynne of Voelas.)

II. Llewelyn ap Ednyfed Vychan, who had a moiety of Creuthyn, in Yale.

III. Kendrig ap Ednyfed Vychan, of whose line we have to treat.

IV. Rhys ap Ednyfed Vychan, of Garth Garmon.

V. Howel ap Ednyfed Vychan, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph, 25 Henry III., at Boxgrove Abbey, in Sussex, by Edmund, Archbishop of Canterbury. He d. in 1247, at Oxford, and was buried at St. Mary's, in that city, where he had retired a short time previous to his decease, on account of the wars in Wales.

Sir Henry Owen, Knt., who had a son, David Owen; II. Jasper; III. Roger; IV. Anne, Lady Hopton.

EDMUND TUDOR, created by HENRY VI., 23 Nov. 1452, Earl of Richmond, who m. the Lady Margaret Beaufort, dau. and heir of John, Duke of Somerset, and great granddau. of John of Gaunt, by Catherine Swynford, and dying in 1546, left an only son,

HENRY VII., King of England, Founder of the Royal Line of Tudor.

II. Griffith ap Ednyfed Vychan, of Henglawdd, who, in the words of an ancient Welsh chronicler, "was forced to flee into Ireland for the scandal he suffered on account of the Princess Joan, dau. of John, King of England, and wife of Llewelyn ap Iorwerth, King of North Wales." Griffith m. twice; by his first wife he was father of,

Sir Rhys Griffith, Knt., whose son, SIR GRIFFITH LLWYD, received from EDWARD I. the honour of knighthood on bringing him intelligence of the birth of his son, Edward of Caernarvon. He did homage for his lands in Wales to the young Prince at Chester, but indignant at the sufferings of his countrymen under the English yoke, he meditated a revolt. Between the years 1316 and 1318, he attempted to form an alliance with Edward Bruce, the short-lived King of Ireland; letters passed between them, but without effect, but at length determined alone to free his country from the slavery to which he himself had probably contributed, he took arms in 1322, and for a while over-ran the country with resistless impetuosity. Finally he was subdued, taken, and doubtless underwent the common fate of the gallant Cambrian insurgents. Sir Griffith, who bore "Gu., a chev., or, and a chief, erm.," m. Gwellian, dau. of Conan ap Meredith, son of Rhys, Lord of South Wales, and by her had issue, eight daus. and co-heirs. Sir Griffith Llwyd had also an illegitimate son,

Sir Ievan Llwyd, Knt., living temp. EDWARD III., mentioned by Hollinshead as "Sir Ievan of Wales." This warrior, who was appointed Governor of Guernsey and Jersey for the French, and was killed in France, m. the dau. and heir of Sir Thomas Puleston, a Knight of Rhodes, younger son of Sir Richard Puleston, of Emrall, co. Flint, Knt., and was s. by his son, Griffith ap Sir Ievan, who had two sons,

1. Ievan Vychan ap Griffith, whose great grandson, David ap Robert, had issue,
   Hugh Davies, ancestor of the DAVIES'S OF CAER RHUN, co. Caernarvon, represented as heir general by the present HUGH-DAVIES GRIFFITH, ESQ. OF CAER RHUN. (Refer to that name.)
   Thomas Davies, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph in 1561, whose dau. and heiress, Catherine, m. William Holland, of Abergelleu, co. Denbigh.
2. Llewelyn Vychan ap Griffith, ancestor of GRIFFITH AP WILLIAM LLOYD OF LLWYNDYRYS, whose dau. and heiress, Gwen Anwyll, m. Rhys Vaughan, Esq. of Cors-y-Gedol, co. Merioneth, and from this marriage derived the VAUGHANS OF CORS-Y-GEDOL. (See WYNNE OF PENIARTH.)

Griffith ap Ednyfed Vychan, by his second wife, Gwenllian, dau. of Howell ap Trehearn, Lord of Brecknock, was father of SIR HOWEL AP GRIFFITH, KNT., who m. Tanghost, dau. of David Goch ap Howell, whose son, GRIFFITH AP SIR HOWEL, bore "Gu., a chev., between three mullets, or." From the first marriage of Griffith ap Sir Howel, descended the GRIFFITHS OF BURTON AGNES, co. York, BARTS., whose heiress,

Frances, dau. and heir of Sir Henry Griffith, Bart., conveyed the estate of Burton Agnes, in marriage, to Sir Mathew Boynton, Bart., by whose descendant, the present SIR FRANCIS BOYNTON, it is now enjoyed.

By his second marriage, Griffith ap Sir Howel was father of Robert ap Griffith, of Einmal, who had two sons,

1. Robert ap Robert, who m. Myfanwy, under age 44 EDWARD III., and living 21 EDWARD IV., dau. and heir of Griffith ap David, a "Baron de Edeirnion," (Minister's Accounts in the Chapter House, Westminster, 31 EDWARD IV.,) great grandson of Iorwerth, Lord of half Edeirnion, (See HUGHES OF GWERCLAS,) and was father of a dau. and heir,
   Gwenhwyfar, who m. Ievan ap Adda ap Howel, of the Tribe of Tudor Trevor, Lord of Hereford. Their dau. and heir, Mawd, m. Tudor ap Griffith, Lord of Gwyddelwern, in Edeirnion, brother of Owen Glendower, and was mother of a dau. and heir, Lowry, who m. 1st, Robin ap Griffith Goch, and 2ndly, Griffith ap Einion, of Gwyddelwern and Corsygedol, co. Merioneth, and from this last marriage derived, I. the VAUGHANS OF CORS-Y-GEDOL; II. YALES OF PLAS-YN-YALE, CO. Denbigh; and III. ROGERS'S OF BRYNTANGOR, co. Denbigh, represented by the HUGHES'S OF GWERCLAS, co. Merioneth. (See WYNNE OF PENIARTH.)
2. Rhys ap Robert, (whose arms were, "Sa., a chev., between three mullets, arg.,") from whom derived, sixth in descent,

Family of Talbot de Bashall.

The following details of the senior branch of the House of Talbot, the TALBOTS OF BASHALL, co. York, are derived from the Family charters, muniments, and MSS.; from Dugdale's Genealogical History of the House of Shrewsbury, (Baronage, vol. i. p. 325;) and from an ancient elaborate Latin Pedigree in Dr. Whitaker's History of Craven, (p. 25,) which, by Dr. Whitaker's additions, continues the Bashall line to RICHARD-HUGHES LLOYD, Esq. of Gwerclas, Plymog, and Bashall, father of the present Representative, RICHARD-WALMESLEY LLOYD, Esq.

RICHARD DE TALBOT, the immediate progenitor of the chivalrous and historic House of Bashall, held domains in Normandy, xx. years anterior to the English Conquest, of the fee of Robert, Earl of Moreton, ancestor of the distinguished family of De Burgh, (Talbot de Bashall, Lat. Ped., apud. Whitaker, ut supra,) and was witness with WILLIAM the Conqueror, then King of England, Matilda, his queen, and Radulph de Granville, to the grant which Richard's kinsman, Walter Giffard, Earl of Buckingham, made to the monks of Cerasie, in Normandy, (Mon. Angl., orig. ed., vol. ii. p. 960, n. 50.) In Doomsday Book, Richard de Talbot is mentioned to have held nine hides of land of the said Walter, in Badlesdane, in Bedfordshire; and by other authorities (Lillie's Ped. of the Nobility; MS. penes Joh. Com. Egmont, &c.) he appears to have had great possessions in other parts of England. He m. the dau. of Gerard de Gournay, Baron of Yarmouth, temp. WILLIAM the Conqueror, derived from Eudes, a follower of Rollo, to whom that chieftain assigned the fortress of Gournay, in Normandy, (MS. Pergam. Famil. Stanley, penes Jac. nup. Com. Derby,) (by Editha, his wife, dau. of William de Warrene, Earl of Surrey, by Gundred, dau. of WILLIAM the Conqueror,) and sister of Hugo de Gournay, described in the Latin Bashall Pedigree as "Educatus cum HEN. I. et ab illo multum honoratus et dilectus." (See GURNEY OF KESWICK.) By this lady Sir Richard de Talbot had two sons, viz.,

i. GEOFFREY, ancestor of the Talbots de Bashall, of whom presently.
ii. HUGH, made Governor of Plessy, in Essex, in 1118, by his uncle, Hugh de Gournay, then in rebellion against HEN. I., father of,

RICHARD DE TALBOT, ANCESTOR OF THE HOUSE OF SHREWSBURY.

The elder son,

GEOFFREY DE TALBOT, held temp. HENRY I., two knights' fees of the king, in capite, in Wokingbury, co. Kent, and the manors of Luddesdon, Buckland, and Little Wrotham, in the same county. In a charter of King STEPHEN, "actum apud Westmonasterium in generalis consilii celebratione et Paschalis Festi solemnitate," Geoffrey Talbot, by the description of "BARON," is enumerated among "the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Earls, and Barons," then present. This potent Noble was a benefactor to the monks of Rochester, to whom he gave his lordship of Little Wrotham. During the civil wars of the reign of STEPHEN, Geoffrey took an active part, as a military partisan of the Empress Maud, for whom he fortified the castle of Hereford. By Agnes, his wife, he was father of,

WILLIAM DE TALBOT, 5 STEPHEN, "Capitaneus Castri de Hereford ex parte Matildæ Imperatricis in servitio cum Gilberto Laceo contra Regem Stephanum." He held two knights' fees of Roger de Mowbray in Gainsbourg, co. Lincoln, and lands of William, Earl Warrene, in the counties of Norfolk and York, 22 HENRY II. William's son,

ROBERT DE TALBOT, was, 7 JOHN, Lord of the manor of Gainsbourg, and in the 18th of the same reign he was in the King's service in Ireland, with Hugo de Lacy, who for his services granted him lands in Brakenberge. He m. Ermintrude, elder dau. and co-heir of Robert de Ferrers, Lord of Egginton, co. Derby, son and heir of Walkelyn de Ferrers, Lord of Egginton, second son of William de Ferrers, iii. Earl of Derby, living 12 HENRY II., by Margaret, dau. and heir of William Peverell, Lord of Nottingham, (Refer to FERRERS OF BADDESLEY CLINTON,) and had a son,

ROBERT DE TALBOT, who held lands in Huddersfield of the De Lacys. By Matilda Bereride, his wife, he was father of,

THOMAS DE TALBOT, who, being related to the De Lacys, Earls of Lincoln, was constituted Governor of Clitheroe Castle, co. York, by Edmund de Lacy, Constable of Chester, temp. HENRY III.; he had also, by Lacy's gift, 37 HEN. III., 1256, the manors of BASHALL,* and MITTON, in the Parish of Mitton, Deanery of Craven, and County of York, granted to himself and his heirs in fee farm, paying thereout 8*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* per annum. (Ex. Chart. Thom. Talbot, quondam de Bashall, Dugd. Bar. in Talbot.) Thomas Talbot de Bashall bore, "Arg., three Lioncels, salient, purpure, langued and armed, az.," arms still borne by his descendants. By Mathea, his wife, who survived him, Thomas Talbot, who d. before 3 EDW. I., had an eldest son,

SIR EDMUND TALBOT, de Bashall, who was constituted Steward of Blackburnshire, 28 EDWARD I., by Henry de Lacy, then Earl of Lincoln, (Reg. I., Whalley Abbey,) and was, 32 EDWARD I., 1303, in the great expedition against Scotland, which subjected that country to the temporary dominion of the English monarch. For those services, Henry de Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, granted to him, in 1303, the manor of Hapton, in Blackburnshire, and Sir Edmund obtained, subsequently, a royal charter (Cart.

* Bashall has been variously spelt Beckshalgh, Baschelf, Bakesholf, and Bashal, but the first orthography is the true one, Beckshalgh, or the Hill by the Brooks, which agrees precisely with its situation.—Whitaker's Craven.

The present building is a plain handsome hall house, apparently of about the time of CHARLES I.; but there remains on the north of the house, one side of the ancient mansion of the Talbots, built of timber, with a rude corridor on the upper story, opening into several apartments. It seems to have been one side of a quadrangle.—Ibid.

32 EDW. I.) of free warren in his demesne lands of Bashall and Mitton, and also in those of Hapton, bearing date at Striveling, (Stirling,) 34 EDW. I. In the preceding year he received the honour of knighthood, by bathing, and other ceremonies, along with Prince Edward, (afterwards EDWARD II.) (Dugd. Baron., under Talbot.) He m. Jane, dau. (with Mary, wife of Sir John Tempest, Knt. of Bracewell, co. York) of Sir Robert Holland, Knt. of Holland, co. Lancaster, and sister of Thomas Holland, Earl of Kent, K.G., husband of JOAN PLANTAGENET, the Fair Maid of Kent, afterwards married to EDWARD the BLACK PRINCE. By this lady (who m. 2ndly, Sir Hugh Dutton, Knt. of Dutton, co. Chester; and 3rdly, John, son and heir of Sir Robert Ratcliff, of Ordsall) Sir Edmund Talbot left at his decease, before 4 EDWARD II.,

I. THOMAS, (Sir,) his heir.
II. John, Constable of Lincoln Castle, 14 EDW. II., and Lord of the manor of Sigbroke, co. Lincoln, 15 EDW. II., and dying 3rd EDWARD III., left a son, Edmund, under age, and under the guardianship of the King. Inq. p. m. 20 EDWARD III.
III. Richard, the King's Justiciary in Scotland, 13 EDW. III., and subsequently Joint Governor of North Scotland.
IV. William, father of John Talbot, living in 1414, ancestor of the TALBOTS OF SALESBURY, whose eventual heiress, DOROTHY TALBOT, b. in 1650, m. Edward Warren, of Poynton, co. Chester, Esq.

The eldest son,

SIR THOMAS TALBOT, de Bashall, Knt., was under age 4 EDW. II., of full age in the thirteenth of the same reign, and a Knight 18 EDW. III. He m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of James Bellars, by Lætitia, his wife, dau. and co-heir of Walter Prestropp, of Melton Mowbray, co. Leicester, and dying after 20 EDW. III., was s. by his son and heir,

SIR EDMUND TALBOT, de Bashall, Knt., living 16 May, 39 EDW. III., and then serving with the Black Prince in Gascony. He m. Margery, dau. of Sir John Byron, Knt. of Clayton, co. Lancaster, and widow of Sir Henry Fenwyke, of Fenwyke, co. Northumberland, Knt., and by her (who became 2nd wife of Sir John de Assheton, of Assheton, co. Lancaster) left at his decease, 46 EDW. III., a son and successor,

SIR THOMAS TALBOT, de Bashall, Knt., under age, and in the guardianship of Sir Thomas Banister, K.G., 46 EDWARD III., and of age and a Knight, 3 RICH. II.; he was Captain of the camp and town of Berwick, 10 RICH. II., and Captain of the camp of Guysnes, in Picardy, 12th of the same reign: by a writ, tested 16 RICH. II., that monarch grants Sir Thomas an annuity, and 12 July, 7 HEN. IV., he was sent with Thomas, Earl of Lancaster, into Ireland. He m. Margery, dau. and heir of Nigel de Halton, of Halton, in Craven, co. York, derived from Sir John de Halton, knighted 7 HEN. III., son and heir of Sir John de Halton, Knt., by Hawisia, his wife, dau. and co-heir (with Katherine, wife of Adam de Hamerton, Lord of Hamerton) of Elias de Knoll, Lord of Knollsmere, Wigglesworth, and Hellifield-Peel, in Craven. (See HAMERTON OF HELLIFIELD PEEL.) Sir Thomas d. 14 HEN. IV., leaving (with two daus., Ann, m. to Sir John Crosby, Knt., and Isabel, m. to Sir Richard Assheton, Knt. of Middleton) a son and successor,

SIR EDMUND TALBOT, de Bashall, a Knight 11 HEN. VI., and Vicecomes of Yorkshire, 22 HEN. VI., who m. Agnes, dau., and according to the family Bashall pedigree, co-heir (by Catherine, his wife, dau. of Sir Robert Stafford, Knt.) of John Arden, of Netherdarwine, and widow of John de Chorley, and by her had issue, (with two younger sons,)

I. THOMAS, (Sir,) his heir.
II. Elizabeth, m. about 5 HENRY VI., Sir John Stanhope, Knt., and from this marriage descend the EARLS OF CHESTERFIELD, EARLS STANHOPE, and EARLS OF HARRINGTON.
III. Ann, m. about 6 HENRY VII., Hugh Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, co. Lancaster, Esq., (son and heir of Sir Hugh Sherburne, Knt.,) ancestor by her of SIR NICHOLAS SHERBURNE, OF STONYHURST, created a BARONET, 4 Feb. 1685.

Sir Edmund d. 1 EDW. IV., and was s. by his son,

SIR THOMAS TALBOT, de Bashall, Knt., then under age, who, 5 EDWARD IV. had a Royal Grant for enclosing "Bashall Parke," and served under RICHARD III., by whom he was knighted. Sir Thomas Talbot and his son, Sir Thomas, adhering to the party of the House of York, co-operated with Sir James Harrington, and Sir John Tempest of Bracewell, in capturing HENRY VI. after the battle of Hexham. Betrayed by a monk of Abingdon, HENRY was, in the month of June, 1465, taken by the Talbots as he sat at dinner at Waddington Hall, a seat of the Tempests, where he had found an asylum for several months. (Rymer, xi., 548, Wyrcest, 504, Fab. 494.) He escaped for awhile, but was taken by the two Sir Thomas Talbots, near the Bungerley Hipping (stepping) stones, on the Ribble, across which he had fled for concealment in Clitheroe Wood, and he was by them conducted towards London. Warwick met HENRY at Islington, and had the cruelty to subject his former sovereign to the indignity of having his legs bound with leather straps to the stirrups of the horse. In this degraded state he was led through Cheap and Cornhill to the Tower, where he remained for the next five years. (W. Wyr. 504; Hearne's Frag. 292; 2 Let. 500; Fab. 495; Hall, 261; Leland, Collectanea, tom. i. p. 717.) Harrington received for his services lands belonging to Tunstal of Thurland, and the Talbots and Tempests received annuities out of Bolland and Tickel, till they could be provided with lands. (Rot. Parl. 584.) A tradition has been preserved, that the unfortunate monarch predicted that there should be nine successive generations of his captors, the Knights of Bashall, consisting alternately of a wise and a weak man, after which the name would be lost. For the important services rendered by Sir Thomas Talbot to the cause of the White Rose, he was rewarded by EDWARD VI. by a grant of forty pounds out of the issues of the Duchy of Lancaster to him and his heirs male. (Transcripts for New Rymer, 79.) Sir Thomas Talbot, then aged 18, m. about 30 HENRY VI., Alice, dau. of Sir John Tempest, Knt. of Bracewell, co. York, Sheriff of that county 18 and 37 HEN. VI., and of Lincolnshire in the 34th of the same reign, by Alice, dau. of Sir Robert Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, co. Lancaster, (Refer to PLUMBE-TEMPEST OF TONG,) and had, (with two younger sons,)

I. THOMAS, (Sir,) Knt., who m. Florence, dau. of Henry Pudsey, of Bolton, co. York. Esq., by Margaret, dau. of Sir John Conyers, Knt. of Hornby Castle, but d. in his father's lifetime, s. p. Lady Talbot m. 2ndly, Henry Lord Clifford, of Skipton; and 3rdly, Lord Henry Grey, younger son of Thomas, Marquess of Dorset.
II. EDMUND, successor to his father.

I. Elizabeth, who m. Gilbert, son of James Scarisbrick, of Scarisbrick, co. Lancaster, Esq., 3 HEN. VII.

Sir Thomas d. 13 HEN. VII., and was s. by his eldest surviving son,

EDMUND TALBOT, Esq. of Bashall, who m. Jane, dau. and co-heir of Sir Robert Harrington, Knt. of Hornby Castle, co. Lancaster, by whom he had an only son, Thomas, who d. aged 13; and 2ndly, Anne, sister of Sir Percyval Hart, of Lullingston, in Kent, and dau. of John Hart, Esq., by Elizabeth, his wife, only sister and heiress of Sir John Peche, of Lullingston, Knight Banneret, and Lord Deputy of Calais. This lady m. subsequently Sir James Stanley, Knt. of Cross Hall, co. Lancaster, Marshal of Ireland, (third son, and through his issue, representative of George Lord Stanley and Strange, eldest son of Thomas, first Earl of Derby,) and was by him mother of Henry Stanley, Esq. of Cross Hall, ancestor of the present Earl of Derby. (See STANLEY OF CROSS HALL.) By this alliance Edmund Talbot had another son, THOMAS, (Sir,) his heir. Edmund Talbot, d. 11 HEN. VIII., and was buried in Westminster Abbey. His son and heir,

SIR THOMAS TALBOT, of Bashall, Knt., was under age 22 HEN. VIII., and a Knight 6 EDW. VI. He was engaged in the military proceedings of the period, and a letter is still extant from the Earl of Shrewsbury, Lord General, to the Earl of Northumberland, from Newcastle, dated 7 Oct. 1567, recommending Sir Thomas, whom he describes as "his very good friend, and a man of singular good service, accompanied by a willing bande of his own," to the confidence of Northumberland. Sir Thomas m. Cecily, dau. of Sir William Venables, Knt., Baron of Kinderton, co. Chester, and dying 10 ELIZ., left, with a dau., Anne, wife of William Ffarington, Esq. of Worden, co. Lancaster, son and heir of Sir Henry Ffarington, Knt., by Dorothy, his wife, dau. of Sir — Okeover, of Okeover, co. Stafford, (See FFARINGTON OF WORDEN,) a son and successor,

HENRY TALBOT, Esq. of Bashall, who m. Millcent, dau. of Sir John Holcroft, of Holcroft, co. Lancaster, Knt., by Anne, his wife, dau. of Ralph Standish, of Standish, co. Lancaster, Esq., and had issue, THOMAS, his heir; JOHN, successor to his brother; and Mary, who m. (Settlement dated 17 April, 13 ELIZ.) John Livesy, of Livesy, co. Lancaster, Esq. He d. 13 ELIZ., and was s. by his son, then aged 13 years,

JOHN TALBOT, Esq. of Bashall, who m. Ursula, dau. of John Hamerton, of Hellifield Peel, co. York, Esq., (See that name,) and dying before 12 JAMES I., left (with a dau., Milicent, wife of John Braddyll, of Braddyll, co. Lancaster, Esq.) a successor,

THOMAS TALBOT, Esq. of Bashall, who m. 7 JAMES I., Ann, dau. of Richard Fleetwood, of Penwortham, co. Lancaster, Esq., by Margery, dau. of Thomas Leigh, of Egginton, co. Derby, Esq., and had two daus., his co-heirs,

I. Elizabeth, b. in 1613, who m. 1st, Thomas Lewys, son and heir of Thomas Lewys, of Marr, co. York, Esq., and cousin of Sir John Lewys, Bart. of Ledston, and 2ndly, Theobald, Viscount Bourke, of Mayo, but d. s. p.
II. MARGERY, continuer of the Bashall line.

Thomas Talbot, last male heir of this distinguished House, d. 25 Feb. 1618, as appears by his Inq. p. m., 1 April, 1620. His 2nd, and eventually only surviving dau. and heiress,

MARGERY TALBOT, Co-heiress of Bashall, b. in 1614, m. William White, of Duffield, co. Derby, Esq., who served with distinction as a Colonel in the Long Parliament, and stood high in the confidence and favour of OLIVER CROMWELL. By Col. White, Margery, who purchased her sister, Lady Bourke's moiety of Bashall, was mother of an only dau. and heiress,

JANE WHITE, of Bashall, who m. Edward Ferrers, Esq., derived from William de Ferrers, VII. Earl of Derby, and Margaret, his wife, dau. and co-heir of Roger de Quinci, II. Earl of Winchester, son and heir of Saier de Quinci, I. Earl of Winchester, by Margaret, sister and co-heir of Robert Fitz-Parnell, IV. Earl of Leicester. (See BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.) By this alliance the heiress of Bashall was mother of,

JOHN FERRERS, Esq. of Bashall, whose will is dated 15 Aug. 1704, and was proved at York, 2 Oct. 1707. He d. leaving by his wife, the sister of Richard Witton, of Wakefield, co. York, Esq., a son and two daus., viz.,

I. WILLIAM, his heir.
II. DOROTHY, of whom presently, as continuer of the line of Bashall.
III. Elizabeth, second wife of William, fourth son of Edmund Joddrell, of Yeardsley, co. Chester, Esq., by Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Frauncys Burdett, of Foremark, co. Derby, Bart. (See JODDRELL OF YEARDSLEY.)

The son and successor,

WILLIAM FERRERS, Esq. of Bashall, to whom a monument is erected in Mitton church, d. unm. 23 March, 1732, aged 53, leaving his sisters his co-heirs. The elder of those ladies,

LLOYD OF BRONWYDD.

LLOYD, THOMAS, Esq. of Bronwydd, co. Cardigan, and Kilrue, co. Pembroke, b. in Jan. 1788; m. 23 July, 1819, Ann - Davies, dau. of John Thomas, Esq. of Llwydcoed and Lletty Mawr, co. Caermarthen, by Ann, his wife, only dau. of Arthur Davies, Esq. of Llandovery, in the same county, and has issue,

I. THOMAS-DAVIES, late an officer in the 13th Light Dragoons.
II. James-John, an officer in the 1st Foot.
III. Rhys-Jones. IV. Owen-William.
V. George-Martin.

Mr. Lloyd is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for the counties of Cardigan, Caermarthen, and Pembroke, and served as high-sheriff for the first-named shire in 1814. He s. his father, the late Col. Thomas Lloyd, in July, 1807, and holds the Barony and Lordship of Kemes by the same tenure, and exercises the Jura Regalia and peculiar privileges, which his ancestor, Marteine de Turribus, did in the time of the CONQUEROR.*

Lineage.

MARTIN DE TOURS, a Norman, who accompanied the Conqueror to England, having, as one of the Lords-Marchers, acquired, by conquest, a large district in Pembrokeshire, called CEMAES or KEMES, became PALATINE BARON thereof, exercising within his territory, subject to feudal homage to the king, all the Jura Regalia which at that period appertained to the crown of the English monarch. He made Newport, anciently called Trefdraerth, the head of his Palatinate, and there erected his castle, (the ruins of which still exist.) He founded a monastery for Benedictine monks, at St. Dogmaels, within his lordship, and was s. by his son, ROBERT MARTIN, Lord Palatine of Kemes, who endowed with lands, in the time of HENRY I., the same monastery of St. Dogmaels. He m. Maud Peverel, and had a son and successor,

WILLIAM MARTIN, Lord Palatine of Kemes, who was sent, 16 HEN. II., with the Abbot of St. Augustine's, in Canterbury, and sundry other persons of note, as Justice Itinerant into various counties, to make inquisition as to the conduct of the sheriffs, archbishops, bishops, &c. He m. the dau. of Rhys ap Griffith, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM MARTIN, Lord Palatine of Kemes, who gave three hundred marks for livery of his lands, in 11 King JOHN. He d. in the 17th of the same reign, leaving his son and heir,

NICHOLAS MARTIN, Lord Palatine of Kemes, in ward to Fulk de Breant. He m. Maud, dau. of Guy de Brien, by Eve, his wife, dau. and heir of Henry de Tracy, and in her right, became possessed of the lordship of Berstaple, Devon. In 29 HEN. III., Nicholas received command to assist the Earl of Gloucester, and other the Barons-Marcher, against the Welsh. He was s. at his decease by his grandson,

WILLIAM MARTIN, Lord Palatine of Kemes, (son of Nicholas, who died v. p.) He did homage, 10 EDW. I., and had livery of all his lands in the county of Devon, as also of the manors of Lidesford and Blakeden, co. Somerset. In the 26th and 32nd of the same reign, he was in the expeditions to Scotland, and in 8 EDW. II. he had summons to be at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, upon the Festival of our Lady's Assumption, well fitted with horse and arms, to restrain the incursions of the Scots. He was summoned to Parliament from 23 EDWARD I. to 18 EDWARD II., and dying in the latter year, was s. by his son,

WILLIAM MARTIN, Lord Palatine of Kemes, at whose decease the barony of Martin fell into abeyance between his heirs, Eleanor, his sister, wife of William de Columbers, and James de Audley, his nephew, son of Joane, his sister, by Nicholas de Audley, Lord Audley.

In the family of Audley, the barony of Kemes continued vested for several successive generations, until it passed, by right of inheritance, to the OWENS of Henllys, whose descent from the ancient Lords-Marcher of Kemes is thus deduced by GEORGE OWEN, of Henllys, the antiquary: "It appeareth," says that learned writer, "that PHILIP AP RICCARD, the son of Richard de Hoda, who married the dau. and heir of SIR NICHOLAS MARTIN, Lord of Kemes, had issue, PHILIP VYCHAN, who was father to PHILIP YSCOLHAIGH, or the Scholar, father to EVAN, father to GWILLIM, father to OWEN VYCHAN, father to REES AP OWEN, father to WILLIAM OWEN, father to GEORGE OWEN, as appeareth by fair and ancient writings, containing the aforesaid descents. The mother of the said GEORGE OWEN was daughter to Sir George Herbert, of Swansea; her mother a Berkeley, and hers a Neville. Sir George Herbert's mother was the sole heir of Sir Walter Cradock, and hers a Mansell. He (George Owen) beareth, Gu., a boar, arg., chained to a holly-bush, ppr., armed and langued, or, the chain and collar of the last. The first wife of the said George Owen was Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of William Phillipps, Esq. of Picton. The second, Ann, dau. of John Gwillim, a French gentleman, of ancient descent in Normandy, by Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Alexander Fitton, of Gawsworth."

With the OWENS of Henllys, the lordship of Kemes remained, until conveyed by the daughter and heiress of WILLIAM LLOYD, of Penpedwast, Esq., Lord of Kemes, who was heir-general of the Owens, in marriage to THOMAS LLOYD, Esq. of Bronwydd, co. Cardigan. This gentleman was son of THOMAS LLOYD, Esq. of Bronwydd, (living in 1700,) by Ann, his wife, dau. of Lewis Morgan, Esq. of Wiston, co. Pembroke, grandson of THOMAS LLOYD, Esq. of Bronwydd, by Magdalen, his wife, dau. of Col. John Robinson, of Gwersylt, co. Denbigh, and great-grandson, by his wife, a dau. of John Parry, of Blaenpant, of RHYS LLOYD, Esq. of Bronwydd, who was son of the REV. THOMAS LLOYD, Rector of Llangunllo, by a dau. of Brwyn, of Pant David, which REV. THOMAS LLOYD was second son (by Margaret, his wife, heiress of Bronwydd, dau. of Thomas ap Owain) of David ap Rhys, of Crynfryn, a descendant of the ancient Lords of Dyfed. By his wife, the heiress of Kemes, Mr. Lloyd had issue,

THOMAS, of whom presently.
Owen, colonel in the army, who m. Mary, dau. and heir of Thomas Lloyd, Esq. of Abertrinant, co. Cardigan, by Elizabeth, his wife, sister to the Earl of Lisburne.
Anne-Louisa. Bridget.
Joan, m. to William Lewes, Esq. of Llysnewidd, co. Caermarthen, and had issue.
Beatrice.

The elder son and heir,

THOMAS LLOYD, Esq. of Bronwydd, captain in the 10th Foot, and subsequently colonel, commanding the Fishguard and Newport regiment, m. Mary, dau. and heiress of John Jones, Esq., M.D., of Haverfordwest, and by her, who survived him twenty-three years, had issue,

THOMAS, his heir.
James, d. unm. 7 Dec. 1827.
Sarah-Mary, d. unm. 24 April, 1812.

Col. Lloyd d. 13 July, 1807, and was s. by his elder son, the present THOMAS LLOYD, Esq. of Bronwydd.

Arms—Az., a wolf, salient, arg.
Crest—A boar chained to a holly-bush, ppr.
Motto—I Dduw B'or Diolch—in English, To God be thanks.
Seats—Bronwydd, co. Cardigan, and Kilrue, co. Pembroke.

* Newport, the head of the barony, has been, time immemorial, under the local jurisdiction of a mayor (appointed annually by Mr. Lloyd, of Bronwydd) and twelve burgesses; courts leet and baron are held at stated periods in the town, where all the business of the lordship is transacted, fresh grants of land given by the burgesses, under the sanction of the lord, and other affairs settled. The lordship is fifty miles in circumference, and each farm in it pays what is called a "chief rent" to Mr. Lloyd, of Bronwydd. He is obliged to walk the boundaries every five years, a task which generally occupies a week.

LLOYD OF FERNEY HALL.

LLOYD, SIR EVAN, K.C.H., of Ferney Hall, co. Salop, General in the army, and Colonel of the 7th Dragoon-Guards, b. in 1768; m. 1st, Maria, dau. of Benjamin Burton, Esq. of Burton Hall, and relict of Michael Cox, Esq. of Castletown, but had no issue, and 2ndly, in 1814, Alicia, Dowager Lady Trimlestown, dau. of Lieut.-Gen. Eustace, (see p. 383,) by whom he has one son and two daus.,

EVAN-HERBERT, born at Turvey House, near Dublin.

Louis-Anne, m. 16 March, 1841, to Sir Willoughby-Wolstan Dixie, Bart. of Bosworth House, co. Leicester.

General Lloyd s. to the representation of the family upon the demise of his father.

Lineage.

THOMAS LLOYD AP MEREDITH, the first of his line who adopted the surname of Lloyd, was in direct descent from CADWGAN, Lord of Builth and Radnor, son of ELYSTAN GLODRYDD, Prince of Ferlys, Founder of IV. Royal Tribe of Wales. He was a firm and zealous partisan of HENRY VII., and was one of those who led a body of his countrymen to the battle of Bosworth. After Henry obtained the throne, he appointed Thomas Lloyd his lieutenant of the county of Brecon, and bestowed upon him other and more substantial marks of favour.

JOHN LLOYD, of Portherwys, a younger son of Thomas Lloyd, was an esquire of the body to Queen ELIZABETH. From Rees Lloyd, the eldest son, descended the Lloyds of Aberanell, in the county of Brecon, of which family was

EVAN LLOYD, Esq., who left, by his wife, a lady named Jones, a son and successor,

EVAN LLOYD, Esq., who was seated at Cefndyrrys, which beautiful residence on the Wye, now called Welfield House, was sold by the present General Lloyd to his uncle, David Thomas, Esq. Evan Lloyd m. Miss Thomas, of Llwynturrid, in the county of Brecon, and had issue,

LOCKWOOD OF DEWS HALL.

LOCKWOOD, WILLIAM-JOSEPH, Esq. of Dews Hall, co. Essex, Verdurer of Epping Forest, and late a Captain in the Coldstream-guards, m. 13 June, 1816, Rachael, dau. of Sir Mark Wood, Bart. of Gatton, in Surrey, and has issue,

I. WILLIAM-MARK, who assumed, in 1838, under the will of his maternal uncle, Sir Mark Wood, the surname and arms of WOOD.
II. George.

I. Matilda. II. Fanny.

Lineage.

The family of Lockwood derives from a place of the name in Staffordshire, an estate which passed in 1499 to the Henshaws of Cheshire, by the marriage of Thomas Henshaw with Amie, only child of Richard Lockwood. That gentleman's cousin,

RICHARD LOCKWOOD, the immediate ancestor of the Lockwoods of Essex, entered into holy orders, and was inducted to the living of Tiffield in 1527, and to Dingley in 1530, both in the county of Northampton. He d. in 1548, leaving a son,

RICHARD LOCKWOOD, who possessed property at Tiffield and Gayton, in the same county. He d. in 1598, leaving two sons, RICHARD and John. The younger, vicar of Towcester, was deprived of his church preferment during the civil wars for his well-known attachment to the royal party. He fought at Naseby, and was there wounded. He d. unm. The elder brother,

Richard Lockwood, (who d. in 1632,) m. Mary, only dau. of James Reading, Esq., and was s. by his only son,

Richard Lockwood, Esq., inheriting a strong attachment to the unfortunate house of Stuart, refused, when High-sheriff for Northamptonshire, to carry a county address to William III., on the occasion of his paying a visit to Lord Sunderland, at Althorpe. He m. Susannah, dau. and sole heiress of Edward Cutts, Esq., with whom he acquired Malden Island, an estate at Mayland, and another at Lambourne; the last, enlarged by his son, who sold his paternal property in Northamptonshire, became the family residence. By the heiress of Cutts, (who d. in 1709,) Mr. Lockwood had issue,

Cutts, d. s. p., aged thirty-six.
Richard, of whom presently.

LOCKYER OF PLYMOUTH.

Lockyer, Edmund-Leopold, Esq. of Plymouth, co. Devon, of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, b. 17 May, 1816; m. 28 May, 1839, Julia-Mary, dau. of the Rev. Thomas Woodforde,* M.A., Rector of Ansford and Pointington, co. Somerset, and has issue,

Edmund-Stoughton-Braithwaite, b. 19 April, 1842.
Rosa-Mary, b. 29 March, 1840.

This gentleman, who is son of Edmund Lockyer, Esq., M.D., &c., s. his grandfather, Edmund Lockyer, of Plymouth, Esq., in 1836.

Lineage.

We find the Lockyers located at Much Wenlock, in Shropshire, A.D. 1498, and thence deduced in the Visitation of that county to the year 1622. From this family, which appears to have extended itself into several counties at the commencement of the seventeenth century, the Lockyers of Devonshire claim presumptive descent.

Nicholas Lockier, of Honiton, co. Devon, temp. Charles II., was father of

Nicholas Lockyer, in holy orders, of Exeter College, Oxford, and vicar of Luppitt, co. Devon, bapt. at Honiton, 9 Dec. 1677, and buried at Luppitt, 15 July, 1754, leaving by Anne, his wife, with other issue, an eldest son and successor,

Nicholas Lockyer, who was bapt. at Luppitt, 29 May, 1711, and d. 2 April, 1762, leaving by Joan, his wife, (who was buried at Plymouth, 9 Dec. 1799,) nine sons. The seven elder of these dying without remaining male issue, (with the exception of Orlando, third son, whose male descendants, however, subsequently became extinct,) the representation devolved on the eighth son,†

Edmund Lockyer, Esq., a magistrate for the co. of Devon, and deputy-lieutenant, b. 18 Sept. 1750. This gentleman settled at Plymouth, where for many years he continued to occupy a leading position, thrice filling the office of mayor, and encouraging, by the most liberal patronage, all that tended to the improvement and prosperity of the town and neighbourhood. He m. 17 March, 1782, Eleanor, dau. of Francis Penrose, of Durian, co. Cornwall, Esq., by whom he had issue, (with one dau., Eleanor-Margaret-Penrose, m. to Rear-Admiral Sir Samuel Pym, K.C.B.,)

Edmund Lockyer, Esq., M.D., F.L.S., &c., b. 28 Oct. 1782, m. Eliza, dau. and co-heir of Thomas-Patrickson Braithwaite, R.N., (of the family of Braithwaite of Briars, co. Westmoreland,) and d. in Dec. 1816, leaving,

I. Edmund-Leopold Lockyer, successor to his grandfather.
I. Ellen-Mary.
II. Rosa-Elizabeth, m. to the Rev. T.-L. Wheeler, M.A., of Wick, co. Worcester, and d. in 1838, leaving issue.

Mr Lockyer d. 21 Feb. 1836, and was s. by his grandson, the present Edmund-Leopold Lockyer, Esq.

Arms—Az., on a chev., arg., between three lions, rampant, or, as many ants, fessways, ppr.
Crest—On the sea, a ship under sail, her three topsails hoisted, ppr., the main topsail charged with a lion, rampant, gu., the fore and mizen topsails charged each with an ant, ppr., a red ensign flying, and a pendant, ar., at the main top-gallantmast-head, charged with a cross, az.
Motto—Sedulé et secundé.
Residence—Plymouth.

---

* Descended from the ancient family of Woodforde of Leicestershire. (See pedigree of Woodforde in this work.)

† Thomas Lockyer, ninth son, who was father of a numerous family, settled at Wembury, co. Devon, and dying 9 Sept. 1806, was s. by his eldest son, the present Thomas Lockyer, of Wembury House, Esq.

LOFTUS OF KILBRIDE.

LOFTUS, WILLIAM-FRANCIS-BENTINCK, Esq. of Kilbride co. Wicklow, a Major-General in the army, b. 17 Aug. 1784; m. 9 Oct. 1819, Margaret-Harriet, dau. of Archdeacon Langrishe, second son of the late Right Hon. Sir Hercules Langrishe, Bart., and has issue,

JAMES, b. 7 Jan. 1822, an officer in the 38th Regt.
Henry, b. 9 March, 1823, an officer in the 71st Regt.
Harriet-Margaret. Elizabeth.

Major-General Loftus was one of the Esquires to the Marquess of Ely, at the Installation of the Knights of St. Patrick, in 1819. He s. his father 15 July, 1831.

Lineage.

The family of Loftus, or as it was anciently spelt, Lofthouse, appears, from the archives of York Minster, to have flourished in Yorkshire as early as the reign of ALFRED, and the same records shew that Christopher Lofthouse was Prior of Helagh, in the same county, anno 1460.

EDWARD LOFTUS, of Swincshead, in the county of York, left two sons,

I. ROBERT, whose second son,
ADAM LOFTUS, an eminent and distinguished lawyer, was appointed Lord Chancellor of Ireland, in 1619, and created in 1622, Viscount Loftus of Ely, a dignity which expired with his lordship's grandson, Arthur, third viscount, who d. in 1725, without male issue, when his Monasterevan estate passed to his only dau. Jane's son, (by Charles Lord Moore,) Henry, fourth Earl of Drogheda.
II. ADAM.

The second son,

ADAM LOFTUS, D.D., of Trinity College, Cambridge, consecrated in 1561, Archbishop of Armagh, and translated in six years afterwards to the see of Dublin. This eminent prelate was twice Keeper of the Great Seal of Ireland, and died in the high office of Lord Chancellor of that kingdom. He was four times (viz. in 1582, 1585, 1597, and 1599) one of the Lords Justices, and was Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, which University he had a principal part in founding, and in which his descendants enjoy certain privileges during the period they are students. His Grace built the Castle at Rathfarnham, and d. 5 April, 1605, at the age of seventy-two, having had by his wife, Jane, dau. of Adam Purdon, Esq. of Lurgan Race, in the county of Louth, five sons and seven daus., viz.,

I. DUDLEY, (Sir,) of Rathfarnham Castle, co. Dublin, ancestor of COL. ADAM LOFTUS, created Viscount Lisbourne in 1685, and of the EARLS OF ELY, now represented by the MARQUESS OF ELY. (See BURKE'S Peerage.)
II. Edward, (Sir,) serjeant at law, d. s. p. in 1602.
III. Adam, a captain in the army, killed in action with the O'Byrnes of the co. of Wicklow, 29 May, 1599, s. p.
IV. THOMAS, (Sir,) Knt., of whom presently.
V. Henry, d. young.
I. Margaret, m. to Sir George Colley, Knt. of Edenderry.
II. Isabella, m. to Sir William Usher, Knt., and d. in 1612.
III. Alicia, m. to Sir Henry Warren, of Warrenstown.
IV. Martha, m. to Sir Thomas Colclough, Knt. of Tintern Abbey, co. Wexford.
V. Anne, m. 1st, to Sir Henry Colley, Knt. of Castle Carberry, by whom she was great-great-great-great-grandmother of the Duke of Wellington; 2ndly, to George Blount, Esq. of Kidderminster; and 3rdly, to Edward, first Lord Blayney.
VI. Jane, m. 1st, to Sir Francis Berkeley, of Askeaton, and 2ndly, to Henry Berkeley, Esq.
VII. Dorothy, m. to Sir John Moore, Knt. of Croghen.

The fourth son of the Archbishop,

SIR THOMAS LOFTUS, Knt. of Killyan, co. Meath, was appointed 19 May, 1596, Constable of the castle of Wicklow, knighted 24 Sept. 1599, and in Dec. 1610, he received a grant of the monastery of Clonard, with other lands in the county of Meath. He m. Ellen, dau. of Robert Hartpole, Esq. of Shrule, in the Queen's County, (widow of Francis Cosby, Esq. of Stradbally,) and had issue five sons and one dau. Sir Thomas Loftus dying at Tymohogie, 1 Dec. 1635, was interred in St. Patrick's Church, Dublin, and s. by his eldest surviving son,

SIR DUDLEY LOFTUS, Knt. of Killyan, who had livery of his estate, 13 March, 1637. He was lord of the manors of Killyand and Clonard, and had the advowson of Clonard. Sir Dudley m. Cecilia, dau. of Sir James Ware, Knt., Auditor-general of Ireland, by whom he had issue,

THOMAS, his successor.

III. Jane-Agnes.

This gentleman s. to the estates on the decease of his father in 1835. He is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant, and M.P. for the Northern Division of the county of Wilts.

Lineage.

The family of the Longs of Wiltshire was settled at a very early date at South Wraxall, and subsequently at Draycote, in that county, by marriage, in the time of HENRY VI., with the heiress of Cerne. A branch of the name was anciently seated at Potterne and Little Cheverell, in the same county and vicinity; and the traditions, as handed down for several generations in this particular branch, and recorded on their monumental inscriptions,* as well as the mutual mention made of persons of the same name in wills,† and various documents at very remote periods, by different contemporary members of the family of Wraxall and of that settled at Potterne, afford presumptive evidence that the ancestor of this branch derived his descent from one of the early sons of the house of Wraxall, about the time of HENRY VIII.

THOMAS LONG, of Potterne, co. Wilts, m. 1st, Isabel, dau. of John Flower, of Worton, in the parish of Potterne. He dated his will 1567, and d. in 1570, leaving a second wife, Maud, and by his first marriage two sons,

JOHN.
William, of Potterne, who dated his will 1591, and d. the same year, leaving, by his wife, Anne, five sons and two daus.

The elder son,

JOHN LONG, of Marston, in the parish of Potterne, m. Anne, dau. of John Merewether, of Great Cheverell, co. Wilts. He made his will and d. in 1597, leaving by his wife, Anne, who was buried at Little Cheverell, in 1626, six sons and three daus., viz., I. Christopher, who m. and left issue; II. THOMAS, ancestor of the Longs of Rowde Ashton; III. Richard, of Worton, in the parish of Potterne, who d. in 1662, leaving by his wife, Sarah, a son, William, the ancestor of a branch of the family settled at Potterne till the year 1753, when it became extinct; IV. Edward, of Claverton, in the parish of Lea, co. Wilts: he d. in 1622, having left by his wife, Frances Maundrell, two daus., Anne and Martha, both baptized at West Lavington, in 1611 and 1613; V. John; VI. William; I. Elizabeth, who m. John Long, of Bulkington, co. Wilts; II. Mary, who m. — Noyse, of Fulway, Wilts; and III. Joan, who m. — Hobbs. The second son,

THOMAS LONG, Esq. of Little Cheverell and Melksham, co. Wilts, succeeded by the will of his father to his estate in Marston and that called Wallens, both in the parish of Potterne. He was baptized at Potterne, in 1579, and served the office of high-sheriff for Wilts in 1652. His will was dated 1654, and he was buried at Little Cheverell, 8 May of the same year. He possessed by inheritance a considerable estate at Melksham, and purchased an estate at Collingborne Kingston, of the Earl of Hertford. He m. a dau. of Floyer, of the ancient family of that name in Devonshire, and left issue,

I. JOHN, who s. by the will of his father to his estates at Melksham and Little Cheverell, and purchased the estate of Baynton, in the parish of Edington, co. Wilts, of the family of Danvers. He served the office of high-sheriff for Wilts in 1668, d. without issue, and was buried at Little Cheverell, 27 July, 1676, having by his will bequeathed his estates to the sons of his deceased brothers.
II. RICHARD, ancestor of WALTER LONG, ESQ. OF ROWDE ASHTON, of whom presently.
III. THOMAS, ancestor of WALTER LONG, ESQ. OF PRESHAW, co. Hants.
IV. WILLIAM, ancestor of the LONGS OF BAYNTON, now extinct.

The second son,

RICHARD LONG, Esq. of Collingbourne Kingston, Wilts, s. to the estate at Collingbourne, by the will of his father. He m. 9 April, 1657, Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Long, and sister and heir of Henry Long, Esq. of Rowde Ashton, Wilts. He d. in 1676, and was buried at Steeple Ashton, leaving issue,

I. HENRY, his heir.*

I. CONWAY. II. Anna-Maria.

Lineage.

The Longuevilles were formerly lords of Overton Longueville, co. Huntingdon, and of Wolverton, co. Bucks, and their pedigree shews a direct descent from the time of HENRY I. During the civil wars of the reign of CHARLES, they arrayed themselves under the Royal banner, and suffered, in consequence, loss and confiscation.

SIR HENRY LONGUEVILLE, Knt., of Wolverton, twelfth in descent from Sir Henry Longueville, of Overton, temp. HENRY I., d. 13 Sept. 1613, leaving, by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Sir Richard Cotton, Knt., of Bedhampton, a dau., Elizabeth, m. to Sir Nicholas Gascoigne, Knt., and seven sons, of whom SIR HENRY, the eldest, succeeded to Wolverton, and Sir Michael, the fourth, marrying Susan, dau. of Charles, Earl of Kent, became, by her, ancestor of the EARLS OF SUSSEX and the Barons GREY DE RUTHYN, (see BURKE'S Peerage.) The eldest son,

SIR HENRY LONGUEVILLE, Knt., of Wolverton, m. Catherine, dau. of Sir Edward Carey, Knt., of Aldenham, and had (with two daus., Catherine, wife of Roger Jones, Earl of Ranelagh, and Elizabeth, wife of John Bromley, Esq.) a son and successor,

LOVELL OF LINCOLNSHIRE AND BUCKS.

Representing Lovell of Harleston.

LOVELL, LOVELL-BENJAMIN, Esq., Lieut.-Colonel commanding the 15th, or King's Hussars. Colonel Lovell, whose patronymic is Badcock, assumed, by sign-manual, with his brother, in 1840, the surname of LOVELL only. He served with distinction in the 14th Dragoons, in France, Spain, and Portugal, and s. his father 13 April, 1821.

Lineage.

THE REV. BENJAMIN LOVELL, who appears, from strong presumptive evidence, to have been descended from the baronial house of Tichmersh,* was born about the year 1600, and appointed, in 1639, parson of Preston Bagot, co. Warwick. He m. and had three sons, of whom the eldest,

SIR SALATHIEL LOVELL, entered Gray's Inn in 1649, became eminent at the bar, and was made a Serjeant-at-law in 1692, receiving, at the same time, the honour of knighthood. He was afterwards appointed Recorder of London, Deputy-Recorder of Northampton, and eventually, in 1708, one of the Barons of the Exchequer. Sir Salathiel purchased the manor of Harleston, in Northamptonshire, where himself, his wife, and most of his children, are buried. He m. about the year 1660, a lady named Mary, and by her, who d. 9 Dec. 1719, had, with other issue,

SAMUEL, his heir.
Henry, who m. Mary, dau. and co-heir of Thomas Cole, Esq. of London, and left, at his decease in 1724, an only dau., Mary, who m. 1st, the Hon. Samuel Grimston; and 2ndly, in 1740, William-Wildman, second Viscount Barrington.
Maria, m. to Joseph Townshend, Esq. of London, and d. in London, 8 August, 1743, aged eighty-three.
Penelope, bapt. in September, 1667, m. to the Rev. Michael Stanhope, D.D., Canon of Windsor, and d. 8 July, 1738, leaving, with other issue, a son, ARTHUR-CHARLES STANHOPE, Esq., father of Philip Stanhope, who succeeding to the honours of his family in 1773, became fifth EARL OF CHESTERFIELD.
Jane, bapt. 5 June, 1687, who m. about the year 1713, Richard Badcock, of London, merchant, and by him, who d. 12 August, 1722, left a son,
RICHARD-LOVELL BADCOCK, Esq. of Twickenham, of whom presently.

Sir Salathiel lived to an advanced age, and so long survived his memory, that he was called the Obliviscor of London. He d. 3 May, 1713, aged 81, and was s. by his son,

SAMUEL LOVELL, Esq., a Welsh Judge, bapt. 18 Sept. 1665, who m. in 1692, Miss Sergeant, and by her, who d. in London, April, 1736, had (with one dau., Rachel-Jane, m. in 1732, to Richard Edgeworth, Esq. of Edgeworthstown, co. Longford, an only son,

SAMUEL LOVELL, Esq. of Kensington, b. in 1690, a Capt. in the Guards, who d. 24 April, 1751, leaving an only dau. and heiress,

MARY LOVELL, who m. in 1742, her cousin, Richard-Lovell Badcock, Esq. of Twickenham, in Middlesex, and of Maplethorpe Hall, co. Lincoln, son of Richard Badcock, of London, by Mary, his wife, dau. of Sir Salathiel Lovell. Of this marriage there were,

LOVELL BADCOCK, the heir.
THOMAS-STANHOPE BADCOCK, successor to his brother.
Mary Badcock, m. to the Rev. Richard Gardner.

Mr. Badcock d. at the Hotwells, Bristol, 7 Sept. 1749, was buried in the cathedral there, and s. by his elder son,

LOVELL BADCOCK, Esq. of Little Missenden Abbey, co. Bucks, and Maplethorpe Hall, in Lincolnshire, b. in 1744, who was lieutenant-colonel of the Buckinghamshire militia, and a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for that county. He likewise served the office of sheriff. He d. unm. in 1797, aged 53, and was buried in the church of Little Missenden. His estates devolved on his brother,

THOMAS-STANHOPE BADCOCK, Esq. of Little Missenden Hall, andMaplethorpe Hall, a magistrate and deputy-lieut. for the co. of Buckingham, who was high-sheriff thereof in 1808. He m. at Tewkesbury, 17 Feb. 1782, Anne, dau. of William Buckle, Esq. of the Mythe House, and Chasely, in Gloucestershire, by Anne, his wife, dau. of George Turberville, Esq., and had issue,

I. LOVELL-BENJAMIN, his heir.
II. William-Stanhope, capt. R.N., who served under Lord Nelson, at Trafalgar, in 1805, and was present at the capture of Washington in 1814. He m. 2 Jan. 1822, Selina, youngest dau. of the late Sir Henry Harpur-Crewe, Bart., of Calke Abbey, and sister of the present Bart., by whom he has issue,
Lovell-Stanhope-Richard, b. at Terret House, Bucks, 4 Dec. 1826.
Selina-Frances.
Georgiana-Jane.
Matilda-Sophia.
Capt. Badcock assumed, with his elder brother, in 1840, the surname and arms of LOVELL, by Royal licence.
I. Anne, m. 21 Sept. 1809, to Major-Gen. Sir Jasper Nicolls, K.C.B., and has one son, Francis-Hastings-Gustavus Nicolls, and eight daus.
II. Sophia, m. 9 June, 1814, to the Rev. James-Duke Coleridge, eldest son of Colonel Coleridge, of Heaths Court, Ottery St. Mary's, Devon, and has two daus., Sophia Coleridge, and Frances-Anne-Lovell Coleridge.

Dean Lowe is a magistrate for Shropshire.

Lineage.

The family of Lowe* was established in England by one of the companions in arms of the CONQUEROR, and has preserved a male succession since that remote era. "I must not forget," says Mr. Abingdon, in speaking of the Abbot and Convent of Worcester, "to mention theyre benefactors. There were in thys Lordshyp twoe auncient inhabitantes; one LOWE, wrytten (formerly and still pronounced here LAWE) whose auncestor was one of the captaynes who fought under Duke William of Normandye, in the conquest of England, as appeareth in a rowle most exactly drawn and carefully kept in Flanders, the copy whereof was sent mee by a gentleman of this family, to give me light in the obscurity of antiquityes. Neyther can this derogat from Lowe of Shropshire; where Guido Lowe de Clive, 7th HENRY VI. was returned into the exchecker to attend the King, as an esquire, qui portabat arma ab ancestriâ; for why may they not bothe springe from one roote? But to return to my purpose; Stephanus de Lawe (son of Alanus de Lawe, and direct ancestor of the family before us) gave all his land in Lawefield, which he held in More, of the Monkes of Worcester, to the same priory. He moreover, by the consent of Dionysia, his wife, gave to his lords the said Prior and Convent, in pure and perpetual alms, certain assart or new cleared land, called the Seken, lying under the Menhey, with all the Grove there; but for the surrender of these and other lands, the Priour and Monkes yealded him some recompense and were most charitable to him, for being by the Jews at Worcester detained in prison, and loaded with heavy chains, and by exquisite torments compelled to redeem himself, his said lords the priour and convent, being moved with pity, and seeing him forsaken of all his friends, did, by the expending of much money, free him from his bonds, and restore him to life and liberty. Thus did the religious deliver him out of the jawes of hys cruel creditors. The other auncient gentleman was Penhull, of whom Aluredus de Penhull, falling likewise into the merciles handes of these devouring usurarious Jewes, then dwellinge in Worcester, was also by the Priour and Monkes redeemed out of that thralldome." The family continued for a long series of years resident at The Lowe, and among the eminent persons it produced in early times, we may mention JOHN LOWE, an Augustine monk, at Worcester, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph, in 1433; HUMPHREY LOWE, high-sheriff of Shropshire, in 1439; and RICHARD LOWE, who was retained to serve in France with one man at arms and three archers, temp. EDWARD IV.

Lineage.

This family is of ancient origin, and of Norman extraction, and appears to have settled at an early period in the co. of York, the name of Lowndes, (Lownde, or Lounde, as it was formerly written,) of Cave, of Holdernesse, of Thorneton in the Benes, and of Harewood, continually occurring in the commissions of Array for that county in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. In the parliament rolls, temp. EDWARD III., occurs this curious petition of William Lowndes, of Holdernesse:—"A nostre Seigneur le Roy et Madame le Roigne et au commun conseil, pri William de Lownde que comme il ad servuy nostre Dame la Royne de Pariss en Engleterre par comandement Madame la Royne pur seuiver (suivre) la promes que Madame luy promyst pur son travaylle, et grauntement (grandement) ad dispendu del son: Vous pri, chere Dame, que vous voilliez graunter a le auant dit William, qu'il poet estre gardeyn del l'eauwe de Lambwath en Holdernes pur son service, car il ad loialment vous servie, et sera prest a jour de sa vie. Par quoy il pri, per over de charite, que vous voilliez regard avoir de luy, pur alme vos auncestres, et pur Dieu, si pleise vous soit." There is a deed of 3 HENRY V., in which the King covenants to place jewels in pawn to Sir Alexander Lowndes, of Cave, in consideration of the said Alexander serving him in person and with followers, in his expedition into France. This Sir Alexander m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Alexander Cave, Knt., and left three daus, coheiresses, of whom one m. Sir John Persay, or Percehay, of Riton, near Malton, co. York; another was m. to one of the Sheffields of Blathwick, from whom is descended the present Earl of Sheffield; and the third to Sir John Dawney, Knt. We find this family also settled at a very early period in the county of Chester, mention being made in a deed bearing date 35 EDWARD I., of "Richard, the son of Adam de Lounde, of Swettenham," in that county; and in a writ of dower of 9 RICHARD II., of "Thomas de Lowndes, and Johanna, his wife, of Wymboldsey," in that county. The family of Lowndes, of Overton Hall, co. Chester, possessed that property in the middle of the 15th century, and it remained in their hands till the death of Thomas Lowndes, Esq., in 1748, who, dying without issue, bequeathed it, with rest of his property, to found certain professorships in the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford, in consequence of which, the present professorship of Astronomy in the former University was instituted. From a younger branch of this family was descended

MATTHEW LOWNDES, who was s. by his eldest son,

Seat—Mount Lucas, King's County.

LUCY OF CHARLECOTE.

LUCY, GEORGE, Esq. of Charlecote, co. Warwick, b. 8 June, 1789; s. his father 12 Jan. 1823, M.P., from 1820 to 1830, for Fowey, in Cornwall, and sheriff of his native county in 1831. He m. 2 Dec. 1823, Mary-Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Williams, Bart. of Bodelwyddan, in Flintshire, and has issue,

WILLIAM-FULK, b. 10 Sept. 1824.
Henry-Spenser, b. 28 Nov. 1830.
Mary-Emily, b. 2 Feb. 1826.
Caroline, b. 13 Jan. 1828.

Lineage.

THURSTANE DE CHARLECOTE, supposed to have been a younger son of Thurstane de Montfort,* of Beldesert, co. Warwick, temp. RICHARD I., was father of

SIR WALTER DE CHARLECOTE, upon whom Henry de Montfort conferred the village of Charlecote, and the grant was confirmed by RICHARD I., who added divers immunities and privileges, which were all ratified by King JOHN in the fifth year of his reign, (1203.) Sir Walter left a son,

SIR WILLIAM DE LUCY, the first of the Charlecotes who bore that surname, and Sir William Dugdale surmises that he did so because his mother might have been the heir of some branch of the great baronial family of LUCY, so named from a place in Normandy. Of this house was HENRY DE LUCY, Governor of Falais, so distinguished during the conflict between King STEPHEN and the Empress MAUD, who was afterwards, in the time of HENRY II., Justiciary of England; and at one period, in the temporary absence of the king beyond sea, Lieutenant of the kingdom. Sir William de Lucy had a confirmation of the lordship of Charlecote from Thurston de Montfort, son and successor of the Thurstane de Montfort above named. He took up arms with the barons against King JOHN, when his lands were all seized by the crown; but returning to his allegiance, he had a full restoration in the first year of the ensuing monarch. In the 20th of HENRY III. Sir William had the custody of the counties of Warwick and Leicester, with the castle of Kenilworth. He m. 1st, Isabel, dau. of Absalom de Aldermonstone, and 2ndly, Maud, sister and one of the co-heirs of John Cotele. He founded the monastery of Thelesford, and dying about 32 HENRY III. (1247) was s. by the son of his second marriage,

SIR WILLIAM LUCY, Knt. of Charlecote, who m. Amicia, dau. and heir of William de Furches, and heir likewise of William Fitz-Warine, by whom he had a son and heir,

FOUK DE LUCY, of Charlecote, (in the immediate retinue of the celebrated Peter de Montfort,) who, after the battle of Lewes, temp. HENRY III. was constituted one of the nine governors of the kingdom. De Lucy acquired so much reputation by his gallantry in the Barons' war, that being indebted to one Elyas de Blund, a Jew, of London, in a large amount, he obtained a special mandate, dated 49 HENRY III. (1264,) and directed to the commissioners in whose hands the estates of the Jews then seized upon were entrusted, to deliver up to him all his bonds, and to cancel the debt. Subsequently, however, the Royal cause having attained the ascendancy by the victorious arms of Prince Edward, De Lucy and his associates were glad to compromise for their estates under the Dictum de Kenilworth. "This Fouk," says Dugdale, "was a special lover of good horses, as it would seem, for in 11 EDWARD I. he gave forty marks to two Londoners that were merchants of horses, for a black charger, about which time a fat ox was sold for sixteen shillings." He d. 31 EDWARD I., (1302,) and was s. by his son,

SIR WILLIAM LUCY, of Charlecote, representative in several parliaments for co. Warwick, who was s. by his son,

SIR WILLIAM LUCY, of Charlecote, who received a military summons, 19 EDWARD III., to attend the king into France, but being then joined in commission with the sheriff to array one hundred and sixty archers in Warwickshire for the king's service, his attendance was dispensed with, and he was thereby deprived of sharing in the glory of Cressy. He d. in three years afterwards, (22 EDWARD III., 1348,) and was s. by his son,

THOMAS LUCY, of Charlecote, who was s. at his decease by his son,

SIR WILLIAM LUCY, of Charlecote, who being a knight, was retained, 5 RICHARD II., (1381,) to serve JOHN OF GAUNT, Duke of Lancaster and King of Castile, for life, with one esquire, in times of war and peace. In the first year of the next king he represented the county of Warwick in parliament. His son and successor,

SIR THOMAS LUCY, of Charlecote, was also in the retinue of JOHN OF GAUNT. In 7 HENRY IV., (1405,) he was member of parliament for Warwickshire, and the next year sheriff for the counties of Warwick and Leicester. He m. Alice, dau. and eventually heir, of Sir William Hugford, and acquired by that lady a fair inheritance in the counties of Bedford and Salop. He d. 28 July, 3 HENRY V., (1415,) leaving by the said Alice, (who m. in eight weeks after his decease, Richard Archer, of Tamworth,) a son and successor,

WILLIAM LUCY, of Charlecote, who during his minority was in ward to John Boteler, of Warrington. Upon the decease of Elizabeth, Lady Clinton, 2 HENRY VI., (1423,) he was found to be her cousin and next heir. In the war of the Roses, William Lucy arrayed himself under the banner of the house of York. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Reginald, Lord Grey de Ruthyn, and dying 6 EDWARD IV., (1466,) was s. by his son,

SIR WILLIAM LUCY, of Charlecote, K.B., so created at the coronation of HENRY VII.'s queen. He m. 1st, Margaret, daughter of John Brecknock, treasurer to King HENRY VI., and 2ndly, Alice, dau. of William Hanbury. He d. in 1492, and was s. by his eldest son by his first wife,

EDMUND LUCY, Esq. of Charlecote, b. in 1464, who appears to have been a soldier of high repute in the reign of HENRY VII., for we find him in command of a division of the Royal army at the battle of Stoke, and afterwards retained to serve the king in his French wars, with two men at arms. He was summoned, 10 HENRY VII., (1494,) with other persons of rank, to attend at the creation of the king's son, the Duke of York, to be made a knight of the Bath; but it seems he did not appear, for in the April following, (1495,) 11 HENRY VII., his testament bears date, and in that he is styled Esquire. He m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Walter Tramsington, but had no issue; and 2ndly, Jane, dau. of Richard Ludlow, and was s. at his decease (the probate of his testament being 19 May, 1498, 14 HENRY VII.) by his eldest son by that lady,

SIR THOMAS LUCY, Knt. of Charlecote, one of the servers to King HENRY VIII., who m. Elizabeth, relict of George Catesby, Esq. of Ashby-Legers, co. Northampton, and dau. of Sir Richard Empson, Knt., by whom he had, with three daus., WILLIAM, his heir; Thomas, on whom he settled the manor of Cleybrooke, in Leicestershire; and Edmund, who inherited the manors of Beckering and Sharpenho. Sir Thomas Lucy d. in 1525, and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM LUCY, Esq. of Charlecote, who m. Anne, dau. of Richard Fermer, Esq. of East Neston, in Northamptonshire, and was s., 5 EDWARD VI., 1551, by his eldest son,

SIR THOMAS LUCY, of Charlecote, who rebuilt, 1 Queen ELIZABETH, the manor-house with brick, as it now stands. He was knighted a few years afterwards, and he subsequently represented the co. of Warwick in parliament. His remarkable prosecution of Shakspeare, for deer-stealing, in Fulbroke Park, has attached, however, more celebrity to his name than any of the honours which he had enjoyed. This prosecution was conducted with much bitterness, in consequence of a lampoon, written by the poet on Sir Thomas, who at length compelled him, about the year 1585-6, to fly from his native place. The great dramatist subsequently avenged himself, by delineating his prosecutor under the character of Justice Shallow. Sir Thomas Lucy m. Joice, dau. and heir of Thomas Acton, Esq. of Sutton, in Worcestershire, and had a dau., Anne, m. to Sir Edward Aston, Knt. of Tixhall, with an only son, his successor, in 1600,

SIR THOMAS LUCY, of Charlecote, who m. 1st, Dorothy, dau. of Nicholas Arnold, Esq., by whom he had one surviving child, Joyce, the wife of Sir William Cook, Knt. of Highnam. Sir Thomas m. 2ndly, Constance, dau. and heir of Sir Richard Kingsmill, of High Clere, Hants, and had by that lady, with several daus., six sons, viz., I. THOMAS, his heir; II. Richard, knighted in Jan. 1617, and created a baronet the March following; his male line and title expired with his grandson, Sir Berkeley Lucy, of Facombe, Hants, whose only dau. and heir, MARY LUCY, m. the Hon. Charles Compton; III. George, slain in France; IV. William, the eminent Doctor Lucy, Bishop of St. David's, grandfather of William Lucy, Esq. of Castle Carey, in Somersetshire, and of George Lucy, Esq. of Pembroke; V. Robert, d. in France, in 1615, s. p.; VI. Francis, of Westminster, living in 1682, father of Richard Lucy, who m. Rebecca, dau. and heir of Thomas Chapman, Esq. of Wormley, and widow of Sir Thomas Playters. Sir Thomas Lucy d. in 1605, and lies buried in a chapel on the north side of the church of Charlecote, where a splendid monument has been erected to his memory by Dame Constance, his widow. He was s. by his eldest son,

SIR THOMAS LUCY, of Charlecote, member for Warwickshire in six successive parliaments, who m. Alice, dau. and heir of Thomas Spencer, Esq. of Claverden, in the same co., and had issue,

SPENCER, ROBERT, RICHARD, } successively of Charlecote.

FOULK, (Sir,) m. Isabella, dau. and sole heir of John Davenport, Esq. of Henbury, in Cheshire, and had, with other issue,

DAVENPORT, who eventually inherited Charlecote.

GEORGE, WILLIAM, } who both became of Charlecote.

Fulke, m. Elizabeth Mason, of London, and was father of THOMAS LUCY, who s. his uncle, the Rev. William Lucy, D.D., at Charlecote, in February, 1723-4, and of GEORGE LUCY, who inherited from his brother.

Lucy, m. to the Rev. John Hammond. The grandson of this lady,

THE REV. JOHN HAMMOND, occurs in the sequel as eventual inheritor of CHARLECOTE and the estates of the Lucy family.

Constance, m. 1st, to Sir William Spencer, Bart., and 2ndly, to Sir Edward Smith.

Bridget, m. to Sir Bryan Broughton.

Alice, m. to Sir William Underhill.

Mary, m. to Sir Matthew Herbert.

Elizabeth, m. to Sir John Walcot.

Sir Thomas Lucy, of whom it was said, that "his tables were ever open to the learned, and his gates never fast to the poor," d. in Dec. 1640, and was s. by his eldest son,

SPENCER LUCY, Esq. of Charlecote, Colonel in the Royal army, who m. Mary, dau. of Henry Brett, of Down

Hatherley, co. Gloucester, but dying s. p. in 1648, was s. by his brother,

Robert Lucy, Esq. of Charlecote, who m. Margaret, dau. of Thomas Spencer, Esq. of Upton, by whom (who m. after his decease, Thomas, Lord Arundel of Wardour) he had an only dau., Bridget, wife of William, Viscount Molineux. He d. in 1658, without male issue, and was s. by his next brother,

Richard Lucy, Esq. of Charlecote, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Urry, Esq. of Thorley, in the Isle of Wight, by whom he had Thomas, his son and heir, with a dau., Constance, the wife of Sir John Burgoyne, Bart. of Sutton. He d. in 1677, and was s. by his son,

Thomas Lucy, Esq. of Charlecote, who m. Catherine, dau. of Robert Wheatley, Esq. of Brecknol, in Bucks, by whom (who m. after his decease, George, Duke of Northumberland) he had an only dau., Elizabeth, m. to Clement Throgmorton, Esq. of Haseley. Dying in 1684, without male issue, he was s. by (the eldest son of Sir Foulk Lucy, aforesaid, and Isabella Davenport) his first cousin, Davenport Lucy, Esq. of Charlecote, who d. unm. in 1690, and was s. by his brother.

George Lucy, Esq. of Charlecote, who m. 1st, Mary, dau. and heir of John Broun, Esq. of Finham, and 2ndly, Jane, dau. and co-heir of George Broun, Esq. of Coundon. He d. s. p. in 1721, and was s. by his brother,

The Rev. William Lucy, D.D., of Charlecote, who m. Frances, eldest dau. of Henry Balguy, Esq. of Hope, co. Derby, but had no issue. He was Rector of Hampton Lucy, and a Prebendary of the Cathedral Church of Wells, and dying in Feb. 1723-4, was s. by (the elder son of his brother Fulke, by his wife, Elizabeth Mason, of London) his nephew,

Thomas Lucy, Esq. of Charlecote, who d. unm. 26 Dec. 1744, and was s. by his only brother,

George Lucy, Esq. of Charlecote, sheriff of Warwickshire in 1769. He d. unm. 1 Dec. 1786, and was s. by his kinsman,

The Rev. John Hammond, being described, in his predecessor's will, as the next person in remainder, to whom stood limited after his decease, without male issue, the family estates, and grandson of the Rev. John Hammond, and Alice Lucy, second dau. of Sir Fulke Lucy and Isabella Davenport. Mr. Hammond assumed the surname and arms of Lucy only, by sign-manual, 9 Feb. 1787. He m. in May, 1788, Maria, dau. of John Lane, Esq., of Bentley Hall, co. ## LUDLOW OF HEYWOOD.

Ludlow, Henry-Gaisford-Gibbs, Esq. of Heywood House, co. Wilts, b. 11 Aug. 1809; m. 27 Aug. 1833, Fanny, youngest dau. of the late Robert Clerk, Esq. of Padworth House, Berks. Mr. Ludlow is a magistrate of the county.

Lineage.

This family claims affinity and traces its descent from the same source as the famous Republican General, Edmund Ludlow, Governor-general of Ireland, who d. at Vevay, in Switzerland, in 1693.*

The grandfather of the present Mr. Ludlow, Abraham Ludlow, Esq. m. Elizabeth-Gaisford Gibbs, and by her was father of Abraham Ludlow, Esq., who m. in March, 1799, Susanna, only child and heiress of Gaisford Gibbs, Esq. of Heywood House, descended from an old Wiltshire family, and d. 3 July, 1822, at Rouen, having had by this lady, who d. 3 Jan. 1841, one son, the present Henry-Gaisford-Gibbs Ludlow, Esq. of Heywood House, and two daus., Susanna-Gibbs, m. 8 May, 1817, to Sir Ralph Lopes, of Maristow, co. Devon, Bart.; and Elizabeth-Gibbs, m. to William Porter, Esq. of Hembury Fort, co. Devon.

Seat—Heywood House, Westbury, co. Wilts.

* A board, which had been originally fixed over the door of the General's house, in Vevay, was lately presented to a member of the family, and is now placed in the hall of Heywood House. On it is the following inscription:—

"Omne Solvm. Forti. Patria
Quia Patris. A.D. 1684."

LUMSDAINE OF LATHALLAN.

Lumsdaine, James, Esq. of Lathallan, co. Fife, m. in 1824, Miss Sophia Lindesay, of Balmanzie, in the same shire, and has issue four sons,

I. James. II. William-Lindesay.
III. John-Small. IV. Stamford-Robert.

Mr. Lumsdaine served from an early period in the E.I.C.S., on the Medical Staff of the Bengal Establishment at Fort Marlborough, on the west coast of Sumatra, from which service he retired in 1824. He s. his father, the late Major John Lumsdaine in 1823, and has acted for several years as a county magistrate.

Lineage.

John Lumsdaine, Esq., Major in the E.I.C.S., third son of Robert Lumsdaine, Esq. of Inourgellie, co. Fife, purchased the estate of Lathallan, from Lieut. Thomas Spens, in 1788, and dying in 1823, was s. by his son, the present James Lumsdaine, Esq. of Lathallan.

LUMSDEN OF PITCAPLE.

Lumsden, Hugh, Esq. of Pitcaple, co. Aberdeen, b. 22 April, 1783; m. 1st, 30 April, 1813, Frances, second dau. of Alexander Brebner, Esq. of Lairney, and has by her an only dau., Christina. He m. 2ndly, 8 July, 1824, Isabella, fourth dau. of Walter Fergus, Esq. of Strathore, by whom he has,

I. Henry, b. 14 March, 1825.
II. Walter, b. 27 June, 1834.

I. Charlotte-Fergus. II. Catherine-Edith.
III. Isabella. IV. Elizabeth.

Mr. Lumsden is sheriff of the county of Sutherland, a Deputy-Lieutenant and magistrate for Aberdeenshire, and one of the Commissioners of the Northern Light Houses.

Lineage.

The family of Lumsden of Cushnie is one of the oldest in Aberdeenshire, having possessed that and other estates as far back as any records of that county extend. Some of their charters, still extant, bear date 24 March, 1471; others have ceased to be legible. The present proprietor and head of the family is the Rev. Henry-Thomas Lumsden, who holds preferment in the church of England at Ipswich. In 1782, John Lumsden, of Cushnie, grand-uncle of Hugh Lumsden above mentioned, sold the lands of Clova and Auchindoir to his cousin, Harry Lumsden, Esq. from Jamaica, who entailed them and other estates in the counties of Aberdeen, Banff, and Kincardine, on a series of heirs, including the family of HARRY LUMSDEN, Esq. of Belhelvie, whose father was his cousin-german. The present proprietor of those estates is HARRY LEITH-LUMSDEN, Esq. of Auchindoir, who succeeded at the decease of Sir Harry-Niven Lumsden, Bart.

ALEXANDER LUMSDEN, Esq., whose father, William Lumsden, was fifth son of Robert Lumsden, of Cushnie, by his marriage, in 1644, with Agnes, dau. of John Leith, of Bucharn, left a son,

JOHN LUMSDEN, Esq., father of

HARRY LUMSDEN, Esq. of Belhelvie and Pitcaple, who m. 4 Jan. 1780, his cousin, Catherine, dau. of Hugh M'Veagh, Esq.* by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Harry Lumsden, Esq. of Cushnie, who m. Catherine, dau. of George Gordon, of Buckie. By her, the late Mr. Lumsden had issue,

HUGH, his heir, now of Pitcaple.

Henry, of Tilwhilly, a deputy-lieutenant for the counties of Aberdeen and Kincardine, m. 1st, Catherine, dau. of John Tower, Esq., and has, by her, three sons, HARRY, John, and Hugh, and five daus. He m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Sir Thomas Kirkpatrick, Bart. of Closeburn, and has, by her, two daus.

Thomas, of Belhelvie Lodge, Lieut.-Col. in the Bengal Horse Artillery, and C.B., for distinguished services in the field, m. Hay, dau. of John Burnett, Esq. of Elrick, and has issue, HARRY, John, Thomas, Peter, William, and four daus.

William-James, of Balmedie, Esq., late of the Bombay Civil Service, m. Margaret, 2nd dau. of John, Viscount Arbuthnott.

Clements, Advocate in Aberdeen, m. Jane, dau. of James Forbes, Esq. of Echt, and has issue, Henry-William, and James, and four daus.

LUSCOMBE OF COOMBE ROYAL.

LUSCOMBE, JOHN, Esq. of Coombe Royal, co. Devon, b. 11 Oct. 1806; s. his father, the late John Luscombe Luscombe, Esq., 10 Jan. 1831.

Lineage.

This family is of long standing in Devonshire, and we find Hugh de Luscombe, 9 EDW. I., was impanelled the second man on a jury between the King and the Countess of Devon, Isabella de Fortibus. The Coombe Royal family is a branch of the Luscombes of Luscombe, where they were seated in the reign of HENRY V.

JOHN LUSCOMBE, of Luscombe, m. the dau. of Stone of Huish, and was father of HENRY LUSCOMBE, who m. Maria, dau. of John Fortescue, of Fallapit, and had a son, JOHN LUSCOMBE, who, by Johanna, his wife, dau. of John Giles, Esq. of Bowden, was father of HENRY LUSCOMBE, who m. Alice, dau. of Nicholas Fry, Esq. of Yarty.

JOHN LUSCOMBE, Esq., high-sheriff of Devonshire, in 1740, purchased the estate of Coombe Royal. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Henry Martin, Esq. of Totnes, by whom he had a son and a dau. He m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of George Prestwood, Esq. of Botenford, and was s. at his decease by his son,

JOHN LUSCOMBE, Esq. of Coombe Royal, who m. Juliana, dau. of George Prestwood, Esq., but d. s.p., when the estates devolved upon the grandson of his sister Elizabeth,

JOHN LUSCOMBE MANNING, (only son of Richard Manning, Esq.,) who assumed, under the will of his uncle, the surname of LUSCOMBE, by Royal licence. He m. Sarah, dau. of James Hawker, Esq., captain R.N., of Plymouth, and by her had three sons and five daus. He d. 10 Jan. 1831, and was s. by his eldest son, the present JOHN LUSCOMBE, Esq. of Coombe Royal.

Arms—Arg., on a pile, az., a lion, rampt., guardant, crowned.
Crest—A demi-lion, rampt., guardant, and crowned, or.

LUTTRELL OF DUNSTER CASTLE.

FOWNES-LUTTRELL, JOHN, Esq. of Dunster Castle, co. Somerset, and Nethway House, Devonshire, b. 26 Aug. 1787; s. to the estates at the decease of his father in 1816.

Lineage.

In the reigns of HENRY I. and King STEPHEN, Sir John Luttrell held, in capite, the manor of Hoton Pagnel, in Yorkshire, which eventually devolved upon an heiress, who m. John Scott, feudal lord of Calverley, and steward of the household to the Empress MAUD.

The estates of Sir Geoffry Luttrell, Knt., in the counties of Derby, Leicester, Nottingham, and York, were confiscated in the reign of RICHARD I., for his adhesion to John, Earl of Morton, but they were restored upon the accession of that prince to the throne, as King JOHN. Sir Geoffry subsequently accompanied the King into Ireland, and obtained from the crown a grant of Luttrellstown there. The descendants of Sir Geoffry were afterwards feudal barons of Irnham, and one of them, ROBERT DE LUTTRELL, had summons to parliament 24 June and 2 Nov. 1295. (See BURKE'S Extinct and Dormant Peerage.)

JOHN LUTTRELL (youngest son of Andrew Luttrell, of East Quantockshead, living temp. EDWARD I.) acquired by grant from the crown, 11 EDWARD III., certain lands and rents in Chilton, in Devonshire, which county he represented in parliament in the 37th of that King. He m. two wives: by the 1st, Rose, he seems to have had no issue; by the 2nd, Joan, he had a son, his successor,

SIR ANDREW LUTTRELL, of Chilton, who had m. in the lifetime of his father, Lady Elizabeth Courtenay, second dau. of Hugh, Earl of Devon, and widow of Sir John Vere, Knt., son of Aubrey de Vere, Earl of Oxford, an alliance which connected the Luttrells with the Royal house of PLANTAGENET. The son of this marriage,

SIR HUGH LUTTRELL, resided at Dunster Castle, which his mother, Lady Elizabeth, had purchased from the family of Mohun; he was member for Somersetshire in the reign of RICHARD II., and successively for that county and Devon. In 8 HENRY IV., Sir Hugh gained a suit at law against Edward Plantagenet, Duke of York, and the other heirs of John, Lord Mohun of Dunster,* by which he obtained possession of the honours and Castle of Dunster, lordship of Carhampton, &c. He was afterwards ranger of Blackmore Forest, in Dorsetshire, a Privy-Councillor to King HENRY V., and one of the commanders under that martial monarch, at the reduction of Harfleur, in Normandy, anno 1415, and at the memorable siege of Rouen. Sir Hugh m. Catherine, dau. of Sir John Beaumont, Knt., and was s. in 1431, by his eldest son,†

SIR JOHN LUTTRELL, a Knight of the Bath at the coronation of HENRY IV., anno 1399,‡ who m. 1st, Joan, dau. of Sir John Mallett, of Enmore, but had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of John, Lord Audley. He d. the year after his father, possessed of the castle, church, and manor of Dunster, lordship of Carhampton, town of Minehead, with several manors in the west, held of the crown, as one entire barony of forty-nine knights' fees. He was likewise seised of the manor of Quantock, with four other knights' fees in Somersetshire, and was s. by his son,

SIR JAMES LUTTRELL, who was made a Knight-banneret at the battle of Wakefield, in 1463, and fell fighting under the standard of Lancaster, in 1471. He was subsequently attainted by King EDWARD IV., and his castle of Dunster, lordship of Carhampton, &c., granted to Sir Edward Herbert, Knt., 1st Earl of Pembroke. He left by his wife, Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir William Courtenay, eldest brother of Sir Edward Courtenay, of Haccombe, a son and successor,

SIR HUGH LUTTRELL, who is mentioned by Hollinshed and other historians amongst the persons of note in the west, who joined the Earl of Richmond at his landing, and were afterwards instrumental in quelling the Devonshire insurrection. When the successful issue of Bosworth placed the crown upon Richmond's head, as HENRY VII., the estates of Sir Hugh Luttrell were immediately restored, and he was subsequently created a Knight of the Bath, at the coronation of the Queen, in 1487. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Robert Hill, and half-sister (maternally) of Lord Daubeney, K.G., and 2ndly, Walthera, widow of Thomas Drelne. He was s. in 2 HENRY VIII. by his son by his first wife,

SIR ANDREW LUTTRELL, Knt. of Dunster Castle, who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Thomas Wyndham, and had several sons; from the third, Richard, sprang the Luttrells of Hartland, Honninbere, Sandon Court, and Chelsea. He was s. by his eldest son,

SIR JOHN LUTTRELL, knighted at the taking of Edinburgh and Leith, 36 HENRY VIII., and created a Knight-banneret at the taking of Yester, 1 EDWARD VI. He m. Mary, dau. of Sir John Griffith, K.B., by whom (who m. after his decease, James Godolphin, of Cornwall) he had three daus., heiresses to one-third part of his estates, the other two-thirds devolving, by two entails, and by the will of Sir John himself, upon his next brother,

THOMAS LUTTRELL, Esq., M.P. for Minehead. This gentleman, in order to preserve the estates which he thus inherited clear of his nieces' portions and of his brother's debts, sold all the lands in Devon and Suffolk, but those were amply replaced by the estates acquired on his mar-

* JOHN, LORD MOHUN OF DUNSTER, left at his decease three daus., his co-heirs viz.,
Philippa, m. 1st, to Edward Plantagenet, Duke of York; and 2ndly, to Sir Walter Fitz-Walter, Knt.
Elizabeth, m. to William de Montacute, Earl of Salisbury.
Maud, m. to John, Lord Strange of Knockyn.
BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.

† From a younger son of this Sir Hugh and Catherine Beaumont, ROBERT LUTTRELL, who d. 15 HENRY VI., seised of the castle and lands of Luttrellstown, co. Dublin, descended the well known Irish family of Luttrell, of which were the extinct EARLS OF CARHAMPTON.

‡ The ORDER OF THE BATH was then first instituted, and consisted of forty-six knights, amongst whom were three of the king's sons.

riage with Margaret, only dau. and heir of Christopher Hadley, Esq. of Withycombe, and great-granddaughter of Philippa, dau. of Sir Humphrey Audley, by Elizabeth, widow of Sir James Luttrell. In consequence of this consanguinity, it was necessary to procure a special bull, 5 PHILIP and MARY, from Pope PAUL V., to sanction the marriage. Mr. Luttrell d. in 1570, Margaret, his wife, surviving, who was afterwards m. to John Strode, of Parnham, Esq., and again to Richard Hill, Esq. He was s. by his eldest son,

GEORGE LUTTRELL, Esq., who inherited likewise his mother's lands, and m. 1st, Joan, dau. of Hugh Stewkley, Esq. of Marsh, co. Somerset, by whom he had THOMAS, his successor. He m. 2ndly, Sylvestra Capper, by whom (who m. after his decease, 1st, Sir Edmund Story, and 2ndly, Gyles Penny, Esq.) he had two daus., Diana, wife of Alexander Lynde; and Sarah, of John Wogan. Mr. Luttrell d. at an advanced age, in 1630, and was s. by his son,

THOMAS LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, who m. Jane, dau. of Sir Francis Popham, Knt. of Littlecot, and dying in 1647, was s. by his eldest son,

GEORGE LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, who was s. by his brother,

FRANCIS LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, also s. by his brother,

THOMAS LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, who m. Lucy, dau. of Thomas Simonds, Esq. of Cambridgeshire, and was s. by his elder son,

FRANCIS LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, a Colonel in the army of King WILLIAM, who m. Mary, only dau. and heir of John Tregonwell, Esq. of Milton Abbey, co. Dorset, and dying in 1690, was s. by his son,

TREGONWELL LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, at whose decease without issue, in 1706, the estates reverted to his uncle,

ALEXANDER LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle. This gentleman served in all the wars in Flanders throughout the reign of King WILLIAM, and in Queen ANNE'S time was Colonel of the Royal Regiment of Marines. He m. Dorothy, dau. of Edward Yard, Esq. of Churston, in Devon, and dying in 1714, was s. by his elder son,

ALEXANDER LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir John Trevelyan, Bart. of Nettlecombe, and had an only dau., his successor at his decease,

MARGARET LUTTRELL, who m. Henry Fownes, Esq. of Nethway House, Devon, and she and her husband assumed the additional name and arms of LUTTRELL. She had issue, JOHN, her heir; Francis, Commissioner of Customs, who m. Charlotte, youngest dau. of Francis Drewe, Esq. of Grange; and Alexander, in Holy Orders, who d. in 1810. Mr. and Mrs. Luttrell were s. by their eldest son,

JOHN FOWNES-LUTTRELL, Esq. of Dunster Castle, M.P. for Minehead, who m. in 1782, Mary, eldest dau. of Francis Drewe, Esq. of Grange, in Devon, and had issue,

JOHN, his heir.
Henry, Commissioner of Public Accounts.
Francis, Captain in the army, m. his cousin, Emma, dau. of Samuel Drewe, Esq. of London, (see p. 351,) and has issue.
Alexander, in Holy Orders, Rector of East Quantockshead, m. Miss Leader, and has issue. His only dau., Caroline-Lucy Fownes, m. 15 June, 1836, E.-J. Yeatman, Esq. of the Bengal army.

LUTWIDGE OF HOLM ROOK.

LUTWIDGE, SKEFFINGTON, Esq. of Holm Rook, co. Cumberland, b. 23 May, 1779; m. 19 March, 1811, Mary-Margaret, dau. of General Lockhart, of co. Lanark. Mr. Lutwidge is a magistrate and Deputy-Lieutenant for Cumberland, and s. to the estate under the will of the late Admiral Skeffington Lutwidge, who had purchased it from his nephew Charles, (Mr. Lutwidge's elder brother.)

Lineage.

This family went over to Ireland from Cheshire with De Burgo, in 1200. The orthography of the name appears in ancient writings as Luitwich, Lutwyche, Lutwich, Lutwidge, Ledwich, &c. The first to adopt the present mode of spelling was

THOMAS LUTWIDGE, Esq., an officer in King WILLIAM'S army, (son of Thomas Lutwiche,) who, after the treaty of Limerick in 1691, settled at Whitehaven, in Cumberland, for which county he was high-sheriff 12 GEORGE I. He m. 6 Feb. 1721, Lucy, dau. of Sir Charles Hoghton, Bart. of Hoghton Tower, by his wife, Lady Mary Skeffington, eldest dau. of Viscount Massereene, and had, with a dau., Margaret, seven sons,

I. Charles.
II. HENRY, of whom presently.
III. Thomas. IV. John.
V. Samuel. VI. Walter.
VII. Skeffington, Admiral R.N., who purchased Holm Rook from his nephew Charles, and devised it to the present Skeffington Lutwidge, with remainder to his grand-nephew, Charles-Fletcher Lutwidge, grandson of the said Charles.

The second son,

HENRY LUTWICHE, Esq., m. in Aug. 1767, Jane, dau. of Rigby Molineux, Esq. of Preston, and Mary, his wife, dau. of Oliver Marton, Esq. of Lancaster, and had issue,

LYNCH OF BARNA.

LYNCH, NICHOLAS, Esq. of Barna, co. Galway, b. 22 Feb. 1804; m. 24 Nov. 1835, Eliza, second dau. of Stephen Grehan, Esq. of the city of Dublin, and has issue one son,

MARCUS-NICHOLAS, b. 12 Sept. 1836.

Mr. Lynch is a Deputy-Lieutenant for co. Galway.

Lineage.

The family of Lynch, of which was James Lynch, the inflexible mayor of Galway in 1494, is of very ancient standing in the province of Connaught, and ranks amongst the original settlers, known by the name of "the Tribes of Galway." In an old manuscript in Ulster's office, WILLIAM LE PETIT is stated to have been ancestor of the Lynch family in Ireland, of which many branches still exist in high respectability in the counties of Galway and Mayo—the LYNCHES OF BARNA, the LYNCHES OF DURAS PARK, the LYNCHES OF HOLLYBROOK, &c. &c.

The greater portion of the Barna property came into the Lynch family by the marriage of the direct ancestor of the present proprietor with the heiress of the O'HALLORANS, the foundations of whose castle are still to be seen.

MARCUS LYNCH, Esq. of Barna, descended from the marriage of William Lynch and the heiress of O'Halloran, m. in 1684, Elizabeth Brown, of Coolaron, and was father of

NICHOLAS LYNCH, Esq. of Barna, who m. in 1719, Mary, dau. and heiress of Neptune Lynch, Esq. of Lettermullin, co. Galway. Their son,

MARCUS LYNCH, Esq. of Barna, m. in 1742, Anstace, dau. of Maurice Blake, Esq. of Ballinafad, co. Mayo, and had issue, with three daus., of whom Julia m. in 1784, Hyacinth D'Arcy, Esq. of Kiltulla, two sons, the younger of whom d. leaving one dau. and heiress, m. to Maurice Blake, Esq. of Ballinafad, co. Mayo. The elder son,

NICHOLAS LYNCH, Esq. of Barna, m. in 1765, Catherine, only dau. and heiress of Henry Blake, Esq. of Ballinahill, co. Galway, second son of Blake, of Lehinch, co. Mayo, and by her had, with five daus., one son,

III. Joseph, b. in May, 1828.
I. Mary. II. Anne.

Mr. Lynch is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for co. Mayo, and served as high-sheriff in 1832.

Lineage.

The family of O'Crean, one of great antiquity, possessed extensive estates in the co. of Sligo, but lost them, as did most of their Catholic fellow-countrymen, in the times of religious persecution. The finest monument remaining in the Abbey of Sligo is an altar-tomb to a member of this family, ornamented with a crucifix, and eight figures in bas-relief, representing a monk, a king, a bishop, a knight, &c., in proper costumes, and surmounted by this inscription in Gothic characters:—

"Hic jacet Cormacus O'Crean, et uxor ejus.
Ano. Doi. mccccvi."

On a slab, near the altar, the arms of O'Crean are depicted, with the following lines:—

"1616.
A. C. E. F.
Cor mundum crea in me Deus et spiritum,
Rectum innova in visceribus meis."

The O'Creans formed alliances with many of the first families in the co. of Sligo, and mention of them occurs in documents of an early period: in the will of Eleanor, Countess of Kildare, who m. for her second husband, O'Connor Sligo, and d. in 1656, Andrew Crean, Esq. of Annagh, and his son, are legatees. A descendant of this ancient race,

Henry Crean, Esq., b. in 1670, eldest son of Stephen Crean, Esq. of Sligo, m. in 1703, Catherine, dau. of Thomas Blake, Esq. of Bonlybeg, co. Mayo, and was father of

Andrew Crean, Esq. of Bonlybeg, b. in 1705, who m. 6 Jan. 1751, Mary, dau. and heiress of Dominick Lynch, Esq. of Newborough, co. ## LYNES OF TOOLEY PARK.

Lynes, Samuel-Parr, Esq. of Tooley Park, co. Leicester and Hackleton, co. Northampton, b. 29 June, 1838; s. his father, 22 July, 1843.

Lineage.

Families of this name have been resident at Corley and Fillingley, in the county of Warwick, from a very early period, and they are reputed to be descendants of Leninnus, who lived at Fillingley in the Conqueror's time; for according to Doomsday Book, Fillingley was at that time rated at two hides, and possessed by several persons. Half a hide thereof the Bishop of Constance had there, held by Leninnus, and valued at xxx*s.*, whereof the woods extended to two furlongs in length, and one in breadth; and there is a tradition in this family, borne out by the earliest records they possess, that woods in Corley and Fillingley were in their possession in the time of the Saxons. The one in Corley was sold some time ago, by the grandfather of the present representative of the family, the same having been in the possession of his ancestor at the time of the Conquest, and had been from that period handed down from father to son, until it came into the possession of the late John Lynes, Esq. The one in Fillingley was in possession of John Lynes, of Heigham, at the time of his decease, in 1824.

Thomas Lynes, living at Corley, in the reigns of Henry VIII. and Queen Elizabeth, had by his wife, Christian, (whom he m. at Corley, 10 Nov. 1561,) several sons; from one of them descended,

John Lynes, of Corley, who, by his wife, (who was buried at Corley, 6 May, 1723,) had issue two sons and two daus. John Lynes was buried at Corley, 7 July, 1727, and was s. by his only surviving son,

John Lynes, of Corley, bapt. 16 Sept. 1673, who m. three times. By his first wife, Sarah, dau. and co-heir of William Weaman, Gent. of Allesley, (which lady was m. in 1698, and buried at Corley, 29 Nov. 1721,) he left, with a dau., Sarah, wife of John Geary, Gent. of Atterton, three sons, John, his heir; William, of Kearsley; and Thomas, whose son, John, of Heigham, d. s. p. in 1824. Mr. Lynes was buried at Corley, 10 March, 1747, and s. by his eldest son,

John Lynes, of Corley, who was bapt. 4 April, 1702. He m. in 1722, Mary, relict of Jeffery Dixon, Gent. of Twycross, in the county of Leicester, and had issue three sons and two daus. John Lynes d. about 1728-9, and was s. by his eldest son,

John Lynes, of Corley, who m. 7 May, 1748, 1st, Miss Ann Harding, and had issue an only son,

LYON OF AULDBAR.

Lyon, John, Esq., representative of the family, s. his father, David Lyon, Esq. of Portland Place, London, and of Jamaica, in June, 1827.

Lineage.

This family descends in the direct male line from the Hon. Sir Thomas Lyon, Knt. of Auldbar, Forfarshire, North Britain, who was designated Master of Glamis, as presumptive heir to the title, being brother of John, eighth Lord Glamis, grandfather of the first Earl of Strathmore. (See Burke's Peerage and Baronetage.)

Sir Robert Douglas, in his Peerage of Scotland, makes the following mention of Sir Thomas Lyon: "He was one of the principal agents in the seizure of the person of King James VI., at the Raid of Ruthven, on the 23rd Aug. 1582. The king going towards the door was stopped by the Master of Glamis, and bursting into tears, Glamis said, 'No matter; better children weep than bearded men.' When the king recovered his liberty next year, the Master of Glamis retired into England, and was forfeited 2nd March, 1584; he returned to Scotland the same year, and with the Earls of Angus and Mar, seized on the castle of Stirling, but was soon obliged to fly to England; he and the other banished lords returning in 1585, with a great force, compelled Stewart, Earl of Arran, to quit the Royal presence, and they were received into favour by James, who was pleased to appoint the Master of Glamis captain of his guards, in place of Arran, and high treasurer of Scotland: he was constituted an extraordinary lord of session, 9 Feb. 1585, held it till 6 Nov. 1591, constituted an ordinary lord of session, 28 March, 1593, and sat till 28 May, same year: he was knighted at the coronation of James and Queen Anne, 27 May, 1590; he held the office of treasurer till 1595; had a charter to the Barony of Dod to Thomas Lyon, of Auldbar, Knt., and Euphemia Douglas, his wife, 6 April, 1594. At his death, King James said, that 'the boldest and hardiest man in his dominions was dead.' He m. 1st, Agnes, third dau. of Patrick, fifth Lord Gray, relict of Sir Robert Logan, of Restalrig, and Alexander, fifth Lord Howe; 2ndly, Lady Euphemia Douglas, fourth dau. of William, Earl Morton; he had a dau. married to Robert Semphill, of Belltrees, and a son, John Lyon, of Auldbar, who was served heir of Sir Thomas Lyon, of Auldbar, Knt., his father, in the Barony of Melgund, lands of Auldbar, &c., 6 Aug. 1608; he married a dau. of George Gladstones, Archbishop of St. Andrew's." Mr. Lysons s. his father, 3 Jan. 1834. He is Rector of Rodmarton, and in the commission of the peace for Gloucestershire.

Lineage.

This family, which has been established for nearly three centuries in the county of Gloucester, is traditionally said to have migrated thither from Wales. LELAND, in his Itinerary, makes mention of the Lysans as inhabiting the town of Neath, in Glamorganshire, temp. HENRY VIII., then in reduced circumstances. "One Lysan, a gentilman of auncient stok but mene lands about XL li by the yere dwellith in the towne of Nethe. The Lysans say that theire familie was there in fame before the conquest of the Normans." And in the cathedral church of Llandaff, one of the stalls is entitled Sancti Dulbritii sive Doctoris Lysons, founded temp. HENRY VIII. Lewis Leysaunce, or Lysons, was sheriff of Gloucester 4 EDWARD VI., and Master of Margaret's Hospital in that city, 2 and 3 MARY.

In the register of burials for Westbury upon Severn, where the family settled about the year 1550, occur the names of John Lysons, interred 3 Jan. 1587, and Alice, his wife, buried 2 May, 1598.

WILLIAM LEYSON, LISON, or LYSONS, (for the name is written in several different ways in the registers,) supposed to have been a son of John and Alice, bought an estate called Netherlay, or the Lower Lay, in the parish of Westbury on Severn, in the year 1606. He m. a lady named Anne, and had issue,

* By Dorothea, his wife, sister of Allan, first Lord Gardner, and widow of Robert Barrie, Esq., by whom she was mother of the late Admiral Sir Robert Barrie, Knt.

LYSTER OF ROWTON CASTLE.

LYSTER, HENRY, Esq. of Rowton Castle, co. Salop, b. 18 Oct. 1798; m. 13 Oct. 1824, the Lady Charlotte-Barbara Ashley Cooper, youngest dau. of Cropley, fifth Earl of Shaftesbury. Mr. Lyster, who is in the commission of the peace for Shropshire, s. his father 3 May, 1819.

Lineage.

The family of Lyster of Rowton is considered to have sprung from the same stock as the Lysters of Gisborne, in Craven.

WILLIAM LYSTER, of Shrewsbury, the first name in the Heraldic Visitation for Salop, is found to have purchased Rowton Castle, and to have been seated there in the year 1451. He m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Leighton, of Leighton and Church Stretton, and 2ndly, Jane, dau. of Sir Ralph Wotton, Knt., by the former of whom he had (with a dau, Isabella, the wife of John Forester, Esq. of Watling Street, ancestor of the Lords Forester) a son and successor,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton, co. Salop, b. in 1451, who m. Agnes, dau. of Ralph Fitzherbert, Esq. of Norbury, in Derbyshire, and was father of

JOHN LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton, who m. 1st, Christabella, dau. of John Gatacre, of Gatacre, and had by her two sons, RICHARD, his heir, and William. He m. 2ndly, Katherine, dau. of Roger Bromley, and had a numerous issue, but which does not appear to have been commemorated beyond the second generation. His eldest son,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton, m. Jane, dau. of Thomas Jenyngs, of Walleborne, in Salop, and had three sons and one dau., viz., MICHAEL, his heir; John; Gabriel; and Christabella, the wife of Thomas Wells. He was s. by the eldest son,

MICHAEL LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Lee, Esq. of Langley, in Shropshire, and had one son and two daus. He d. in 1598, was buried at Broughton, Salop, and s. by his son,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton, who m. Mary, dau. of Michael Chambers, of Shrewsbury, and had issue three sons and five daus. He was s. at his decease, in October, 1635, by his eldest son,

SIR THOMAS LYSTER, of Rowton, who, according to the Visitations, was eleven years of age in 1623. This gentleman was a devoted adherent of King CHARLES I., and on the appearance of that monarch at Shrewsbury, in the first campaign of the civil wars, he waited on the king, then residing in the council-house, the family residence of the Lysters, and recruited the empty coffers of his majesty by the welcome present of five hundred pieces of gold. He was knighted on this occasion, and afterwards held a high command in the garrison established in Shrewsbury; on the fall of the town he was taken prisoner, but his lady gallantly held out the castle of Rowton for nearly a fortnight against all the efforts of the Republican officer, Colonel Mytton, nor did she surrender her post till she had obtained good terms from that commander. Sir Thomas m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of John Adye, of the co. of Kent, and had by her one son, RICHARD, his heir, and one dau., Elizabeth, the wife of — Draycott, of Ireland. He m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Sir John Hanmer, Bart. of Hanmer, by whom he had a son, Thomas, Barrister-at-law, who d. unm., and two daus., Dorothy, the wife of William Jordan, Esq., and Mary, who d. unm. Sir Thomas d. in 1655, was buried 17 March, in that year, at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, and was s. by his son,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton Castle, who served the office of high-sheriff for Shropshire in 1684. He m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Thomas Eyton, of Eyton, and by her had one son and one dau.,

THOMAS, his heir.

Margaret, m. to William Beaw, son of the Bishop of Llandaff.

He m. 2ndly, Sarah, only child and sole heir of Thomas Hughes, Esq. of Moynes Court, co. Monmouth, and had, with three daus., two sons: the younger, John, d. s. p.; the elder,

Richard, of Moynes Court, m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. and co-heir of Hugh Derwas, Esq. of Penhros, in Montgomeryshire, and had a dau. and heiress, ELIZABETH, who m. the Rev. Lewis Owen, D.D., youngest son of Sir Robert Owen, of Porkington, and left, with a dau. Margaret, who d. unm. in 1816, a son, JOHN OWEN, Esq. of Penhros, co. Montgomery, and of Moynes Court, in Monmouthshire, who d. at an advanced age, unm., 18 Dec. 1823, having devised the Penhrôs and his other Montgomeryshire estates to Mrs. Ormsby Gore, and the Moynes Court estates to Lieut.-Col. John Lyster, brother of the present Henry Lyster, Esq. of Rowton Castle.

Mr. Lyster d. in 1698, and was s. by his son,

THOMAS LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton Castle, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Dr. Beaw, Bishop of Llandaff, by Cecilia, his wife, dau. of Charles, eighth Lord de la Warr, descended from Archbishop Chichele, Founder of All Souls' College, Oxford, and from two stocks of the Royal line of Plantagenet. This union produced three sons and three daus., viz.,

I. RICHARD, his heir.
II. Francis, d. unm.
III. Thomas, in Holy Orders, Rector of the first portion of Westbury, and of Neenton, in Salop, who m. Anne, dau. of the Rev. George Fisher, and d. in 1772, aged seventy-three, having had issue, a son, RICHARD, who inherited the Rowton estate.

I. Jane, m. to John Powys, Esq. of Berwick.
II. Dorothea. III. Ann.

Mr. Lyster d. 7 March, 1701-2, and was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton Castle, who represented the county of Salop for the unusual period of thirty years. The great hospitality and universal popularity of this gentleman are still very freshly remembered; he was a firm supporter of the exiled Royal house, and constantly opposed the Whig administrations of his day. It is related of him, that his first return to parliament was for the borough of Shrewsbury, for which place, after a strenuous contest, he was elected by a considerable majority. His opponent, however, disputed the return, and endeavoured to destroy the majority by disfranchising an extensive suburb, which, till that period, had always enjoyed the elective franchise, and as he was a supporter of the government, the whole Whig party joined in the attempt, and succeeded in throwing out the successful candidate. Upon the decision being announced in the Commons, Mr. Lyster, feeling very keenly the injustice of the proceeding, put on his hat, and, with his back to the Speaker, walked down the house; when his manner being remarked, he was called to order, and pointed out to the chair. Turning abruptly round, he instantly said, "When you learn justice, I will learn manners." This drew down upon him the increased wrath of the house, and probably he would have been compelled to ask pardon on his knees, or to visit the Tower, had not Sir Robert Walpole, who on all occasions knew how to throw the grace of good temper over his corruptions and tyranny, exclaimed, with a smile, "Let him go, we have served him bad enough already." The indignation which this ill treatment occasioned, mainly contributed to securing the representation of his native county for the remainder of his life. In illustration of the manners of his day, we may add, that on his departure from Rowton to take his seat, his tenants annually escorted him the first two stages on his journey, while his London tradespeople, duly apprised of his approach, with the same punctilio, advanced two stages from town to bring him into London. He m. Anne, dau. of Robert Pigott, Esq. of Chetwynd, and had three children, Thomas, Richard, and Anne, who all d. young. Mr. Lyster d. in 1766, aged 75, and was s. in the Rowton estate by his widow, Anne, at whose demise, in 1781, it passed to her husband's nephew,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton Castle, who m. Mary, dau. of Moses Smith, Esq., and had two sons, viz.,

RICHARD, his heir.
Thomas-Moses, Rector of Oldbury, Salop.

Mr. Lyster d. 14 April, 1794, and was s. by his elder son,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton Castle, who m. Mary, dau. of the Rev. John Rodd, of Barton-on-the-Heath, co. Oxford, and dying 23 May, 1807, left a son and successor,

RICHARD LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton Castle, Lieut.-Col. of the 22nd Light-dragoons, who served the office of high-sheriff for Shropshire in 1812. He m. 10 Dec. 1794, Penelope-Anne, dau. of Henry Price, Esq. of Knighton, co. Radnor, and by her, who d. in Jan. 1829, had issue,

Richard, b. 12 Dec. 1797, and d. in March, 1806.
HENRY, heir to his father.
John, Lieut.-Colonel in the Grenadier-guards, to whom the late John Owen, Esq. of Penhrôs, left the Moynes Court estate. He d. in Canada, 30 April, 1840.
Thomas-Price, b. 19 July, 1802, in the Royal Navy, d. in January, 1820.
Mary, m. in 1830, to the Rev. Richard-Webster Huntley, A.M., of Boxwell Court, co. Gloucester.
Georgiana.

Colonel Lyster, who represented Shrewsbury in three parliaments, and until his death, d. in St. James's Place, London, 3 May, 1819, was buried at Alberbury, the 13th of that month, and was s. by his eldest surviving son, the present HENRY LYSTER, Esq. of Rowton Castle.

Arms—Ermine, on a fesse, sa., three mullets, arg.
Crest—A stag's head, erased, ppr.
Motto—Loyal au mort.
Seat—Rowton Castle, Salop.

LYTTON OF KNEBWORTH.

BULWER-LYTTON, ELIZABETH-BARBARA, of Knebworth Park, co. Herts, widow of WILLIAM EARLE BULWER, Esq. of Heydon, a Brigadier-General. (For this lady's issue, see BULWER.)

Lineage.

The family of Lytton, one of the most ancient in Hertfordshire, possessed Knebworth from the time of HENRY VII., when it was acquired by SIR ROBERT DE LYTTON, of Lytton, in Derbyshire, K.B., Treasurer to that Prince. His great-grandson, SIR ROWLAND LYTTON, of Knebworth, was Lord-Lieutenant of the counties of Essex and Herts, Commander of the Forces of those counties at Tilbury Fort, Captain of the band of Gentlemen Pensioners, &c. He was father of SIR WILLIAM LYTTON, M.P. for Herts in the reign of CHARLES I., who took an active part with Hampden in the earlier disturbances. He was chosen by the parliament a commissioner to treat with the King at Oxford, but afterwards resisting CROMWELL'S attempt at supreme power, suffered a temporary confinement. His grandson, SIR WILLIAM LYTTON, of Knebworth, M.P. for Herts, d. s. p. in 1704, and was s. by his grand-nephew,

LYTTON STRODE, Esq. of Knebworth, who, upon inheriting, assumed the surname of LYTTON. Mr. Strode-Lytton m. Bridget, dau. of Richard Mostyn, Esq. of Penbeddw, by Charlotte Digby, granddau. of the celebrated Sir Kenelm Digby, but dying s. p. in 1710, he was s. by his first cousin,

WILLIAM ROBINSON, (second son of William Robinson, Esq. of Guersfelt, by Elizabeth Lytton, his wife.) This gentleman m. Elizabeth, dau. and sole heiress of Giles Heysham, Esq. of Stagenhoe, Herts, and left issue,

JOHN, his successor.
Elizabeth.
Fanny, d. in 1730.
Anne-Jane, d. unm.
BARBARA, m. to William Warburton, Esq. of Yarrow, in the Queen's County, (a younger branch of the ancient family of WARBURTON, Baronets, of Arley, in Cheshire,) and had issue, a son,
RICHARD WARBURTON, of whom presently, as heir to his uncle, JOHN ROBINSON LYTTON, Esq.

Mr. Robinson Lytton, who served the office of sheriff of Herts, d. in 1732, and was s. by his eldest surviving son,

JOHN ROBINSON LYTTON, Esq. of Knebworth, who m. Leonora, dau. and heiress of Humphrey Brereton, Esq. of Borras, in Denbighshire. He d. in 1762, and was s. by his nephew,

RICHARD WARBURTON, Esq., who, upon inheriting Knebworth, assumed the surname of LYTTON. This gentleman, the intimate friend of Dr. Parr, of Sir William Jones, and of Dr. Johnson, was a member of the Greek Club, and one of the most erudite scholars of his age. He d. in 1810, leaving by his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of Paul Jodrell, Esq. of Lewkner, in Oxfordshire, an only dau. and heiress,

ELIZABETH-BARBARA, relict of General Bulwer, of Heydon.

Arms—Ermine, on a chief, indented, az., three ducal coronets, or.
Seat—Knebworth Park, Herts.

M'ADAM OF WATERHEAD.

M'Adam, William, of Ballochmorrie, co. Ayr, Surveyor-general of Turnpike Roads in England, s. his grandfather in 1836, and is the present representative of the ancient family of M'Adam of Waterhead, and chief of the name.

Lineage.

The M'Adams of Waterhead, in the stewartry of Kirkabright, are descended and derive their name from Gregor M'Gregor, chief of clan Gregor: whose second son, Gregor, captain of the clan, together with his cousin, (from whom spring the Griersons, or Gregorsons of Lagg,) fled to the south country, in consequence of an edict of fire and sword issued against the clan for a raid upon the M'Nabs. After committing various acts of hostility upon the English border, and occasionally in his own country, Gregor was taken and executed in Edinburgh. His son,

Adam M'Gregor, being compelled to change his name, called himself Adam M'Adam.

Some writers assert that all the M'Adams and Adams in Scotland are derived from Duncan Adam, who lived in the time of Robert the Bruce; and support their assertion by the alleged similarity of their armorial bearings. The total difference of the arms of the M'Adams of Waterhead and those of the Adams will be best shown by comparison. Adam—Argent, a mullet, azure, pierced, of the field, between three cross-crosslets, fitchy, gules. M'Adam of Waterhead—Vert, an arrow, paleways, barbed and feathered, argent.

The arms and the crest of the M'Adams of Waterhead are traditionally said to be derived from the circumstance of an ancestor of M'Gregor's having saved the king's life by shooting a stag when driven to bay. The story is also claimed, with some variation, by the elder branch of the M'Gregors, and by the Seaforths; but the evidence of arms seems more in favour of the M'Adams of Waterhead, who would otherwise have borne something more resembling the very ancient shield of the clan Gregor, namely, argent, a pine tree, eradicated, proper.

John M'Adam, son of the above-mentioned Adam M'Gregor, continued to live at Waterhead, without possessing it, till his son,

Andrew M'Adam, on the 31 July, 1569, obtained a charter of the lands at Perth from James VI., by the hands of the regent Murray. This Andrew had (with a dau., Ellinor, maternal ancestor of the Cunninghams of Caprington, in Ayrshire) a son and heir,

Quintin M'Adam, who was twice summoned to Parliament in 1581, and was s. by his son,

Gilbert M'Adam, served heir to his father in the lands of Waterhead, 5 Feb. 1591. Thirty years afterwards we find his son,

William M'Adam served heir. He was summoned as "Baillie," together with other barons of the stewartry, to form a committee for the defence of the country in case of war, A.D. 1648; his brothers, John and Christian M'Adam, are spoken of by the celebrated John Livingston, in a letter dated 1626, as "worth and experienced Christians rendering him much assistance in his wanderings." Mr. M'Adam m. Bessie Fullarton, and was s. by his son,

Gilbert M'Adam, who was served heir to his father 2 Aug. 1662. This gentleman was a strenuous supporter of the reformed religion in Scotland, and consequently became involved in the political disputes of that time. He was tried and banished the country for harbouring the famous John Welsh and other leaders of the insurrection, who fled from Bothwell field. Having been ransomed by his father-in-law, James Dun, of Benwhatt (who was afterwards shot by Claverhouse), he returned, and whilst at prayer in a cottage, in the village of Kirkmichael, co. Ayr, was surprised and shot by a party of soldiers under the command of the lairds of Colzean and Ballochmyer, A.D. 1680. A stone was erected at the time to commemorate the event; and the names of the two leaders having been subsequently erased from it, were restored by the hands of Old Mortality, whose singular occupation is recorded in the pages of Sir Walter Scott. This ancient stone is now inserted into a neat monument in the churchyard of Kirkmichael. Gilbert M'Adam m. a dau. of James Dun of Benwhatt, and had a son and successor,

James M'Adam, who was served heir in 1686. He m. a lady of the Cunningham family, and appears to have d. in 1687. He inherited his father's regard for religious freedom, as on the reverse side of his tombstone, in the family burying ground at Carsphairn, are found the following lines:—

"Reader, behold in death so cold
Two Waterheads here ly,
Who in our night yt. give us light
Truth's champions in their day,
Protectors brave lo here yr. grave
In . . . . . of day
With saints do sing for ay."

His life also was attempted by Crawfurd of Camlarg, and Crawfurd of Boreland, who followed him along the road, and missing him in the dusk of the evening, overtook and shot Roger Dun, his uncle, in mistake for the laird. The tombstone of the murdered man lies beside that of the intended victim. This James was s. by his son,

James M'Adam, who m. Janet Craufurd, (of the Loudon family,) by whom he had

James M'Adam, his heir, who m. late in life, A.D. 1715, Margaret, dau. and heiress of John Reid of Mid Helliar, co. Ayr, and had issue,

I. James, his heir.
II. Gilbert, who inherited his mother's property. He m. Mrs. Cunningham, a widow, dau. of Christopher Kilby, and had issue,
  1. Kilby, m. and had issue.
  2. James, m. Miss Nicoll, and had issue.
  3. John, d. unm.
  4. William, m. and had issue.
  5. Martha, m. to John Logan, of Knockshinnock, and had issue.
III. William, settled in America, where he m. Miss Dey-Anne-Dey, and d. without issue.

The eldest son,

James M'Adam, s. his father, and was one of the founders of the first bank in the town of Ayr. He m. Susanna, dau. of John Cochrane of Waterside, and Hannah De Witt, of the illustrious family of De Witt, in Holland. Miss Cochrane was niece to the heroic Grissel Cochrane, and cousin-germain to the eighth Earl of Dundonald. They had issue,

I. James, a capt. in the army, d. unm. in 1763.
II. John-Loudon, of whom presently.
I. Margaret, who m. William Logan, a near relation of the facetious "Laird of Logan," and had issue,
  Susan, d. unm.
  William, major in the army, d. unm.
  Anne, m. to Capt. Wilson.
  Jane, m. to Lieut. Louis M'Kenzie, and their only child m. to the Rev. Stair M'Quay.
  Quintin, d. unm.

II. Clara, d. unm.
III. Jacobina, d. unm.
IV. Grissel, who m. Adam Steuart, Esq., and was mother of WILLIAM-M'ADAM STEUART, Esq. of Glenormiston, co. Peebles. (See that family.)
V. Elizabeth, d. unm.
VI. Catherine, d. unm.
VII. William-Hannah, who m. Capt. Shaw, and had issue,

John-Shaw, d. unm.
James-Shaw, lieut.-col. in the army, who m. Mary, dau. and heiress of David Kennedy, of Kirkmichael, and took the name of Kennedy. They have issue,

John.
Harriet, m. to William Kennedy, of Drumellan, co. Ayr, Scotland.

Helen, m. to David Ramsay, and has issue, John, David, Thomas, and Wilhelmina.
Alexander, d. unm.

The second son,

JOHN LOUDON M'ADAM, celebrated for the reformation of the public roads of the kingdom, became, by the death of his elder brother, James, the representative of this ancient family, but did not inherit the estate of Waterhead, it having been disposed of by his father, and purchased by a younger branch of the family, the M'Adams of Craigingillan, whose dau. and heiress m. the Hon. Col. M'Adam Cathcart. Mr. M'Adam went to New York, in America, when only fourteen years of age, where his uncle had been settled for some time. There he realized a large fortune, and m. Gloriana-Margaretta Nicoll, dau. of William Nicoll, of Islip, Suffolk county, Long Island, America, lineally descended from Col. Nicoll, equerry to the Duke of York (JAMES II.) at the taking of New York. At the close of the American revolutionary war, in which Mr. M'Adam served as a loyal volunteer, he returned to Scotland, with the loss of nearly all his property. He purchased Sauchrie, in the county of Ayr, where he resided many years, being in the commission of the peace and a deputy-lieutenant. At the commencement of the war with France, he raised a volunteer corps of artillery, for the protection of the coast of Ayrshire, and received from GEORGE III. a commission as major. It was in the course of his active services as a magistrate and trustee of roads, that Mr. M'Adam's attention was first attracted to the want of scientific principle in the formation of roads. From that time to an advanced age, the subject continued to occupy all the leisure of an active life, and the result was freely given to the country. Perhaps it is not generally known that Mr. M'Adam was in his sixtieth year when he commenced his public career as a "reformer of roads;" thus effecting a great national measure at a period of life which men of common minds devote to shelter and repose. In introducing his system of road-making throughout the United Kingdom, Mr. M'Adam expended several thousand pounds of his own private fortune. In 1825, he proved this expenditure before a committee of the House, when an equivalent sum was agreed upon, and an honorary sum of two thousand pounds voted, as a consideration for the benefit the public had derived from his labours, and the free gift of his invention. Although the inadequacy of this remuneration is very striking, and never was wholly paid, Mr. M'Adam was the last to complain of it; never having made money his object, but, on the contrary, rejecting, from principle, many opportunities of gathering wealth which were open to him, and refusing even honours when offered to him: he therefore died a poor, but, as he often expressed himself, "at least an honest man," in the year 1836, in the 81st year of his age. He had issue,

WILLIAM, his heir.
James, d. an infant.
James-Nicoll (Sir), knighted in 1834.
John-Loudon, m. Marianne, dau. of Joseph-Hellicar and Henrietta Gresley, and has issue, Charles-Loudon, Alice-Mary, and Selina-Henrietta.
Anne, m. to Capt. James Sanders, R.N. and C.B., and has issue, John-Loudon-James and Gloriana-Margaretta.
Gloriana-Margaretta, d. unm.
Georgina-Keith.

Mr. M'Adam was m. a second time, at an advanced age, to Miss De Lancy, by whom he had no issue. His eldest son,

WILLIAM M'ADAM, d. a few months before his father. He m. Jane, dau. of Captain Pickard, of the 13th Light dragoons, and left issue,

WILLIAM, present representative of the family.
Christopher, who m. Ellen, dau. of Edward-Stephens Trelawney, Esq. of Coldrinnick, Cornwall, and has issue, Ellen-Jane, Agnes-Henrietta, and Emily-Darell.
George, who m. Theresa, dau. of William Eccles, and has issue, Annie-Selina-Campbell.
Selina.
Susan-Cochrane-Craufurd, m. to George Natheam, and has issue.
Jane.

WILLIAM M'ADAM, of Ballochmorie, in the co. Ayr, (Sauchri being sold,) s. his grandfather in 1836, and is at present the representative of the family.

Arms—Vert, three arrows, paleways, barbed and feathered, arg. (See BURKE'S Heraldic Illustrations.)
Crest—A stag's head, erased, ppr.
Supporters—Two saracens, naked, ppr.
Mottoes—Above the crest "Calm;" under the arms, "Crux mihi grata quies."
Seat—Ballochmorrie, co. Ayr, Scotland.

MACALESTER OF LOUP & KENNOX.

SOMERVILLE-MACALESTER, CHARLES, Esq. of Kennox, in Ayrshire, Chief of the Clan Alester, in Kintyre, b. 13 Jan. 1765; m. 28 March, 1792, Janet, dau. and heiress of William Somerville, Esq. of Kennox, by Lilias, his wife, dau. and co-heir of Gabriel Porterfield, Esq. of Hapland, and has issue,

CHARLES, m. in 1828, Mary-Adeline-Brabazon, only child of the late Edward Lyon, Esq. of Dublin, formerly an officer in the royal navy, by Anna-Catherine, his wife, dau. of George-Frederick Wynstanley, Esq. of Philipsburgh, co. Dublin, and has issue,

Charles. Edward.
Anna-Catherine. Jessy. Mary.
James.
Williamina. Jane.

This gentleman, who is Lieutenant-Colonel-Commandant of the 1st regt. of Ayrshire Local Militia, and a deputy-lieutenant and justice of the peace, succeeded his father in 1796. The estate of Kennox was entailed by the late proprietor, and in terms of his settlement, the M'Alesters add the name and arms of Somerville to their own, and the designation of the present representative is, consequently, "Somerville-M'Alester, of Loup and Kennox."

Lineage.

The M'Alesters of Loup (now Somerville-M'Alester, of Loup and Kennox) are descended from ALEXANDER, stated to have been eldest son of Angus Mor, Lord of the Isles and Kintyre, A.D. 1284; and third in descent from Somerled, Thane of Argyle, the common ancestor of the clan Donald and clan Dugall.

Alexander acquired a considerable addition to his territories by marriage with one of the daughters and coheiresses of Ewen de Ergadia, the last of the male descendants of Dugall, the eldest son of Somerled, but having joined with the Lord of Lorn in opposition to the claims of Robert Bruce, he became involved in the ruin of that chief. After the battle of Lochow, and subsequent siege of Dunstaffnage, King ROBERT proceeded to crush Alexander of the Isles, and having pursued him to Castle Swen, his principal stronghold, forced him to surrender, and immediately imprisoned him in Dundonald Castle, where he died. His whole possessions were forfeited, and bestowed on his brother, Angus Og, who from the beginning had supported the cause of Bruce. From this circumstance, Alexander has been frequently supposed to have been the younger brother of Angus Og, but the M'Alesters maintain that he was the elder, and that, consequently, according to the Highland principles of clanship, they possess that "jus sanguinis," of which no forfeiture could deprive them, and are the representatives of the ancient Lords of the Isles, as heirs male of Donald, the grandson of Somerled, from whom came first the name Clan Donald.

The sons of Alexander, being driven from the Isles, sought refuge in Argyleshire, where their descendants acquired considerable possessions, situated in the districts of Knapdale and Kintyre, but appear to have remained tributary to the descendants of Angus Og, until the middle of the 15th century, when the chief asserted his independence; and on the final overthrow of the dynasty of the Isles in the reign of JAMES IV., anno 1493, they were sufficiently numerous and powerful to form a separate clan, and maintained this position for upwards of a century, when, in common with most of their kindred tribes, their possessions were wrested from them by the Campbells.

The Earl of Argyle, being appointed King's Lieutenant, with power to lease out the entire lordship of the Isles, contrived to have the district of Kintyre ultimately included. But though they were thus forced to hold their lands of him, it would appear that the Macalesters did not always yield him military service; on the contrary, they were more frequently arrayed against him, and espoused the cause of the clan Ian Vohr, or M'Donalds of Isla, ultimately sharing the downfall of that unfortunate race, which in 1615 was nearly extirpated by the Campbells.

From this period, the clan Alester has gradually declined, but the chiefs still retained a considerable part of their possessions until the beginning of the 19th century.

Of the earlier descendants of Alexander little is known, and the first man of note amongst them appears to have been,

EANDUBH, who, in the 15th century, fixed his residence at Ardpatrick, in South Knapdale, extended his influence and his territories, and, for several generations, his descendants retained the patronymic of Vic Eandubh. They had their burial-place at Iona, and Martin, in his account of the Western Isles at the end of the 17th century, mentions the tomb with the statue of Macalester of Loup in armour, formed of black marble, and as large as life. The next of the family on public record is

CHARLES, who was appointed Steward of Kintyre, A.D. 1481, as stated in the register of the Great Seal, X. 9. He was s. by his son,

ANGUS VIC EANDUBH, styled also ANGUS MACALESTER, of the Loup. He is mentioned in the register of the Privy Seal, A.D. 1515. He had issue,

I. ALEXANDER, his heir.
II. Donald, appointed constable of the castle of Tarbert, on Lochfine side, which office continued hereditary in his family.
III. Roderick, who, in 1545, was Bishop of the Isles.

The eldest son,

ALEXANDER MACALESTER, Laird of Loup, is mentioned in Pitcairn's "Criminal Trials" as having incurred the penalty of forfeiture for treasonably abiding from the army at Sullaway. From this forfeiture he obtained remission for himself and fifteen of his clan in 1540. He left a son,

HECTOR MACALESTER, who did not long survive his father, and was succeeded by his son,

ALEXANDER MACALESTER, who, in 1573, obtained a precept of clare constat from Archibald, Earl of Argyle, wherein he is designated as Alexander M'Eachine, lawful son of the deceased Hector Macalester, of Loup. His name appears in the roll of landlords and baillies dwelling in the Highlands, who, in 1587, were, by act of parliament, called upon to find sureties for their good behaviour, and deliver hostages, whose lives were to be held responsible for the obedience of their chiefs. At his death, his son and successor,

GODFREY MACALESTER, was yet a minor. In 1591, he obtained a charter from Archibald, Earl of Argyle, and is therein styled Gorrie M'Eachine vic Alester vic Eandubh. At an early age, he became the hero of a tragedy, still remembered in the Highlands, the heads of which are to be found in Pitcairn's "Criminal Trials," to the following effect:—Enamoured of a lady resident in his neighbourhood, the young Godfrey sought her in marriage, and the damsel was not unwilling, but their union was opposed by the guardian or tutor of Loup, who, coveting her possessions, contrived, either by over-persuasion or force, to secure her hand and wealth for one of his own sons; but fearing the resentment of his ward, he removed to a distant part of the country, where he and his sons remained for some years, nor ventured back until such time as he thought the young chief might have forgotten his love and desire of vengeance. But in this he was most fatally mistaken. No sooner did Godfrey learn this resolution, than, collecting his followers, he met him on the way, and upbraided him with his base and treacherous conduct. Dirks were drawn, and a skirmish ensued, in which he killed his former guardian with his own hand, but the sons escaped and sought refuge with Angus M'Donald, chief of the clan Ian Vohr. Macalester, thirsting for revenge, but unable to cope with the powerful Laird of Dunyveg, had recourse for assistance to his son, Sir James M'Donald of Knockrinsay, who was then at variance with his father. Having learned that the sons of the tutor were with Angus M'Donald at his house of Askomull, in Kintyre, he and Sir James, with about three hundred of their armed retainers, surrounded the house in the dead of night, and on a refusal to surrender the refugees, set it on fire—and although aware that his father and mother were beneath the roof, Sir James refused to allow its being extinguished. Old Angus, somewhat scorched, attempted to escape in his shirt, but was captured, when the others surrendered, and were led off prisoners to Smerbie. For this outrage, being threatened with fire and sword by the government, the Laird of Lowip was obliged to withdraw himself for a time, and live in concealment; but Sir James having managed to procure letters of pardon from the king, he returned in time to take part in the deadly conflict which happened soon after at Lochgruinart, in Isla, between the M'Donalds and M'Leans, in which the latter were defeated, and their chief killed; many of the M'Donalds were likewise slain, and their leader, Sir James, dangerously wounded. Godfrey now attached himself to the fortunes of the clan Donald, of Isla, and continued for some time in little better than open rebellion; but after the capture of Sir James, in 1603, he made his peace with government, and appeared (together with Angus M'Donald, and other chiefs) before Lord Scone, Comptroller of Scotland, who, according to the record of the Privy Council, 8 Aug. 1605, was commissioned to repair to Kintyre to receive the obedience of the principal men of the clans in the South Isles, who were likewise required to find sureties for the payment of his majesty's rents, and exhibit their title-deeds. By these means he was enabled to retain those lands for which he had obtained charters from the Earl of Argyle, in 1591; but the greater part of his possessions, which had been held by himself and his ancestors by no better title than the sword, were forfeited to the crown. Not long after, Godfrey ended his turbulent career, and was interred at Iona, in the tomb of his ancestors. He was s. by his son,

HECTOR MACALESTER, who was a mere boy at the time of his father's death, and this circumstance accounts for his not having been engaged in any of the conflicts which about this period took place between the clan Ian Vor and the Campbells, but in which many of his clan took an active part. In 1615, two of his kinsmen, Alaster and Angus Macalester, together with Angus M'Donald, brother to Sir James, (who was still detained a prisoner,) were tried before the Privy Council for high treason. The charge preferred against them was for forcibly seizing on the castle of Dunyveg in Isla, then a royal garrison, and holding it out against his majesty's forces, under Sir Oliver Lambert, and being found guilty, they were condemned and executed at the Market-cross of Edinburgh, 8 July, 1615. In the previous year, Hector had obtained a precept of clare constat from Archibald, Earl of Argyle, for infefting him in the lands of Loup and others, and instrument of seazine following thereon, in which he is styled Hector M'Gorry vic Eachine vic Alister vic Eanduff. It is dated 17 Oct. 1617, and is recorded in particular register for Dumbarton, 1 Nov. According to the record of the privy council, 7 Dec. 1618, he was named as one of the twenty barons and gentlemen of the shire of Argyle who were made answerable for the good rule of the earldom during Argyle's absence. Unlike his father, he seems to have been a man of peace, although he lived in the stirring times of Montrose; but perhaps his position more than his inclination may have been the true cause of his inaction. Stripped as he was, of the greater part of the possessions of his ancestors, his power and spirit were crushed, by being forced to become a vassal of Argyle, who was the bitter enemy of the gallant marquess. Besides, by marriage he was connected with the Campbells, having espoused Margaret, dau. of Colin Campbell, of Kilberry: her brothers, Colin of Kilberry, Archibald of Glencarradale, and Duncan of Drumnimuckloch, are parties to the contract of marriage, which is dated at Clanshannoch, and registered at the burgh of Rothesay, 11 March, 1620. But if the chief was thus forced to remain at home, many of the clan joined the army of Montrose, and one of them particularly distinguished himself at the battle of Inverlochy. After the happy restoration of King CHARLES II., Hector Macalester, of Loup, is mentioned as one of the commissioners of supply for the shire of Argyle, in the first parliament held at Edinburgh, Jan. 1661; and his son and successor,

GODFREY MACALESTER, of Loup, is mentioned in like manner in an act of the convention of estates, held at Edinburgh, in July, 1678. He m. a dau. of Sir Robert Montgomerie, of Skelmorlie, (ancestor of the present Earl of Eglinton,) by whom he had issue,

ALEXANDER MACALESTER, who in 1698 obtained a precept of clare constat from Archibald, Earl of Argyle, infefting him as heir to his grandfather Hector. He was a good and loyal subject, supported the cause of King JAMES VII. to the last, was present at the battle of Killicranky, under Dundee, and afterwards joined the force commanded by Major-General Buchan, which was totally routed at Cromdale, 1 May, 1690; but having escaped the slaughter with a remnant of his followers, he passed over to Ireland, where he obtained a commission in Fairfax's regiment, and was present at the battle of the Boyne. In these wars he was faithfully attended by his foster-brother, Alexander Culikan, on whom he bestowed the property of Culdrionach, in Knapdale, which is still possessed by his descendants; and there is a tradition that this same Culikan, who afterwards went to Persia, was the grandfather of the celebrated conqueror, Kooli-Kan. He m. Grace, dau. of Sir James Campbell, of Auchinbreck, by whom he had issue,

I. HECTOR, his heir.
II. CHARLES, who s. his brother, and carried on the line of the family.
III. Duncan, who settled in Holland, where he m. in 1717, Johanna, dau. of Arnold Leuchenmaker, Burggraaf at Meurs. His eldest son,
Robert, attained the rank of general in the Dutch service, and was commandant of the Scots brigade.
He left a numerous family besides, and his descendants are still settled in Holland.

HECTOR MACALESTER, s. his father, and obtained a precept of clare constat from John, Duke of Argyle, in 1726. He m. Isabell, dau. of Thomson, of Ballygabbin, co. Antrim, but dying without issue, was succeeded by his brother,

CHARLES MACALESTER, who m. Christina, dau. of Lamont, of Lamont, in Argyleshire, by whom he had two sons,

ANGUS, his heir.
Archibald, who for many years commanded the 35th regt. He d. a lieut.-gen., leaving a large family. His eldest son, until recently, was lieut.-col. of the Ceylon rifle regt.

The elder son,

ANGUS MACALESTER, sold a considerable part of his inheritance, having involved himself by becoming security to a large amount. He m. his cousin, Jane, dau. of John M'Donald, of Ardnacroish, by Grace, his wife, dau. of Godfrey Macalester, of Loup: this lady was niece to M'Donald, of Kingsburgh, in Skye, and cousin to the celebrated Flora M'Donald. By her (who had been previously married, in 1753, to John Dun, by whom she had issue) Angus Macalester left at his decease, in 1796, one son and three daughters,

I. CHARLES, his heir.
I. Johanna, who m. John Macalister, of Balinakil, Argyleshire, and left issue,
1. Angus, his heir, who m. Frances Byng, dau. of Norman Macalister, late governor of Prince of Wales Island, by whom he had one dau.,
Charlotte-Frances-Byng, who, on the death of her father in 1839, s. to the estate.
2. John, d. unm.
3. Robert, d. unm.
4. Mathew.
5. Grace, m. to William Burt.
6. Jane, m. to Dr. Catherwood.
II. Grace, m. to Alexander Alexander, of Boydstone, in Ayrshire, late major in the 4th regt., and left issue,
1. Archibald. 2. Jane. 3. Amelia.
III. Flora, m. to — M'Donald, but d. without issue.

Arms, Crest, Supporters, and Motto—see BURKE'S Heraldic Illustrations.

Somerville of Kennox.

The first Somerville of Kennox, in Lanarkshire, was a younger son of Sir William Somerville, Bart. of Cambusnethan, in that county; he m. a dau. of Inglis, of Inglistoun, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM SOMERVILLE, of Kennox, who m. 1st, a dau. of Vere, of Blackwood, which lady d. without issue, and 2ndly, a dau. of Sir Archibald Fleming, Bart. of Ferme, by a dau. of Archibald Stewart, of Scotstoun, who was son to Sir Archibald Stewart, Bart. of Blackhall, by Margaret, dau. of Bryce Blair, of that ilk. Mrs. Somerville's grandmother, Lady Fleming, was dau. of Colquhoun, of Luss, and her great-grandmother, dau. of Stirling, of Keir, in Stirlingshire. William Somerville was s. by his son,

JAMES SOMERVILLE, of Kennox, who disposed of that property, and purchased the barony of Bollingshaw, in Ayrshire, where he built a family residence, which he called Kennox, after his paternal inheritance; he m. Janet,* eldest dau. and heiress of Alexander Montgomerie, of Assloss, in Ayrshire, by the only dau. of Alexander Montgomerie, of Kirktonholme, in Lanarkshire; her grandmother by the mother's side was dau. of Corbett, of Tollcross, near Glasgow, and her great-grandmother dau. of John Hamilton, of Boghall: her grandmother by the father's side was dau. of William Wallace, of Shewalton, in Ayrshire; her great-grandmother, dau. of Kincaid, of Auchinreach; and her great-great-grandmother, Dorothea, dau. of Robert, third Lord Sempill.

WILLIAM SOMERVILLE, of Kennox, s. his father in the year 1743. He m. Lilias, youngest dau. of Gabriel Porterfield, of Hapland,† in Ayrshire, (cadet of Porterfield, of that ilk,) by Elizabeth, dau. of William Cunninghame, of Craigends, in Renfrewshire, and his lady, Chris-

* Her father, Alexander Montgomerie, of Assloss, was third son of George Montgomerie, of Broomlands, the direct representative of the Hon. William Montgomerie, fourth son to Hugh, first Earl of Eglinton. Montgomerie had four daus.,
I. JANET, above mentioned, who s. him in Assloss, which she afterwards disposed of.
II. Margaret, m. to Forbes of Watertoun, in Aberdeenshire.
III. Penelope, m. to Sir David Cunningham, Bart. of Corsehill.
IV. Anne, m. to Moir of Leckie, in Stirlingshire, was left the estate of Kirktonholme by the will of her uncle, Sir Walter Montgomerie, Knt., and dying without issue, bequeathed it to her youngest sister's son, Capt. Alexander Cunningham, of Corsehill, and it is now possessed by his son, Sir James-Montgomerie Cunningham, Bart. of Corsehill and Kirktonholme.

† The last Porterfield of Hapland was killed by a fall from his horse about the year 1768, when his estate was divided among his three sisters as co-heiresses: the eldest, Johanna, m. to Thomas Trotter, of Mortonhall, in Mid-Lothian; the second, Margaret, m. to John Hamilton, of Barr, in Renfrewshire; and the third, Lilias, m. to William Somerville.

tian, dau. of Sir James Colquhoun, of Luss. Mr. Somerville d. in 1796, and was s. by his daughter, JANET SOMERVILLE, who inherited from her mother in 1805, having previously m. in 1792, CHARLES MACALESTER, of Loup, in Argyleshire, Chief of the clan, as mentioned in the account of that family.

MACALISTER OF GLENBARR AND COUR.

MACALISTER, KEITH, Esq. of Glenbarr and Cour, co. Argyll, b. 13 Nov. 1803; m. 3 June, 1830, Mary-Agatha, dau. of Robert Campbell, Esq. of Skipness, by Eugenia, his wife, dau. of Richard Wynne, Esq. of Folkingham, co. Lincoln, and has issue,

I. CHARLES-BRODIE, b. 6 May, 1838.
I. Agatha-Cecilia-Constance.
II. Caroline-Elizabeth-Villiers.
III. Elinor-Georgina. IV. Eliza-Gordon.
V. Anne-Argyll.

Mr. Macalister is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant. He s. his father, the late Colonel M. Macalister, in Dec. 1829.

MAC BRAIRE OF TWEEDHILL AND BROADMEADOWS.

MAC BRAIRE, JOHN-JOSEPH, Esq. of Tweedhill and Broadmeadows, co. Berwick, a magistrate and a deputy-lieut. for that shire, b. 3 June, 1801; m. 4 Aug. 1831, Caroline-Abigail, dau. of Benjamin Gott, Esq. of Armley House, Yorkshire, and had issue, an only son, JAMES, b. 12 May, 1832. He s. his father in 1832.

Lineage.

Since the middle of the last century, the present family has represented the Mac Brairs of Netherwood, frequently alluded to in old local histories, and described in books of heraldry, as "an ancient family in Dumfriesshire, who were supposed, originally, to have emigrated to the south of Scotland from the co. of Aberdeen, a Highland origin, which the name itself indicates.

The Netherwood family settled and possessed considerable landed property in Dumfriesshire, prior to the year 1400, which appears by family deeds and papers, as well as by the earlier records of that country; and besides their original estate on the river Neth, in the immediate vicinity of the town of Dumfries, different branches of the family were landowners in other parts of the country, and in Galloway, and the stewartry of Kirkcudbright. They appear to have intermarried with the Maxwells, Johnstons, and other families of distinction in the district, and to have long had great influence in the burgh of Dumfries, of which the head of the family was provost from time to time.

The estate of Netherwood descended in regular succession for many generations, down to the year 1740, when it was in the possession of Archibald Mac Braire, the last proprietor of the name, whose affairs becoming embarrassed, he was compelled to alienate the entire of the landed property which had been so long in his family, and shortly after that period, the direct line of the Netherwood family became extinct.

The present family are the immediate descendants of Robert, son of Thomas Mac Braire, of Newark, who was a younger brother of the laird of Netherwood, in the early part of the 16th century.

ROBERT MAC BRAIRE settled in Edinburgh as a merchant, about the year 1560, and he and his successors for four generations continued to reside there.

ROBERT MAC BRAIRE, (great-grandson of the above Robert,) eldest son of John Mac Braire, merchant and burgess in Edinburgh, settled in Glasgow, and m. 25 Nov. 1715, Margaret, eldest dau. of the Rev. John Pettigrew, minister of the parish of Meikle Govan, Renfrewshire, a well known personage as an author and wit of the day, and left issue, James; Robert; Thomas; JOHN, of whom presently; Charles; Robina; Marion; and Grizell.

JOHN MAC BRAIRE, Esq., the eldest surviving son, was a captain in the 91st foot, and was killed (28 May, 1798) at Enniscorthy, during the Irish rebellion. He left issue, with two daus., four sons, JAMES, Robert, Frederick, and Arthur. The eldest son,

JAMES MAC BRAIRE, settled as a merchant in the island of Newfoundland. In 1794-5, at the breaking out of the French revolutionary war, he quitted business, and having raised, at his own expense, above one hundred men for a fencible regiment, then forming for the defence of the North American colonies, joined it as captain, and served for several years. On his regiment being disbanded, at the peace of Amiens, he returned to Newfoundland, and afterwards was called upon to fill several important public situations in the town of St. John's. He finally, in 1817, retired to his native country, and soon afterwards purchased the estates of Tweedhill and Broadmeadows, both in Berwickshire, and was thus the means of restoring his family and name to the place which they had held for centuries amongst the landed proprietors in the south of Scotland. He m. 10 May, 1793, Elizabeth, only dau. of Joseph Bower, Esq., a merchant and broker in Bristol, son of James Bower, Esq., barrister-at-law, of the same city, and had an only surviving son, JOHN JOSEPH MAC BRAIRE, Esq. of Tweedhill and Broadmeadows.

Arms—Arg., a fesse, gu., between three stars in chief, and a lion, rampant, in base, of the last.
Crest—A lion, rampant, gu.
Motto—In defiance.
Seats—Tweedhill and Broadmeadows, Berwickshire.

M'CALL OF BRAEHEAD AND GLYNTOWN.

M'CALL, JAMES, Esq. of Glyntown, co. Cork, lieutenant-colonel of the 8th Hussars.

Lineage.

It is supposed that this family is descended from a branch of the ancient border clan of M'Call.

SAMUEL M'CALL of Glasgow, a very wealthy merchant, possessed large estates in America, which his descendants lost in the war of Independence, for their loyalty and adherence to the British crown. This Samuel m. about 1690, a dau. of Dundas of Arniston, ancestor of Viscount Melville, and had issue. Two of his younger sons settled in America, one in Virginia, who left an only dau. and heiress, Catherine-Flood M'Call, who d. unm. The other son, William, settled in Philadelphia, where the family still exists; his dau. m. William Herring, Esq. of Croydon, cousin and co-heir of Thomas Herring, Archbishop of Canterbury, and by him was mother of Henrietta, wife of Sir Francis Baring, Bart., and mother of the present Lord Ashburton. (See BURKE'S Peerage.)
Another son,

JAMES M'CALL of Braehead, b. in 1726; m. Sarah, dau. of — Reid, Esq., by his wife, a dau. of Cunningham of Craigends, and had issue,

I. SAMUEL, of whom presently.
II. Thomas, of Craighead, co. Lanark, m. Anne, dau. of Charles Denroche, Esq., by his wife, a dau. of Dormon of Raffeen, co. Cork, Esq., (whose grand-dau. and sole heiress m. to Robert-Hedges White, Esq. of Glengarriffe, co. Cork, nephew of the Earl of Bantry,) and left issue,
  1. Thomas, of Craighead.
  2. John. 3. Robert, deceased.
  4. William, lieut. 98th regt. 5. Charles.
  1. Sarah, m. to Dr. Anderson, a physician.
  2. Eliza, m. to Archibald Smith, Esq.
  3. Barbara, m. to William Leycester, son of Joseph Leycester, Esq. of East View, Cork, late M.P. for that city.
  4. Ellen, m. to — Dunlop, Esq.
III. John, of Ibrox Hill, Glasgow, m. Isabella, dau. of Archibald Smith, Esq. of Jordan Hill, and d. s. p.
IV. James, of Daldowie, Glasgow, twin with John, m. Anne, dau. of — Fihozen, Esq. of the Cape of Good Hope, and sister of the late Col. Henry Fihozen, and has issue six sons and two daus.
I. Elizabeth, m. to James Russell, Esq. of Woodside, co. Stirling, and had issue a son, James Russell, Esq., late of the 7th Hussars, and Lieut-Col. of the Stirlingshire Militia.
II. Helen, m. to Henry, second son of Henry Wallis, Esq. of Drishane Castle, co. Cork, and left issue. (See that family.)
III. Mary, m. to Col. Fulton M'Kerrel, fourth son of John M'Kerrel, Esq. of Hillhouse, co. Ayr. (See that family.)

The eldest son,

SAMUEL M'CALL, Esq., became seised of considerable landed property in the co. Cork. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Hewitt Poole, Esq. of Mayfield, near Bandon, co. Cork, by Dora, his wife, dau. of Jonas Morris, Esq. of Barley Hill, and Mary, his wife, granddau. of Bryan Townsend, Esq. of Castle Townsend, co. Cork. (See POOLE OF MAYFIELD.) By this lady Mr. M'Call left, with a dau., Elizabeth, two sons, JAMES, of Glyntown, and Samuel, late lieut. 5th Dragoon guards, of Camden Place, Cork.

Seats—Glyntown, co. Cork, and Braehead, co. Lanark.

MACARTNEY OF LISSANOURE CASTLE.

(See SUPPLEMENT.)

MACARTNEY OF BLACKET.

MACARTNEY, THE REV. WILLIAM-GEORGE, M.A., of Murlough, co. Down, s. his father in 1827.

Lineage.

The family of Macartney is stated by Playfair to have sprung from a younger son of the M'Carthy More, of the co. Cork, who went to Scotland to assist King ROBERT BRUCE in his wars, and was rewarded with a grant of land in Argyllshire, whereon are still to be seen the ruins of a castle, the ancient possession of Macartney, in that county. Subsequently, driven from their original resting place, the Macartneys fixed themselves in Galloway, in lands still called Macartney, and eventually became divided into three branches: Macartney of Leathes, Macartney of Blacket, and Macartney of Auchinleck. The second, that of Blacket, is the line from which the Macartneys of Murlough descend.

GEORGE MACARTNEY, Esq., (son of George Macartney, the last of the Macartneys of Blacket, who resided in Scotland,) settled at Belfast, in 1630. He m. Martha Davies, of the family of Sir John Davies, Knt., Attorney-General for Ireland temp. JAMES I., and had two sons,

I. GEORGE, who entered the army, and served with much credit under the Duke of Marlborough and Prince Eugene, and was high in the confidence of GEORGE I. He was, at the time of his death, lieut.-gen. in the army, commander-in-chief of the forces in Ireland, governor of Portsmouth, and col. of the carbineers. His issue is now extinct.
II. ISAAC.

The second son,

ISAAC MACARTNEY, Esq., possessed a large estate in the north of Ireland, and served as sheriff of the co. of Antrim, in 1690. He m. Anne, sister and co-heiress (with her sister, the wife of John Macdowal, of Freugh, and grandmother of Patrick Macdowal, Earl of Dumfries) of John Hartledge, Esq. of Dromore, Downshire, M.P. for Killeyleagh, and had issue,

GEORGE, high sheriff of Antrim, whose representative was the late Rev. Arthur Macartney.
WILLIAM, of whom hereafter.
Grace, who m. to Sir Robert Blackwood, Bart., grandfather, by his first wife, of the first and second Lords Dufferin, and of Admiral Sir Henry Blackwood, Bart.

The second son,

WILLIAM MACARTNEY, M.P. for Belfast for forty years, m. Catherine, dau. (by Elizabeth Montgomery, his wife) of Thomas Bankes, Esq., of the family of Bankes of Corfe Castle, Dorsetshire, and had issue,

I. ARTHUR-CHICHESTER, his heir.
II. John, of Lish, co. Down, created a baronet 22 July, 1799. He m. 1st, Anne, dau. of J.-Barclay Scriven, Esq., descended from the Barclays of Urie, in Scotland, by whom he had issue, inter alios,
  William, (Sir,) in holy orders, present baronet.
  He m. 2ndly, in 1794, Catherine, dau. of the celebrated Hussey Burgh, lord chief baron of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland, and previously M.P. for the University of Dublin. [Margaret, her sister, was created Baroness Oriel and Viscountess Ferrard.] By her he had issue an only son, Hussey-Burgh, and one dau., Catherine, widow of the Rev. Henry Brougham.

The elder son,

ARTHUR-CHICHESTER MACARTNEY, of Murlough, co. Down, king's counsel, m. Anna, dau. of Samuel Lindsay, Esq. of Turin Castle, co. Mayo, (see LINDSAY-BUCKNALL, of TURIN CASTLE, and LINDSAY, of HOLLYMOUNT,) and by her (who d. in 1841) had issue,

WILLIAM-GEORGE, present representative.
Frances, m. to W. Huband, Esq., (see HUBAND OF IPSLEY,) and has, with four daus., two sons, viz.,
  George Huband, M.A., capt. unattached, late capt. 8th hussars, m. 1 May, 1844, Marianne, youngest dau. of Admiral Croft, of Stillington, co. York. (See CROFT OF STILLINGTON HALL.)
  Arthur, late of the Royal Navy.
Catherine, widow of the Rev. Thomas Ellison, and has issue one son, John, and one dau.
Anne. Letitia. Matilda.

Mr. Macartney d. 29 Sept. 1827, and was s. in his estates in the counties of Antrim, Down, Armagh, and in the town of Belfast, by his only son, the present Rev. William-George Macartney.

Arms—Or, a stag, trippant, within a bordure, gu.
Crest—A hand, holding a slip of a rose tree, with three roses thereon, all ppr.
Motto—Stimulat sed ornat.
Residence—Glebe House, Killead, co. Antrim.

 George, Earl Macartney, K.B., distinguished by his diplomatic services, and especially by his embassy to China, derived from a common ancestor with this family.

M'CARTY OF CARRIGNAVAR.

M'Carty, Justin, Esq. of Carrignavar, co. Cork, b. 19 March, 1786; m. 29 May, 1810, Maria-Isabella, dau. of Caleb Falkiner, Esq., eldest son of Sir Riggs Falkiner, Bart., by whom he has surviving issue,

I. Robert, b. 14 April, 1811; m. Elizabeth, dau. of John Hyde, Esq. of Castle Hyde, co. Cork.
II. Justin, barrister-at-law.
III. Frederick-Caleb, M.D.
IV. Joseph, in the E. I. Co.'s Military Service.
I. Lydia, m. to Lowther Forrest, Esq., E. I. Co.'s S.
II. Jane, m. to the Rev. Horace Townsend, deceased.
III. Isabella, m. to Alexander Ross, Esq., E. I. Co.'s S.
IV. Elizabeth.
V. Mary-Geraldine, m. to Thomas-Charles Morton, Esq., barrister-at-law.
VI. Rose. VII. Ellinor.

Mr. M'Carthy, who is in the commission of the peace for co. Cork, succeeded to the estates and representation of his family at the decease of his father, in 1823.

Lineage.

Few pedigrees in the British empire, if any, can be traced to a more remote or a more exalted source than that of the Celtic house of M'Carty; and, making every allowance for the exaggeration of Celtic descents generally, it cannot be contested that, when reduced to fair and admissible limits, they, as comprising the very oldest deducible family records, command a prominent, perhaps the most prominent, place in European genealogy. The most ancient existing families of France, of Spain, of England, do not venture to pursue their line beyond the barbarian chiefs who conquered their countries,—the Franks, the Visigoths, and Normans,—from the sixth* to the eleventh centuries. Of the English, many, as shewn in this and the other works of the authors', can prove contemporaneous origin with the Conquest in 1066, or even an anterior Saxon descent, but the pretensions of other nations to more remote antiquity are wholly untenable, because entirely unsubstantiated. The Montmorencys, who by general consent are placed at the head of the French haute noblesse, and who arrogate the title of "Premier Baron Chretien,"† rest this proud assumption upon no solid foundation. The first of the name distinguished in history, Bouchard le Barbu, or the Bearded, lived according to Hainaut, about the year 1028, and from that period until the close of the eighteenth century, when the Duke de Luxembourg, the last male representative of the second branch, died, no house in France was more illustrious in rank and achievement.‡ In a similar position, during nearly the same interval, were the Fitzgeralds, the Burkes, and the Butlers, in Ireland. The Abbé de Montgaillard, a most competent judge, thus speaks on the subject, (Histoire de France, tome i. p. 103:)

"Sans nul doute, la généalogie de la famille Bouchard où Montmorency est de toutes les généalogies Françaises, celle qui présente le plus d'illustration; mais elle ne remonte pas tout à fait à l'an 1000. . . Il n'y a pas même une seule famille Française dont la généalogie prouvée remonte jusqu'à l'usurpation de Hugues Capet (987). . . Les Montesquiou ont voulu démontrer qu'ils descendaient en ligne collatérale de Clovis, mais ils comptent à peine trois cents ans de noblesse." Previously to the revolution of 1789, the peers of France, including those of the blood royal and seven prelates, scarcely exceeded fifty in number. The eldest creation was that of Usez, conferred by Charles IX. in 1572, posterior, by nearly a century, to that of Norfolk, in England, (1483.) The great houses of La Tremouille, la Rochefoucault, Noialles, Richelieu, Villeroi, and many others, however illustrious for three or four hundred years, were not at all distinguished by great antiquity. This is fully established by the celebrated memorial of the parliament of Paris, in the minority of Louis XV.; a curious document, drawn up for the purpose of rebuking the overweening pretensions of the peerage, which are analyzed and reduced to their real value. The Tremouilles, although mentioned by Froissart in a preceding century, were little known before the reign of Charles VII. (1422-1460;) nor the Rochefoucaults, historically, prior to that of Francis I. in the following century. The others are still more modern. The chief of the Rohans derives through female descent, as do probably the present Montmorencys, and certainly the Richelieus. The family of Levi (Mirepoix) modestly claims kindred with the Virgin Mary; and the name would indicate a Jewish origin, of which, however, they would be little proud but for such an association. Many others, such as the Clermont-Tonnerre, La-Vaugayon, Cossé-Brissac, &c., were scarcely less absurd in their assumptions, as displayed in the memoirs of the Duc de Saint-Simon, no small portion of which, and they extend to twenty volumes, is devoted to this topic, without, however, impairing, in public estimation, a work preeminent among those productions of which France is so justly proud. The same tests might be applied, and similar results deduced, in reviewing the Spanish, Portuguese, Belgian, and German nobility. In Spain—of whose grandees it was arrogantly said, "Principibus prestant et regibus æquiparantur,"—none can trace beyond the tenth century, or before the reign of Ferdinand I.; it were more correct, probably, to name the times of Ferdinand III. and his son, Alphonso the Wise, two centuries later; nor in Portugal previous to Henry of Burgundy, who died in 1112; notwithstanding the allegations of the Medinas, Sidonia and Celi, (the former of whom glories in having given birth to St. Dominic,) the Arcos, the Albas, Infantados, Mendozas, Mellos, &c. The Portuguese proverb says, "Mello, con Don, et Menezes sin elle, Nas fazei caso delle." In Flanders and the Netherlands, the Arembergs, the Crois, Egmonts, Brederodes, &c., may be placed in the same class, and even in Germany, Witekind the Saxon, is the boundary of ancestral assumption. Guelph, the German patriarch of our royal family, lived in the eleventh century, but the private families of Germany can rarely trace so far back. In Italy, indeed, loftier pretensions appear sustainable, especially those of the patricians of Venice, amongst whom the Elletorali, or twelve families which elected the first Doge, in 709, enjoyed preeminent distinction, although in antiquity of descent less illustrious than those inscribed in the Book of Gold, at the founding of the city. Those, Voltaire deems entitled to the first grade in European nobility, ascending as they did to the fifth or sixth century. The houses of Massimi, Ursini, Frangipani, Colona, &c., at Rome, anteceded, perhaps, any in France, Spain, or Germany, but after strict investigation and poising the facts fairly in the balance of historical criticism, few of the continental nobility will be found superior in origin, if parallel to the O'Briens, the O'Neils, the

‡ The direct line failed in 1632, when Henri (II.) Duc, Pair et Maréchal de Montmorency, was beheaded at Toulouse, and his immense inheritance passed to his sister, the Princesse de Condé, mother of the Grand Condé, of whose descendants it made, in the last century, next to the Orleans branch of the royal blood, (to whom it has lately devolved,) the largest proprietors in France. The house of Condé did not previously possess above one hundred thousand livres a year. "Il n'y a plus de Montmorency," says Montgaillard, "que du chef des femmes," the Luxembourg branch, a collateral one, which succeeded the main stock in 1632, having expired, as above, in or about 1790; but the present Montmorencys (Laval) do not admit this. In Ireland, the Lord Frankfort, and others of the name of Morres, have lately resumed their original name, as they allege, of Montmorency.

During nearly every reign from Philip I. (1060) the Montmorencys were constables of France, until that dignity was suppressed under Louis XIII. in 1627.

M'Cartys, the O'Connors of Ireland, whose progenitors were sovereign princes on the arrival of the English, in 1172. No epoch is better attested than the reign of BRIAN BOROIMHE, the conqueror of the Danes, at the decisive battle of Clontarf, 23 April, 1014. This monarch was coeval with HUGUES CAPET, which, without further retrogression (and many prior generations could be indisputably established), would place his descendants in a coincident line with the royal houses of Europe, of the greatest antiquity—even with the Bourbons, incontestably the oldest of all. Brian's posterity numerously and unquestionably exist, as do the representatives of the other Irish princes, whose claims are as demonstrable by reference to authenticated testimony as any historical event of the era.

The present proprietor of Carrignavar is the chief of his name, and representative of the eldest existing branch of the once sovereign house of the M'Cartys, the most illustrious, as Dr. O'Brien emphatically observes, of all those families whose names begin with MAC, and who at the period of the English invasion in 1172, swayed the sceptre of Cork and Desmond, or South Munster, as they had occasionally done of the whole province, from time immemorial. The M'Cartys trace their origin to HEBER, the eldest son of MILESIUS, King of Spain, through OILIOLL OLIUM, King of Munster, in the third century; but the first who bore the appellative of M'CARTY, or son of CARTAGH, was the grandfather of DIARMOD M'CARTY MORE, whom the English found in possession of Cork, and who swore fealty, gave hostages, and subjected his kingdom to HENRY II. (Sir James Ware's Annals, p. 7.) Diarmod was slain by Theobald Butler, founder of the house of Ormond, in 1186. His successors were, DONALD, CORMAC FIONN, DONALD ROE, DONALD OGE, and CORMAC, all of whom were distinguished as M'CARTY MORE, (or GREAT;) an adjunct continued in this senior branch until 1556, when DONALD M'CARTY MORE, the seventh in descent from the eldest son of the last mentioned Cormac, was created EARL OF GLENCARE, in Kerry,* on resigning his estates to Queen ELIZABETH, from whom he again received the investiture of them, "to hold of the crown of England in the English manner." This stock of the M'Carty More is extinct for more than a century; but the above Cormac More had a second son, DERMOD, first feudal lord of Muskerry, and founder of that potent house, who was killed by the O'Mahonys, in 1367. From him sprung in succession, as lords of Muskerry, TEIGE; CORMAC, who d. in 1374; TEIGE, in 1448; CORMAC LAIDHIR, (the Stout,) in 1494; CORMAC OGE LAIDHIR, who defeated the Earl of Desmond, at the battle of Morne Abbey, in 1521, and d. in 1536; TEIGE, who d. in 1565, as DERMOD d. in 1570. His son,

CORMAC, lord of Muskerry, a nobleman of great influence and power, could raise, as stated by Dr. Smith, a thousand men at a call. His residence was the castle of Blarney; in addition to which, he possessed the castles of Kilcrea and Macroom. He d. in 1616, leaving two sons,

I. CORMAC OGE, Lord of Muskerry, THE FIRST VISCOUNT, as stated by some writers. He d. in London, anno 1640, leaving (with a dau., Elena, wife of John Power, Esq., ancestor of Frances Power, wife of Richard Trench, Esq. of Garbally) a son,

MAC CAUSLAND OF STRABANE.

MAC CAUSLAND, THE REV. OLIVER, Rector of Finlagan, co. Londonderry, b. 6 Nov. 1757; m. in 1785, Hannah, dau. of Redmond Conyngham, Esq. of Letterkenny, co. Donegal, and had issue,

John, capt. R.N.; b. 8 Aug. 1789; d. at sea, in command of H.M.S. Cruiser, in the West Indies, in 1835.
REDMOND-CONYNGHAM, in holy orders; m. in July, 1843, Martha, eldest dau. of Samuel Babington, Esq., grandson of Thomas Babington, Esq. of Rothley Temple, co. Leicester.
Elizabeth, m. to Robert Ogilby, Esq. of Woodbank, in the co. Londonderry.
Mary-Anne. Letitia. Hannah. Caroline.

This gentleman, who s. his father in 1804, claims to be chief of the clan of the Macauslanes of Glenduglas, in Dumbartonshire.

Lineage.

A Scottish writer, Buchanan of Aughmar, who published a work at Glasgow, in 1723, states that the founder of the Mac Auslanes in Scotland, was one BUEY ANSELAN, son of O'KYAN, king of Ulster, who (when the Danes, to avenge the massacre of Limerick, persecuted and destroyed numbers of the Irish) passed over to Scotland with a body of followers in or about the year 1016, and that the said Anselan, having given great assistance to MALCOLM II. in his wars, was rewarded by that king with grants of land of considerable value, and a splendid coat of arms. (The same monarch conferred about the same time similar grants upon the family of Keith, and several others.) Buchanan goes on to state that the territory so conferred was called the "lands of Buchanan;" but that the tradition is, that this Buey Anselan married an heiress of the name of Denniestoun, and in her right acquired those lands. He establishes the fact, however, that Anslan took up his abode there as "Buey Anselan, Dominus de Buchanan," and that his successors were all lairds of Buchanan. Of these feudal chiefs he gives a regular dynasty, beginning in the year 1016, with the said Anselan; the second laird, in 1060, he denominates JOHN MAC AUSLANE, and he proceeds until he extinguishes the line with the last of the lairds, John, who flourished in 1682, leaving an only dau. and heiress.

* The EARL OF CLENCARE, or GLENCARE, sat in the parliament held at Dublin, 26th April, 1584, but he soon resigned his title, which he considered a badge of servitude, and resumed the native distinction of M'CARTY MORE, in which, as he left no male issue, he was succeeded by his son-in-law, and chief of another branch of the name, SIR DONOGH M'CARTY Reagh, whose male line also expired with his grandson. The Earl of Kenmare, Mr. Herbert of Mucruss, and O'Donoghue of the Glyns, are the presumed representatives of this ancient sept in the female line.

Such is Buchanan's descent of the Buchanan family, the younger sons of the different lairds of which founded the numerous branches now bearing the name. His statements, however, concerning the branch which always adhered to the designation of MAC AUSLANE are not so clear. The first of those barons to be found, he says, is one MALCOLM, whose name was inserted as a witness to a charter, granted by Malcolm, Earl of Lennox, of the lands of Luss, to John, laird of Luss, about the year 1250, the signature to that charter being "Malcolm, Baron Mac Auslane." The next he mentions is one "Mac Beth, Baron Mac Auselane," of whom there are various traditional accounts as to his stature and uncommon strength. He lived about the year 1400. The third baron was Alexander, "last Baron Mac Auselane," whose only dau. m. one of the Campbells, after whose death she sold her inheritance to Sir Humphry Colquhoun, of Luss, her superior. Buchanan proceeds then to observe, "that the best account of the name of Mac Auselane are now settled in the counties of Tyrone and Derry, in the north of Ireland," and that those are descended from "the Baron Mac Auslane who went out of the parish of Luss about the latter period of the reign of King JAMES VI." From this baron the family before us claims descent.

BARON M'AUSLANE, of Glenduglas, came over to Ireland in the latter end of King JAMES I.'s reign, about the year 1600, and left two sons, ANDREW and John. Of the younger, the line is now extinct. The elder,

ANDREW M'AUSLANE, had a son,

ALEXANDER M'AUSLANE, who served in the army in Ireland before the year 1649, as appears by the auditor-general's accounts of the period, wherein the said Alexander is stated to be entitled to a share of the forfeited and debenture lands, and to a share of money as one of the adventurers and soldiers before the rebellion of 1641. He settled in the co. Tyrone, and was at his death possessed of the manors of Ardstrath, Mountfield, and others. He m. Genet, dau. of Edward Hall, Esq. of New Grange, in the co. Meath, and had issue,

OLIVER, his successor.
Andrew, of Ardochil, m. and left a son,
  Alexander, of Ardochil, who d. in July, 1762, at the advanced age of one hundred years.
Anne.
Catherine, m. to William Colhoun, of Newtown Stewart.
Margery, m. to David M'Clenahan, of Newtown Stewart.

Alexander d. in 1675, and was s. by his elder son,

OLIVER M'AUSLAND, Esq., styled of Strabane, in the vicinity of which town he resided. This was a distinguished person, being no less than twelve times returned to the Irish parliament by the borough of Strabane. In the parliament of 1695 he is entered on the rolls as "Oliverius Mac Causland, Armiger;" and served the office of sheriff for the co. Tyrone in 1687. He m. Jane, dau. of James Hamilton, Esq., and sister of the Rev. Andrew Hamilton, and had issue,

JOHN, his successor.
William, of Mountfield and Rash, m. Elizabeth, dau. of George Hamilton, Esq. of the city of Dublin, but d. s. p.
Oliver, of Strabane, m. Rachel, dau. of James Hamilton, Esq. of Hamilton's Grove, co. Antrim, and had an only dau., Rose.
Jane, m. to — Sampson, Esq.
Catharine, m. to John Leslie, Esq.

Oliver Mac Causland, who possessed large estates in the co. Donegal, d. in 1722, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN MAC CAUSLAND, Esq. of Strabane, and the manors of Stranorlar and Castlefin, M.P. for Strabane, in the years 1725 and 1727, who m. Amy-Jane, dau. of Thomas Norris, Esq. of the co. Down, and of Speke, in Lancashire, by whom he had issue,

I. OLIVER, his heir.
II. Alexander, of Rush, m. Anne, dau. of James Nesbitt, Esq. of Lifford, co. Donegal, and had (with two daus., Mrs. Shirling and Mrs. Ball) three sons,
  1. John (Rev.), of Lifford, who m. 1st, Mary, dau. of the Rev. Thomas Burgoyne, of Lifford, and had three daus. He m. 2ndly, Hannah, widow of Thomas Gerard, Esq., co. Meath, by whom he had John and four daus.
  2. Andrew. 3. Henry.
III. Rebecca, m. to the Rev. John Hamilton, of Newcastle, co. Limerick.
IV. Mary, m. to Dr. Moore, of Londonderry.

He d. in 1728, and was s. by his elder son,

OLIVER MAC CAUSLAND, Esq. of Strabane, M.P. for Strabane, in 1729 and 1731. This gentleman m. Anne-Jane, dau. of William Hamilton, Esq. of Waterhouse, co. Lancaster, and had two sons and three daus., viz.,

I. JOHN, his successor.
II. Oliver, m. Jane, dau. of William Murray, Esq. of Mount Murray, co. Meath, and had, with five daus., a son, who d. s. p.
III. Margaret.
IV. Alice, m. to Gen. Charles Eustace.
V. Anne-Jane, m. to Edward Shaw, Esq.

Mr. Mac Causland d. in 1756, and was s. by his elder son,

JOHN MAC CAUSLAND, Esq. of Strabane, four times returned to parliament, by the county of Donegal, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of the Rev. William Span, of Ballmacove, in that shire, and was father of OLIVER (Rev.), representative of the family.

William-James, of Dublin, m. Susan, dau. of the Rev. J. Waters, of the town of Tipperary, and has issue.
Catherine, m. to William-Conyngham, LORD PLUNKET.

He d. in Nov. 1804.

Arms—Or, within a double tressure, flory, counterflory, with fleurs-de-lys, sa., a lion, rampant, of the second, holding in his dexter paw a sabre, or crooked sword, ppr.
*Crest—A hand, couped, holding a duke's coronet, or cap of maintenance, surrounded with two laurel branches, wreathed.

Residence—Finlagan.

M'CLINTOCK OF DRUMCAR.

M'CLINTOCK, JOHN, Esq. of Drumcar, co. Louth, b. 14 Aug. 1770; m. Jane, only dau. of the late William Bunbury, Esq. of Moyle, M.P. for co. Carlow, and sister of Thomas Bunbury, Esq., also M.P. for that county, and by that lady, who d. in 1801, had issue, two sons and one dau., viz.,

I. JOHN,† of Dromisken House, co. Louth, b. 1798, Major of the Louthshire Militia, m. Anne, eldest dau. of the Rev. John-Henry-George Lefroy, A.M., of Ewsholt House, Hants, and cousin-german of the Right Hon. Baron Lefroy, (see family of LEFROY.)
II. William-Bunbury, of Black Hall, co. Louth, b. in 1800, Capt. R.N., m. Pauline-Caroline-Diana-Mary, second dau. of Sir James-Mathew Stronge, Bart. of Tynan Abbey, co. Armagh.
I. Catherine, who m. the Rev. George Gardiner, A.M., of Bath, and d. in 1834.

* This crest was conferred by the Dauphin of France upon SIR ALEXANDER MAC AUSELANE, one of the Scottish lairds of the family, for his distinguished bravery at the battle of Beaugé, in Anjou, anno 1421, where he is said to have slain THOMAS PLANTAGENET, DUKE OF CLARENCE, the brother of King HENRY V. The French commander in that engagement was the Marshal de la Fayette, ancestor of the late celebrated GENERAL LA FAYETTE.

† Major M'Clintock, in 1840, served the office of high sheriff of the county of Louth, and at the general election in 1841 contested the county, jointly with his cousin, Mathew Fortescue, Esq. of Stephenstown.

Mr. M'Clintock m. 2ndly, in 1805, the Lady Elizabeth le Poer Trench, third dau. of William-Power Keatinge, Earl of Clancarty, (see BURKE'S Peerage,) and has issue.

I. Frederick-William-Pitt, barrister-at-law, d. unm. in 1834.
II. Charles-Alexander, capt. in the 74th regt., d. unm. in 1834.
III. Robert-le-Poer, A.M., in holy orders, rector of Castle Bellingham, co. Louth.
IV. Henry-Stanley, of Newberry, co. Kildare, m. Gertrude, only dau. of Robert La Touche, Esq. of Harristown, M.P. for that county for many years, by the late Lady Emily, his wife. (See family of LA TOUCHE OF HARRISTOWN.)
V. George-Augustus-Jocelyn, an officer in the 37th regt.

I. Anne-Florence, m. in 1827, to the Very Rev. Hugh Usher-Tighe, D.D., Dean of the Chapel Royal, Dublin Castle, and rector of Clonmore, co. Louth, and has issue one son and two daus.
II. Harriette-Elizabeth, m. in 1832, Richard Longfield, Esq. of Longueville, co. Cork, M.P. for that county in 1835. (See family of LONGFIELD.)
III. Emily-Selina-Frances, m. in 1841, John-B.-C.-S. Wandesforde, Esq. of Castlecomer, eldest son of the Hon. Charles-H.-B.-C.-S. Wandesforde, brother of the 2nd Marquess of Ormonde.

Mr. M'Clintock represented the borough of Athlone in the parliament of 1823, and at the general election in 1830 was returned for the county of Louth, after a severe contest of five days' duration, defeating the Right Hon. Richard-Lalor Shiel, M.P., by a large majority. Mr. M'Clintock continued to represent the county until the dissolution of that parliament. He served the office of high-sheriff for co. Louth during the eventful year 1798, and has held the office of Chief Serjeant-at-arms for Ireland from a period antecedent to the legislative union of Great Britain and Ireland. Mr. M'Clintock is a magistrate for co. Louth.

MAC DERMOT OF COOLAVIN.

MAC DERMOT, CHARLES-JOSEPH, of Coolavin, co. Sligo, styled PRINCE of COOLAVIN,* b. 4 June, 1790; m. Arabella-Maria O'Rourke, dau. of Hyacinth O'Rourke, representative of the ancient and once potent house of O'Rourke of Breffny, and has issue,

HUGH-HYACINTH O'ROURKE, b. in 1831.
John-Baptist Nalbens, b. in 1832.
Charles-Borrombo-Molua.
Mary-Alharacta. Josephine-Elizabeth.
Victoria-Martha.

He s. his father in 1824, and is a magistrate of the co. Sligo.

Lineage.

The surname of Mac Dermot was assumed in the 11th century, and its representatives, until CROMWELL'S ruthless devastation, maintained a high position in the province of Connaught. In the 16th century the family had acquired a chieftaincy over the extensive districts of Moylurg, Artagh, Tirovil, and Clancahab, and in 1585 a recital of Mac Dermot's possessions was made under the Lord Deputy Perrot's administration, and recorded in the Rolls Office of Dublin. In the time of JAMES I. the Mac Dermots obtained a patent for their several estates, but in the subsequent reign they suffered, in common with the other Irish Catholic families, and their broad lands were seized on by CROMWELL, and partitioned among his soldiers. The patriarch of the race,

MURRYACH, surnamed MULLATHAN, who reigned over Connaught at the close of the 7th century, was ancestor of many powerful families, particularly of the O'CONORS,† who chiefly governed the province, the M'DERMOTS of Moylurg, the M'DONOUGHS of Corran, &c. The immediate progenitor of the house of which we are treating was

CONOR MAC DERMOT, the son of Dermot, who had a son,

TOMALLACH NA CARRIGE, that is, Timothy of the Rock, so called from the fortress he built on the island in Lough Key, near his chief mansion-house, named from the fortress, Port na carrige. From him lineally derived the Princes of Moylurg, whose representative,

BRIAN MAC DERMOT, son of Rhoderick, Chief of Moylurg, m. Sarah, dau. of O'Conor Sligo, and niece of O'Donel, Prince of Tyrconnel, and was father of

BRYAN MAC DERMOT, the younger, of Carrig Mac Dermot, (the family seat, now Rockingham, in the possession of Lord Lorton,) who m. Margaret Burke, of the house of Clanrickarde, and had two sons, TERENCE and CHARLES. The elder, by indenture dated 1640, assigned his entire estate to his brother,

CHARLES MAC DERMOT, styled Cathal Roe, or the Red, on receiving a competent maintenance and the payment of his debts. Cathal Roe, who became Chief of Moylurg, m. Eleanora, youngest dau. of William O'Mulloy, of Ughterhera, co. Roscommon, and was s. by his son,

HUGH MAC DERMOT, of Coolavin, who m. Elizabeth Kelly, of the family of Aughrim, and had a son and successor,

CHARLES MAC DERMOT, of Coolavin, who m. Catharine Dillon, of the family of Clonbrock, and was father of

MYLES MAC DERMOT, of Coolavin, who m. Bridget, dau. of Charles O'Conor, Esq. of Belanagar, by Catharine, his wife, dau. of John O'Fagan, and by her, who d. in 1777, had a son and heir,

HUGH MAC DERMOT, of Coolavin, who m. 16 July, 1793, Elizabeth-Frances, dau. of Dennis O'Conor, Esq. of Belanagar, by Catharine, his wife, dau. of Martin Browne, Esq. of Clonfad, co. Roscommon, and had issue,

I. CHARLES-JOSEPH, his heir.
II. Henry, m. to Miss Mary M'Sweeny, niece to Daniel O'Connell, Esq., M.P.
III. Thomas. IV. Miles.
V. Roderick. VI. Bernard.
I. Catharine. II. Fanny.
III. Julia, m. to Dr. Kelly, nephew to the late R. C. Archbishop of Tuam.

Hugh Mac Dermot d. in June, 1824, and was s. by his eldest son, CHARLES-JOSEPH MAC DERMOT, Esq. of Coolavin, present Chief of this ancient Sept.

Arms—Or, on a chev., gu., between three boars' heads, couped, az., as many cross-crosslets of the first.
Crest—A demi-lion, gu., holding in his paws a sceptre, surmounted by a crown, ppr.
Motto—Honore et virtute.
Seat—Coolavin, co. Sligo.

MAC DERMOTT OF ALDERFORD HOUSE.

MAC DERMOTT ROE, THOMAS, of Alderford House, co. Roscommon, b. 13 Nov. 1810, a magistrate for the counties of Roscommon and Sligo, s. his father, the late Ffrench Mac Dermott, 20 Nov. 1827.

Lineage.

This family and that of Coolavin descend from a common ancestor.

MAC DERMOTT ROE, married and had issue,

HENRY MAC DERMOTT ROE, of Alderfold and Greyfield, co. Roscommon, who m. Anne O'Donnell, of Newport, co. Mayo, and left an only dau., Margaret, m. to Maguire of Tempo, co. Fermanagh.
JOHN MAC DERMOTT ROE, of whom presently.
Matthias, called Dr. Mac Dermott Roe, and lived at Boyle. He had two daus.
Dr. M'Dermott Roe, Catholic Bishop of Armagh.
Charles Mac Dermott Roe, m. Ellen, dau. of O'Conor, and had issue,
1. Charles, d. unm. in America.
2. Henry, d. unm. in Dublin.
3. Denis, d. s. p. in England.
1. Anne, d. unm.
2. Ellen, m. to — Jones, Esq. of Sligo.
3. Mary, m. to Wm. Coulthard, Esq. of Whitehaven.

The second son,

JOHN MAC DERMOT ROE, m. Julia, dau. of Ffrench, Esq. of Curgurry, co. Mayo, and had, with two sons, Charles, who d. unm. in 1776, and Thomas, d. in infancy, another son,

THOMAS MAC DERMOTT ROE, who m. Margaret, dau. of Coote Mulloy, Esq. of Hughstown, co. Roscommon, and had issue,

* The family title was originally Prince of Moylurg, in the Barony of Boyle, as may be learned from the writings of Dr. O'Conor, Burke's "Hibernia Dominicana," &c. Driven from their ancient patrimony by Cromwell, the Mac Dermots removed to Coolavin, and their chief has ever since been accorded, by popular usage, the title of Prince of Coolavin.

† The line of succession, as given by Charles O'Conor of Belanagar, the accomplished antiquary, is as follows:—Murryach Mullathan; Inrachtach, King of Connaught, d. in 724; Murgal, d. in 751; Tumaltach, d. in 772; Murias, King of Connaught, d. in 815; Teige Mor, surnamed of the Turrets, reigned over Connaught jointly with his brother Cahal, d. in 841; Conor, King of Connaught, d. in 882; Cathal, or Charles, King of Connaught, d. in 925: Teige, called Teige of the Tower, King of Connaught; Malrony More; Murkertach; Teige; Mulrony; Teige; Dermot; Conor; Tomaltach na Carrige; Cormac; Conor; Gilla Christ; Mulrony; Tomaltach; Conor; Hugh; Roderick the Blind; Roderick; Jey; Roderick; Brian; Brian the younger; Cathal Rae; Hugh; Cathal the Blind; Myles; Hugh; Charles Joseph, present chief.

FRENCH, his heir.
Molloy, m. Sarah, dau. of Lloyd of Rockfield, co. Roscommon, and had issue.
Margaret. Cecilia.

The elder son and heir,

FFRENCH MAC DERMOTT ROE, m. 17 Oct. 1805, Catherine, dau. of Archibald Frazer, Esq. of Tullymore, co. Sligo, by Catherine Peyton, his wife, and had issue,

THOMAS, his heir.
William-French.
Margaret, m. in 1831, to the Rev. Richard Swift.
Cecilia. Kate-Peyton.

Mac Dermott Roe d. 20 Nov. 1827, and was s. by his elder son, the present THOMAS MAC DERMOTT ROE.

Arms—Or, on a chev., gu., between three boars' heads couped, az., as many crosses-crosslet of the first.
Crest—A demi-lion, rampant, gu., holding between the paws a sceptre erect, surmounted of a regal crown, all ppr.
Motto—Honor Probataque virtus.
Seat—Alderford House, co. Roscommon.

MACDONALD OF CLANRANALD.

MACDONALD, REGINALD-GEORGE, Captain and Chief (Capitanus seu Princeps) of Clanranald, b. in Aug. 1788; m. in April, 1812, Lady Caroline-Anne Edgcumbe, second dau. of Richard, second Earl of Mount Edgcumbe, and by her, who d. 10 April, 1824, has issue,

I. REGINALD-JOHN JAMES-GEORGE, Lieut. R.N., now in the Albion.
I. Caroline-Sophia, m. to the Hon. Charles Cust, second son of the Earl of Brownlow.
II. Emma-Hamilla, m. to the Hon. and Rev. Alfred Wodehouse, youngest son of Lord Wodehouse.
III. Louisa-Emily, m. to Charles-William Marsham, Esq., eldest surviving son of Robert Marsham, Esq. of Stratton Strawless, co. Norfolk.
IV. Flora. V. Sarah-Anne.

Clanranald is a deputy-lieutenant for the co. Inverness.

Lineage.

To this line of the descendants of Somerlidd the same remarks apply as those that precede our account of Glengarry.

ALLAN MACDONALD, son of Reginald Macdonald, and grandson of John, last King and Lord of the Isles, commanded his father's forces at the battle of Harlaw. He m. a dau. of John, last Lord of Lorn, and had three sons, I. RODERICK, his heir; II. Allan of Knoydart, whose line continued for many generations, but being almost always engaged in rebellion against the Kings of Scotland, they gradually decreased in power, and were at last nearly extirpated by the Camerons; and III. John. The eldest son,

RODERICK MACDONALD, a turbulent chieftain, lived in the time of JAMES I., and was conspicuous in the insurrections of the Earl of Ross and Donald Balloch, of Isla, Chief of the clan Ian Voir, whose daughter he married. By her he had two sons, ALLAN, his heir; and Hector, ancestor of the M'Eachan branch. Roderick Macdonald m. 2ndly, More, dau. of William M'Intosh, of Mackintosh. His elder son,

ALLAN MACDONALD, the famed ALLAN M'RORY, distinguished alike for his bravery and military skill, m. Fleance, dau. of Donald Macdonald, of Ardnamurchan, and had four sons,

I. RANALD, his heir.
II. Alexander, who m. a dau. of Mackintosh, and had, with a dau., three sons, JOHN, of whom presently; Farquhar; and Angus, whose only child m. Alexander Stewart, of Invernahyle.
III. Ranald-Oig, who d. in 1536, leaving an only child, Dugald, murdered in the island of Uist.
IV. Angus-Reoch.

The eldest son,

RANALD MACDONALD, living in the reign of JAMES IV., m. a dau. of Fraser, of Lovat, and dying in 1541, was s. by his only son,

RANALD MACDONALD, designated Ranald Gald, who, with his grandfather, Lovat, was driven from his inheritance by a rising of the clan, which declared his cousin, John, the son of Alexander, and grandson of Allan M'Rory, chieftain. This insurrection led to the celebrated battle of Blairleine, fought between the Frasers and Macdonalds, in July, 1544, in which the former were defeated, and Lovat, together with his eldest son, Simon, and Ranald Macdonald himself, were slain. Ranald Gald never married, but left three natural sons, Allan, John, and Alexander, who received from the crown a charter of legitimation, 18 June, 1555. The victory of Blairleine secured the dignity of Chief to

JOHN MACDONALD, of Moydart, son, as above mentioned, (according to the "History of the Macdonalds of Clanranald,") of Alexander, and grandson of Allan M'Rory. This distinguished chieftain, who was Captain of Clanranald during the unsettled government of Queen MARY, acted a prominent part in the commotions of his time, and gained universal respect. He m. 1st, Mariatte M'Kane, and by her had five sons, ALLAN, his heir; John Oig, who d. unm.; Rory, who d. unm.; Angus, and Donald Gorme, who d. unm. He m. 2ndly, Penelope, second dau. of Sir Charles Erskine, third son of Alexander, Viscount of Fenton, and by her had a dau., m. to John Stewart, of Appin. Clanranald d. in 1584, and was s. by his son,

ALLAN MACDONALD, Captain of Clanranald, who had been engaged in all the active operations of his father. He m. a dau. of Macleod of Harries, and had issue,

Angus, who d. s. p. and v. p.
DONALD, heir to his father.
Ranald, of Benbecula, to whom John Macdonald, Capt. of Clanranald, granted a feu charter, dated 12 April, 1625. He m. 1st, Maria, sister of Sir Donald Macdonald of Slate, but by her had no issue; and 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Angus Macdonald of Dunveg, by whom he had two sons. The younger, Angus-Oig, was ancestor of the families of Dalelea and Milton. The elder,
RANALD-OIG, m. a dau. of M'Neill of Barra, and had by her a son, DONALD, who s. to Clanranald. He m. 2ndly, in 1653, Ann, only dau. of John Macdonald of Clanranald, and had by her three sons, James, Donald-Oig, and Moir.
John, of Kinlochmoydart.
Margaret, m. to Donald-Macangus Macalister of Glencarry.

Clanranald d. in 1593, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR DONALD MACDONALD, of Clanranald, who waged a fierce warfare against Mac Lean of Dowart, M'Kenzie of Kintail, and M'Neill of Barra, for which he eventually obtained a remission, 27 June, 1613. He subsequently went to Edinburgh, and was knighted by JAMES VI. at Holyrood, in 1617. Sir Donald d. in 1619, leaving a son and successor,

JOHN MACDONALD, of Clanranald, who powerfully supported King CHARLES against the Covenanters, and gallantly fought under Montrose. He survived to witness the Restoration, and paid his respects to King CHARLES, on his landing in the shire of Moray, in 1660. He then retired to the Island of Uist, and d. at an advanced age, in the year 1670, leaving, by Moir, his wife, dau. of Mac Leod of Mac Leod, three daus., Moir, wife of Lauchlan Mac Lean of Coll; Catharine, m. to M'Neill of Barra; and Ann, m. to Ranald Mac Donald, of Benbecula, a son and successor,

DONALD MACDONALD, of Clanranald, who had served with his father in the memorable campaigns of Montrose. At Kilsyth, a gallant charge made by young Clanranald decided the victory, and after the ill-fated issue of Phillip-haugh, Donald, stanch to his royal master, marched to Islay, against the Campbells. In 1648, at the head of a considerable force, he joined the Earl of Antrim, in Ireland, and was engaged in all the engagements in that kingdom, until the defeat of the king's army in the Queen's County, where he and Glengarry were taken prisoners. Clanranald m. Marion, dau. of John Mac Leod, of Mac Leod, and had, with a dau., Margaret, m. to Donald Macdonald, of Benbecula, two sons, ALLAN, his heir; and RANALD, successor to his brother. He d. in 1686, and was s. by his son,

ALLAN MACDONALD, of Clanranald, who, firm to the cause of the Stuarts, summoned his clan in aid of Dundee, and, with his tutor, Macdonald of Benbecula, mainly contributed to the victory at Killiecrankie. It was at the head of the clan Ranald that Claverhouse received his mortal wound. When all hope of success for King

James expired, young Clanranald refused to take the oaths to the new government, and retired with his brother, Ranald, to France, where he completed his education, and became one of the most accomplished gentlemen of his time. After residing some years at the Court of St. Germains, he obtained a commission under the Duke of Berwick, and in a foreign land, and in a foreign service, Clanranald preserved his name unsullied. When peace was restored, he went again to St. Germains, and thence returned to Scotland, and fixed his residence at Ormiclate House, in South Uist. In this, one of the remotest of the Western Isles, he hoped to enjoy rest and tranquillity, after the storms and vicissitudes of his early life. But the calm was of brief continuance. No sooner had the Earl of Mar raised his standard in 1715 than Clanranald hastened from Uist with his followers, and summoning his vassals of Arasaig and Moydart, joined the chevalier's army with a considerable force. In all the subsequent operations he took part, and at length sealed his devotion to the Stuart cause by his heroic death at Sheriffmuir. Clanranald was universally esteemed and respected by friend and foe, and his memory is still fondly cherished in the Highlands. He m. while in France, Penelope, dau. of Col. Mackenzie, Governor of Tangier under Charles II., but had no issue. His brother and heir,

Ranald Macdonald, d. unm. at St. Germains, in 1725, when the succession devolved on his kinsman,

Donald Macdonald, of Benbecula, who was tutor of Allan Macdonald, of Clanranald, and had commanded the clan at Killiecrankie. He took no part in the insurrection of '15, but resided in retirement at Benbecula, until, at the decease of Ranald, he became chieftain, as nearest heir male. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Donald Macdonald, of Clanranald, by whom he had a son, Ranald, his heir; and 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of George Mackenzie, Esq. of Kildun, by whom he had Alexander, who obtained the estate of Boisdale, and Ann, wife of Lachlan M'Kinnon, of Strathuradale. Clanranald d. in 1730, and was s. by his son,

Ranald Macdonald, of Clanranald, b. in 1692, who did not engage personally in the rising of '45, but remained in the island of Uist. He m. Margaret, dau. of William Macleod, of Bernera, and had two sons and one dau., viz., Ranald, his heir; Donald, an officer of high reputation in the British service, killed with General Wolfe at Quebec; and Margaret, who d. unm. The elder son,

Ranald Macdonald, became, during his father's lifetime, in 1745, an able actor in the ill-fated proceedings which followed the appearance of Charles-Edward in Scotland; and of all the devoted adherents who ventured life and fortune in the cause, not one was more faithfully attached to the prince, or influenced by less interested motives, than Clanranald. He fought gallantly at Gladsmuir, marched with Prince Charles into England, and was severely wounded at Culloden. The issue of that battle extinguished the last spark of hope in the Stuart party, and Clanranald and the other chieftains were forced to conceal themselves, often with much difficulty, from the active search of the king's troops. Moidart afforded refuge to the young chieftain, and there he remained concealed until enabled to effect his escape to the Continent, where he joined Prince Charles at Paris, and obtaining military employment from the French government, became aide-de-camp to Marshal Saxe. During his absence, a bill of attainder passed against the chiefs who were engaged in the rising, but Clanranald's Christian name being, by an error, inserted as Donald, he succeeded, after some years' delay, in recovering his estates. He m. 1st, Mary, sister of the Earl of Selkirk, and by her, who d. 11 May, 1750, he had one son, Charles-James-Somerledd, who d. at Edinburgh, in 1755, aged five. He m. 2ndly, Flora Mackinnon, dau. of the ancient family of Mackinnon of that ilk, and by her had issue,

John, his heir.
James, an officer of rank in the army.
Margaret, who d. unm.
Mary, who d. unm.
Penelope, m. to Lord Belhaven and Stenton.

The eldest son,

John Macdonald, of Clanranald, capt. in the 22nd dragoons, m. 1st, Katharine, dau. of the Right Hon. Robert Macqueen, of Braxfield, Lord Justice Clerk of Scotland, and 2ndly, Jean, dau. of Colin Macdonald, Esq. of Boisdale, by the former of whom only he had issue, viz.,

Reginald-George, his heir.
Robert-Johnstone.
Donald.

Clanranald d. in 1794, aged twenty-nine, and was s. by his son, the present Chief.

MACDONELL OF GLENGARRY.

MACDONELL, ÆNEAS-RANALDSON, of Glengarry and Inverie, b. 29 July, 1818; m. 18 Dec. 1833, Josephine, eldest dau. of William Bennet, Esq., and niece of the late Right Rev. William Bennet, D.D., Bishop of Cloyne, and has issue.

I. ALASTER. II. Æneas. III. Charles.
I. Marcelly. II. Eliza.

Glengarry s. his father in Jan. 1828.

Lineage.

The clan Macdonald, or Macdonell, is undoubtedly one of the most ancient in Scotland, and can, by incontrovertible evidence, be traced back to a period coeval with that of any family in the kingdom. The first of the race, of whom any authentic account exists, is SOMERLED, designed by Scottish historians Thane of Argyll, but by foreign authors and charters extant, King of the Isles, and Lord of Argyll and Kintyre. Among his descendants has long been disputed the chieftainship, and many and acrimonious have been the conflicts on the subject. We shall not attempt in this place to reconcile the contradictory statements of the rival claims, but in the line of descent confine ourselves as much as possible to that on which no difference can arise.

REGINALD MACDONELL, son of John Macdonell, Lord of the Isles, seventh in descent from Somerledd, received from his father a very large estate, as appears from a charter of confirmation by King ROBERT, dated 1 Jan. 1373. This Reginald is stated to have been murdered by the Earl of Ross in the Abbey of Elcho, at Perth, while heading the men of the Isles as their lawful chieftain. He left, with other issue, a son,

DONALD MACDONELL, of Glengarry, who was served heir to his father in the principal part of his fortune, and became a powerful baron. He left (with a younger son, Ranald, from whom descend many of the Macdonalds of Perthshire) an elder son and heir, JOHN MACDONELL, of Glengarry, who m. a dau. of Macleod of Lewes, and was father of ALASTAIR MACDONELL, of Glengarry, who m. the only dau. of Maclean of Dowart, and had three sons, JOHN, his heir; John (Ire), from whom many of the Macdonalds of the north are derived; and Æneas, from whom came the house of Shean. The eldest son and heir, JOHN MACDONELL, of Glengarry, m. a dau. of Lochiel, chief of the Camerons, and was father of ALEXANDER MACDONELL, of Glengarry, who m. Margaret, dau. of Celestine de Insulis, and heiress of her brother, Sir Donald Macdonell of the Isles, and granddau. and only representative of Alexander, second Earl of Ross. By this lady Alexander had an only son and heir, ÆNEAS MACDONELL, of Glengarry, who m. Janet, only dau. of Sir Hector M'Lean, of Dowart, by whom he left a son and heir,

DONALD MACDONELL, who m. 1st, a dau. of Grant of Fruchy; and 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Allan Macdonell, of Muidert; and 3rdly, a dau. of Macdonnell of Keppoch. He had, with other issue,

ALASTAIR, his successor.
Donald, of Scothouse, who m. Mary, dau. of Sir James M'Donald, of Slate, and was s. by his eldest son,
REGINALD, of Scothouse, who m. Flora, dau. of Alexander Macleod, of Macleod, and had issue,
ALASTAIR, of whom hereafter, as successor to Glengarry.
ANGUS, on whom his father settled the barony of Scothouse.
John, progenitor of the Macdonells of Lochgarry and Greenfield.
Archibald, of Barrisdale, from whom that line.

Donald lived to a great age, and dying in 1630 was s. by his eldest surviving son,

ALASTAIR MACDONELL, of Glengarry, who m. Jean, dau. of Allan Cameron, of Lochiel, and dying soon after his father, was s. by his son,

ÆNEAS MACDONELL, of Glengarry, a firm adherent to the interest of CHARLES I., for which he was forfeited by CROMWELL; immediately on the restoration, CHAS. II. created him for his loyalty a Peer of Scotland, as Lord Macdonell and Aross, by patent, dated 20 Dec. 1660. He m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Donald Macdonald, of Slate, Bart., but d. s. p. in 1680, when the peerage became extinct, and the estates devolved upon his kinsman,

ALASTAIR MACDONELL, son of Reginald of Scothouse, as before, who became of Glengarry. He was surnamed "The Black," and distinguished himself during the commotions of his time, under the Earl of Mar and Viscount Dundee. He was the bearer of the royal standard at the battle of Killiecrankie, and was created a Peer by the abdicated JAMES. He m. Mary, dau. of Kenneth, third Earl of Seaforth, and dying in 1724, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN MACDONELL, of Glengarry, who m. 1st, a dau. of M'Kenzie of Hilton, by whom he had two sons,

Alastair, his heir.

Æneas, col. in the army, who m. Mary Macdonald, only dau. of Alexander Robertson, of Strowan, and by her had (with a dau., Angusia, m. to Mackay of Achamony) an only son,

Duncan, of whom presently, as successor to his uncle.

He m. 2ndly, a dau. of John Gordon, of Glenbucket, and had by her, James, whose dau., Amelia, m. Major Simon Macdonald, of Morer; Charles, a major in the army; and a dau., Helen, m. to Ranald Macdonell, of Scothouse. He was s. by his eldest son,

Alastair Macdonell, of Glengarry, who was selected by the Highland chiefs to carry an address to Prince Charles, signed with their blood. He d. unm. in 1761, and was s. by his nephew,

Duncan Macdonell, of Glengarry, who m. Marjory, dau. of Sir Ludovic Grant, Bart. of Dalvey, and by her had (with two daus., Elizabeth, m. 1st, to William Chisholm, of that ilk; and 2ndly, to Sir Alexander Ramsay, Bart. of Balmain; and Margaret, m. to Major James Downing) five sons, Alaster, his heir; Lewis, capt. in the army, d. unm.; James (Sir), K.C.B., lieut. gen. in the army, and principal equerry to the Queen Dowager, distinguished at the battle of Maida, in Egypt, and at Waterloo; Angus, d. an infant; and Somerled, lieut. R.N., d. at Curacoa, West Indies. Duncan was s. by his eldest son,

Alexander-Ranaldson Macdonell, of Glengarry, who m. 20 Jan. 1802, Rebecca, second dau. of Sir William Forbes, of Pitsligo, Bart., and by her (who d. in 1841) had (with several sons, all of whom d. young)

I. Æneas, present representative.

I. Elizabeth, m. to Roderick-C. Macdonald, of Castle Tioram.

II. Marcelly, m. 22 Oct. 1833, to Andrew, fourth son of the late Andrew Bonar, Esq. of Kimmerghame, co. Berwick. (See Bonar of Kimmerghame.)

V. Henry-Robert.
VI. Somerlid.

I. Sophia-Elizabeth.
II. Louisa-Maxwell.
III. Elizabeth-Mary-Jane.

Capt. M'Dougall is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for Argyllshire.

Lineage.

The M'Dougalls of Lorn were anciently Lords of Argyll "de Argadia," and are so designed in very early writs. Lorn was originally a petty kingdom, the residence of its king being the Castle of Dunolla. It subsequently became a lordship, and was often excepted from truces with England. At one time it included within its boundaries the west part of Athol, where Mam Lorn still preserves its name. About the beginning of the 12th century, Somerlid ruled in Argyll. By a dau. of Olaus, King of Man and the Isles, he had four sons, one of whom was,*

Dougal, who erected his inheritance into a principality. He was grandfather of Alexander M'Dougall, of Lorn, who fought and defeated King Robert Bruce, at the battle of Dalrie, in Perthshire, in 1306. His son, John M'Dougall, was s. by his son, Ewen M'Dougall, father of John M'Dougall, of Dunolly, whose son, John M'Dougall, of Dunolly, enters by charter from Argyll in 1535, and another in 1547. He was father of Dougal M'Dougall, of Dunolly, who entered to his lands by charter from Argyll in 1562 and 1567. His son, Duncan M'Dougall, of Dunolly, obtained a charter from King James IV., dated 8 Sept. 1598. He was s. by his son, Sir John M'Dougall, of Dunolly, who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Duncan Campbell, of Glenurchy, and left a son and successor, Alexander M'Dougall, of Dunolly, who m. and had two sons, Duncan, who d. s. p.; and Allan, who s. his brother, and obtained from King James VII. a charter of the greater part of the lands of Lorn, dated at Windsor, 20 Sept. 1686, registered the 13th, and sealed 14 Aug. 1688. His son and heir, John M'Dougall, of Dunolly, joined the rising in 1715, and suffered forfeiture in consequence. He m. Mary, dau. of Sir James M'Donald, Bart. of Slate, by his wife, the Lady Margaret Douglas, second dau. of Robert, eighth Earl of Morton, and left two daus., the elder of whom m. John Maclean, of Lochbuy, and a son and successor, Alexander M'Dougall, of Dunolly, who was restored to his father's forfeited estate, by charter from the Duke of Argyll, in 1745. He m. Mary, dau. of Campbell, of Barcaldine, co. Argyll, and had issue,
